John H. McDowell, of Stonington, who has been at the Fishers Island Coast Guard station for the past three years, has finished there and is thinking of entering the lighthouse service.

Norwich people returning from New York Saturday reported most uncomfortable heat, and told of the immense crowds leaving and entering the city on the New Haven R. R. trains.

A minute on the weekly calendar of the First Baptist church reads: The members present Thursday evening voted to send a letter of sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Otis in their great bereavement.

During Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. James J. Donohue was hostess at the D. A. R. Museum on Norwich Town Green, there were ten visitors, including motor parties from Providence, Worcester and Groton.

Among those leaving New York Saturday for Havre on the French liner, Paris, were Prince Edward Joseph Lobkowics of Austria, with his bride, the former Miss Anita Lihme, married at Watch Hill a week before.

Mrs. Burr Wheeler has left for New York after spending the summer at Old Lyme. Mr. Wheeler will arrive from Chile today (Monday) and they will spend the next three months in this country, before returning to Chile.

If the enrollment warrants, it is planned to keep the Vacation House at Lakeville Manor open till the end of September. The hostess at this house for Catholic women and girls is Mrs. Teresa Shahan, formerly of Norwich.

The weekly calendar of the Central Baptist church mentions that the women of the church are to attend an out-door rally meeting of the Woman's League at Mohegan Park, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, each taking a basket supper.

The U. S. S. Camden, which left Dock K, Submarine base, September second and anchored below the bridge in the lower harbor, will remain there until she goes to Newport for coal September 8th, returning about the following Thursday.

Many car loads of lumber are running through Norwich these days, in spite of the high cost of building.

Mr. and Mrs. Zoel Gaucher of Baltic are on a three weeks' motor trip through Canada with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gaucher, of Putnam.

From June 23rd, to Saturday, September 5th, inclusive, Miss Margaret Murphy, R. N., the Red Cross nurse at Ocean Beach has cared for 960 cases. After Labor Day, Miss Murphy resumes her work as nurse in the New London schools.

There continues a strong vogue for belts, dealers say. Silver and gold skin are prominent among these, fancy celluloid and metal buckles being much used. The width tends to be narrow, the demand favoring belts an inch to an inch and a half wide.

Watch Hill summer residents, Mr. and Mrs. Ridley Watts of Morristown, N. J., gave a dinner for ninety guests Saturday evening at the Stonington Manor inn. Spending the week end with them at Stowaxnniu are Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Fennessy of Meriden.

The Pomfret branch of the Red Cross has disbanded after several years' activity. The Red Cross has helped greatly in financing the work of the Red Cross nurse and by it the Red Cross nursing committee has been appointed in order to carry on the health work.

Mrs. J. V. Hoffay of Florence, South Carolina, who has been spending a few days with Mrs. William D. Fay, of Abington, sailed Saturday from New York for South America to join Mr. Hoffay who has been there for several months. Mrs. Fay accompanied Mrs. Hoffay to New York.

Rt. Rev. D. Huntington Trumbull, Episcopal bishop of Anking, China, Mrs. Trumbull and their family have returned from a month's stay at Lake Sunapee, N. H., to the home of Rev. and Mrs. Frederick W. Haist of Groton, with whom they have been staying since their return from China.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Mott, of Moosup, expect to sail September 15 from Providence for Jacksonville, Fla., whence they will go about 150 miles inland to Eustis to spend the winter. A cousin of Mrs. Mott, Fred Matthewson, a former Moosup resident, has been located in Eustis for several years.

WEDDINGS

Tillson-Gallup

Charles Richard Tillson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sanford Tillson of Amherst, Mass., and Miss Henrietta Hebard Gallup, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henry Gallup, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents in Norwich Town by Rev. Samuel H. Howe, D. D., pastor of Park Congregational church. The living room where the ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate families was banked very effectively with clematis, hydrangeas and old fashioned flowers.

The bride, who was unattended wore a gown of real lace and Chinese embroidery, with a pale pink maline hat, and carried an arm bouquet of pink rose-buds.

During the reception, a wedding dinner was served, and later, in the afternoon the bride and groom left for an extended honeymoon. The bride's going away gown was of French blue hand embroidered flat crepe, with felt hat to match and she wore a black satin coat.

There were numerous gifts of gold, silver, china, glassware and money.

Mrs. Tillson is a graduate of Norwich Free Academy, class of 1918, and for the past four years has been society editor and proof-reader at the Record office.

Mr. Tillson, who is in the textile business, attended Amherst College, is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and was in the service during the world war.

An unusual incident of the occasion was the presence of the four grandfathers of the bride and groom, who are Mr. Henry H. Gallup, Mr. John A. Morgan, Mr. D. H. Tillson and Mr. George E. Thayer.

Worthington-Lerou

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Lerou, 25 Carroll avenue, a quiet but very pretty wedding took place when their daughter, Edna Evans Lerou, became the bride of Roger Larkin Worthington. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard B. Worthington of 632 Main Street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, pastor of the United Congregational church, and the bridal party stood before a bank of pink and white asters, ferns and palms arranged with beautiful effect in the living room of the Lerou residence. Pink and white asters were the decorations in the house and the ceremony was attended only by members of the immediate families.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Ronald L. Croft, of Springfield, Mass., her cousin, while for his best man Mr. Worthington had Armand L. Lanoie, of Providence, R. I. The bride wore hydrangea blue crepe and carried a bridal bouquet of Ophelia roses. The matron of honor carried a bouquet of roses.

Following the marriage ceremony a wedding lunch was served to the guests present.

To her matron of honor the bride gave a gold bracelet, and to his best man the groom presented a gold stick pin.

The bride was the recipient of many useful and handsome gifts, including checks of substantial amounts, silverware, glassware, furniture and other most attractive wedding gifts.

The bride is well known in Norwich being a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy, after which she took a business course and for several years has been in the educational department of Cheney Bros. silk mills in South Manchester. In this work she held a most responsible position and the company was loath to let her go.

Mr. Worthington likewise is widely known here and is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy. He is a graduate pharmacist having been in Lerou's drug store on Main street for many years.

Following a wedding trip by automobile Mr. and Mrs. Worthington will be at home after Nov. 1 to their friends in a newly constructed and furnished home at 634 Main St.

Given Surprise Birthday Party

A pleasant surprise party was given Friday evening for Mrs. Irene Burns of 205 West Town street in honor of her birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Watters. Music and dancing was enjoyed and Mrs. Burns received many beautiful presents, among them a pretty birthday cake, prettily decorated with lighted candles. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Vera Sterry and Mrs. Teresa Watters.

Motor Trip to Philadelphia

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. Barrows of 5 Tyler Avenue, left Friday morning for a motor trip to Philadelphia to visit relatives. On the return trip they will stop at Bayonne, N. J., to visit the refineries of Standard Oil Company of which Mr. Barrows is an employe.

Engagement Announced

Charles P. Getchell of Oswegatchie, Waterford, announces the engagement of his daughter, Florence Louise, to George Andrew Tague of Norwich. The wedding will take place this fall.

Guest From Providence.

Miss Louise Ernst has as her guest her cousin, Miss Geduldig, of Providence, who has just returned from a visit in Maine, and a motor trip to New York.

T. A. B. Memorial.

As is the annual custom, there will be a memorial mass in St. Patrick's church this (Labor Day) morning for departed members of St. Mary's Total Abstinence and Benevolent society.

OFFICER LOCATES LOOT TAKEN FROM AUTOMOBILES BY TWO BOYS

Clever detective work on the part of Officer John O'Neil resulted in the recovery Saturday of a quantity of loot stolen from parked automobiles on the West Side and also resulted in the apprehension of two boys who, it is said, admitted they are responsible for the thefts. The boys who are under sixteen will appear before the juvenile court where their cases will be disposed of. As the boys' cases will be taken care of by the juvenile court, under the court rules the boys' names cannot be given out for publication.

It was last Thursday that a traveling salesman drove to the plant of the Crescent Firearms Company and parked his machine near the plant. After transacting his business at the plant the salesman, on returning to his machine, found that the clock on the dashboard and a pair of gloves had been stolen. He reported the theft to the police.

Officer O'Neil went to work on the case immediately and Saturday got wind of two boys who had been seen around the machine. He learned where the boys lived and went to their homes where the stolen articles were recovered along with other articles stolen from machines and which the police had been looking for.

At the home of one of the boys Officer O'Neil found the clock and pair of eye glasses and a watch stolen Saturday morning from a machine which had been parked on Water street. At the home of the other boy Officer O'Neil brought to light two pairs of pliers, one steel tape measure, four wrenches and two pair of glasses that the boy said he took out of machines parked near the foundry on Thames street. It is thought that some of the recovered loot was taken from a boat moored in the river in the rear of Water street.

Officer O'Neil's activity in running down the boys and recovering the loot will without doubt put a stop to the pilfering of parked machines on the West Side.

VETERAN POLICEMAN OBSERVED 85TH BIRTHDAY

John Irish, for years a member of the Norwich police force, now retired, on Saturday observed his 85th birthday at his home, No. 146 Laurel Hill avenue. Saturday morning the Misses Carter, neighbors of Mr and Mrs. Irish, presented to Mr. Irish a large birthday cake with a suitable card attached. On top of the birthday cake was a miniature fort from which new an American flag, and on the frosting appeared "1840-1925." Colored candles also adorned the cake.

Many visitors called on Mr. Irish during the day which proved a delightful one for the veteran police officer. Mr. Irish is a native of North Stonington and was born Sept. 5, 1840, the son of Jedediah and Nancy Irish. He became a member of the police force January 1, 1876 and served as a police officer for 43 years. He was retired on a pension October 7, 1918. When Mr. Irish became connected with the police department, there were 20 patrolmen and four officers on the roll. After he had served two years the city council reduced the number of police officers to 11 and Mr. Irish, being one of the last men appointed to the force at that time, went with the 18 men whose services were dispensed with. However, the following year he was reappointed, and served continuously from that time until he was retired in 1918.

Mr. Irish served in the union forces during the civil war and is a member of Sedawick Post, No. 1, G. A. R., of this city. He takes much interest in G. A. R. affairs. He is a well known horticulturist and an enthusiastic fisherman and for years has always been one of the first to land a trout in this city on April 1st when the trout season opens. Mr. Irish is enjoying good health despite his advanced years.

ARRESTED IN GREENEVILLE ON LIQUOR VIOLATION CHARGE

Mrs. Annie Ladyka, 30, of 48 Second street, was before the city court Saturday morning on the charge of violation of the liquor law, having been arrested Friday night by Sergeant Matthew Delaney, Officers Gendron and P. Murphy on the charge of selling half a gallon of alcohol. She asked for a continuance in order that she might secure an out of town lawyer and the case was continued to Sept. 9 under bonds of $1,000.

Peter Beckus, alias George Flynn, of New York city, who was arrested by Sergeant Myron Morgan on a warrant charging false pretenses, pleaded guilty and had his case nolled by Judge H. H. Pettis on the payment of $20 it was alleged that he had secured a position in an insurance office here by falsely representing that his name was George Flynn, while his real name is Frank Peckley.

A Fall River man who was found asleep in a freight car at Greeneville was given a sentence of five days in jail which was suspended on his plea that he would get out of town.

A Norwich man, who had owed the court $17 for about six months on previous fines, was before the court for intoxication. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

BARRED FROM OPERATING AUTOS IN RHODE ISLAND

Continuing its crusade for safer automobile driving, the Rhode Island state board of public roads, revoked six more licenses at its weekly meeting in Providence suspended the licenses of 26 other drivers, and suspended the right to drive in this state of six persons living in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Five of the six revoked were the result of operating while intoxicated, and the larger percentage of those whose licenses were suspended were so disciplined as the result of improper use and operation of motor vehicles.

DELEGATES ARE ATTENDING YOUNG HEBREWS CONVENTION

Eight delegates from the Young Men's Hebrew Association of this city, left Saturday for the 15th annual convention of the Associated Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Association of New England, which will be held this year at Fall River, Mass. on Sept. 4, 5, 6 and 7. There were no local delegates for the Young Women's Hebrew Association.

The local delegates are: Dr. S. M. Goldberg, president of the Y. M. H. A.; S. S. Alofsin, George Blum, Sampson Cramer, Samuel Ableman, David Lendett, Max Geigel and Saul Levine.

The principal speaker at the convention banquet on Sunday evening was Congressman Isaac Siegal of New York.

E. GRANN VICTIMIZED BY WORTHLESS CHECK

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 6.—E. Grann, who keeps a women's apparel store here, evidently does not read the newspapers. If he did he would not have accepted a worthless check that he is the possessor of now. A woman who endorsed the check as Carol E. Blankton bought goods and gave Grann a check that is worth only what it will sell for as waste paper. The check swindle has been worked on many times that no one is supposed to be deceived by it in these days.

LABOR DAY WILL BE HOLIDAY IN THIS CITY

For the first time in many years Norwich will have no county fair as its Labor Day attraction, as the fair officials have made a new departure this year by placing the county fair later in the month.

Stores in the city will generally be closed, the banks will be closed and the day will be devoted to picnics and outings by those who are released from their ordinary occupations.

PUGNACIOUS PRISONERS ATTACK POLICE OFFICERS

Three arrested men made a sudden attack Sunday night at police headquarters upon two policemen as the prisoners were lined up before the desk to have their names put on the blotter, heads were battered and blood flowed, but when the skirmish was over the prisoners had all taken the count and were stretched on the floor with the officers towering over them.

Joseph F. Burns, 21, of Grove street, Henry Gagnon, 23, and Edward Gagnon, 18, brothers, living on Orchard street, were arrested and brought to police headquarters by Officers Patrick Shanan and Hugh McAvoy after a complaint had been received that women were being annoyed near the city barn on Bath street. As the men were about to be led off to cells, Henry Gagnon suddenly started an attack on Officer McAvoy in which he was joined by one of the others while the third man let his fists fly at Officer Shahan. The fracas was short but sharp. Officer McAvoy laid Henry Gagnon out, with a blow from his club and then took charge of the other man, while Sergeant Mathew Delaney sprang from behind the desk to the aid of Officer Shahan and their opponent was knocked to the floor.

Dr. Paul Gadle was summoned to attend a cut in Henry Gagnon's head, which he sewed up with four stitches, but Burns was still in a fighting mood after he had been put into a cell and refused to let the doctor attend to a cut on his head. All were locked up charged with resisting the officers. Burns is also charged with intoxication.

MIDNIGHT LIQUOR RAID MADE IN COLCHESTER

(Special to the Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 6.—Fred Fitus was charged with violation of the liquor law, early Sunday morning, following a midnight raid at his home on Bailey lane, Colchester, by Federal Prohibition Enforcement Officers William Congdon and Harry W. Avery and Constable John Riley of Colchester. The visit yielded a quantity of liquor and odds and ends of containers for liquor. Justice was speedy and at 1.30 o'clock Sunday morning Fitus was presented before Justice of the Peace Fred E. Baker of the Colchester court., Fitus asked for a continuance to allow him time to get money from the bank, in case he was found guilty and fined. The court granted this, continuing the case to Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The case constitutes Fitus' third offense on a similar charge, the last violation being August 14, last, when he was found guilty and fined. The accused affirmed his innocence and hinted that he would place the blame on his wife, Nellie Fitus. He was given his freedom, under a $500 bond.

VERNON DRIVER SPEEDED— ARRESTED AT WILLIMANTIC

(Special to the Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 6.—Albert R. Newmaker of 142 Grove street, Vernon, Conn., was placed under arrest here Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Motorcycle Officer Arthur Hurley for speeding in his Ford roadster. Newmaker's case will come up before the local court Monday morning.

MADE FAREWELL GIFT TO MANAGER WATSON

As a farewell gift the hotel staff at the Wauregan hotel presented Manual gift in gold Saturday noon. The gift is in gold Saturday noon. The gift was presented by Edward McKnight, in behalf of the hotel staff. Mr. Watson is leaving Norwich, having been transferred to the executive offices of the Knott hotel system in New York.

Norwich Boy's Fortunate Escape.

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 6.—Joseph Barry, aged about 3, was at Ocean beach today with his parents who reside at 9 Routh street, Norwich, when an automobile passed along Bentley avenue. The child was in the roadway and was hit by the machine, but not seriously hurt. He was taken to Lawrence hospital where it was found that the patient did not need attention there, so he was not detained.

ROCHESTER TENOR SINGS AT CENTRAL BAPTIST

Congregations at the Central Baptist church Sunday had the pleasure of hearing tenor solos at the morning and evening services by Charles Cameron Bell, choirmaster at St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Rochester, N. Y., who took charge of the church music for the day and sang with the church quartette. At the morning service he rendered as the offertory solo Gluck's O Saviour Hear Me, and in the evening his offertory solo was There is a Land Mine Eye Hath Seen (Cronshield). Mr. Bell's selections displayed a well trained voice of wide range and pleasing quality which he used with the felicity of an accomplished musician. Howard S. Arnold was at the organ.

At the evening service prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. F. C. Wright, a former pastor of the church, and the sermon by Rev. Dr. D. A. Pitt was upon the general theme of the church in its relation to the whole community. He declared that the mission of the church in the community should be similar in spirit and in works to the mission of Jesus to the men of his time. His was a ministry to people in need. He did not wait for men to come to Him, but He went to them, wherever the need was, spiritual, intellectual or physical. Those who say that the mission of the church is to preach only the simple gospel, never have studied aright the life of the Master. He helped where help was needed, whether it was in body, mind or spirit.

Referring to labor Sunday the pastor said that the attitude of the church towards labor should be one of sympathy, making an honest attempt to understand what labor is seeking for. The Master's message was one of hope and health, as ours should be. It was the good news in regard to God which we need today just as much as it was needed in the time of the Master. Whatever work He did, whatever message He gave, He asked his church to do, but for that task it is to be noticed that the Master was especially imbued by the spirit and so must His people be. Then shall we be his witness in the whole community. This is the church that the world needs today.

TRUCK STRUCK TOURING CAR AND TROLLEY

NEW LONDON, Sept. 6. — Louis Seigel, of 13 Thames street, Norwich, will be in the police court here Monday morning to answer to a charge of reckless operation of a motor vehicle. He is fortunate that he is able to go to court. Sunday he was operating a Dodge delivery truck on Chappell Hill, that section of Williams street between the Connecticut college and Main street. He was coming down the hill from Norwich at a speed that was not slow, to say the least. He endeavored to pass a Chevrolet touring car operated by Herman Willens, of Palmertown. The Seigel truck struck the Willens machine and was thrown against a trolley car bound for Norwich which left New London at 1.15 and that hurled the truck against the touring car, in which was a woman with Willens. She was injured, her head being cut. The Willens car was damaged to the extent of $25 or more while the truck was rendered useless and was towed off the road to avert the hindering of traffic. All the persons concerned were ordered to appear in court Monday, including the motorman and conductor of the trolley car. Officer William Graham served the notice upon the accused and the witnesses.

MENDOZA STATE OF MENDOZA, Argentina, Sept. 6.—(A. P.)—The Prince of Wales travelling by special train on his way to Chile, arrived here today. The princes party changed trains here for the great climb over the Andes Mountains. The prince is due to reach Santiago, Chile, at 8 o'clock this evening.

"DOG DAYS" NAMED FOR STAR, NOT MAD DOGS

Most people associate dog days with mad dogs. "Even Pliny, in his day, called attention to the prevalence of madness among dogs during that period of the summer called dog days. And yet it was a manifestation due to the movement of the stars and not dogs, which gave to the hottest, most trying period of the summer the name of dog days, says The Indianapolis News.

The ancients applied the name to a period of about 40 days at the time of the helical rising of Sirius, the dog star. The heat, which is usually the most oppressive of the year, was formerly ascribed to the conjunction of that star with the sun.

Due to the precession of the equinoxes it is no longer the time of the helical rising of the dog star, but the name and the old beliefs still are handed down from generation to generation. It hardly seems fair to link Sirius, bright, brilliant, glorious, with mad dogs, hot weather and summer complaint, especially since it has not a thing to do with them.

Even Homer, in his Iliad, says, "Brightest of all is he, yet for an evil sign is he set and bringeth much fever upon hapless man." Sirius is called the dog star because it is the chief star in the constellation of the great dog which follows at the heels of Orion in his curney across the skies.

As a single star it vies with Orion, the most spectacular of the constellations, as the chief attraction in the winter sky. Its admirers look for it about the middle of November, for it is then that it begins to appear above the horizon, far to the southeast, as it trails after Orion. All through the winter months and the early spring its glory blazes forth, until in May when its pathway is dimmed by the light of the sun.

The Chinese Way

Second-hand newspapers have a large sale in China. A newsboy who sells a paper on Monday buys it back the next day for a fraction of the selling price, smooths it out and resells it in a nearby village for a reduced price. And the process is repeated from village to village until the paper has been worn to illegibility.

Helpful Hair Hints

A leading hair dresser says—"I have found nothing as good as Parisian Sage to make the hair wavy, soft and lustrous and make it grow abundant and beautiful." Remember the name—Parisian Sage—best for the hair and scalp. It's guaranteed. Lee and Osgood and all druggists sell it.

Quick Pile Relief

Can only come by removing the cause—bad circulation in the lower bowel. Nothing but an internal remedy can bring quick and sure relief. That's why ointments and operations fail. Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause. Money refunded if not satisfied by Lee & Osgood Co. and druggists everywhere.

NO MORE SHINY NOSES

A new French process powder that is not affected by perspiration—will not let an ugly shine come through; stays on until you take it off; fine and pure; makes the pores invisible; looks like beautiful natural skin; gives a soft velvety complexion. Get this new wonderful beauty powder called Mello-glo. Porteous & Mitchell Co.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

WEEKLY TRANSFERS

NEW YORK, Sept. 6—(A. F.)—A sharp reaction in the stock market followed by an irregular recovery overshadowed all other developments in this week's securities and commodities market. In the absence of any adverse news developments the decline which originated with bear traders, was generally accepted as a natural consequence of a weakened technical position resulting from the recent advance. Motors led the late rally.

Bond prices held relatively firm with the exception of a six point break in Anton Jurgens 6S, part of which was later recovered. A $70,000,000 Canadian government short term 4 per cent issue featured the new offerings. Call money rates were lowered in reflection of the return flow of funds withdrawn for the first of the month requirements.

Speculation in cotton futures was more active at irregularly higher prices in reflection of a recent reduction in private crop estimates, and growing uneasiness of an apparently large short interest. Wheat prices turned reactionary on favorable European crop reports and increased shipments of foreign producers, particularly Russia which is reported to have sold several million bushels to France.

There were several points of interest in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling declined below $4.84 1-3 to around the so-called "gold point" below which it would be profitable for American bankers to import the precious metal from England. The selling was attributed to large offerings of cotton and grain bills and the partial withdrawal of London balances by New York banks. Francs francs held steady between $4.63 and 4.70 cents. Italian lire crossed 4 cents for the first time in about three months.

Danish and Norwegian kroner continued their sensational advances to record high levels with buying influenced by improved financial conditions in those countries and the reported recall of funds from London. Brazilian milreis established a new high for the year, above 13 cents.

RAILROAD MEN RUN THROUGH NEW LONDON FOR ANNUAL OUTING

NEW LONDON, Sept. 6.—About 300 Railroad men assembled today at Red Top, the section of the Thames River banks where the crews of Harvard train for their annual contests on the water with Yale, for their annual picnic. The road management of the New Haven and Central Vermont company provided special trains to bring employes from all along the lines of those roads, the trains arriving from the east and west divisions at noon. An efficient committee, at the head of which was Matthew A. Keenan had everything ready when the trains rolled into the station here and boarded another train for Red Top. The party feasted, soon after they got to the picnic station, on chowder and fish and in midafternoon they were regaled with a bake that was of the best for there was nothing lacking to make it such. Sports provided deversion during the afternoon and there were various games and stunts. The outing was voted the best the railroaders have had in many years.

Residents of this city are now buying fish at the markets instead of at the boats that come to the public pier, because the price of the fish at the stores is less than is charged at the boats. The conclusion reached is that the owners of the boats make an excessive profit, or the marketmen are selling at prices that do not compensate them, which is not at all likely. The fishermen were given the privilege of selling at the pier that residents here might get fish at a fair price and get it fresh, but it is observed of late that the fish bought at the boats is of the iced sort, and there is a suspicion that much of that fish is shipped in here from Boston and New York and that they are exactly of the same freshness as the fish sold in the markets where no boats are owned. The fishermen pay a rental of a dollar a day at the pier while the marketmen are under large store rental, employ clerks, and have other overhead expenses that must be met. There is a quite general opinion that the boatmen are reaping a profit to which they are not fairly entitled.

All the hotels in this city were filled with guests today and they will be so filled Monday. The rush began Saturday evening when the early trains brought people from the big centers of population and that rush continued throughout the night and today. Saturday being a half holiday in the cities, many took advantage of it and hurried away that they might have a rest from duty during part of Saturday, all of Sunday and Monday. All trains carried extra cars to accommodate the travelers. So many automobiles as filled the streets Saturday evening have not often been seen here. At times Bank and State streets were so congested that trolley traffic was halted and traffic officers were kept on the jump to clear the streets. The opening up of Green street, Washington and North Bank street would relieve this condition, but the city council does not seem disposed to proceed along that line. If an attempt is made to widen Bank street to the extent of two feet or so on either side by narrowing the sidewalks the city will step into an operation that will be the most expensive it has ever undertaken in the line of street improvement. Property owners have consulted their attorneys and claims for damages to property will flow into the council like water from a millrace. A survey has been made and the property owners in that have been declared benefitted to the exact extent that they are damaged; but that survey will undergo revision perhaps, when the courts come to consider the cases as presented by the owners of the real estate involved.

In the police court Saturday, Arthur Evers and Mrs. Ruth Adriani Altei of New Rochelle, N. Y., were declared guilty of an offense that will bring divorce to the wife of the former and the husband of the latter. That was the purpose sought when the couple were arrested a week ago at a local hotel where they were registered as husband and wife. Th pair had no hesitancy as to the charge. Indeed they admitted it. They were pursued here by Mrs. Evers and Mr. Alteirie and abundant evidence of the guilt of the pair was obtained.

While the positive evidence which the officers sought was missing, enough was revealed to warrant divorce proceedings and the statement of the prosecutor to the court was to the effect that such proceedings had been commenced in Westchester county, New York. Mrs. Alteirie was well supplied with jewelry and that she pledged to her attorney to secure bail when she was held, a week ago. Yesterday the police court disposed of the case by allowing the accused to pay $50 with the understanding that the divorce proceedings were in progress of presentation in court.

James Francis Murphy, a young man who has been concerned in a number of serious crimes, was in the court for an offense committed with Helen Zeist, a girl 17 years old on the 28th of February last. Both pleaded guilty as charged. Murphy was fined $75 and was ordered to pay the costs of trial. The Zeist girl's parents reside in Montville and they expressed a willingness to take her and guard her so that she will not get into trouble again. She has been employed as a housemaid in New London and so met Murphy, who resides close by where the girl worked. Murphy received his warning that he has had his last chance to keep out of jail. He has been treated with the greatest consideration thus far.

Henry Ellison, colored, residing on John street, was fined $20 in the police court Saturday for engaging in the liquor business contrary to the conditions laid down in the Volstead act which congress passed and to which the state of Connecticut adheres. Henry must have had an idea that he was a bit too slippery for the police and the law. He reckoned far from the facts though for police engaged a young crook named Charles Santos, after the latter had confessed that he stole $16 from the trousers of a man whose house he visited with the man's son to go the Ellison house and there buy liquor as he had bought it on prior occasions. Ellison sold to the boy and the latter handed his liquor over to the police as soon as he obtained it. Nellie Jones, also colored was at the Ellison house when Santos appeared for the liquor and she directed him to the room where he could find Ellison. She was complained against for an offense against decency, on the testimony of the boy and she was fined and paid $25 and costs. Nellie was some talker and when she alluded to the police spoke of the "law." She professed to be the wife of a man of leisure who "made his pile in the saloon business" in ante-Volstead days. She had the spectators in court in laughter most of the time with her droll utterances.

Lucie Manning, a high kicker, also colored, was fined for breach of peace. She was taken into custody on suspicion that she had taken hold of a fountain pen that was not her property and that she had forgotten to drop it. She was drunk when the arrest was made, so she disclosed her temper, which was that of a tiger and attacked the officer when she was landed in the police station. She kicked and fought and refused to conform to discipline till she was landed in a cell. She admitted her conduct.

John Heikel, a chief petty officer, was to have been arraigned for avoiding responsibility when his automobile ran down a man on lower Bank St., a month ago and the man sustained injuries that have kept him in the hospital since. The Heikel car is the same that ran down and injured a child on Jefferson avenue some months ago, though Heikel was not operating the car then. His wife was the driver. If Heikel is a bit superstitious he will get rid of that car a lonah machine.

Emily Knox, a woman of 24, the mother of a child born out of wedlock, residing at 13 Amity street, this city, was with a couple of sailors in Riverside park, Saturday morning when the police station was notified from Connecticut College of the conduct of the gang. Officers sought and found the three and arested them. Emily is a flapper and devoid of the conscience, manifestly, that she should possess. Her child is six years old. When she was presented in court the case was continued for a week and the girl was committed to jail, where she will remain till she can be sent to a reformatory that will start her on the road that will lead her

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bogle of Providence street have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Brierley of New Bedford, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander E. Reeves of Portland, Me., are spending the holidays in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Heap of North Adams, Mass., are guests of Mr. Heap's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leg Heap and family of South Second avenue.

Miss Bessie M. Grant of Norwich Town was a guest Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Sharples and family of North Second avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Hindle and son Edmund H. Hindle of North Third avenue have returned from spending a week in Woodstock, N. H., where they were the guests of Mr. Hindle's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Scott and family.

Having been closed for the month of August, while the pastor, Rev. Edwin Gordon Crowdis had his annual vacation, the Taftville Congregational church held its first service of the fall season on Sunday. A Worker's Conference for Tuesday evening was announced. The offertory solos were by Miss Dorothy Wood and Miss Florence Livingstone of Pawtucket, R. I.

Charles Hammond of Taunton, Mass., is spending the holidays with friends in the village.

Joseph Rose of Pleasure Beach was a caller on friends in town Sunday.

The beautiful asters at the Taftville Congregational church Sunday morning were from the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bardsley of North A street. Mr. and Mrs. Bardsley have some very beautiful asters in many hues, which never fail to attract the attention of those who pass their residence.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vidal and daughter of Centerville, R. I., are guests in town over the week end.

TAFTVILLE MAKES GALA EVENT OF ANNUAL REUNION OF PIONEERS

Taftville was the mecca toward which every true Pioneer Boy of Taftville and his family turned their steps for the three day re-union and old home week celebration, which began Saturday. The village is in carnival attire for the event. Banners and flags are being flown from private residences and business buildings, strings of hundreds of colored electric lights are looped across the principal streets, and a big sign of welcome hangs over post office square.

Never has the village seen such a mammoth celebration as this. Visitors began to arrive by hundreds on Saturday and kept coming until Sunday noon. The latch string was out at all the homes of the town, if one wore the little purple and gold badge of the Pioneer. Traffic was unusually heavy, and was constantly held up by groups of visitors who recognized one another and insisted on shaking hands in the middle of the streets. Everybody was in the best of spirits; and the old timers spent every spare minute recalling the days when they resided in the village.

The Taftville field day association which has been very active in planning the entertainment for the visiting Pioneers, staged a giant field day Saturday afternoon at the Providence street grounds. This was followed by an old fashioned dance at Ponemah hall. The hall was crowded to capacity, and the 70-year olds tripped through the program of lancers, quadrilles and reels as spry as they did years ago. Professor Tinkham prompted and the Scotland Road symphony orchestra played. There were violin selections by Miss Adelia Marsan and vocal solos by Miss Florence Livingstone of Pawtucket, R. I.

Election of Officers

The annual business meeting of the Pioneers was held at noon Sunday at Ponemah hall. General Chairman John B. Benoit opened the meeting, extending a welcome to the visitors, and then turned the meeting over to President William H. Thomas of Providence, R. I., who thanked the local Pioneers for the royal welcome that had been arranged in honor of the visitors. The election of officers resulted as follows: President William H. Thomas of Providence, R. I.; vice president, William Brierley of New Bedford, Mass.; secretary-treasurer, William R. Booth of Providence, R. I.; assistant secretaries, William C. Kendall of Norwich and William Brierley of New Bedford, Mass. It was voted to hold the next annual meeting at Rocky Point, R. I. in August, 1926. President Thomas, in his address to the Pioneers, recalled how the organization started in 1912 with a handful of members, and how it had grown until Ponemah hall would hardly accommodate those who desired to attend the meeting. Members who have died during the year are James Stubbs, Lewis A. Tillinghast, John L. S. Anderson, Antoine Paquette, Philias C. Dion and Joseph Caron and the members stood for one minute in silence, as a tribute to their memory.

From California For Reunion

Those who journey farthest for the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kenyon of Santiago, California. A telegram was read from Howard T. Booth of Minneapolis, Minn., who wired, "Sorry I cannot be with you. Best wishes for a happy and enjoyable reunion."

After the meeting, the visiting Pioneers were escorted up Providence street to all the village organizations. The parade formed at the hall and headed by mixed colors and Swahn's band of 25 pieces marched to Ponemah Heights. Garde St. Jeanne d'Arc of Cauchell Gagnon, No. 208, Union St. Jean Baptiste, attractive in their becoming uniforms and under the leadership of Napoleon Lessard gave exhibitions of drillwork while the parade was underway. Crowds lined the streets, and parking space was at a premium while the parade was underway. The parade formation was as follows:

Chairman John B. Benoit.
Massed Standards
Garde St. Jean d'Arc
Swahn's Military Band
Officials in Automobiles
Visiting Pioneers
Social Hose and Fire Co. No. 2.

At Ponemah Heights, the scene was one of great activity. Blazing fires, huge soup kettles and coffee pots gave the appearance of an army camp. Tables by a common use 400 guests were set beneath the tall oaks. Swahn's Band and the Old Pioneers Band gave enjoyable concerts and the bake was on.

Feast for the Pioneers

The feast was in charge of the famous "King George" Jacques, clambake King of Eastern Connecticut, and while the crowd was probably one of the largest that ever sat down at one time, and the appetites of the Pioneers were of the best, there was no hitch in the service of the appetizing food dispensed as soon as it reached the festive board and there were calls for more. The King and his assistants were kept busy in the culinary department, and the waitresses handled the situation were capable. They were in charge of Mrs. Gabriel Paquette and were as follows: Mrs. Frank Mathieu, Mrs. Ida Eccleston, Mrs. Edward St. Amour, Mrs. Mathias Paradis, Mrs. Frank Bedard, Mrs. George Bedard, Mrs. Wilfred Leblanc, Mrs. George Gregory, Mrs. Fernand Fontaine, Miss Leonie Eccleston, Miss Delia Paquette, Miss Germaine Lambert, Miss Antoinette Legare, Miss Alma Deschamps.

After the bake there was community singing and vocal solos by Abel Reeves, James B. Jackson, Omer Tellier and Omer Tellier, Jr. There was a drilling exhibition by the Turner Section of the Taftville Maennerchor Club and degree team work by Garde St. Jeanne d'Arc, these events taking place on the roque grounds.

The re-union comes to an end today (Monday) when all visitors are to meet on the Providence street grounds to witness a ball game between the local Pioneers and the visiting Pioneers. It is expected that this game will go five innings, after which a game will be played by a Groton team and the Taftville Athletic Association.

Field Day Events

With the weather man doing his part, the big field day given by the Taftville Field Day Association was held Saturday afternoon at the Providence street grounds. The attendance was enormous, in fact, larger than that at any event ever held on the grounds. The valuable prizes and the certainty that the affair was to be a live event, attracted a great many amateur athletes from various towns of eastern Connecticut, and the program was one that was interesting and exciting from start to finish. The drills and sensational horizontal bar work of the Turner Section of the Taftville Maennerchor Club and the exhibition drilling of Garde St. Jeanne d'Arc of Council Gagnon, No. 208, Union St. Jean Baptiste contributed greatly to the success of the program. John B. Benoit was the announcer for the day and Anthony J. Murphy was clerk of the course. During the afternoon a band concert by Swahn's band was greatly enjoyed by the hundreds who attended the field day. The band gave the following programme:

March, Equinox ..... J. P. Sousa
Overture, Jolly Robbers ..... Suppe
Medley, Popular Airs.
Waltzing for the Moon—..... Berlin
Let It Rain, Let It Pour,..... Feist
Oh! Say, Can I See You Tonight ..... Remich

Blindfold battle royal; Winner, H. Krause.

Ladies 3-legged race: Winners, Misses Thoma-Heibel.

Tug of war: Winner, Gauthier team.

The records were kept by Anthony J. Murphy, clerk of the course.

TWO MEN ARRESTED FOR FIGHT IN ALLEY

Two men, one of whom resides on the West Side, got into a fight in the alley at Chappell's coal yard Sunday afternoon about 4:30 and as a result both were arrested on breach of the peace charges by Officer John O'Neil. One of the men claims that the other has been making trouble at his home by making unwelcome visits and that he told him to keep away. The two got into an argument Sunday afternoon and one invited the other to have it out in the alley.

They went there, a couple of blows were struck and the remainder of the five minute struggle consisted of something of a wrestling match in which the decision of a group of spectators was a draw. The men broke away from their strangle holds just as Officer John O'Neill appeared on the scene and took them in charge. They will be in court this (Monday) morning.

MADE QUICK WORK OF SMALL FIRE ON ROOF

Sunday afternoon at 12:26 o'clock the fire department was called out by telephone for a small fire on the roof of the fire extinguisher from the garage. A tenant in the building had built a wood fire and sparks from the chimney fell on the roof, setting it on fire.

Mr Bundy, an employe at the Bogue garage, climbed to the roof with one of the fire extinguished from the garage and had the fire practically out when the fire department arrived in response to a telephone call. The blaze burned a small hole in the roof.

Rain Caught Church Congregations

Rain that began Sunday evening in time to catch congregations as they were coming out of church continued through most of the night. It was a forerunner of the showers that are predicted for Labor Day.

Many valuable products come from the mangrove forests of Siam, which cover an estimated area of 329,000 acres.

POST-WAR FORGETFULNESS CITED IN PRIEST'S SERMON

"Seek ye therefore first the Kingdom of God," a text explaining the object of man's existence, the purpose of his creation, was chosen by Rev. Myles P. Galvin, who preached at the 9 o'clock mass in St. Patrick's church SSunday. This text was the Saviour's admonition from the gospel for the Sunday, Matthew 6, 24-33, as read in all the masses celebrated throughout the world on the fourteenth Sunday after Pentecost. It begins, "No man can serve two masters." The epistle for the Sunday was Galatians 5, 16-24. "Brethren, walk in the spirit and you shall not fulfil the lusts of the flesh, etc."

Father Galvin pointed out the discrepancy between what should be and what is, as regards the matter of the text he had chosen. Far from living in accord with the Redeemer's command, men rather seek wealth, honor, pleasure, forgetting their obligation to seek first the Kingdom of God. Having with great effort and many denials accumulated riches, they find the result chiefly worry and disappointment. If they strive for honors, they soon learn that the world is fickle, praising today whom tomorrow it will scorn. In this respect the preacher cited conditions during the recent war, when names of certain great leaders of men were on every tongue; today who mentions them, who pauses to do them honor?

The same thing is true of seeking pleasure—risk and effort and danger only result in disillusion, often in bitterness. Whatever men attain in this life, they are never quite satisfied, since it is true, as St. Augustine says, "Our hearts, O, Lord, are thine; and they can never rest until they rest in Thee." To reach this true happiness, then, with a full realization of the purpose of his creation—which is to know, love and serve God in this world in order to be happy with Him in the next, man's duty was pointed out in the brief sermon. Each day of the Christian should begin with the offering of his every thought, word, and action to God. He knows that there is no true happiness for him on this earth, for his Exemplar, Christ has so declared, predicting that His followers ever must take up the cross if they would follow Him. The real happiness lies beyond earthly existence and in order to merit this, the preacher exhorted his large congregation to seek the Kingdom of God by seeking to make their lives day after day more truly Christ-like.

The three priests of this parish have never heard so many confessions at each week end as is the rule this year; and Father Galvin had to assist Rev. John J. Reilly, who read the low mass, in administering Holy Communion to the great number of men, women and older children.

Referring to the week's annual lawn party, Father Galvin pronounced it a fine success, incidentally stating that the parishioners were especially indebted to Father Reilly, who had arranged such a fine entertainment program for both afternoon and evening. It is expected that the fete will net a substantial sum for the parish repair fund, although all the accounts have not been settled yet.

Foreign Mission Sisters

During Sunday, two Gray Nuns of the Procure for Foreign Missions, at Rome, were at St. Patrick's, and received liberal donations toward their work in the foreign field. They came from the branch convent in Providence, which is at 369 Fruit Hill avenue. These Sisters have 40 convents in China, 30 in India, 30 in Africa and 5 in Japan. They also maintain 7 leper hospitals in Japan and China. Among their workers are over 100 native Chinese Sisters.

As an indication of their valuable missionary work, teaching, instructing, training, a total of 23,000 Chinese adults were baptized last year, 6,000 of this number being adults. The two visiting Sisters were guests at the Perkins avenue convent over Saturday night, returning to Providence Sunday afternoon. Next Sunday they will visit St. Patrick's church, New Haven. The young women whom they secure to devote themselves to foreign mission work as members of their order go to the mission fields for life; yet they always find ardent volunteers and the volume of their work increases with surprising and steady growth. Recognizing the high quality of their consecrated service, the Catholic people at large always count it a privilege to aid the cause financially and the two visiting Sisters met a most cordial and practical welcome. Their labors in the leper colonies of the Far East, in particular are as heroic as they are appealing.

CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION TOWARDS HIGHWAY SAFETY

"They tell me that now even hens know how to keep out of the way of cars, perhaps human beings will learn to be all wise—both those who drive and those who walk," says a letter which the motor vehicle department has received from Rev. W. Douglas Mackenzie, president of the Hartford Seminary Foundation. The comment was occasioned by the recent bulletin of the department regarding the rules and courtesies which should guide motorists in their use of the public highways.

"There is no doubt that many men and some women utterly ignore all the principles of decent behavior as soon as they get into a car," says the letter. "They ignore the rights of pedestrians and seem to imagine that the main purpose of driving on a road is to pass the car ahead. No doubt many lives are annually sacrificed to rashness and selfishness of this kind. I believe also that pedestrians, while they have their rights, ought also to recognize certain primary rules of courtesy toward those who are driving automobiles." Dr. Mackenzie expressed the view, however, that the result of a continued campaign of education will be that "a kind of public morality will grow up around the use of automobiles."

The motor vehicle department has received considerable cooperation from the clergy in its educational campaign, especially since an appeal for the cooperation of churches was made recently. "I am hoping that the broad principles which control the duty of man in his relation to other men in traffic will be stressed repeatedly and continuously in sermons and teachings," Commissioner Stoeckel wrote to Dr. Mackenzie. "What is needed is to arouse a public sentiment of such definite and strong characteristics as will compel more supervision, and in general tend to impress upon each individual the grave responsibility to others which he carries when he moves about in the traffic of streets and highways."

NORTH CAROLINA LEGHORNS LED IN WEEK AT STORRS

During the forty-fourth week of the Storrs laying contest, the hens laid 5,868 eggs or a yield of over thirty-nine per cent. This is a drop of 307 eggs from the proceeding week but brings the grand total to date to 188,451 eggs. J. C. Patton's Leghorns from Charlotte, N. C., were in first place for the week with forty-five eggs. Three pens tied for second place with forty-four eggs, Harriet Smith's pen of Barred Rocks from Newburyport, Mass., Hanson's Leghorns from Corvallis, Ore., and Meadowedge Farm's Leghorns from Sterling Junction, Mass. Clark's pen of Barred Rocks from Brookfield Center, Conn., and a pen of Leghorns owned by Marshall Farm of Mobile, Ala., tied for third place with forty-three eggs each. Albert W. Buckbee's White Wyandottes from Wisner, N. Y., and a pen of Rhode Island Reds entered by Red Mount Farm at Franklin, Mass., tied for fourth place with forty-two eggs each.

The birds seem to feel somewhat the desire to obtain new feathers for the fall and winter season and some of them have seemed to give up the idea of laying many more eggs for the present. With the idea of cheering the birds up somewhat the electric lights were turned on September first and a nine o'clock feeding will be given them at this time, allowing them one hour of extra light as in other years. It is hoped that the lights will somewhat check further molting and will bring some of the early molters back under the wire again before the contest ends. At present the leaders remain about the same, Hanson's Leghorns from Corvallis, Ore., and Meadowedge Farm's Leghorns from Sterling Junction, Mass., are still fighting for first place. Hilltop Farm's pen of Leghorns from Suffield, Conn., have third place to themselves but Keewaydin Farm's Barred Rocks from Darien, Conn., are making a bid to pass Matteson's White Wyandottes from Davisville, R. I., for fourth place and unless the Wyandottes take a brace within the next few weeks they will succeed in doing it.

The leading pens in each of the principal varieties are as follows.

TRUSTFUL HUSBAND DUPED BY HIS ABSENT WIFE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 6—Lottie Mc Tough Pangambian seems to have been rightly named. Her husband, Ambrose Pakambian, has reported to the police that he desires to locate her and two children. He says Lottie came from Cohasset, Mass., her home, after she told him she was to visit her parents in this city. Ambrose sent her money every week and meant that she and the children should be provided for. Last week Lottie wrote to her husband telling him that she would return home Saturday. He was at the South Station at Summer street Boston, but neither wife nor children appeared so he came on to New London to learn that Lottie had not visited her parents, but had taken up her residence with a colored family at 87 Hempstead street where Ramon Santos was a boarder. There it is supposed Mrs. Pangambian was the wife of Santos, for their relations were of a nest to give that opinion. A week ago Santos and Lottie left here leaving the information that they had gone to New Haven where Santos was to sell bamboo fountain pens. Now Ambrose has gone out with tender looking to find his missing wife and to get possession of his two children. The police declare that both Pangambian and Santos are Filipinos, and they say that Lottie did a surprise act when she married unknown to her parents and without the formality of letting them know as to what her intentions were.

RETURNING TO MISSION FIELD IN CHINA

Rev. and Mrs. Edward H. Smith and three daughters, Helen, Eunice and Margaret, who have been visiting in Norwich Town, left Thursday for Fall River where on Sunday Rev. Mr. Smith visited the First Church which is supporting his missionary work in China. The two older daughters, Helen and Eunice, went to Nyack-on-the-Hudson to attend the week end reunion of the Shanghai American school graduates.

Monday Rev. and Mrs. Smith will return to Norwich Town and on Tuesday will start for China, stopping enroute in Philadelphia, and St. Louis to visit their aunt, Mrs. Charles W. Haynes, in the latter city. They sail for Foo Chow, China, October 3rd from San Francisco. Miss Helen Smith has accepted a position in this country as traveling secretary for the student volunteer movement. Miss Eunice Smith returns to her school year at Wheaton college, Noroton, Mass., and Miss Margaret Smith, the youngest daughter, will be left in Shanghai for five years study before returning to America.

BUY TO ENLARGE THEIR WEST MAIN ST. GARAGE

Louis Rosenberg and his sons, who conduct the West Side garage on West Main street, purchased on Saturday from Gustave Luckenbach the building at No. 198 adjoining their property, which has been conducted as the Economy Garage by Isaac Fishkin. Mr. Luckenbach purchased the property from Mr. Fiskkin and in turn sold it to Mr. Rosenbers and his sons.

The latter intend to utilize the property in connection with their present garage business. Mr. Rosenberg said Sunday night that he is making plans to have the front of the building cut down for a distance of fifteen feet from the sidewalk. This will provide space for the installation of a drive-in filling station. The property transfer was filed Saturday with the town clerk.

Band Engagements

Swahn's military band has been engaged to furnish music at the New London county fair this year and for the dedication of the new St. Joseph's school the following Sunday.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES

Who

Who paints with gold the roadside weeds?
The flaming golden rod?
Who clothes with gladness all the meads
Where purple asters nod?
Who tints the sky with softest blue?
Who scents september air?
Who sends the night wind to bedew
The grass with jewels rare?
O, every flower in beauty clad
Upspringing from the sod,
And every blade, and every leaf
Whispers in answer, "God."

—Author Unknown.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

How many boys and girls can tell the difference between toads and frogs. Although there is a marked difference between the two, a great many people really don't know a frog from a toad when they see one. To them the creature is a frog if it jumps and a toad if its walks. However, a toad can hop quite well, if startled and it is true that a frog often walks. Some of the marked differences are pointed out by M. H. Crawford in The Pageant of Nature. Mr. Crawford states that there are really very many differences, throughout life, from the egg chains of the toad and the egg masses of the frog to the toothless toad and the frog with the teeth in the upper jaw across the palate.

The tongue of the frog is lobed at the tip but that of the toad is entire. Toad-tadpoles differ from frog-tadpoles in that they are smaller, much darker in color and rounder in shape. Is it true that toads can live inside rocks with neither air nor food. Mr. Crawford says it assuredly is not true. It has never been satisfactorily proved that the toads that have hopped out of broken rocks and stones had absolutely no access to the air.

Frogs and toads are alike in one matter. They can both easily be tamed up to a certain degree. Flies and small, quickly moving worms are the best means to employ. Toads are also very sensitive to music and will come into a room to listen to it. Both the frog and the toad seem to like the sound of the human voice. For some reason, best known to themselves, frogs and toads are not happy in each other's company. They are seldom seen together. A toad always squats lower on the ground than a frog; its head is also huddled down between its forelegs. If you touch a frog it sits bolt upright and stares at you and suddenly it takes a huge, startlingly long leap. It is able to jump 50 times its own length.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE AWAKES

Mr. and Mrs. Guinea

Dear Uncle Jed; I want to tell the Wide Awakes a true story. We have a pair of guineas. They do not stay with the other hens and chickens but go out in the grass and hunt for bugs and seeds. At night they fly up in the elm tree near our house to roost. This summer Mrs. Guinea stole her nest in the meadow. While she was setting Mr. Guinea was very lonesome. He stood close to the cellar window by the hour and talked to his shadow in the glass. After four weeks the mother hatched three little ones. We found them one rainy morning. We caught them and put them in a box until it stopped raining and then let them go. Mr. and Mrs. Guinea are delighted with the new family. They both feed the babies. The mother guinea and the babies go to sleep in the calf lot. Every night Mr. Guinea goes with them to see that they are safe. Then he goes to roost in the tree. They have grown very fast and soon will be big enough to go to roost in the tree.

The Elves and the Shoemaker

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about the elves and the shoemaker? Once upon a time there was a shoemaker. He was a good man and worked hard. Still he was poor. One day he had only one piece of leather and no money. He cut a pair of shoes of the leather and laid it on the table. "It is late," he said, "I will get up early in the morning and make the shoes." But the next morning there stood a pair of shoes on the table. They were well made. Every stitch was in the right place. Soon a man came in. The shoes pleased him.

So he bought them and paid a big price for them. The shoemaker bought enough leather for two pairs of shoes. That night he cut them out and laid them on the table. And the next morning there stood two pairs of shoes. Two men came in that day. "These are fine shoes," they said, and they paid a good price for them. This time the shoemaker bought enough leather for four pairs of shoes. Again he cut them out and laid them on the table. The next morning there stood four pairs of shoes.

And so it went on each night he cut out his leather. Each morning found every stitch in the right place. Each day he sold them and bought more leather. At last he became rich. One night just before Christmas he said to his wife, "Let us sit up tonight and see who does our work." So they hid behind the door. At midnight two little elves came in skipping and jumping. They ran to the table and sat down. They took up the leather and began to stitch and hammer. The shoemaker could not take his eyes off them. The next morning the shoemaker's wife said, "These little elves have made us rich, let us do something for them. I will make coats and trousers for them and you make some shoes." So the shoemaker made two little pairs of shoes and his good wife made two little coats and two little pairs of trousers. That night they laid them on the table and hid behind the door again. At midnight the two little elves came in skipping and jumping. They jumped upon the table and sat down to work. They looked about for leather and saw none. Then they saw the little clothes. They put them on and danced for joy. At last they jumped from the table ran out the door, and skipped away. No one has ever seen them since. But the shoemaker and his wife are always happy. Kindness is always rewarded.

Our Trip to Mohegan Park

Dear Uncle Jed: June 17th, this year the children of the Occum school went to Mohegan park. We started at two o'clock in the afternoon and arrived there at three o'clock.

When we arrived at the park the first thing we went to look at was the animals. I enjoyed looking at them. We then went on the swings.

We took a ride on the lake. We had a very good time.

At six o'clock the truck came for us. We had great fun coming home. We sang and gave many cheers. When we reached home it was seven o'clock. I enjoyed the trip very much.

Got Into Deep Water

Dear Uncle Jed: I am a little boy nearly seven years old. I want to tell you about the day I went on the picnic at the beach. It was Watch Hill we went to. We took our lunch in a big basket and got there about 10 o'clock. We stayed all day. At 1 o'clock my mother said I could go in the water. So I put my bathing suit on and went in. I waded out up to my knees and a big wave came and knocked me over and I went down under the water. A big fat man who was standing there pulled me out. The waves didn't knock him down at all. I guess it was because he was too heavy. I was scared and got my mouth and nose full of water. The water burned my nose and made me choke but I was all right a little while after. I went in again after that but I watched for the waves and ran into shore before they got me again.

My Cat

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my third letter to the Wide Awakes. I thought I would write about my cat and kittens. My cat's name is Buddy. His color is gray and white and I have two kittens. One is Bus and the other is Buster. Bus' colors is white gray and yellow and has a white nose. Buster's color is the same as Bus only black on his nose. Buddy is four years old and Bus and Buster are three weeks old. I like my cat and kittens very much.

On Visit From Newark

Dear Uncle Jed: My mother brought me up here from Newark for a visit with my cousins. I like the country fine. It is much nicer than our city but it gets awful lonesome after dark. I stay around the farm house after dark because I am afraid of getting lost on the road which has no lights. We have lights on all the streets in Newark so it seems funny to go at night and have everything dark so that you can't see anywhere. I am going back home next week as I have to go to school. I have been reading the letters on the children's page and like them fine. I thought you might like to get a letter from me so that is why I wrote.

Myles Standish's Monument

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my trip to Myles Standish's monument. It was while I was in Massachusetts visiting, that I saw the monument. My uncle took my aunt, cousins, my mother and myself to see it.

When we were on top of the hill we could look off and see water on one side of us and trees on the other. We watched a boat race while there. It was fun to watch it.

After we had fun there for a short while we went back to South Hansen. While I was coming home from my vacation I saw a big bear and a little bear.

A Visit to Woodville

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my six weeks vacation that I spent at my grandmothers home in Woodville, Massachusetts.

After I had been there for about six weeks a friend of my grandmother's came and took me to visit his family in Westboro. When I was there he took us to Lake Chauncey and we went in swimming.

Another time he took us all to a school reunion called Bear Hill school reunion. We had a very good time there.

After I had returned to my grandmothers, my mother and sister came to visit her. Saturday afternoon my aunt and uncle came to take us home, the next morning.

Sunday morning we started away from grandma's home at quarter of seven, daylight-saving time. When we were coming home we saw Webster lake. Shortly after we got home three cars packed full of our friends and relatives came to see us. Afterwards they went to Mystic and then returned home.

From a Four Year Old

Dear Uncle Jed: I was four years old the fourth of June. I hold the pen with mother when she writes letters for me. My brother is going to be six in September and he is going to write to you then.

Every day we open the Bulletin and look for Peter Rabbit. When it is letter day we hear all the letters.

Last night mother read us about Charles' cake. This morning she got the things ready and I mixed one before breakfast. Afterward I frosted it. It is for papa. It looks very good. I am glad I learned how to make it.

Is Going to the Fair

Uncle Jed: I haven't written before but my mother said that if I was good she would take me to the fair this fall. She goes every year but I have never been so I am anxious to see what it is like. I want to see all the chickens and puppies, and the acrobats and horse races. I have a nice little puppy. He is a bull dog puppy and his name is Nero. I like him and he plays with me every day. I will write and tell you about school sometime.

RAIN ON LABOR DAY A BLOW TO CONN. SUMMER RESORTS

Traffic Was Reported Light in Many Cities and on the Main Highways—Shore Resorts Were Deserted as Steady Downpour Continued Throughout the Day—6,000 Persons Braved the Rain at Opening of the State Fair in Hartford.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 7—(AP)—Rain turned Labor Day into blue Monday for thousands of persons who had anticipated a "glorious day" at Connecticut's summering places.

Many of the shore resorts which took on Labor Day as the "wind-up" day of the summer were virtually deserted as the heavens remained open and a steady downpour continued throughout the day.

Hammonassett beach, Mecca of between 12,000 and 15,000 pleasure seekers last year on Labor Day, saw less than a thousand today.

At White Cliff Lighthouse Point, Double Beach, Monaugnin and other places along the shore where thousands have been wont to gather on holidays, there was also a noticeable lack of play. At Savin Rock the majority of the stands did not open during the day.

Traffic usually vieing with that of Fourth of July, was reported to be light in many cities and on the main highways. Most of the cars on the roads were carrying home week-end vacationers whose added holiday was spoiled by the weather.

6,000 VISITORS BRAVED RAIN AT OPENING OF STATE FAIR

HARTFORD, Sept. 7—Rain, dismal cold and drizzling, greeted the 6,000 visitors to the formal opening of the state fair today. Intermittently all day, never hard enough to be called a storm, but never clearing, the rain came, making swamps out of the grassy places and elongated puddles of the roadways.

The Foot Guard band played cheerily through the mist and occasional lamentation arose from the cattle or poultry, tents and spasmodically, came an exhortation to buy one that was red hot, but the noise, the bustle and humour of the state fair was missing while the gaudy strings of multi-colored pennants drooped miserably with water running off their points.

To those who did brave the drizzle, the exhibitions which were housed in the permanent buildings, seemed to appeal most, the floral display, the industrial building and the state department exhibits drawing a considerable number of visitors while the occupants of the tents suffered proportionately.

The industrial exhibits which were not quite complete on Sunday, had all arrived today and the building in its entirety presented a very attractive spectacle. The various booths are arranged conveniently and with taste, while the burnished steel, tin and copper of the mechanical and housing exhibits add a sparkle to the scene which was entirely lacking out of doors today.

One poor turkey, suffering from dampened spirits and the confusion of the exhibition, cast discretion to the winds and laid two eggs, which is generally considered a most unturkey-like thing to do, "one egg a day" being the quota for the birds under ordinary conditions.

There were no races, great gray pools of rain water extending across the track, while the race horses, bundled up in their blankets, with only their eyes and ears visible, gazed wistfully from their stalls under the dripping eaves.

The Ferris wheel stood motionless, the seats covered with soaked canvas and the attendants slept, huddled in the cars of the stagnant merry-go-round. The great fair lay under a spell, tranquil, but expectant.

Tomorrow is mayor's day, Thursday is governor's day, and with one day lost, the program which was to take a week will be crowded into five days, adding mightily to the rush and excitement of the state fair this year. Races scheduled for today will be run off along with the program for the remainder of the week while all the other thousand and one entertainments of the fair will be speeded up to compensate for the Labor day rain.

Thirty mayors from all over Connecticut will meet Mayor Stevens at the city hall at 10.30 a. m., tomorrow and proceed to the fair grounds to take part in the festivities of the postponed opening. Motion pictures of the gathering will be taken and every effort made to "crowd two days into one," and launch successfully the biggest of Connecticut's state fairs which today appeared dormant but in reality "fearin' to go."

SEVEN CARS IN COLLISION ON THE NORFOLK ROAD

TORRINGTON, Sept. 7.—(A. P.)—In a collision on the Norfolk road late this afternoon in which seven cars were involved, Ruell Orcon, 27, of Bridgeport, suffered a fractured pelvis and internal injuries. He is in the Charlotte-Hungerford hospital here. As far as could be learned, no one else was injured. The car in which Orcon was riding collided with another one traveling in an opposite direction. Two cars following one of the machines and three following the other, unable to stop on the slippery pavement, ran into one another.

FATALITY IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT AT STRATFORD

STRATFORD, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Barbara Schreiber, 55, of 418 Cornelia street, Brooklyn, N. Y., was killed and three other persons were injured here this afternoon when an automobile driven by Mrs. Schreiber's son, John, skidded on a wet pavement and crashed into a trolley car coming from the opposite direction. The trolley was operated by Motorman C. J. Johnson, of Bridgeport.

At Bridgeport hospital under observation for possible internal injuries, are the dead woman's daughter, Barbara, 18, and a relative, Mrs. Margaret Obert, 57, of 1120 Willoughby avenue, Brooklyn. The driver of the car was bruised and shaken up but was not seriously hurt.

SEES SOME VIRTUE IN COL. MITCHELL'S CRITICISM

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 7—Colonel William Mitchell probably is an extremist but has to do something to challenge the interest of the public in an efficient air service, Senator James A. Reed declared today in commenting on the former's statement criticizing the army and navy air services.

"Colonel Mitchell may be an extremist and probably is," the senator asserted, "Undoubtedly he is a courageous officer and his statement must challenge the attention to air service development. A little agitation in the military waters is a good thing because they are inclined to stagnate.

"I am glad to say our army is becoming more alert. But its traditional routine and rules force men into grooves. They are too much inclined not to appreciate new methods of attack and defense.

"Colonel Mitchell undoubtedly will be subjected to criticism but he has been subjected to harsh treatment in the past."

NOEL PLEADED GUILTY TO CHARGE OF KIDNAPPING

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Sept. 7—Harrison Noel, 20 year old son of a prominent Montclair family, today pleaded guilty to a charge of kidnapping six-year-old Mary Daly, whom he has told the police he shot to death. He pleaded nolguilty to the murder of Raymond Pierce, negro chauffeur.

In his earlier confession Noel said that he had killed Pierce in order to get an automobile for the kidnapping. He will be arraigned later for the murder of the child.

Noel's plea on the kidnapping charge was entered at Montclair where the child lived. He was then taken to Cedar Grove, where he said the murder of Pierce occurred, for arraignment on the other charge.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Germany to Send Commissioner.

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—(A. P.) — The German government plans to send a special commissioner to the United States in the latter part of September to work out details of the revaluation of German industrial securities held in the United States.

Death of Rene Viviani Former French Premier

PARIS, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Former Premier Rene Viviani died this morning. Death occurred in the Malmaison sanitorium, where M. Viviani had been confined for the last two years, suffering from a general breakdown. The end came peacefully after a long period of extreme feebleness.

The former premier collapsed while pleading a case in court on June 3, 1923, and was said at that time to be worn out with work and grief over the death of his wife a few months previous.

Rene Viviani, ex-premier of France and internationally famous lawyer and statesman, was the most renowned of the public men given to the French nation by her young colonies in Africa. Born November 8, 1863 in the thriving little village of Sidi Bel Abbes, in the interior of Algeria—which was itself born of the brilliant French conquest —Viviani came to be known through the years of his political life as a man who embodied in their truest sense the principles of liberty, equality and fraternity upon which the French republic was founded.

Destined by his pious mother to the cloth of the Roman Catholic Church, Viviani's taste for oratory and love of debate estranged him from the secular influence in early manhood and decided his choice of the law as a profession.

He was graduated from the University of Paris and immediately began the practice of law in Algiers, but it was not long before his ambitions required a wider field. He overcame many obstacles to establish himself in Paris, and many more before anyone knew he was there, yet his rise was meteoric, and he took high rank at the bar and an enviable niche in politics.

His advanced views on social and religious questions naturally drew him definitely into the socialist movement just then beginning to grow rapidly in France. He saw the needs of the laboring and low salaried classes; he fought with them for an readjustment of their social conditions; he won the confidence of farmer and woodman voters in picturesque Auvergne; he brought into being the old-age pension laws, then he became the first minister of labor, and it was upon the shoulders of the workers he befriended in those early days that he was carried to the high positions he afterward held in the political affairs of the republic.

The turning point of his career, however, came in 1904, when the international socialist congress, under the influence of Bebel, the German socialist leader, adopted a resolution demanding the unification of the party. Viviani, with Aristide Briand and Alexander Millerand, refused to accept this decision, and rather than compromise with the revolutionary element of the body, organized a separate wing that ultimately became the republican socialist party. Its first success came in 1906, when 20 deputies, including Viviani, Briand and Millerand were elected.

Wise old Georges Clemenceau, upon becoming premier in October of the same year, chose Viviani to head the newly created department of labor, and there the workman's friend accomplished wonders by finding common ground of understanding between capital and labor, and at a time, too, when the toiling classes were dangerously astir.

Briand, succeeding Millerand as premier in 1909, retained Viviani in office, but a difference arose between them as to the right of the state railroad employes to strike, and Viviani retired. He returned to power, however, four years later when he became minister of public instruction in the cabinet of M. Doumergue.

The fateful year of 1914, which ushered in the World War, saw Viviani with the reins of government in his own hands for the first time, after the chamber had refused to accept a cabinet formed by Alexandre Ribot.

Always an active worker in the campaign to separate the affairs of church and state, Viviani acquired first fame as an orator in the councils of the socialist party and confirmed it in the chamber of deputies by a speech urging the government to eliminate religious influence from public affairs. Probably no other orator in the world could have expressed the same anti-clerical sentiments, even in the French chamber of deputies, without being hooted down, yet Viviani invariably brought the entire chamber to its feet acclaiming statements with which a goodly number disagreed and which were of no interest to a great many more.

Like most Frenchmen, Viviani had a penchant for writing. Early in his career he collaborated on the Materno, when Briand was its editor, and after the World War he contributed largely to the American press, confining his writings chiefly to European politics.

MRS. WILSON IMPRESSED BY SESSION OF THE L. OF N.

GENEVA, Sept. 7.—(AP)—"It is magnificent." Mrs. Woodrow Wilson said to personal friends tonight after spending the entire day closely following the opening day deliberations of the League of Nations assembly.

She left the League auditorium deeply affected by the day's experience. She was particularly impressed by what Dr. Edward Xenes, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, told her of a practical attribute of the League of Nations which is not generally known.

"Do you realize," he said to Mrs. Wilson, "that by spending four weeks each minister in Europe, like other foreign minister in Europe, like other ministers I am able to treat in this neutral atmosphere many questions existing between us, which are amplified later into important agreements. The League of Nations founded by your husband is a great time saver."

SUMARY OF YESTERDAY'S EVENTS IN WASHINGTON

Military officials maintained silence on charges made by Colonel William Mitchell at San Antonio.

Those interested in the nickel plate merger project arrived for resumption of hearings tomorrow.

The German Embassy announced the date when American holders of German industrial bonds must file proof of ownership.

Quarrel Over Stew Resulted in Death

Negress Held in Norwalk For Murder of Fidel Marruna —Victim Was Stabbed Nine Times.

NORWALK, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Dispute over a stew which the man wanted the woman to make for him as a lunch, brought death to Fidel Marruna, 36, Portuguese early today, and the woman, Clara Jones, 28, negress, is held on a charge of murder.

Dorothy Smith, negress, who said she witnessed the beginning of the trouble, and later saw the Jones woman, knife in hand, stabbing at the man who was on the ground, and Crasso Fernandes, who said he happened to be on the street, nearby, are held as material witnesses. The Jones woman was bespattered with blood when Officer Martin Ballas, who saw her standing astride over Marruna, arrested her.

The Smith woman told the officers that Marruna was in the Jones' woman's house at 37 Raymond street, in a part of the city in which brawls are common. She said that Marruna wanted a stew and the Jones woman refused to make it. The dispute led to words and the Smith woman says that Marruna left the house and the Jones woman followed, knife in hand. The Smith woman says that she followed later and opposite 43 Raymond street in an alley she saw the Jones woman stabbing at the man who was on the ground.

The police say the Jones woman admitted hitting the man on the head with a club. They failed to find a knife near the body.

Marruna's body showed five stab wounds in the chest and four on a shoulder.

Nothing is known of the man. The woman was known to the police as quarrelsome and she had been arrested several times for being in a fight. The woman will be taken into court tomorrow for arraignment.

SEARCH FOR SEAPLANE PN-9 1 CONTINUES TO BE FRUITLESS

HONOLULU, Sept. 7—One week ago, Commander John Rodgers and four other navy fliers took off from San Francisco in the seaplane PN-9, No. 1, for a none-stop flight to Honolulu. They have not been seen since.

Despite the increasingly apparent hopeless nature of the search, officers and men of the United States navy in Hawaiian waters today continued their search. They expressed themselves as determined to save the missing aviators or find some trace confirming their loss.

Today, airplanes and surface ships pursue the hunt in the waters where the seaplane last was reported, while submarines and other ships search the waters to the north and west, where the airship might have drifted had it made a safe landing. By night the searchlights of the navy ships play over the empty wastes, tracing strange patterns in the clouds.

Meantime two squadrons of destroyers are returning from Australia and New Zealand, and will reinforce the searchers when they arrive.

A despatch from San Francisco today said that Captain Stanford E. Moses, commander of the aircraft squadron of the battle fleet, who had charge of the flight, had publicly admitted he had "virtually given up hope" of finding the five aviators alive.

SEEKING NIECES HE HAS NOT SEEN FOR 12 YEARS

HARTFORD, Sept. 7.—(A. P.)—James S. Buchanan, 70 years old, last of the Buchanan family, which came over from Scotland, in 1660, fiddler for 50 years in orchestras in Connecticut and New York, is in Hartford seeking his twin nieces he has not seen for twelve years. When Mr. Buchanan's elder sister died last December in Waterbury, his former home in this country, correspondence from his nieces was lost and as Mr. Buchanan has heard that they have been married for several years, he has been unable to locate them, owing to not knowing their husband's names. The sisters were, before their marriage the Misses Agnes and Angela Grilley, daughters of the late Mrs. Jessie Buchanan Grilley, and are, Mr. Buchanan declares, approximately 30 years old.

ADDRESS ON ELIMINATION OF WASTE IN PRODUCTION

MOOSEHEART, Ills., Sept. 7.—(A. P.) — Industrial consolidation as a step to eliminate waste in production, assure steady employment, reduce costs and curb over developments, was advocated tonight by Secretary of Labor Davis in his Labor Day address, broadcast from the Moose headquarters Station WJJD.

Laws which make economic consolidations illegal serve no public interest and should be altered to conform to present day industrial tendencies, Secretary Davis asserted.

He warned against organized attempts to abolish the prevailing system of selective immigration, urging friends of the method to join him in an effort to make the present law more selective.

CONVENTION OF COLORED LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 7.—(A. P.)—The second annual convention of the Colored Loyal Order of Moose, is being held in this city. There are delegates from throughout the country, some coming from the state of Washington and while others came from as far southwest as Texas. Today was the first day of the convention, which will be in session until Thursday.

The annual ball was held tonight at the Casino dance palace, where more than 500 were present. The day's events included entertainments of various kinds.

TO CONTINUE SEARCH FOR THE SEAPLANE, PN-9 NO. 1

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Captain Stanford E. Moses, commander of the San Francisco-to-Hawaii flight project, today sent a radio message to Captain S. Jackson of the airplane tender Aroostook, asking his opinion as to how the search should be maintained for the missing seaplane PN-9, No. 1, and her crew.

New York Gangster Shot From Ambush

Murder Believed to Have Been the Result of Hostility of Rival Drug Peddling Gangs.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Warfare between rival East Side gangsters took toll of another life today when Frank Guiffriedo, known to the police as "Eleven Fingers," was shot to death from ambush, in the center of "Little Italy."

Guiffriedo, who served several prison terms, was found in the street with six bullets in his body. He was suspected of being a drug peddler and the police believe he incurred the hostility of rival drug peddling gangs.

Belief also was expressed by the police that the murder may have been a reprisal for the slaying of Morris Grossman, notorious gangster, whose bullet-ridden body was found in a blazing automobile last Saturday.

HYLAN AND WALKER SHAKE HANDS IN PUBLIC

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(A. P.)—Mayor John F. Hylan and state Senator James J. Walker, his Tammany opponent for the democratic mayoralty nomination, shook hands in public today.

"Hello, candidate," said the senator, as the two ascended the speakers' stand to address a gathering of Labor Day picknickers at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn.

"Hello, candidate," responded the mayor.

Senator Walker offered his hand and the mayor took it, then the two rivals, who have assailed each other bitterly during the strenuous primary campaign, took seats on each side of William H. ("Big Bill") Edwards, candidate for comptroller on the mayor's ticket.

Governor Alfred E. Smith, active suporter of Senator Walker's candidacy, also occupied a platform chair, but no greeting passed between him and Mr. Hylan.

After the meeting the two candidates again shook hands and exchanged felicitations, each urging the other to take good care of his health.

Both Mayor Hylan and Senator Walker, as well as Governor Smith, addressed the gathering, paying tribute to labor's important part in national, state and municipal life.

Political developments on Labor Day were few, but democrats and republicans prepared for a busy week of campaigning. Suporters of both factions in the democratic contest issued statements, while Mayor Hylan made four evening addresses in the lower East Side.

Tammany again predicted defeat for Mayor Hylan and his ticket, announcing that reports from 150 executive committeemen showed sentiment in all five boroughs favoring Walker.

Walker headquarters made public a telegram from George Gordon Battle, commissioner appointed to investigate practices of meat packers several years ago, denying that Senator Walker, as attorney for meat packers and members of the senate committee on agriculture, had been connected with the sale of "putrid meats" in New York, as charged by Mayor Hylan in recent addresses.

RAMSAY MACDONALD GOING TO TRADE UNION CONGRESS

LONDON, Sept. 7.—(A. P.)—Ramsay MacDonald, former prime minister, today left Baumoral Castle, where he has been spending the week end as the guest of King George, to attend the meeting of the Trade Union Congress at Scarborough, which is expected to be called upon to decide whether Mr. MacDonald, J. H. Thomas, John R. Clynes and other members of the late labor government shall continue to control the destinies of the labor movement in Great Britain.

This meeting is also expected to show whether the trade union congress shall move closer to or further away from the political labor party.

At today's meeting of the congress an attempt was made to establish separate machinery for the industrial and political sides of the labor movement. Ultimately it was agreed to hold further consultations before any act of severance was made.

Leaders of the unofficial strike of British seamen were at Scarborough today asking the congress for support, which is not likely to be given them. There were no serious further developments in the strike situation in British home ports today, but the Amalgamated Marine Workers' union, which has been conducting the strike today decided to pay the strikers 15 shillings a week.

The marine strike situation continues serious in Australia and South America.

General Jan Smuts, former prime minister of South America, speaking today at Britstown, Cape Colony, denounced the strike.

In Australia hundreds of warrants are being issued against the striking seamen, and many have been arrested.

STATISTICS OF RESULT OF NEW IMMIGRATION LAW

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(A. P.)—The new immigration law has reduced by approximately 65 percent the influx of foreigners to the United States said an analysis of immigration statistics for 1924-25 made public today by the national industrial conference board. The statement also showed that many nationals of foreign countries were leaving the United States for their home shores.

The case of Italy was cited showing that 20,948 more nationals of that country left the United States than entered it during the year. Italy also fell 10 percent short of filling her quota of less than 4,000 a year.

Germany, Great Britain, the Irish Free State, and Sweden, failed to fill their quotas.

The total immigration, the report asserted, amounted to 294,314 for the year ending June 30, 1925, as compared with 706,896, during the preceding year, before the two percent quota went into effect. The deduction of aliens who left the country leaves a net immigration of 201,586 as compared with a net of 630,107 in 1923-24.

IMPROVEMENT IN ECONOMIC CONDITIONS IN EUROPE

Reported by J. Walter Drake, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, Who Has Just Made an Extensive Trip Abroad—Fails to Discern Anything That Should Cause American Business Men to Be Stampeded Into Fear of European Competition.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—"There is an unmistakable appearance of fundamentally improved conditions in Europe," said J. Walter Drake, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, who has just returned from an extensive trip through Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Germany, Switzerland and Italy where he made a study of economic conditions affecting American trade and conferred with field officers of the Department of Commerce.

"This improvement," Mr. Drake continued, "varies from country to country but none the less there is a gain in industry, in transportation and in commerce, in spite of the adverse factors that have held these countries back since the armistice.

"Generally speaking the agricultural population is all employed with good prospects for successful results this year. In the industrial field, while it is apparent that progress is being made, particularly in some localities, as a whole there is nothing that should cause the American business man to be stampeded into the fear of European competition. Typical American production methods have been copied to a somewhat lesser extent than formerly, it is true, but there are many reasons why European countries can not compete in a profitable way with American industry.

"American business men, however, can not afford to rest on their oars in the belief that this improvement may bring for American products in foreign markets. While we have great advantages in our advanced industrial methods and should not underestimate the buying power position we occupy in the competition for foreign trade extension, we should not ignore the fact that restored economic activity in Europe means sharper competition for the United States. Our highly developed industrial methods, our strong financial position and sound economic conditions are great elements of strength in support of our foreign trade development. But our producers and exporters need now more than ever before to be alert not only in holding their position in former markets but in active investigation of new potential markets and trade opportunities; and at the same time they must give more careful attention to the minute details of method and practice pertaining to foreign trade institutions." These are not difficult of mastery, but they do require certain specialization. Our business men can draw from experience in domestic merchandising what things they must do and what they must not do, and they must realize foreign merchandising demands equal care to keep the machinery in working order. Some of our foreign competitors whose foreign trade has long been vital to them are traders of great experience in the technical requirements of the business.

"The advantages already mentioned will not of themselves insure the continuance or growth of our foreign trade. We must send our goods when, where, and as they are needed. We must not be dependent upon our competitors for control of the facilities of transportation and merchandizing. Too much attention can not be given to the trading of goods, to packing, prompt delivery and other terms that enter into foreign shipping and merchandising. The effort of developing potential demand in a new market, of turning up specific trade opportunities, may well be wholly wasted unless the business transactions are so handled as not to impose upon foreign distributers and buyers just the sort of hindrances and embarrassments that domestic distributors and buyers would not tolerate.

"The offices of the Department at Commerce in Europe are doing their utmost to assist American business and it is gratifying to know that they are given the credit for their efforts. It is also significant that tributes of efficiency are coming from our foreign competitors. Officials of this service in Europe are literally working night and day in London, Paris and other trade centers upon the Continent. Their work in economic investigation and trade promotion is being widely used by American firms who find that the expert assistance both in finding trade opportunities and in the technique of trade transactions is invaluable. The extent to which this service is used and the results it is accomplishing, measured in the unquestioned volume of business, are conclusive evidence to the Department of its efficiency."

SIXTH ASSEMBLY OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

GENEVA, Sept. 7—With a hopeful start made in settling the supreme problem of European security, the sixth assembly of the league of nations took up its work today in an atmosphere of confidence.

This spirit of optimism, dominated the discourses delivered by Paul Painleve, premier of France, who called the assembly to order, and by Senator Raoul Dandurand of Canada, whom the assembly elected its president. Statesmen from fifty lands established their first contact of the session to review the world's affairs.

M. Painleve made one thing clear at the start. This was that when satisfactory security has been achieved by the negotiations between the allies and Germany, and other desirable regional guarantee pacts have been effected, the council of the league of nations should invite the powers to a conference looking toward the reduction, for the maintenance of peace must have its root in the league of nations.

M. Painleve characterized the negotiations with Germany as an effort to bring about agreements or arbitration treaties in conformity with the covenant of the league of nations, for the maintenance of peace.

110 CASES IN CITY COURT IN NEW HAVEN YESTERDAY

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 7—City court records for large holiday dockets were wont carecning today, when a total of 110 cases came before Judge Eugene F. Farley for disposition.

The heaviest sentence handed down went to Doris E. Lucy, who was committed to the state farm for women at Niantic for one year. The police records show that she has been arrested 34 times in five years. She recently agreed to leave the city, but not having done so, was committed by the judge.

Judge Farley stated in court that he did not want "criminals addressed to his house on Sunday or any other day." He was referring to a visit to his home yesterday by Charles Brax, of New London, who had been arrested for trespassing on railroad property. Brax today was fined $10. According to Brax a police sergeant had given him the judge's address.

The majority of the other defendants were arraigned on charges of breach of the peace and drunkenness and for violation of traffic regulations.

TO HAVE CIRCUIT OF ACTOR CONTROLLED THEATRES

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—(A. P.)—Officers of the actors' theatre, the reincorporated Equity Players of New York, today announced tentative plans for establishing a circuit of actor controlled theatres which would exchange production units on a plan similar to that operative on vaudeville circuits.

Successful in its fourth season in New York, and making debut in Chicago this week Shaw's "Candita" the organization now looks forward to the possibility of engagements in Cleveland, Cincinnati and other cities.

The actors' theatre is a co-operative enterprise sponsored and operated by members of the profession.

MOTOR TRUCK CRASHED INTO AN ELECTRIC CAR

GEORGETOWN, Mass., Sept. 7.—(A. P.)—John Allen, of Rowley, was killed tonight and George H. Kent, also of Rowley, was slightly injured when a motor truck driven by Kent crashed into an eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company electric car on Main street, in this town. Kent was arrested charged with manslaughter and with operating while under the influence of liquor.

SPANISH GATHERING FOR DRIVE AGAINST RIFFIANS

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 7—Reports arriving today from Melilla, in Spanish Morocco, say that the Spanish troops intended for disembarkation in the vicinity of Ajhucemas Bay, for operations against the Riffians, were gathered yesterday and today from various points around Melilla. They were put through a final inspection and thereafter went aboard in fleet of transports and warships which are to transfer them along the northern Moroccan coast.

During the week-end fifteen French warships of various classes arrived at Melilla.

The Spanish general staff will not allow any hint to be published in regard to the destination of the troops, but it is widely understood that part of them will be sent to Cape Quilates, at the north east of Alhucemas bay, while others may be taken 100 miles further to the west and landed at the mouth of the River Lau, 20 miles southeast of Tetuan, where a demonstration is expected to be made a large force of Spaniards.

The latest reports received in Melilla from spies who have succeeded in entering the Riffian territory indicate that the two spots indicated as probable landing places will present enormous risks for the disembarking forces. The Moroccans have dug along the cliffs protecting the coast line a large number of rifle pits in which their marksmen are able to shelter themselves in almost perfect safety while picking off troops attempting to reach the shore.

The spies also report that many cannon of various calibres are hidden in caves near the proposed landing places, where they cannot be hit, except by the merest accident, by bombardment from warships or airplane.

CONVENTION OF FEDERATION OF FEDERAL EMPLOYES

BOSTON, Sept. 7—Charges that the betterment of conditions of federal employes was being blocked by members of the personnel classification board of Washington were made at the eighth convention of the National Federation of Federal Employes, that opened here today, by Luther C. Stewart, general president of the federation.

President Stewart criticised several administrative boards and commissions which he said had opposed every proposed law for the betterment of the workers. The representatives of the bureau of efficiency and the bureau of the budget on the personal classification board, he said, were willing even to set aside existing law in order to carry through such opposition. Mr. Stewart also asserted that a campaign of misrepresentation had been carried on by followers of Sen. Reed Smoots of Utah in the bureau of efficiency.

Over 200 delegates from every state and territory were present at the opening session.

CONVENTION OF THE CONN. FEDERATION OF LABOR

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 7.—(A. P.)—Nearly 200 delegates from the various unions in the state are expected to attend the fortieth annual convention of the Connecticut Federation of Labor which opens for a four day session in New Britain tomorrow, Patrick J. O'Meara, of New Haven, said tonight. The credentials committee reported that credentials for 169 delegates had been received up to tonight. New Haven unions are expecting to send about 40 delegates.

President O'Meara will open the convention and the delegates will be welcomed to New Britain by Mayor Anthony Paonessa and George F. Zurick, president of the New Britain Central Labor Union

WILLIMANTIC

Mrs. Helen B. Toodell of Schenectady, N. Y., sustained painful injuries in an automobile accident in the town of Columbia Monday. Mrs. Toodell was a passenger in an Oldsmobile touring car driven by William Marsh, also of Schenectady and which was struck by one of the larger of the Willimantic-Hartford Blue Line Jitney Association's fleet of cars, opposite the Hillside filling station in Hop River.

Later in the day, the two operators, Mr. Marsh and Claude Griggs, were before Justice of the Peace Raymond Clarke, the former on a charge of reckless driving and Griggs for failing to give right of way. Marsh was fined twenty-five dollars and costs, fifteen dollars of the fine being remitted. The Blue Line operator was assessed five dollars and costs.

Both cars were proceeding in the direction of Hartford. The Schenectady machine came to a stop and started to back across the highway into a small roadway on the left hand side. At this time, the public service vehicle appeared and ploughed into it, being unable to avert a collision because of the slippery condition of the road.

The Marsh car was badly damaged while the glasswork on the side of the body in which there were sixteen passengers was shattered. Mrs. Toodell was taken in the Hillside Inn after the accident and was given medical attention by two doctors who were summoned.

The proprietor of the Hillside station, William Weller, testified against the Schenectady man in court. He was witness to part of the accident. He gave testimony to the effect that Griggs tooted his horn when he approached. Justice of the Peace Raymond Clarke was on the bench while his father, Grand Juror Joseph N. Clarke, prosecuted by mutual agreement. Mrs. Toodell sustained a dislocated left shoulder, bruised left side, and several broken ribs.

In the holiday session of the police court Monday morning, Joseph Moriarty, arrested by Officer Leo Piche Sunday evening was fined ten dollars and costs for intoxication. Albert R. Newmaker, 23, of Rockville was assessed a similar amount for speeding, it being his first offense since he acquired an operator's license, five years ago. Newmaker was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Arthur Hurley Sunday afternoon at 3:30 for driving a Ford racer on West Main street at an excessive rate of speed. In police court he pleaded guilty.

Martin Shea, arrested by the local police while visiting relatives over the week-end, entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of non-support of his wife and child. Judge Frank H. Foss found Shea guilty and sentenced him to one year in jail, unless he furnished a bond of seven hundred dollars as a surety for the payment of twelve dollars a week for the support of his wife and child. Mrs. Bereha Shea, wife of Shea, gave testimony that her spouse had refused to support her and her child. She stated that she had not lived with him since August 9 last. She told a story of abuse, to which she had to submit on the part of her husband. The child is four months old. The accused in his testimony said that his wife had become dissatisfied with the home which he had provided for her and that he did not know anything about the child. He said that when they had lived together she was continually going to dances and entertaining other people whom he did not like.

Shea did not furnish the required bond, so was taken to the county jail at Brooklyn.

A new fire alarm box was installed Monday at the junction of Bayne and South streets by the fire department. The box is now in running order and will be recorded as Box 41.

Three marriages took place in the town of Windham in July. July 25—Arthur J. Hurteau and Alberta Bernier, by Rev. E. A. Mathieu; 24, Charles Borgos, (Brooklyn, N. Y.,) and Ruth R. Brown White.

A heavy and steady rainfall marred what would otherwise have been an enjoyable observance of Labor Day in this city. The celebration, sponsored by the Central Labor Union, primarily to give visitors an opportunity to view the fight which the American Thread Company strikers are maintaining, was not held because of unfavorable weather conditions. On the program were scheduled a parade, band concerts, and athletic sports. The third and deciding game of the series between the South Windham All-Stars and the West Ends for the championship of the town of Windham was also postponed. There is a probability that this game will be played next Sunday, if the rival managers can come to some agreement.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Palmer of Worcester, Mass., were week-end and holiday guests of local relatives.

Joseph Sabe of Warrenville, arrested by Constable Howard Goodwin Sunday was before Justice of the Peace Z. B. Bicknell in the Ashford town court Monday morning on a charge of intoxication. His plea was guilty. He was fined five dollars and costs, amounting to $26.72.

Presented before Justice Bicknell, Friday evening, on a charge of selling watered milk, Clayton Kembell, also of Ashford pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs amounting to $19.87, which he paid. Grand Juror Otto Hattin prosecuted both cases.

Frank Leiss, Albert Stygar and Frank Nycek were arrested late Monday afternoon and will be in police court this (Tuesday) morning, the first-mentioned for drunkenness and the other two for assault. The trouble took place near 49 Brook street. Stygar and Nycek, it is alleged, assaulted Leiss who was under the influence of liquor, and who has a blackened eye as evidence to be used in court. Leiss is employed by the American Thread Company.

Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, Miss Mary Kelleher, Horace A. Reviere and Alexander Marks, organizers, addressed a meeting of the striking operatives of the American Thread Company and their sympathizers, Monday afternoon, at the town hall. The meeting was largely attended. Lewis C. Thompson, president of the Central Labor Union, was in charge of the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Sadd are at their summer home at Groton Long Point accompanied by their nieces, Mary and Ruth Cudworth of this city.

Miss Olive Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Cook of this city is to teach in Springfield, Mass., the coming term. She taught in South Manchester last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Wallen entertained for the holiday their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Wallen and daughter Lois.

Frederick Johnson of Norwich, entertained at his summer home Sunny Top, in Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. William Hyde of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Adams, of New Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Tryon and daughter Juliette and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Loomis were Labor Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Williams of Moodus.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Grant are on a motor trip to Torrington and the Berkshire Hills.

Mrs. Anna Rathburn is at the home of her brother William H. Buckingham here, after resigning her position at Sag Harbor, L. I.

Robert McKell, formerly of this city now of North Attleboro, Mass., spent the week-end in Willimantic.

Ralph B. Gates of New Britain spent Labor Day at the home of his parents, Sheriff and Mrs. Charles A. Gates.

Miss Marion Warner of Brooklyn, N. Y., was visiting her mother here over the holiday.

Miss Rose Demers of Hartford spent the week-end at her home here.

Frank McQuillan spent the holiday at his home in this city.

Mayor George W. Hickey and John H. Picket left Saturday to spend the week-end in New York today (Tuesday). Mayor Hickey will be the guest of Mayor Norman C. Stevens in Hartford where the mayors of the various cities in the state will assemble. Pierre J. Laramee, president of the board of aldermen, is acting mayor of Willimantic during the absence of the chief executive.

Mrs. J. Z. Mathieu and Mrs. F. H. Williams with Mrs. Mathieu's father, Fred F. Oatley are in Grand Rapids, Mich., attending the G. A. R. convention. They are to be gone about ten days.

Russell H. WeWbster who has been visiting Rev. Harry S. McCready in Oakland, California, has returned to his home here after an 11,000 mile trip.

Miss Minnie Cavanaugh of Colchester was a local visitor over the week-end and holiday.

Miss Thursilla Sullivan of Bay Path Institute, Springfield, Mass., was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Sullivan over the week-end and holiday.

John Hickey, of J. J. Hickey & Company store, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital suffering with appendicitis Sunday.

Two cars were damaged and one passenger was slightly bruised in a collision at Clark's Corners late Saturday afternoon. One of the machines was a Ford sedan owned by Miss Alice Andrews of North Scituate, Mass., and operated by her husband, Luther Andrews. The other was a Studebaker touring car owned by Mrs. Helen Breed, of Pennsylvania, and operated by her husband, R. Breed. The Andrew car had just passed another machines and had practically regained the right of the road when the Studebaker appeared, traveling at a rapid speed, and struck the rear side of the sedan, smashing the fender and demolishing the rear left wheel. Mrs. Andrews' niece, who sat in the rear seat was thrown completely out of the open window. She escaped with minor bruises. The front left side of the Pennsylvania car was damaged by the collision of the cars and the right side sustained damage when the car veered to the right of the road and struck the state fence. In the excitement, Mr. Andrews forgot to write down the address of the driver of the other car but he took mental note of the registration numbers and believes them to be Penn. 55-277. The Studebaker was driven off in the direction of Danielson, and the damaged Ford was hauled to Leonard's garage here for repairs. Upon arrival in this city Mr. Andrews notified the Danielson state police barracks and requested a search for the Pennsylvania machine.

Miss Marguerite Kaicans was tendered a miscellaneous shower at her home in Center street recently in honor of her approaching marriage with William T. Kearney of Norwich. Vocal and piano selections gave pleasure and a dainty luncheon was served. Present were Misses Alphonsine Blanchette, Eva Chabot, Bessie Connell, Rita Shea, Mildred Pickett, Olivine Chabot, Helen Shea, Anna Janiseck, Leona Brindamour, Anna Riley, Martha Pearl, Mary Day, Alice LiLiberte, Florence Coutu, Agnes Dubois, Agnes Mullen, Mae Shea, Ruth Keirans, Mae Keirans, Agnes Ryan of Hartford and Mesdames Arthur Welch, Lina Roy, Mary Swanson, Eugene Burdick and John Wilcox.

Sales of farm land and other property made during August through the Tryon agency of this city include: the Darrow property of ten acres in Hampton, to Jonathan A. Wilson, of West New Brighton, Long Island, N. Y., the Charles Howe property, 46 acres in Chaplin, to C. K. Bellaris of Port Chester, N. Y.; the Bassett property of five acres in Scotland to Cornelius Kurtshals, of Bridgeport; the Kulagen property of 75 acres on Wormwood Hill, Mansfield, to Alwin Sorensen, of New York City; the Dodge property of 35 acres in Windham, to Nathan Ladd of Willimantic; the Inhoff property, of 147 acres, in Scotland, to Philip Motz of Jersey City, N. J.; the Charles Brown property, of 95 acres in Ashford, to R. VanArsdale an artist of Hempstead, L. I., the Glenn property of 15 acres in Windham to Hester M. Rowsell of this city and the Eaton property of 120 acres, in Scotland, to Regina Depth of Lowell, Mass.

Three prisoners, John Drew of Wolfboro, N. J., Charles Rainsford of Canterbury and William Gosselin of Woonsocket, R. I., were taken from the Windham county jail at Brooklyn Saturday by Sheriff Charles A. Gates and transferred to the state prison at Wethersfield, to serve sentences imposed by Judge Christopher L. Avery in the superior court last week. John Drew was found guilty of the theft of a Studebaker sedan, last June, from Saad Brothers of Moosup. He is to serve a sentence of not less than five nor more than eight years. Charles Rainsford who was implicated with a woman confederate in burglarizing household furniture from a house in Scotland this spring will serve from two to three years. William Gosselin was convicted on a charge of breaking and entering a gasoline station in Putnam in June; his sentence is for not less than three nor more than four years.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Francis Walsh, operator of a Chevrolet coupe, and giving his address at 67 Whipple street, Fall River, added his name to those who have met disaster at Spalding's hill in South Killingly, Labor day morning, by skidding on the slippery highway surface and crashing into the fence bordering the state highway. The accident recalled that a young woman bearing the same family name was killed there on the Fourth, in 1923.

This accident occurred about 8 a. m. A little later, after the affair had been reported and a state officer was out there to check up the accident, a Chandler touring car, driven by Eilore Tortalani of 345 Glenmore avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., came bowling over the top of the hill and started on its downward way. Tortalani, as he whirled down the hill, saw the wreck of the Walsh car and applied the brakes to the machine he was driving. There was the usual result from such procedure on a wet highway surface. His car skidded and hit the Walsh car. With Tortalani were his wife and child. All escaped injury of any serious nature. The Chevrolet owned by Walsh was considerably jammed and was towed to a local garage. Though damaged, the Tortalani car was able to proceed under its own power.

Of interest is the fact that State Officer A. W. Williams was on duty on the crest of the hill trying to slow down traffic, which was heavy, after the Walsh accident, but the drivers on long distance trips were evidently all in a hurry to get home and were rolling along at a speed not ordinarily excessive, but dangerous under prevailing conditions.

Several minor accidents due to slippery highways and an overload of traffic claimed the attention of the state officers from the Danielson barracks during the course of the Labor day period.

This year the game poachers are not going to have such a happy time of it —getting out before the hunting season opens, and getting the range of the shooting at flocks of protected birds, undisturbed for months by hunters' guns. The state game commission will have its men in this territory on regular patrol of the woodland country hereabouts within a few days. Such violators of the game laws as these officials detect and hale into court will have little sympathy from the men who pay their money for a hunting license and obey the law as to not taking game out of season and in all other respects. There will be cheering among the real sportsmen for every hunter arrested and punished in court who gets out ahead of the opening of the season with the idea of getting the best there is out of the shooting season with total disregard for his fellowman who pays as much as he does to seek game through the countryside.

Out of the vacationlands of northern New England, off the routes that lead from the Cape and from here and there and everywhere, those who have had a summer holiday were wallowing home on Labor day through Danielsonff and through the rain and muck that made the holiday anything but a pleasant occasion.

New York cars predominated in this end of the season rush to get back to business. With regret, it may recorded that scores of drivers have learned nothing at all from the accidents that have befallen thousands of such tourists in the past few years and have built up a casuality list that rivals what the American forces suffered overseas and elsewhere during the World war. They were going home—and that's all there was to it—if they made it. Many of them, if they made it all, made it by grace of good luck and sheer bullheadness. They transgresed every ethic that the years have developed for the proper guide of motorists. They sped along over wet, slippery and unsafe highways as though they were on a race track. They disregarded railroad crossings at grade, as though they had an exclusive license to use for the day the highways of Connecticut. Not unsympathetic for those who simply will not learn, there were thousands who watched the passing parade who could not feel too regretful over the fact that some of them got into jams that caused them injuries and delays that could easily have been avoided by observing what have become fixed rules of safety and consideration of the rights of others.

Cars from at least twenty states figured in the westward and southward traffic through Danielson on the holiday. Whatever the drivers may have been guilty of in the manner of reckless operation of their cars—or mere dumbness—Danielson at least could realize that some kind fortune has placed it on one of the most important traffic routes in southern New England—and that is privileged to watch the passing show, though there be little revenue for the town in the watching. On the average one out of about every 200 cars that roll through this town stops here. The drivers are on their way—and Danielson is but a runt on the map. It is like watching the Bar Harbor expresses on the New Haven road—just a few of which stop to get orders, that will rush them on their way to the north.

From her home in Moosup Monday morning the funeral of Mrs. Delima Turenne was held, with services at All Hallows' church, Rev. Oscar Normand being celebrant of the high mass of requiem. Burial was in All Hallows' cemetery. The bearers were Romeo Turenne, Hector Turenne, William Turenne, Arthur Turenne, sons of the deceased and Telesmore and Augustus Beaulieu. E. E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Monday afternoon, the body of George Rogers, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers of Daggville, was removed from the undertaking rooms of E. E. Kennedy to their home. The little boy died of injuries received Sunday afternoon on the state highway near Putnam when he was struck by a car operated by George H. MacCarelle of Worcester, as told in Monday's Bulletin. The child lived only a few minutes after being removed to the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam. A broken thigh, also internal injuries are said to have caused the child's death.

South Killingly's annual Old Home Day observance suffered considerably because of the rainy weather on Labor day, but there were many who would not be denied the good time always assured those who go over to that community. Weather could not militate against pre-arranged plans to hold the exercises planned for the day and the serving of dinner indoors, an arrangement made possible by the use of the Community house, an asset such as few communities the size of South Killingly in this section of eastern Connecticut can boast.

Funeral service, Tillinghast Memorial chapter, Evergreen cemetery, Central Village, Wednesday 2:30 P. M. for Thomas Avery Tillinghast, who died at Salisbury, N. C.—Adv.

Mrs. Maria Coffey, Annie and Lena Coffey and Miss Elizabeth Haydon of Central Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manzo of Providence, R. I., Mr. and Mrs. Michael Connor and daughter Mary Connor of Putnam were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Greeley on Academy street.

NEW YORKER BROUGHT BACK WHEN STATE POLICE GET TIP

DANIELSON, Sept. 7—Benjamin Shapiro, who may be a cloak and suiter over in New York, for all anyone here knows, left a check for $67.14, and ample security to guarantee the worth of the same, with Judge W. Penner Woodward, of the Killingly town court, Monday morning, when William Jacobs, as driver of the big closed car in which Shapiro had been riding was before the local tribunal to answer a charge of evading responsibility for damage to a New Jersey machine, owned and driven by Francis M. Fifer of Gaydine, in the "skeeter state."

The car in which Jacobs was a cog as driver and of which Shapiro was the financial sponsor got into a jam, east of here, on the Providence road, with the car operated by Fifer—Fifer's car being considerably damaged in the contact, said to have been due to skidding because of the wet and slippery highway. The Shapiro end, as it may be known for the purposes of this story, proceeded after the crash, with little or no consideration for Fifer's interests or damages in the affair.

Fifer drove over to Danielson and told his tale of woe to Chief John McFarland of the borough police. The chief told him to see the state police and suggested that a telephone message to Willimantic, where state officers from the Danielson barracks have been on duty for months might lead to the apprehension of the Shapiro car, as it passed through that city. The suggestion adopted proved to be fifer, brought results. In due time Shapiro and the other occupants of the car in which he was riding were brought back to Danielson. State Officer Streamens and State Officer Rose seeing that the New Yorkers did not get off the trail on the return trip to this borough.

The net result of the round up of the New York car and its occupants was that Jacobs was presented in the town court, was fined $5 and costs, a total of $67.14, and paid Fifer $5 for the damage caused his car.

Here is, for the thousandth time, an illustration of the value of the state police in keeping motor vehicle operators in Connecticut, no matter where they come, in restraint against violation of the motor vehicle laws of this state.

THOS. A. TILLINGHAST DIES AT HIS NO. CAROLINA HOME

(Special to the Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, Sept. 7—At Salisbury, N. C., during Sunday afternoon the death occurred of Thomas Avery Tillinghast, 81, many years a resident of the town of Brooklyn and for a time resident in Danielson. Mr. Tillinghast had been in failing health for some time. During the past week his condition became so critical that his son, Charles A. Tillinghast, and his grand-son, Arthur Tillinghast, hurriedly left for the south and were with him when he died. The body will arrive here from Salisbury Tuesday evening.

Mr. Tillinghast was born on a farm near the Glen Falls section of Moosup, a son of Thomas and Laura Kinney Tillinghast. After obtaining his education Mr. Tillinghast engaged in farming and for the greater number of his active years was engaged in that pursuit. For years he successfully operated a splendid farm in the Allen hill section of Brooklyn. During the course of his life he had lived in Putnam, and after his retirement from active work had built and lived in a cottage located opposite the state police barracks on North Main street. Mr. Tillinghast, for the benefit of his health went south about 17 years ago and and since made his home in Salisbury.

Charles A. Tillinghast, Everett T. Tillinghast all of Danielson are sons and Mrs. Helen Pellett, is the daughter of Mr. Tillinghast.

PUTNAM

Chandler Morse left Monday for Amherst College where with other members of the football squad he will have two weeks' preliminary football practice before the opening of college.

Michael Mahar of Pomfret is another Putnam High School graduate who goes back to college early, by reason of his membership on a football team. He is already at Norwich University, at Northfield, Vermont.

James Mahoney, formerly employed at the Bradley Theater, now manager of the S-A Amusement Company's Rockville Theater, was called to Worcester by the death of his father.

About forty members of Windham County Guernsey Association attended its annual outing and field day trip. The party made the trip by bus, leaving Putnam at 7 A. M. and returning at 8 P. M.

The first stop was at the Moreland farm in Berlin, where a herd was inspected. Another fine herd was seen at Miss Riddles' farm in Middlebury where a cow that promises to make a world's record in the production of butter fat was exhibited. Before the party left for the third and last stop a basket lunch was eaten. The last stop was at John W. Alsop's farm at Avon. Mr. Alsop has seventy acres of alfalfa. The trip was both enjoyable and instructive and was made under the supervision of Alexander Maitland, of Thompson.

The Sunnyside Club is to meet with Mrs. Raymond Durfee on Monday evening, September 14.

DRIVER'S LEG FRACTURED IN AUTO COLLISION

PUTNAM, Sept. 7—An automobile driven by John H. Lees, of Harrisville, R. I., was in collision last night with a large car bearing a New York license, on the road a few miles from Quinebaug. His car was completely wrecked and Mr. Lees suffered a compound fracture of the left leg. He was taken first to the office of Dr. E. R. Pike, in East Woodstock, then removed to the Day Kimball hospital. In addition t ohis physical injuries he was laboring under the shock to such an extent that he could not tell how the accident occurred, or whether the driver and occupants of the other car stopped and rendered assistance. The name of the driver was not obtained.

Mrs. Lees, who was with him, had a bad cut on her face but was not hurt otherwise and a young woman, also from Harrisville, escaped injury. They were taken to their home. They had been spending the day with friends in Quinebaug and started for home about 9 o'clock.

WESTERLY

Charles M. Sauer of Westerly was called to Middletown, Conn., by the death of his mother, Mrs. Katherine S. Sauer, 82, widow of Martin Sauer of 191 South Main street, which occurred on Sunday morning. Besides her son she is survived by a daughter, Miss Elizabeth P. Sauer of Middletown and a granddaughter, Katherine E. Sauer of Westerly. Mrs. Sauer, who had resided in Middletown for 65 years had been a member of the South Congregational church for over sixty years and was also a member of the District Nurse Association.

"Sowannia," on Pinnacle road, Watch Hill, located across Popon road from the Misquamicut Inn, has been sold for Mrs. Alanson T. Enos to Lewis F. Harden of Philmont, N. Y., and West Palm Beach, Fla. The Watch Hill cottage was occupied the past summer by Ridley Watts. Mr. Harden during the past summer has occupied "Wayout" cottage at Avondale. A lot of land 150 by 210 feet, adjoining the property of J. Frederick Eagle, near Graydon cottage, occupied by Mr. and and Mrs. Burrows Sloan of Ardmore, Pa., has also been sold by its owner, Mr. Coy to Mrs. George Armstrong of New York.

The meeting of the Westerly Town Council will be held at 2:30 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning in the council chambers of the Westerly Town Hall. The regular September meeting of the Council was set for the first Monday in the month, but Monday being Labor day and a holiday, the meeting was postponed a day.

The Westerly police were called Sunday night about 11:45 by J. H. Simpson to the Harry Nichols place, near the White School House corner on the Potter Hill road, where Michael Point, 49, of 182 Gano street, Providence, was found, and reported that he had been struck by an automobile. The man was taken to the Westerly Police Station where on Monday morning a more thorough investigation was made by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown. Through an interpreter, it was learned that the man was Portuguese and had been to Wall street, in Stonington, "to a time" and "feeling pretty good" was attempting to walk to Providence. Dr. Michael H. Scanlon was called to attend the man who complained of severe pain in his left leg. Examination showed a bullet hole through the man's trousers with a hole in his leg below the knee at the side. The bullet had taken an upward course as the hole indicated. The wound bore evidence of having been previously attended to with medical aid. At this time it was learned from the man that he had been robbed and of without funds. Overseer of the Poor Oliver P. Crandall was called and on the advice of physicians the man was sent to Providence on the 12:20 Monday afternoon express and directed to go to a hospital for further treatment, or suffer the loss of his leg. Investigation is being made by the Westerly police department of reported shooting during the past twenty-four hours, one near the corner of Pierce and Pond streets and the other near the meeting house bridge, on the Westerly-Hopkinton new state highway. Before leaving for Providence, Post informed the Westerly authorities that he was married and had six children residing in Providence. He was accompanied to the Westerly station by Patrolman Robert Kesel and Overseer Crandall.

Complaint having been made to Patrolman E. A. Kenyon of Pawcatuck Sunday that there were two men in danger of drowning at a Pawcatuck dock, where one of the men was found in an intoxicated condition in a fish boat, the officer visited the place and was reported to have taken into custody E. D. Corey and A. G. Lussier. The men were detained for their welfare at the Pawcatuck lockup. Monday morning they were before Judge William A. Wilcox on complaint of intoxication by Town Solicitor George R. McKenna. They were fined $1 and costs amount to $14, which they paid.

This (Tuesday) morning at 9 o'clock before Judge Wilcox in Stonington town court two assault cases will be tried.

MISSING RAZOR FOUND AT JEREMIAH BOURDEAU'S

WESTERLY, R. I., Sept. 7.—A razor, the property of Jeremiah Bourdeau, and which is supposed to have been used by him in slashing his wrist and neck, early last Friday morning when he was found lifeless in a brook on his farm on the Hinckley Hill road, was discovered early Monday morning, about 350 feet from the barn. The missing razor was found under an apple tree near a stonewall by a cousin of Mrs. A. E. Cote, who had gone to the place to pick up an apple. It was the custom of Mr. Bourdeau in warm weather to pass considerable time at this particular place where it is possible that the razor was wielded by him, following which, when faint from loss of blood he had sought the pool and pitched forward into it and as a result was smothered to death in the thick mud.

The funeral of Mr. Bourdeau was held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Michael's church in Pawcatuck, with requiem high mass Sunday by Rev. Father John J. Keane. Martin H. Spellman sang a solo. Burial was at River Bend cemetery, the bearers being grandsons, Arthur Cote, Henry Cote and Theodore Cote; also Edward F. Cord, James H. Jessop and Herbert Lewis.

DOUBLE VICTORY OF SENATORS ENDS PENNANT CHANCES FOR ATHLETICS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7—Any lingering doubts that the banner of American League supremacy would perch atop the Washington stronghold for the second successive year was removed today when the Senators dealt two stunning blows to the Athletics, the team which until its sudden downfall fought a nip and tuck battle with the world's champions for the peak.

Double defeat today by scores of 3 to 1 this morning and 7-6 this afternoon virtually eliminated the struggling Mackmen from the race. They are now nine full games behind the buoyant titleholders. Mathematically they still have a chance to win in the month of campaigning that remains but it will take something more with the speed and destructive power of a typhoon to dislodge Bucky Harris and his gallant crew from the top.

A vast gathering of close to 70,000 fans, 30,000 in the morning and a capacity turnout of 38,000 in the afternoon, came out to see the Athletics make their last ditch stand. They saw the home team put up a sensational fight for both games only to make costly mistakes at vital moments that tossed away chances for victory and shattered the last trace of Connie Mack's dream of his first pennant in eleven years.

Today's setbacks were the eleventh and twelfth straight sustained by the Athletics since they started crumbling in their last western invasion. They had only appear hopelessly out of the race, but face a strenuous tussle to retain even their hold on second position on the face of Chicago's challenge.

The Senators were forced to employ all the strategy at their command as well as much of their reserve material to down their opponents today but they left a convincing impression of superiority and an ability to seize opportunities in the same fashion that marked their world championship fight last year.

Walter Johnson, outpitching Lefty Groves, turned in the morning triumph for the Senators but only after he had withstood a spectacular ninth inning rally, which scored one run for the Macks and fell short of tying the score when Bing Miller, overrunning third base, was caught for the third out.

Johnson himself led the Senators attack and scored the visitors' first run while a homer by Joe Harris in the eighth provided the deciding margin.

In the afternoon, it was the loose work of the Mack infield that proved most costly. In both the fifth and eighth innings, when the Senators rolled up five of their seven runs the inner works of the Athletics faltered at critical junctures with Bishop and Galloway contributing the most damaging errors.

The second game started out as a spit ball battle between two veterans, Stanley Coveleskie and Jack Quinn. Both hailing from the Pennsylvania coal regions. But neither withstood the rival bombardments, Quinn batting through the fifth and Coveleskie the seventh. In the parade of replacements, Harris called on three more moundsmen while Mack employed two others.

Coveleskie had a five run lead when the Athletics suddenly unleashed a furious assault that netted four runs in the fifth, they ended the veteran Pole's day by tying the score in the seventh, only to have Washington force ahead with two runs in the eighth off Baumgartner.

Harris, the boy manager, was a prominent figure in the Senators attacks, starting in three of the scoring rallies and figuring in the fourth.

An unusual play in the eighth when the Athletics came within a run of again tying the score, cost the Mackmen a good chance to fatten their score. It was a catch off the left field wall by Goslin of a drive off Welch's bat. Two runners were on base and both might have scored but scurried back to their bases in the belief that Goslin had made a fair catch. When umpires ruled it had first hit the wall it was too late and a double play, engineered by Harris ended the rally. The scores:

GIANTS AND ATHLETICS PRACTICALLY OUT OF IT.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Connie Mack's air castle, an American League Pennant after eleven fruitless campaigns—today went the way of all vanishing dreams. His young ball players cracked at critical moments. Their bobbles pied the type which had hitherto spelled "hope" in large letters in the mind of the veteran leader.

Washington's double victory 2 to 1 and 7 to 6, boosted the Senators' lead to nine full games. Victories in fourteen of their remaining twenty five games will give them the pennant, even should Philadelphia win all of its twenty five contests. The standings:

Philadelphia	74	53	.583

The Pirates could do no better than get an even break. They overpowered Chicago in the morning, 8 to 5, but the Cubs achieved a 9 to 8 ten inning victory after luncheon. New York and Boston were idle, so Pittsburgh still holds an eight and one half game advantage tonight. The standings:

Pittsburgh	83	48	.634
New York	76	58	.567

AGAINST CALLING OFF GAMES AT ELEVENTH HOUR

Sports Editor:—

We wish to say a few words concerning the New London Tabs-West Ends game which was to have been played in Willimantic Sunday Sept. 6th. About a thousand fans were turned away when the Tabs manager called off the game just one hour before game time. It is a very low down trick to have played on a baseball manager and manager Heller of the West Ends hopes to get satisfaction through these columns. The sooner baseball managers throughout the state learn of the eleventh hour policy of the Tabs, the better it will be for the sport and it is with this end in view that Manager Heller is writing to the Bulletin. Manager McDonald of the Tabs gave no reason for calling off the game other than that some of his men hadgone on an excursion to New York.

RUTHE PLAYS AGAIN BUT YANKEES LOSE

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Red Sox topped the Yankees' today, 5 to 1, bringing to an end the four-game winning streak of the Hugmen.

Babe Ruth, who has made his peace with manager Miller Huggins, was back in the lineup for the first time since his suspension and $5,000 fine. He was loudly cheered throughout the game but failed to distinguish himself, fanning twice and making an error in left field. The best he could get was a single in four times at bat.

Howard Ehmke held the Hugmen to five hits.

Rain caused the postponement of the first game of a scheduled double-header. The score:

FRANCE WINS RIGHT TO CHALLENGE AMERICA FOR DWIGHT F. DAVIS CUP

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 7—Two doughty sons of France today won the right to challenge America for the Dwight F. Davis cup, symbol of international tennis supremacy. The tri-color representatives this afternoon eliminated Australia from the competition and as a result will meet the United States team in the challenge round of the turf courts of the Germantown Cricket club, Philadelphia, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Australia, winner of the American zone bracket, fell before the dazzling play of France, winner of the European zone tournament, in the inter-zone final, 3 to 1. Jean Borotra of France, Wimbledon champion in 1924, lifted the tri-color to its place in the challenge round by scoring the third victory of the tournament for his nation when he stroked his way to a smashing victory over Gerald Patterson of Australia, on the wet grass courts of the West Side Tennis club today, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3.

Previous to today France had scored one single and one double victory in the tournament against Australia. Borotra's victory over Patterson, today, elevated the Frenchmen to the challenge round without the formality of playing a fifth match. Owing to the fact that the fifth match could have no possible influence on the ultimate result, Rene LaCoste elected to default to James O. Anderson, Australia captain, on account of the wet condition of the courts. While LaCoste actually defaulted, the match will not go down on the Davis cup records as a default. The captains of the two teams agreed to declare it no contest, terminating the tie at the conclusion of the fourth match.

Borotra's play today was an exhibition of almost perfect tennis despite the interference of the elements. A drizzling rain fell during a major share of the contest, making the court soggy and the bound of the ball sluggish but this did not appear to handicap the French ace. He vanquished the Australia threat, Gerald Patterson, in the face of one of the most blinding services in the history of Davis cup competition.

In defeating Patterson and eliminating Australia, Borotra rose to heights he never before attained. Only in service did the Australian have an edge on his French rival and only by the accurate use of this offering was Patterson able to force the issue into four sets. Despite Borotra's ability to handicap his vicious service, Patterson scored 14 service aces in the match to but three for Borotra.

The Australian started impressively scoring a 6-4 victory in the opening set, breaking Borotra's service in the tenth game after dividing service with his rival up to that point. In the second set Borotra began to decipher his rival's shots and he won 6-4, breaking through service twice. The third service was tossed into the discard three straight times and he lost the set 6-1. That was the beginning of the end for Borotra took the fourth set and the match 6-3.

By virtue of today's triumph France stands the lone survivor in a field of 25 nations which launched challenges for the Davis cup. In its tour to the challenge round France eliminated Hungary, Italy, England and Holland to win the European zone and then topped this performance by eliminating Australia in the inter-zone final. Incidentally this is France's first appearance in the challenge round, Australia having eliminated the tri-color in the inter-zone final in 1923 and 1924.

TOURS AND DETOURS.

One can easily appreciate the feeling of satisfaction that is expressed by an English tourist in crossing this continent when he exclaims over our roads. It will be felt that he selected a route that would bring similar expression from most any one, whatever the feeling might be in regard to other avenues of travel, but his dislike for detours was evidenced by the statement that these are the worst things a motorist has to contend with in his country. His experience produced this: "It is heart breaking some times to have to leave a wonderful concrete road for a crumpled sidetrack. But even these detours are plainly marked at frequent intervals with an arrow and the word 'detour'."

Does he express your views in regard to detours. Detours are invariably things to be avoided if posible. When there is no escape it is well to bear the affliction with as little irritation as possible but detours invariably recall painful recollections, whether sliding through the mud of Vermont, cutting through the rough berry patches of Connecticut or threading the maze of country roads which follows the sign that indicates a detour in most any state.

If the Englishman found detours plainly marked he was certainly fortunate. Detour signs are to be found where the detour starts but thereafter in too many instances it remains for the fellow detouring to stop and inquire at every fork of the road or to guess at the turn to take by using his sense of direction. He may also be wise enough to follow the road that shows the effects of traffic, but the detour frequently may lead anywhere except back to the concrete road. The importance of plainly marking the detours at corners is too often overlooked and the placing of the needed signs forgotten. There is about as little to guide the traveler in this respect as there is to tell him what road to take and what not to take when he searches for the branch road that will take him to his destination.

WILD ASSERTIONS.

What must be regarded as a demonstration of wild statements and a disposition to condemn everyone who has differed with him is the assertion made by Colonel William Mitchell concerning the loss of the Shenandoah and the PN-9 No 1, and the snap judgment he reached as to where the responsibility rested.

The rashness of his statements was clear to himself when he stated that he expected it would bring about his early arrest and court martial. In fact it would seem to be indicated that that is just the course that he is desirous of having taken under the belief that it will give him an opportunity to reinduige in his efforts for a department of aviation separate from the army and navy.

In view of the position which he has previously taken, despite the fact that it was accompanied by demotion, he has persisted in placing his views before the public by writing a book and now by coming out in denunciation of the heads of the army and navy. Whatever may be the sentiment concerning a separate department for aviation, the very manner in which Colonel Mitchell conducts himself and voices his opinions as a subordinate indicates his make up and gives the impression that no matter where he was placed or under what conditions he could be expected to be a trouble maker.

Even though he should be right, his manner and method create resentment. It is the worst kind of an example for an officer to set and it cannot be ignored. If he cannot have his own way he is going to be a disturber and the quicker such an individual can be dispensed with the better.

In voicing his opinion as to the responsibility for the loss of the airship and seaplane he is using these disasters to further his own ends without any justification whatever. He knows nothing about the facts attending the loss and admits it. He simply sees a chance to capitalize his ideas out o these losses and denounce those who have not been impressed by views. He talks like a cheap politician and deserves to be treated as such. It indicates the character of the man and his judgment.

LET THE CHANGE COME.

In a despatch from Washington concerning the added responsibilities which have been placed on the shoulders of Secretary Hoover of the department of commerce, the statement is made that "In the coming year it is probable that the shipping board will cease to be an independent institution and become a bureau under Mr. Hoover."

A move of such a character is one that has long been needed. Nothing strengthens a belief in the need of such a reorganization like the friction that is constantly arising in the shipping board and between the board and the head of the emergency fleet corporation. There have been and there are those unwilling to cooperate and bring about a smooth and efficient operation and who place personal views before administration policies. Such is too often the outcome of guidance by a board whose members are unwilling to reach a common agreement and where the minority not only insists upon its ideas being carried out or launching a campaign of publicity and defiance.

Under a single head such friction would be eliminated. The responsibility would be none the less certain, and instead of a cat and dog fight among the members of the board or difficulties between certain board members and the administration there would be a definite policy pursued which would have a goal and be working toward it.

Secretary Hoover has long since demonstrated his capacity for executive responsibilities and the ending of the existence of the shipping board and putting the work of the commissioners into a bureau to be directed by the secretary of commerce seems not only a desirable change but it would insure an effective administration.

While there may be a desire for a reduction of government bureaus this is a case where no extra government agency would be created, but where a board would give way to a bureau, and a single head would take the place of a divided board. Congress cannot fail to be aware of the fact that the country is sick and tired of the backing and filling that has been done in the shipping board.

OVERCOMING DELAYS.

While the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey are having a contest over the new bridge across the river between Philadelphia and Camden, as to whether there will be a toll collected to aid in meeting the expense of construction, the people of Maine are being asked to vote upon the proposition of bridging the Kennebec river for the greater convenience of traffic in that state.

Such a bridge will mean an expense running up into the millions but that has been approved by the legislature and the matter goes before the people on a referendum. It is a proposition that on the face of it deserves favorable consideration. At the present time the crossing of the Kenebec at points which serve the greatest amount of traffic is accomplished only by ferries. This means that there are delays and these are bothersome to many during the summer season and the desire to overcome this situation cannot be small.

But aside from providing increased accommodations in this respect it cannot fail to be considered by the people of Maine that the construction is to be undertaken under the plan of leasing sufficient space on the structure to accommodate the Boston and Maine railroad, from which maintenance costs could be obtained, but it is proposed to collect tolls with which to meet the cost.

There may be opposition to toll bridges and it may be claimed that they are things of the distant past, and yet it is to be realized that the accommodation is for great numbers who pay no taxes in Maine but who would gladly pay to toll charges, whether Maine residents or not, for the advantages that be gained. It is for the interest of Maine to provide this facility even if tolls are collected until the construction cost is regained.

NATIONAL FOREST LANDS

What seems now to be headed for an interesting contest at the next session of congress is the move which is being made by the live stock raisers in a group of western states to bring about a change in the present policies which govern the national forests, in which lie their grazing lands, which will give them greater control and furnish what amounts to special advantages.

The national forests have been established for the purpose of conserving the time supply and protecting the water supply of the country. Raisers of livestock have been allowed to use such lands for grazing purposes, certain fees are collected and certain rights obtained, but they are now opposing the collection of any fees which are in excess of cost of administration, want a legal status given to grazing on such lands and the acquirement of certain property rights by the stockmen.

Such a demand is regarded as no more than an effort to get something for nothing out of the government by one class regardless of the others, as a move by big livestock interests to squeeze out the small ones and as a danger to the whole conservation movement in general. The extent of the demands can be understood when it is sought to have a board of appeals created with authority to override the decision of the secretary of agriculture, who acts in the interest of the government.

The fact that the livestock raisers are asking for these things does not mean that they are certain to get them. A sane consideration of their efforts can be expected but they are apparently asking for much more than they are entitled to.

NO BRAINS AT ALL

"It beats all," began the large, seciable man who had just taken the last seat in the smoker of the through train, "how many darn fools there are driving cars these days! They oughta be kept off the road, I'll say!

"Well," he went on when nobody differed with him, "just for example, I was out the other Sunday with the family driving along at a pretty good clip, if I do say it! It takes a pretty good car to beat my old bus. I guess I was going about 60 when I caught up with a dinky car that stuck to the middle of the road, and as it was a narrow one with ditches I couldn't pass. The darned fool paid no attention when I honked, just ambled along as though he had the world to himself. Anything like that makes me mad! Acting as though he had the whole road to himself! He stuck his head out when I gave him a good blast and I just asked him who he thought he was, anyway!

"Thirty ought to be good enough for you on this road,' he yells at me.

"Well, I saw right away that he must be one of these new drivers, nervous, you know, and without much experience. 'My boy,' I called back kindly, 'it may be good enough for some people, but when I travel I travel!'

"My wife said, 'Oh, let it go! We're going awfully fast, Henry!' But the fellow needed a lesson, so I stepped on the gas and bumped his car good. It never budged him, the darn fool! I tell you it was all I could do to control myself. He paid no more attention—and my bus able to go sixty, and tied down to a crawl! My wife said she was glad, because now she could see the scenery, and her hat and coat didn't blow off, and, besides, she didn't need to worry about the baby on the back seat asleep.

"After I had bumped his car three times the fellow stuck his head out again. 'Say!' he yells, as though he were the injured party, 'ain't you got any brains at all? Are your eyes good? Can't you see a six-foot ditch on each side of this narrow-gauge road?'

"Well, when I run up against one of these loud-mouthed empty heads, trying to be funny into the bargain, I never try to argue with 'em. Their brains can't take in sense. I just told him in plain language what I thought of him. Anybody who couldn't drive any better than he could ought to have his license taken away from him, and I told him so! Obstructing traffic and doing it deliberatly, out of spite. Every once in a while I'd bump his car just to remind him that I hadn't given up the situation. I'd have pushed him into the ditch at one place, where it wasn't so deep, only my wife made a fuss. It beats all how a woman always has to butt in at critical moments!

"Well, this went on for three miles and just as I was about to jump out and catch onto his running board we turned a corner into a wide state road and maybe I didn't step on the gas! As I went by I gave the fellow a look—just one long, cold look. He was one of those lean, lank beggars with a gimlet eye and he stared back as though he was curious or something.

"It did seem good to have the road in front of me and to forget amateurs cluttering up everything. But all of a sudden, after a curve we were going down a mighty steep hill. I guess the speedometer said 65 and my wife shrieked and just then there was a long express train shot out of nowhere on a track right across the bottom of the road down the hill. Only a plain idiot would ever have built a railroad there where nobody sensible would expect it. I saw I was going to hit the track the same time as the engine. My brake wouldn't work—something slipped. So all I could do was to head into a concrete culvert and the wheel knocked me silly.

"When I opened my eyes my wife had gone through the wind shield and the baby was lying in a popular bush and my bus was hash. Nobody was killed, but the gimlet-eyed fellow and his family were putting my wife and kid into their car. After he had quit pouring water all over me and had felt of my bones he just looked at me and mentioned that there wasn't any room for me and he'd send somebody back for me from the next town and it wouldn't be more than five hours before they came for me—and left me sitting here. Just like that! When it was all his fault, the darn fool. There are lots of 'em."

"There are!" several of the listeners agreed quite heartily.—Chicago News.

Where the Light Was Good

A certain young man very much the worse for wear from too close association with poor liquor, was seen by a resident diligently searching the space under an arc light. The resident inquired the nature of his troubles and the young man informed him that he had lost $50 and "jus' had to fin' it."

The resident in his effort to assist asked if he know where he had lost it. "Oh, yes, sir, I los' it rif' in the middle of this block up there."

"Well, then why are you looking for it down here?"

"Oh, sir, the light is so much better down here."

He Knew the Girl

A young man with pretty but flirtatious fiancee wrote to a supposed rival:

"I've been told that you have been kissing my girl. Come to my garage Saturday afternoon. I want to have this matter out."

The rival answered: "I've received a copy of your circular letter and will be present at the meeting."

From Small Beginnings

Amos J. Cummings—The Wandering Printer, an American Statesman

In 1857 a band of more or less lawless men—for they were acting without other authority than that of their own—invaded the Central American land of Nicaragua. Under their leader, an adventurer named William Walker, they took possession of the country, and set about ruling it. With these soldiers of fortune, serving in a bumble capacity, was a 16-year-old boy who had been a printer. Amos Cummings. He was a strong, sturdy fellow, full of the spirit of adventure, and just at the age when such a brilliant man as the filibuster Walker could fascinate him. With other soldiers of fortune, drawn from all lands, young Amos Cummings marched and fought in the tropic heat, and risked death for the sake of adventure.

Amos Cummings had been born in a country town in New York, a little place of only two or three hundred inhabitants. Instead of planning to go to school or college he had to plan for work; so he entered the little printing office and began to set type when he was only a lad of 15. The wandering spirit took possession of him and he left his rural home and moved from state to state. Thus it was that at 16 he joined the filibustering expedition led by William Walker, a man of 33. Soon afterward the youth again exchanged the wandering life of a printer—for he was never satisfied to stay in one place—for the camp and the field of battle. He joined a regiment of New Jersey troops and gave brilliant service in the Civil war acting so bravely that he gained the Congressional Medal of Honor, a rare distinction.

After the war he returned to his typesetting. Now, with experience and practical knowledge, he became a newspaper writer, and then an editor, rising quickly, to become editor of the New York Tribune, and at 23 editor of the New York Sun. He wrote as he had fought, and he gained distinction as an editor as he had gained it on the battlefield. His fellow citizens elected him to congress when he was 46 years of age. There he used his matured ability to excellent purpose and made himself a recognized national figure.

He continued his early connection with printing offices and used his pen most trenchantly, becoming noted both as a writer and a speaker. He might have risen still higher, for at all times during his life he showed the ability to make use of experience as a stepping stone to greater opportunities, but he died at the age of 61. His life was one of vigor, of action and of increasing personality.

Japan Plans Railway Radios

Eight special coaches are under construction by the Japanese Railway department to be use in experimenting with radio service for passengers. The train will be equipped with the vacuum-typed, dual system radio apparatus with an antenna over the entire length of the carriages.

A MOTHER MADE HAPPY.

"The children and I had colds," writes Mrs. Nancy Mathes, Richwood, Ohio, "and the first dose of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR helped us right away. We surely got quick results. I shall keep it on hand all the time." Thousands of mothers have found in FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR the ideal cough and cold remedy for their children. Contains no opiates. Children like it. Sold by all druggists. Lee & Osgood Co.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Charles N. Haskell, former governor of Oklahoma, who plans to build an elaborate system of highways in Mexico is well qualified by past experience for such an undertaking. Long before he entered politics in Oklahoma and became the first governor of the new State Mr. Haskell had made a reputation as a builder of railroads. In his native State of Ohio, after an early career as a school teacher he engaged in the railroad contracting business and many roads in the Buckeye State are monuments to his financing ability. In 1901, after locating in what was then the Indian Territory, he started the building of the Ozark and Cherokee Central railroad, which he completed and sold to one of the big systems operating in the southwest. After giving his section a network of railroads Mr. Haskell turned his attention to politics and was a prominent factor in organizing the new State of Oklahoma.

Buster Bear Becomes Interested

Some tongues there are that wag too much.
'Tis well to keep away from such.
—Old Mother Nature

Buster Bear was feeling in fine spirits. All summer long he had had the best of good living, and you know there is nothing like a comfortable stomach to make one feel in high spirits. Buster had feasted on berries, and now wild grapes would soon be ready. And after the wild grapes would come beechnuts and acorns. Do you wonder that Buster felt in high spirits?

And because he was in such high spirits he was good natured. Nothing bothered him. Not even Chatterer the Red Squirrel could tease him into a show of anger. You know, there is no one in all the Green Forest quite so impudent as Chatterer the Red Squirrel, and Chatterer is never more impudent than when he chances to meet Buster Bear. Probably that is because Buster is so big and he is so small that he thinks it is very smart of him to be impudent. Anyway, he always is. Just as soon as those bright eyes of his spy Buster Bear, Chatterer's tongue begins to wag, and it is one of those tongues that wags at both ends, as the saying is.

It really is very annoying to Buster sometimes. All the Green Forest within hearing of Chatterer's sharp voice knows just where Buster is, and this isn't always convenient. But on this particular afternoon Buster didn't mind at all how Chatterer shrieked at him or what he said. He just didn't pay any attention to Chatterer. Chatterer might have been a stick or a stone for all the attention Buster paid him. Now, there is nothing in all the Great World so provoking as to have no attention paid you when you are doing your best to attract attention. Chatterer grew so angry that he danced up and down. Yes, sir, he did so. He even tried to drop pine cones on Buster's head. And all the time Buster didn't even so much as glance at him.

At last Chatterer actually tired himself out. There wasn't any satisfaction in scolding some one or in calling some one bad names when that some one didn't even so much as glance at him. So after a while Chatterer stopped. Then for a long time he watched Buster Bear. But Buster didn't appear to have anything to do, and presently he laid down for a nap. You see, Buster sleeps whenever he feels sleepy. It makes no difference to Buster whether it be night or day. But it makes all the difference in the world to Chatterer. Chatterer is indoors at night. Yes, indeed, just as soon as the Black Shadows begin to creep through the Green Forest Chatterer retires. You see, he has no desire to make the intimate acquaintance of Hooty the

He was just in time to see Chatterer scamper up a tree with a mushroom in his mouth.

Owl. So because he sleeps all night, he is very wide awake through the day, and he cannot understand how anybody else can sleep when he himself is so wide awake. So, after watching Buster a while, he whisked away to see what other mischief he could get into.

Now presently he ran across some good mushrooms. My, you should have seen his eyes sparkle when he saw those mushrooms. Chatterer is very fond of mushrooms. Furthermore, Chatterer knows how to take care of mushrooms so he can have them all winter. As soon as he saw the mushrooms Chatterer forgot all about mischief. He began gathering mushrooms and putting them up in a tree where they would dry and so keep. He forgot all about Buster Bear and everything else. Chatterer may be mischievous and may spend a great deal of time idling, but when he works he works. There isn't a lazy bone in that small body of his when there is work really to be done.

Never had he found nicer mushrooms. He licked his lips after leaving each one to dry. He licked his lips and thought of the feasts he would have when the Green Forest was wrapped in snow.

By and by Buster Bear awoke. He heard the rustling of small feet. He heard them going back and forth, back and forth. Quietly and without making a sound he got to his own feet and peeked around a tree. He was just in time to see Chatterer scamper up a tree with a mushroom in his mouth. Right away Buster Bear became interested. He became very much interested indeed.

FLY-TOX

Every Bottle GUARANTEED

FLY-TOX was developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by the Rex Fellowship. In a simple, easy and thoroughly effective way, FLY-TOX kills flies, moths, mosquitoes, fleas, ants, roaches and other insects. It's so convenient to saturate the air with clouds of FLY-TOX. Flies, by merely winging through the mist, become affected with the strange action of FLY-TOX, and die. This mist lingers just long enough to do its work. It then evaporates and leaves only a pleasant, clean odor. Wall paper or drapes are not stained. FLY-TOX is harmless to humans. Those stray, elusive flies that invade the most carefully screened homes, are quickly and easily eliminated with FLY-TOX.

WEDDING.

Maynard-Conefry.

The marriage of Cecil D. Maynard and Miss Catherine Anna Conefry took place at 9 o'clock Monday morning in St. Patrick's church with a nuptial mass celebrated by Rt. Rev. Manager M. H. May. Miss Irene LaVallee of Occum was at the organ and Mattfield's mass was sung by the choir. At the offertory Roderick F. Sullivan sang Wiegand's Ave Maria. William B. Conefry, brother of the bride, was best man and the bridesmaid was Miss Catherine M. Sullivan, the bride's cousin.

The bride was attractively gowned in white canton crepe with Spanish lace and her veil of tulle was caught with orange blossoms. The bridesmaid wore peach crepe de chine with hat to match.

A wedding breakfast was served for over 100 guests at the home of the bride who has made her home with her aunt at 59 Palmer avenue. The house was beautifully decorated with fall flowers.

Late in the afternoon, the newly married couple left on their wedding tour to New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts, and are to reside upon their return in newly furnished apartments at 16 Benjamin street. The bride is the daughter of Patrick Conefry and was born in New York but for many years has made her home with her aunt. The groom, who is employed in the machine shop and the Richmond Radiator Co., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Maynard of 108 McKinley avenue. The bride's going away gown was flame colored canton crepe with coat of French serge to match and velvet hat with satin trimmings.

The bride received a large number of beautiful gifts, including cut glass, silver, china, gold and checks. Out of town guests included friends and relatives from Brockton, Taunton, New York, New London and other places.

Baxter-Dapiels.

At Palmerton, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Daniels, Fred W. Baxter, of Clinton, Conn. and Miss Gladys Daniels, of Montville were united in marriage by Rev. Charles Smith, pastor of UncoGKQJ Charles Smith, pastor of Uncasville M. E. church. The best man was Arthur R. McCartily, of New London. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary E. Daniels, sister of the bride.

Michon-Henshaw

Last Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Lisbon Congregational parsonage the pastor, Rev. William J. Reynolds, united in marriage Theodore Michon of Taftville and Miss Lucy Henshaw of 29 Colt street, this city. The couple was unattended.

FUNERALS

Raymond J. Jodoin

With a very large attendance of relatives and friends the funeral of Raymond J. Jodoin was held Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock from his home, High street, Baltic, and at 10 o'clock there was a requiem mass at the Immaculate Conception church. The mass was celebrated by Rev. William G. O'Brien assisted by Rev. Albert Jalbert of Baltic, Rev. Ludovic Paradis of Voluntown and Rev. Fr. Belanger of Hartford, formerly of Baltic. Miss Nellie Milner presided at the organ and Pie Jesu was sung by Arthur Roy.

There were eight honorary bearers, Moses Genard, Arthur P. Cote, Noe Caron, Sr., Arthur Roy, Edward Lambert, Walter Milner, George Lacroix and Eugene Dion. The pall bearers were Joseph Buteau, George Reeves, Roderick Dion, Frederick Chartier, Montcalm and Eugene Bouque and burial took place in St. Mary's cemetery, Baltic. Father O'Brien conducted the committal service. There was a wealth of beautiful floral offerings, there being in all 63 pieces. Undertaker G. G. Grant of Taftville had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Phillip Lucas.

Funeral services for Phillip Lucas were held Monday morning at 7.30 o'clock at his late home at 11 South C street, many relatives and friends attending, including a delegation from Union St. Jean de Baptiste society of which he was a member. Following the service at the house, solemn requiem high mass was celebrated at 8 o'clock in Sacred Heart church by Rev. Henri Chagnon, assisted by Rev. Frederick R. DesSarreault, deacon, and Anthony J. Murphy, sub-deacon, deacon.

Burial was in Sacred Heart cemetery where Father Chagnon read the committal service. Members of St. Jean de Baptiste society acted as bearers. The funeral arrangements were in charge of George G. Grant of Taftville.

MACHINE SPEEDED AWAY AFTER HITTING TWO MEN IN THE ROAD

Henry W. Whitmarsh, 52, and Gilbert Edwards, 48, both living at 9 Bushnell place, were struck by an automobile Monday night about 7:30 as they were walking on the Norwich-New London turnpike near De Wolf's switch. The operator of the machine that hit them drove off without stopping, but the police have some clues that may locate the driver.

Word that the men had been hit was telephoned to police headquarters, from which the motor patrol wagon was sent with Officer Patrick Murphy and Supernumerary Fraser, who were joined by Constable Lucius Fenton of Norwich Town. The ambulance was also summoned and the two injured men were taken to the Backus Hospital. There it was found that Edwards had two broken ribs and lacerations on the head while Whitmarsh had a severely lacerated lip and a cut in the face. After several stitches were placed in his lip, he went home, but Edwards remains as a patient at the hospital.

Struck By Automobile

Leon Jacobikki, 48, of Everett street, this city, was struck and knocked down on North Main street, near the junction with Boswell avenue, about 8 o'clock Monday evening by a machine driven by Thomas J. Costello of the U. S. S. Camden. Mr. Costello was driving down North Main street towards the city when Mr. Jacobikki ran in front of his machine, it was claimed. Jacobikki was going across the street to get into his own machine when the accident happened. He was taken to police headquarters where his injuries were treated by Dr. A. C. Freeman.

ENOCH ARDEN STORY OF NEW LONDON MAN

Believed dead for seven years, Grover F. Wolfe of Boston, traveler and adventurer, appeared in New London recently and sought his nearest relatives there, Mr. and Mrs. James W. King of Whittlesey street. His arrival was unexpected and when he revealed his identity to Mr. King, the credibility of his story was doubted but the wanderer produced letters and other credentials which proved that he really was Grover Frederick Wolfe, and he was alive.

Wolfe's story is a long one, full of adventure and complications. When he got to New London he realized how Enoch Arden felt when he got back from a deep sea cruise and found that his household mate had taken another captain. Nine years ago Wolfe lived in Boston with his wife. According to his statement, they enjoyed the blessings of a happy home. But Wolfe could not submit to the monotony of a city life. He had spent ten years in the army and had received an honorable discharge.

But the longing for a life of adventure could not be stilled. One day, without warning to any of his relatives or friends, he left his home. When he came back he learned that his wife had married again. She is the mother of a little daughter. Wolfe is the father of the child who was born a short while after his sudden departure. In the state of Massachusetts, according to processes of civil courts, he is considered legally dead. Prior to her second marriage, the wife that Wolfe left behind received word that her husband had met death out west. He had been absent a long time then. No details were given concerning the supposed death of Wolfe.

Meanwhile Wolfe had roamed about the central part of the country as far west as Indiana. For a while, he said, he had served on the New York police force. Occasionally he looked at the rogue's gallery at police headquarters, and there he saw many pictures of men who were wanted for deserting their wives. Daily he expected to find his own picture in the list.

Wolfe was patrolling his beat near the Bronx in New York when he saw a man attempting to force an entrance through the closed door of a store. The suspicious actions aroused his suspicions and he hurried to investigate. Before he reached the prowler a second man, concealed in ambush fired a revolver. The bullet struck him piercing the chest at the left side of the heart. He was taken to a hospital where he lay unconscious for 10 days. After many months he recovered. Expecting any day to be arrested from the ranks for deserting his wife, and mindful of his narrow escape from death that night in a Bronx alley, Wolfe tendered his resignation from the force on the grounds of disability. His request was granted, and he again went west where he remained for some time in Indiana.

When the former soldier and policeman arrived in New London he looked up Mr. King, who conducts a welding shop in Shaw street. He located the shop that afternoon and made himself known to Mr. King. His statement that he was the welder's brother-in-law immediately aroused Mr. King's suspicions. Finally the visitor succeeded in establishing his identity. However, he is not a brother-in-law to Mr. King. The relationship connection is so protracted as to be almost negligible. Mrs. King and the stranger are related in that the mother of the former Mrs. Wolfe of Boston was half-sister to Mrs. King's father.

Wolfe stayed in the city about 24 hours. When he left he did not state whether he would return to Boston or not. He did say, however, that he yearned to visit his little daughter, whom he had never seen.

CONDEMNED 624 CATTLE IN STATE IN AUGUST

Cattle condemned by the state domestic animal department following tests given during August, totalled 624, according to the monthly report, just issued. One hundred ten herds, containing 2,180 head, were tested during the period. The number of cattle imported during the month for dairy and breeding purposes was 1,149 and for slaughter, 249.

Accredited herd certificates were issued for thirty herds, containing 530 head, official tuberculin test certificates for sixty-two herds containing 2,218 head and first test certificates were issued for nine herds with 158 head.

Nine native horses were tested and permits were issued for importing 112. Six of these were retested, there being no reactors. The number of hogs imported during the month was 6,385, while the poultry numbered 78,722 and sheep four.

WATERFORD BOY WINS PLACE IN DAIRY JUDGING

Teams of six boys each representing seven counties in the state took part in the junior state dairy judging contest at Charter Oak fair Monday. The three boys scoring the highest points among the 42 contestants will represent the state at the national dairy judging contest to be held in Indiana, October 2nd-9th, three medals being offered as prizes.

In the state contest at Hartford Monday James Bottomly of Milford, New Haven county, scored first, George Dudley of Litchfield, Litchfield county, second and George Wood of Waterford, New London county, third. These three boys will represent the state at the national contest.

New London county is credited with having three boys in the first ten highest boys in the state contest. Everett Wade of Baltic scored in 5th place and Sylvester Wade also of Baltic, scored in 7th place.

Tolland County tobacco growers are now completing the harvesting of their crops. The tobacco this season is of excellent quality, although the weight is somewhat under that of last year.

LABOR DAY FAILURE FOR HOLIDAY DIVERSIONS

The steady rain on Labor Day dampened many a holiday outing but didn't seem to lessen, to any appreciable extent, the number of machines on the road. A number of local people who had been planning on automobile trips to the state fair in Hartford cancelled their plans when it became evident that the rain had come to stay for the day. Others who planned final visits of the season to shore resorts and country picnics were also forced to abandon their plans.

The rain evidently drove many to the theatres as a means of passing a rather disagreeable afternoon and evening as far as outdoor conditions were concerned. At one time in the afternoon there was a standing line at the box office of one local theatre and similar conditions prevailed at the other theatres in the city. All the theatres had unusually large crowds.

The usual number of accidents, due to poor vision, and slippery roads came with the stormy day although none of the accidents were a very serious nature. Two men and a little girl were hurt and several machines were considerably damaged. As a holiday, Labor Day this year was a dismal failure.

ATTENDED STATE FAIR ON THE OPENING DAY

Among those from Norwich who attended the opening day of the state fair at Hartford were William Frisbie, Frank Hall, Andrew F. Connor, Mrs A. B. Hall, and Miss Pansy Crawford. On account of the rain the racing program and vaudeville exhibitions were omitted, but the Norwich people spent the day under the tents, admiring the various exhibits. Although it rained all day it did not dampen the spirits of the attendants and up to 4 o'clock in the afternoon the attendance had reached good numbers.

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE FOR GOVERNOR'S DAY

At a recent meeting of the town school board it was voted that the public schools of Norwich, which open their fall season today (Tuesday) will be closed Thursday afternoon, Sept. 17, for Governor's day at the New London county fair. This is the day when Governor John H. Trumbull and United States Senator Hiram Bingham are to be the guests of the fair, and it is the desire of the school board that the children of the schools be given the opportunity to attend the fair on that afternoon and see the distinguished guests.

BOY TRIPLETS BLESS JEWETT CITY FAMILY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

JEWETT CITY, Sept. 7.—Green avenue, can boast of an increase in population that has seldom, if ever, happened in this town before. Triplets arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick DiMilcco, Monday morning. They are all boys, the combined weight 10½ pounds. They were christened by Rev. J. J. Tyler in the afternoon, as one baby was not strong, but Dr. F. E. Rainville said they were all doing well in the evening. There are seven other children in the family.

UNDER ARREST AFTER CRASH BELOW THAMESVILLE

Angelo Dimitry, 44, of 19 Thames street was arrested Monday evening by Constable Lucius Fenton on the charge of reckless driving after the machine driven by Dimitry had crashed into the automobile driven by Arthur Peltier of Versailles near Everett street on the Norwich-New London turnpike. In the collision, a little girl, Florence Riley, about ten years old, of White Rock Westerly, who was riding in the rear seat of the Peltier machine received a deep cut in her forehead that went through to the bone. Dr. Louis T. Cassidy, who was called took the girl to his office and closed the wound with 12 stitches.

Dimitry was driving a Chandler coupe belonging to Aristoties Sideropoulos of 19 Thames street and was coming towards this city. According to the report made, the machine had but one headlight burning and Dimitry was doing some erratic operating on the highway. Just before the crash, he had forced a motor truck driven by Edward Gwazdowsky into the ditch and he then met the Versailles machine which was going toward New London. Peltier, it was reported, steered his car over into the trolley track on his right, but Dimitry's car came across the street and hit the Versailles machine.

Constable Fenton placed Dimitry under arrest after he had arrived at the scene accompanied by Officer P. Murphy and Supernumerary Fraser. When the constable arrived he directed Dimitry to back his machine away from the other, but the man kept plunging his car into the other until Officer Murphy took the wheel and got the cars apart.

After Dimitry had been locked up for a time at police headquarters, he secured his release on bonds for his appearance in the city court.

It was thought that he might have been the driver who ran into two men on this highway at a point further south than where he hit the Versailles car, but he steadfastly denied that he had run into any one.

COST $140.50 TO STAGE ATTACK ON POLICE

It cost the three Norwich men who staged an attack on Officers Hugh McAvoy and Patrick Shahan at police headquarters Sunday night the sum of $140.50 to settle the charges against them in the city court Monday morning. They all paid. Joseph F. Burns of Grove street was fined $10 for intoxication, $10 for breach of the peace and $15 for resisting an officer, with costs, which brought his total to $44.50. Edward Gagnon's fine and costs reached the same amount but Henry Gagnon had $7 more to pay as he had to settle for the bill of the doctor who sewed up his head.

Besides these three cases the court had a number of others to dispose of. A Sunday drunk paid $10 and costs, total $18.50, while two other men paid $5 and costs each, $14.75, for intoxication. Three breach of the peace cases were nolled, there was a nolle on a charge of driving past a standing trolley car, and three men paid $5 for violation of the city traffic ordinances. A New York man did not appear to answer the charge of such a violation.

A continuance, in order that more testimony may be secured, was ordered in the case of two men who engaged in a fight on Sunday afternoon near a coal yard on Central Wharf.

SUPERIOR COURT HAS TWO CASES ASSIGNED

The criminal superior court, with Judge Leonard J. Nickerson presiding, will resume its September term here this (Tuesday) morning with two cases assigned for trial. Wasily Slepicka of East Lyme is to be tried on charge of violation of the liquor law and Ralph Yzzo of Bromley street, this city, is to face trial on the charge of setting fire to his home, which was completely destroyed.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Common Council Postponed

As Monday was a legal holiday, no business was transacted by the court of common council, although Monday evening was the time for the monthly business session of the council. Mayor Waters called the meeting and immediately adjourned it until Wednesday evening of this week, at the usual hour.

ROAD OVER SALT DESERT SHOWN IN NEW MOVIE

The story of the building of a modern highway across the Great Salt desert in western Utah, an epic in American road construction history, is pictured in vivid detail in the new United States department of agriculture educational film, Crossing the Great Salt Desert.

The Great Salt Desert is a remnant from the geological period which ended with the drainage of prehistoric Lake Bonneville, and its brine-saturated mud flats—too soft to support vehicles—one the despair of early overland travelers, many of whom perished on its wastes. Ten years ago an attempt was made to span this desolate area, but the road built was so narrow that many vehicles in passing were forced off into the soft mud. A night on the desert with attending hardships sometimes followed. The salt brine which covered this road during rainy seasons was injurious to automobiles and caused much damage.

In locating the new Federal-aid highway between Salt Lake City and Sacramento, an important link in the transcontinental highway system, the route of the "forty-niner" across the Salt Desert was chosen and work was begun to build an up-to-date road from Knolls to Wendover, Utah, a 40-mile stretch. Numerous types of trenching machinery were employed. The brine-soaked mud was thrown up in windrows, dried, and worked over to make a base for the road. The character of the mud made the use of horses impracticable on many sections, and special machinery was devised to do the work.

One of the unusual features of the road is the crossing of an "island" of solid salt 6 miles wide. Here the salt crystals average a depth of 8 1-2 feet. In order to obtain clay for the road base salt-digging machinery was employed. Trenches were cut through the salt, and the clay brought up from beneath and carried by specially made conveyors to the right of way.

KANSAS MAN GIVES RELATIVES DOMAIN WITH STRING TO IT

To give away forty-one quarter sections of land ot relatives is remarkable, but this recently was done by Carl Croffoot, of Sheridan County, Kan., says "The Topeka Capitla." He homesteaded in Jewell County at an early day, but about 20 years ago sold out and went west, farming on a large scale. Croffoot was never married. To his seven brothers and sisters he gave a quarter each of his best land, then to thirty-three nieces and nephews he gave a quarter each. The only provision was that the recipients pay the taxes and give the donor one-fourth of the crop each year during his lifetime.

In a single block in New York city assessed valuations of property were reduced from $17,000,000 to $7,000,000 from 1919 to 1917.

Take Phosphate and Grow Strong

Your Nerves Demand It—Your Blood Needs It—Say Scientists

There's not enough phosphorus in modern foods to benefit one-half of the men and women of America, scientists declare.

To overcome this lack of an element of your body that is necessary to your health, your happiness and even your success in life, weak, anaemic, nervous, run-down people are advised to take Evans' Triple Phosphates as dispensed in leading drug stores in the original package.

People who are easily fatigued, who lack ambition, nerve force and are ofttimes thin, weak and sadly lacking in firm, healthy flesh, need Evans' Triple Phosphates.

Druggists report a wonderful increase in the demand from men and women who are anxious to renew old-time ambition and who are making an honest effort to become vigorous and keen-minded with a power of endurance that denotes almost perfect health.

They ask for Evans' Triple Phosphates because they know they need an inexpensive organic phosphate. You are certain to get it at Lee & Osgood Co.

WOMAN AVOIDS AN OPERATION

Awful Pains and Misery Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"I want to tell you how your medicine has helped me. For weeks I suffered with awful pains from inflammation and I was in such misery that I had to bend double to get relief. I could not be touched or jarred but had awful pain all over my abdomen and could not touch my feet to the floor. It was impossible for me to straighten up and the pains never ceased. I took treatments for some time and finally was told I would have to have an operation. I do not believe in operations and I had read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I told my husband I would try it before I gave up. I soon began to feel that it was doing me good. The awful misery began to leave me, also the backache. I have a good appetite and am gaining in weight. Taking this medicine was the best thing I ever did. I feel like it has saved my life and I do not hesitate to say so to my friends. It has saved me from a dreaded operation and I am still taking it."—Mrs. Ethel Thurston, 324 North Pine St., Lima, Ohio.

FLY-TOX

Every Bottle GUARANTEED

FLY-TOX was developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by the Rex Fellowship. In a simple, easy and thoroughly effective way, FLY-TOX kills flies, moths, mosquitoes, fleas, ants, roaches and other insects. It's so convenient to saturate the air with clouds of FLY-TOX. Flies, by merely winging through the mist, become affected with the strange action of FLY-TOX, and die. This mist lingers just long enough to do its work. It then evaporates and leaves only a pleasant, clean odor. Wall paper or drapes are not stained. FLY-TOX is harmless to humans. Those stray, elusive flies that invade the most carefully screened homes, are quickly and easily eliminated with FLY-TOX.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MAKE ENTRIES NOW FOR COUNTY FAIR CONTESTS

Final entries for the Beautiful Girl Contest to be held at the Norwich Fair on Friday, Sept. 18th, must be made at 63 Broadway, Norwich, not later than Sept. 10th, by young women from 17 to 25 years of age who desire to compete for the ten big prizes, the first a free trip to Washington, D. C. This feature of the fair is certain to be a banner one and it is anticipated that many girls of this section of the state will avail themselves of the opportunity to entering the first beauty contest to be held in Norwich, thus paving a way for future conquests in state contests.

Entries for the decorated automobile parade scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 19th should also be made as quickly as possible in order that the committee may know how many to anticipate in the parade for the prize of $100 in gold. This event is open to societies, clubs or individuals, in fact to anyone who has a car or a truck and wishes to compete in the parade.

The Dog Show should also prove an attraction and all boys who bring their pets to the fairgrounds by 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning will be admitted without charge. A strong collar and a leash are required for dogs entered in the show and the prize will be awarded in the afternoon by Mayor Mile R. Waters.

Entries for the Horse Shoe pitching contest on Saturday should be made to William A. Anderson, 63 Broadway as soon as possible. Entrance fee is $1.00 covering admission to the fair. Prizes are also offered in this event.

The Better Baby Contest comes Friday morning at 9 o'clock and is open to children up to 2 years, registered at the fairgrounds by 9 o'clock Friday morning. The Doll Carriage parade, saturday morning on Merchants row. fairgrounds is also a feature.

Secretary Rose has announced that no entries will be received after the time specified for their entry into the exhibits and that premiums will be forfeited by any exhibitor who removes his exhibits before 3 p'clock Saturday afternoon. Anybody is eligible to compete for premiums by purchase of an annual membership in the society, which includes admission ticket for the fair.

It is also stated that but three booths remain open this week and these are on Merchants row. All other available space has been taken.

Palace Theatre

There's plenty of zip and speed in "The Ten Commandments," which is at the Palace Theatre. Starting with the Biblical episode; we have the race of Pharaoh's charioteers across the desert in their pursuit of the escaping Israelites. Going so far as to follow them between the open walls of water where the Red Sea has opened, they are almost on top of them, when the waters close, and make a watery grave. Then skipping to the modern, just at the close of the picture, we seen the commandment-breaking son in his attempt to escape the police by a dash to Mexico in an open power-launch. These scenes show what real motor-boat speed is. The craft seems to fly through the water, and ends by being driven onto the rockbound coast by the huge waves.

Harold Lloyd's long awaited college comedy, "The Freshman," is announced as the feature attraction at the Palace Theatre next Sunday. "The Freshman" is hailed as Lloyd's most pretentious production and also his funniest, and the first time he had ever played the role of a college boy or produced a comedy with an academic background.

As Harold Lamb, Lloyd portrays a youth who prepares for college by imitating, in manner and clothes, heroes of fiction and movies. He goes to Tate University all set to dazzle one and all with his glory and to capture the throne of the varsity's most popular student. His ambition is readily discovered by the jokers, who razz him until he becomes the school's biggest fool. But it's hard to keep a good man side-tracked, as "The Freshman" proves.

Broadway Theatre

It was one great, happy sunday in spite of the inclement weather yesterday, for those who visited the Broadway Theatre. The B. F. Keith five act vaudeville program was spoken of the best seen here for some time.

Eddie & Earl in a variety of dances opened the program with honors.

That clarinet boy Jack Hall certainly can toot a mean clarinet and easily earned the rich reward received.

NORWICH MOTORIST PENALIZED IN NEW LONDON COURT MONDAY

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 7—Louis Seigal, of 12 North Thames street, Norwich, paid $12 in the police court this morning for the reckless operation of a Dodge truck on Williams street, this city, Sunday. The testimony other than what Seigal himself told the officer who ordered him into court, was of the most convincing sort. But Seigal told Patrolman William Graham, "I'm wrong. There was a machine ahead and I thought I could pull out ahead of him and get by." That was saying that Seigal went into the trolley car head-on, as alleged. Motorman John Wood, told just how the smash occurred. He left New London on the 1.15 p. m. (standard time) car and got as far as Grove street when he met the Seigal car coming down the hill at a fast pace. Then came the crash. The first thing Seigal wanted to know was "Why the trolley car did not get out of the way." Then Conductor Hall butted in and told Seigal to show his registration card and to quit all argument as the court would do that. Seigal produced the paper, but not with good grace. The running board of the trolley car was broken and the body of the car was scratched, but the Dodge truck was in a condition for the repair shop. It had been up against a much heavier vehicle. Herman Wallen, of Palmertown, was operating the machine that Seigal drove out by, to get ahead of him, a Chevrolet touring car. The Seigal car hit that and carromed over against the trolley. Wallen declared that Seigal did not give any warning that he was to pass out of the line of cars.

Seigal declared that his speed was but 10 or 12 miles an hour. He admitted that he passed the Chevrolet, but said he didn't see the trolley car till it hit him, insisting that the vehicle on the tracks ran into him and that his truck did not run into the trolley.

Max Bratt was in the seat on the truck with Seigal. He said he screamed when he saw the trolley coming and motioned for the car to stop. The motorman didn't heed his call and crashed into the truck. Bratt was insistent that Seigal did not think the trolley would hit him.

Walter Powers of 2 Chappell street, New London, was fined $10 for driving past Thames street, Saturday midnight, at a speed, the officer who stopped him declared, of 51 miles an hour. There was no traffic on the street at that time, fortunately for Powers.

The police made a record for the two days before a holiday in that they did not make an arrest for a serious offense nor for intoxication.

Neither Saturday nor Sunday was there a cell occupied at the police station.

Peter Reilly of Groton was found to be operating an automobile in New London Sunday without having registration and without his license to operate being signed. Both offenses being violations of the state law, Reilly was ordered to be in court today at 8.30; but he failed to appear, so a warrant was issued for his arrest. Before it was served however, he appeared at the police station and was held in a bond of $50 for appearance in court to morrow morning.

Clyde Fortas of Philadelphia violated the rules of the road at Main and State street yesterday in driving around the corner without reducing speed or sounding a horn. He had important business in Philadelphia so he arranged with the prosecutor to forfeit a bond of $40 he had deposited.

Leila Wiernes, residing at Oswegatchie, got mixed up on her registration and left it in her own car while she took another automobile for a ride. She was also charged with a violation of the rules of the road. For the latter offense she was fined $5 without costs and the complaint for not having registration was nulled.

Robert P. Bishop of 83 Bishop St., New Haven, is to appear in court tomorrow to answer for a violation of the rules of the road. He was ordered to court Saturday evening at 8.15 for speeding around corners.

A danger spot was reported today as existing in Montauk avenue at Avery Place, where there is a hole seven inches deep which may cause the breaking of an auto spring. The highway department was notified that the danger spot existed and was given notice to repair it.

The Music Box, so called "busted" before it began to play in this city today. The Music Box is to be a dance hall. It is located in the Hollandersky building on Bank street, near Pearl, in the second story, and is the only tenant on that floor. One of the three stores on the main floor has been rented, but otherwise the building is without a tenant. It is understood that Mr Hollandersky has entered into an arrangement with two others to operate the place as a dance hall. But they calculated without knowledge of the law, for there is no fire escape on the building and no dance hall can be established above the first floor of a building without a fire escape being in place. The "dance" was advertised and for that the expenditure was a waste of money.

Emile Pijjaux, employed by Floyd Mitchell at 15 Atlantic street, reported the loss of jewelry by theft, Saturday night. That started the police to investigate. Policeman Edward Daniels was told to mouse around and get the facts. This he did and learned that a colored man named Washington was the last person to leave the place Saturday night. That was just as the place closed. Washington has not been seen since then. A gold watch and $12 in cash are missing, so that the investigation is to extend further.

The traffic warning post of the blinker sort at the corner of Broad and Williams street is out of order, so autoists will have to govern themselves accordingly.

Ernest J. Pelletier of 43 Shapley street lost his patience today when he is said to have discovered "Pop" at the corner of Main street with a load he couldn't carry up the hill. Policeman W. Horgan was on the spot and gave Ernest some advice. But the latter did not take it kindly and blamed the police in insulting language for the condition of things as they are in New London. His intimation was that the police should put a stop to the sale of liquor that men might not become intoxicated. This talk to the officer was such that Pelletier was arrested and charged with a breach of the peace. He gave a bond of $50 to insure his appearance in court Tuesday.

Edward A. Dalton, for many years a resident of this city, where he was born, spent Sunday in town, guest of relatives.

The city council did not meet this evening, but will assemble tomorrow evening. Labor day being a legal holiday the meeting was not held.

A supposed tongman was reported to be in the city Saturday evening and a search was made to locate him, without success. He is declared to have made application at a hotel for accommodation, but was refused there because all the rooms were engaged. A search throughout the city at the places managed by Chinese was made, but the tongman was not located. Several Chinamen have made application to the city manager for permission to carry revolvers, but no such permission has been granted. The city manager is not disposed to put into the hands of any man the implement by which murder may possibly be committed.

A considerable number of New London people who went to New York in anticipation of witnessing league baseball games today were disappointed in their expectations. Rain prevented the games.

The 6th day of September, the natal day of this city, passed without official recognition. The 6th fell on Sunday and no notice was taken that the day was the birthday of the city by the sea. Groton flew the stars and stripes for the Battle of Groton Heights, but New London allowed the day to pass as other days go by.

The truck of the New England Fruit company, of New London, was in Colchester today and there at the hill at Four Corners was in collision with an Overland sedan the property of Michael Stetrinos of Montville. The collision occurred on the hill where the New London truck was descending. Both machines were very badly damaged. Mrs. Stetrinos was injured about the head, but she was not thought to need hospital attention.

Attendants at St. Mary's church Sunday morning stated that Rev Dr. Timothy M. Crowley spoke freely in regard to the Volstead law and the enforcement of it. He is said not to be in sympathy with the law and to have said so in language that was unmistakable. He referred to the times of the Saviour when the use of wine was general and declared that if that use was not wrong there need be no harsh criticism of the use of it now. Rev. Father Crowley was asked tonight to state his views in The Bulletin, but he did not consent to make any statement.

John Hendry, clerk for the Central Coal company, underwent an operation at Lawrence hospital this morning. His condition is good with all indications for his speedy recovery. He is 50 years of age and his physical condition is of the best.

Friday next, Judge Allyn L. Brown of Norwich will decide whether a writ of mandamus will be issued against the city of New London compelling that municipal corporation to show cause why Louis M. Kenyon and Samuel Shapiro should not be allowed to erect a store on Jay street and commence business there, in property of which they are the owners by warrantee deed. It is understood that the ground on which the city has prevented the owners from going ahead with their enterprise is that they are establishing a commercial business in a residential section. The decision in the case is awaited with great interest by citizens in general, for there are questions of vital importance connected with it. The decision will establish whether the owners of real estate can make use of their property for legitimate purposes, and it will settle whether such property can be used for business purposes alongside and opposite other business enterprises, if such business is not objectionable or offensive. The decision will also affect the petition of Simon Green and wife, who seek to erect a building on William street for a dyeing and cleaning business.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunt of North Adams, Mass., motored to this city today to be the guests of relatives.

George Oldroyd and wife of New York are in town for a few days and are guests at the Monican hotel.

The town court of Waterford will prove self-sustaining and return money to the town treasury, according to representative citizens of that town. The court has been in existence but a few months, but already the treasury has received nearly enough money to sustain it during the year.

Automobile travel was the heaviest of the year today, according to the traffic officers who directed it, notwithstanding rain fell throughout the day. A dozen states were represented in the registration the car carried, and every known make of machine was among the cars that passed through.

John Higgins was sent to jail a week or more ago. He was incarcerated till his child died Saturday and then he was released that he might be with his father by. John went home, but instead of being a consolation to them he became intoxicated and was such a pronounced nuisance that the police were called to arrest him and he is now in the lock-up to remain till he is presented in court Tuesday. Higgins has been arrested half a score of times, for intoxication and abusing a faithful little horse he uses to earn him a living. Higgins will probably be sent back to jail for a long stay this time.

Lieut. Ralph Gurley of the submarine I was in White Plains in civilian uniform and on leave of absence. He was annoyed by being taken into custody there as he possessed a revolver and the White Plains police were suspicious. A telephone message to New London disclosed that the lieutenant was on legitimate business, that he was authorized to carry the revolver in pursuance of his duties and then release came.

Charles Campo, of Mistuxet avenue, Mystic, had the car that is registered in the name of his brother, Raymond in New London today and parked it on Hyde street, just east of Bank street. When he got ready to move he backed out, but he crashed into the car of Gustaldo Huss, of Waterford, and put the rear fender on the right side of the latter car out of commission. Gustaldo complained to Traffic Officer Courtney and Campo was taken into custody for the careless operation of his car. At the police station both men prepared reports to the motor vehicle department. Then negotiations were begun for the settlement of damages, but they had not been concluded when the parties left to decide whether a civil suit should be brought.

RAIN INSURANCE HELPS BEACH CONCESSIONISTS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 7—Labor day brought the most unpleasant weather of the year to this city, and checked business at Ocean Beach as it would have been checked if the gates had been closed. There was no bathing and there was little if no business at the concession places. The operators of all-hot and soft drink places, and of the other amusement resorts had many of them taken out rain insurance and thereby averted loss they otherwise would have sustained. It is understood that they are insured to the extent of $300 and that the cost of the insurance is $27 a day. How many of the concession holders are protected in this way is not known, but rumor has it that there is a large number. Shepard and Swanson are known to have insurance that protects them to the extent of $300 against rain to the volume of a tenth of an inch, between the hours of 5 and 8 o'clock this evening. This makes their friends figure on the final analysis of the venture. The rental of the dance hall is $5,500 a season and with other expenses, orchestra, lights, police protection and attendants the nightly expense is something like $110. There were 609 paid admissions to the place Sunday night, yes, Sunday, and the women in the party were given free tickets for today. The proprietors gambled with fate by taking out rain insurance for Saturday, Sunday and today. They lost on the chance they took Saturday and Sunday for no rain came until after 5 o'clock Sunday evening. The insurance of the other concessionists is for earlier hours in the day, and they hit it right today.

Young Men

We have placed more than 300 graduates and students during the past year at salaries ranging from $1,200 to $5,000. There is a demand for our graduates because of the reputation this school has for turning out well trained accountants.

Large business corporations and public accountants come to us for men whom they desire to develop for positions of large responsibilities. They are critical in making selections, and invariably place emphasis upon personality as well as technical ability. We are, therefore, particularly interested in enrolling men of the clean-cut, upstanding type who possess an abundance of common sense and ambition. We have no difficulty whatever in placing such men after they have completed our training.

This is a professional school of college grade which specializes in training men for the duties of office manager, cost accountant, auditor, comptroller, treasurer, and public accountant.

To Be Bentley-Trained Carries Prestige in Business.

It requires two years to complete our courses. Graduates of the classical, general, or commercial courses of high schools are admitted without entrance examinations. Excellent dormitory accommodations are provided for out-of-town students. Classes start September 16th. Send for catalog.

RUMOR THAT CHINAMAN CAME FROM NEW YORK TONG

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 7—A call to the police station today informed them that a strange Chinaman supposed to belong to one of the tong societies that have killed members of opposing tongs in New York and elsewhere, was hanging about here. Sergeant John J. Cavanaugh was detailed to look for the suspected person but he was unable to find any such person as was described. A Filipino was taken into custody on suspicion of having a car that did not belong to him, but on interrogation it was proven that he was the agent of a legitimate concern and was here in pursuit of his business, so he was released.

GROTON WOMAN BURNED— OIL STOVE SETS HOUSE AFIRE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 7—Mrs. Thomas Lynch of Groton, is at the Lawrence hospital in a critical condition from burns sustained when fire practically destroyed the house. Her face and neck are burned and so is her body so that the outcome is in doubt. The house is located in Groton park, was a double bungalow, and the fire was caused by an oil stove that be was released.

MYSTIC

The funeral for Mrs. Ellen Smith, widow of Farrell Smith was held from her residence, 5 High street Saturday morning at 8:30. Requiem high mass at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock was sung by Rev. Thomas P. Mooney. Burial was in the family plot at St. Patrick's cemetery. There were beautiful flowers. Many relatives and friends were present. Mrs. Smith will be greatly missed by a large number of acquaintances and relatives.

Dr. Harry Latham of Philadelphia, Mrs Harry Anderson, Mrs. Gurdon Allyn, and Mrs. Horace Fitch, of Mystic motored to East Greenwich, last week and visited Mrs. Earl Potter, niece of Harry Latham.

A good delegation from the Mystic D. A. R. attended the meeting at Groton Saturday afternoon that is held annually by Anna Warner Bailey chapter, D. A. R. in commemoration of the Battle of Groton Heights, 1781. Owing to Sept. 6 falling on Sunday this year the time of the meeting was advanced one day.

The meeting of the W. C. T. U. is to be held at the home of Mrs. Mary S. Brown, High street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Reports for the year will be given.

At the Sunday school meeting of the Stonington Union Baptist Bible School Convention to be held at the Second Baptist (Miner church) North Stonington Wednesday Sept. 9, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m. standard time, the school from here will be represented as usual.

At the Baptist Sunday School last Sunday the primary sessions were resumed in the vestry and the adults went to the district town hall and Mrs. B. F. Davs went to her home. It is expected it will take some time to finish the auditorium. The west end is lathed and it has an arch for the organ and class rooms upstairs. The whole of the gallery has been removed except on the east end. The change makes a long and expensive job.

The program of the Bible School convention to be held at the Second (Miner) church North Stonington next Wednesday was read and delegates will attend. Rev. B. U. Hatfield a former pastor here and pastor of the First Baptist church, Westerly, will speak in the morning; also Rev. J. N. Lackey of Hartford. In the afternoon four pastors in regular churches of the convention will speak.

The World Wide Guild of the Baptist church is to meet with Mrs. George Richmond Thursday evening.

Mrs. Henry Chesebro of 14 Pearl street will entertain Plus Ultra class of the Old Mystic Baptist church this (Tuesday) evening.

The report of the Fresh Air Fund was given at the meeting held Friday evening. Mystic has taken more interest this year and credit is due the committee who worked hard to make it possible for the children to come. Those taking them made it a happy two weeks for the visitors. The balance in the treasury from 1924 was $11.13. The amount collected this year was $180.15 and $151.60 was spent for board, leaving a balance of $26.68 on hand. The transportation was by the railroad, the New York Tribune Fresh Air Fund paying the fares.

The Garden Club is to meet with Mrs. Julia B. Coats, 26 Clift street this (Tuesday) afternoon.

NOANK

Alfred Banks, 75, died at his home on Prospect Hill early Saturday morning, after a short illness. Mr. Banks was born in Prince Edward Island, Nov. 26, 1850, the son of the late John Banks and Mary McDonald Banks. He has made his home in Noank for more than thirty years. He was employed in the Noank shipyard during the time it was conducted by Robert Palmer and Son. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Jane Banks, six daughters, Mrs. James Steele, Mrs. Earl Foster, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mrs. Arthur Bodchard, Misses Margaret, Sarah and Ann Banks, five sons, Alfred, Albert, William, George and Ames Banks, also three brothers, a sister and several grandchildren.

Your Wish to be fresh and charming . . . every day
Gain it this new way that solves, so exquisitely, woman's oldest hygienic problem
THERE is a new way in woman's hygiene. A way that supplants the uncertainty of old-time sanitary pads with scientific safety.
Wear your lightest frocks; dine, dance, motor in confidence, security. Live every day of your life, unhandicapped.
The name is Kotex. It's made of cellucotton, the war's great absorbent.
It absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture. Five times that of the ordinary cotton pad!
It is as easily disposed of as a piece of tissue—ending the old embarrassment of disposal.
It is deodorized. And that prevents danger of offense.
It's at every drug store, every department store. You ask for it without hesitancy under its trade name of "Kotex."
8 in 10 women of the better classes have adopted it. Doctors urge it. Hygienic authorities employ it.
It will mean much to you . . . will make a great difference in your life. Going on with old ways is a folly.
KOTEX
DEODORIZED
1 Protection: 5 times as absorbent as cotton pads. Absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture—and scientifically deodorized.
2 No laundry. Discard as easily as a piece of tissue.
3 Easy to buy, anywhere. You ask for them by name. Many stores keep them ready-wrapped — help yourself, pay the clerk, that is all.
No laundry—discard as easily as a piece of tissue

THE WEATHER

Conditions

A disturbance that was over Hudson Bay Monday morning is over the lower St. Lawrence valley; High and rising pressure covers Ontario and the upper lakes. During the last 24 hours showers and thunderstorms have occurred in New England and the middle Atlantic states. The outlook is for showers along the New England coast on Tuesday. It will be cooler on Tuesday in portions of the middle Atlantic states.

Rain prevented the completion of the elaborate program that the Taftville Field Day Association had laid out for the Pioneer Days of Taftville reunion. The schedule called for a five inning ball game between the local Pioneers and other visiting Pioneers on the Providence street grounds Monday morning to be followed by a game between the Pioneers of Groton and the Taftville A. A. The Pioneers spent the day visiting at the local homes and most of them left town in the evening. The reunion has been the most successful one held by the organization, and next year the outing will be at Rocky Point, R. I.

Miss Mary Sotnik of Central Falls, R. I. is the guest of Mr. and Mrs Basil Horosco and family of South B street.

SHEEP FROM STORRS SHOWN AT STATE FAIR

STORRS, Sept. 7.—Five breeds of sheep, including Cheviots, Hampshires, Shropshires, Southdowns and Merinos are shown at the state fair by the Connecticut Agricultural college, according to the announcement of Professor H. L. Garrigus, head of the animal husbandry department of the college and a director of the fair. These sheep come from the college demonstration sheep farm.

Connecticut has seen a marked increase in sheep rearing in the last three years, according to Professor Garrigus, and the increase has been general throughout the country. This was due to the very satisfactory mutton, lamb and wool prices of the past three years, he said.

AUTO JUMPS BANK AND LANDS BY MILL POND AT TRADING COVE

Three occupants of a Buick sedan that plunged over a 15 foot bank at Trading Cove about noon Monday and landed on the edge of the millpond had a marvellous escape from injury. As it was, only one, Mrs. Ameddie De Zercie of 1350 Ogden avenue, The Bronx, New York city received a slight cut in the face and bruises about the legs, while her husband, who was driving the car, had a bruised leg and their 10 year old son was unhurt.

The family had been visiting Mr. De Zercie's brother, Joseph De Zercie, at Moosup, and was on the way back to New York, with Mrs. De Zercie on the back seat and the small boy in the front seat with his father. As they were driving southerly on the Norwich-New London turnpike and reached the narrow neck of road near the Trading Cove boarding house, they met another machine and Mr. De Zercie was compelled to cross over into the trolley tracks on his right. In steering back into the traveled portion of the highway his rear wheels caught in the wet and slippery trolley tracks twisting the machine across the road to the left. In trying to straighten the car out again Mr. De Zercie lost control of the machine and it shot over to the right and across the trolley tracks again, plunging through the highway fence and taking a straight drop of 15 feet off the enbankment. The car twisted as it fell, rolled over once and came to a rest on its right side on the edge of the steep bank of the millpond. A few more inches or another roll would have sent it into the water.

The three occupants of the car crawled out of the window of the left-hand door and a telephone message was sent to Mr. De Zercie's brother in Moosup and to the Buick service station here, from which Julian L. Williams responded and made an inspection of the car preparatory to attempting to get it back onto the road. According to Mr. Williams, the principal damage to the machine seemed to be body damages, although one wheel was sprung and it was thought some of the axles might be sprung. There was a large hole punched in the top over the driver's seat and the steering wheel had been smashed.

It will be necessary to rig a hoisting apparatus to get the car back into the road. Mr. De Zercie and his family planned to go on to New York Monday night, leaving orders to have the car taken care of. He reported the accident at Norwich police headquarters.

THREE MACHINES IN CRASH ON BROADWAY

Three automobiles were piled up in a smash in front of the Broadway theater Monday evening about 8:20 o'clock with resulting damage to wheels, axles and mudguard. All the drivers told their stories to Officer Albert Lamphear, who was on the Broadway beat, and then to Capt. Thomas Murphy at police headquarters, whose decision was that it was an unavoidable accident, due more than anything else to wet and slippery conditions in the street.

From the various conflicting claims made, the story of the accident may be put together as follows:

Sam Lightowlers of Uncasville, driving the Overland sedan of Mrs. Ada Strang of 305 Fourth avenue, New York city, stopped the machine in front of the theater without driving clear into the curb, in order to talk to Mrs. Strang and others who had been attending the theater. At the same time John Rainey of 249 Bank street, New London, in a Chevrolet coupe had pulled out from the curb across the street and was drawn up alongside a machine that was between him and the curb. Down the slippery Broadway hill came Charles H. McGibney, Jr. of 262 Broad street, driving the Paige touring car of Charles F. McNamara of Wightman avenue. McGibney put on his brakes when he saw what was ahead of him but his machine slid along and meshed up with the other two.

STORRS EXHIBIT INCLUDES BEEF CATTLE BREEDS

STORRS, Sept. 7.—Three breeds of beef cattle, including Milking Shorthorns, Devons and Herefords, are exhibitedl at the state fair by the Connecticut Agricultural college, according to the announcement of Professor H. L. Garrigus, head of the animal husbandry department of the college, and a director of the state fair.

The Milking Shorthorns are a dual-purpose breed, being valuable both for beef and milk, and the representatives of this breed in the college exhibit are proving especially interesting. Flinstone Model, No. 724,788, a 7-year old bull is the outstanding animal of this breed to be shown by the college, having the distinction of being grand champion for three years at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield.

Black Creek Katy, 2nd, is a prize winning cow of the same breed that is being shown by the college. She was Champion Cow at the Eastern Congress Sale and Show at Batavia, N. Y., in 1923. Her milk record for one year is approximately 10,000 pounds, which is excellent production for a cow of this breed. A number of other Milking Shorthorns are also being shown, most of which have come from the College's Gilbert Farm at Georgestown, Conn.

Included in the Devons are Devondale Butcherlee, No. 9530, Grand Champion Cow at the New York State Fair in 1924, and a half sister to the World's Champion Devon cow. Commenting on this breed, Professor Garrigus said it is very rapidly establishing itself in public interest, with more and more of the breed being kept every year. A hundred years ago it was the common breed in New England, being good for milk, beef, and even for draft work. The demand for the high milk producing cow caused it to lose favor, however, though it now shows signs of making a strong comeback.

Three generations of breeding in the college here of Herefords are seen in the three representatives of this breed to be exhibited. These are Hereford steers, and grandsons of T Woodford 8th, which the college sold for $3,000 to Senator Camden of Kentucky. Shown at the American Royal, Kansas City in 1922, T. Woodford 8th won the Grand Championship.

At present prices on the Chicago market of sixteen cents a pound on the hoof, these eighteen months old steers are worth on the average of $193 per head.

WILLIAM LATHAM WILL DIRECT PET STOCK

As Philip McNamara is to leave for Georgetown University on September 12th a vacancy has been made in the ranks of superintendents for the New London County Fair. Mr. McNamara has held the position of superintendent of the pet stock department at the fair.

He will be succeeded by William Latham, who has had considerable experience in this work.

Some problems are beyond the scope of the human mind, and wise is the man who is willing to let it go at that.

BLUE RIBBON HORSES IN EXHIBIT BY STORRS

STORRS, Sept. 7. — Numbered among the string of horses shown by Connecticut Agricultural college at the state fair are some of the best animals in the country, according to the statement of Professor Harry L. Garrigus, head of the animal husbandry department of the college, and one of the directors of the fair.

Dragon Junior, No. 113,939, a pure bred Percheron stallion with five of his get is attracting much attention from horse lovers. Dragon Junior has been champion at several fairs in the past, including the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, New England Fair at Worcester, the Vermont State Fair, the Leesburg Fair in Virginia, the Brattleboro and Greenfield fairs in Massachusetts, and many others.

Annette, No. 182,106, a two-year old Percheron mare, is another blue ribbon animal being shown by the state college. She is a full sister of the Grand Champion of the 1924 Ohio State Fair, and Professor Garrigus has refused $1,500 for her.

Favorite Lady, No. 140,699, an 8-year old Percheron mare is also being shown. Of interest in connection with this is Professor Garrigus' statement that he intends to have four of her progeny on exhibition with her.

Carbon 2, a twelve-year old Percheron is being shown. The sire of this horse was the noted Carbon 66,666, that sold for $40,000, and was one of the most famous Percheron sires. Carbon 2 is a full brother to the noted show mare, Carnova 5th, who was a champion all over the continent.

"There is a lesson to be drawn from this horse exhibit that we are putting on," said Professor Garrigus, "and one that I think will interest not only the Connecticut farmer, but anyone that has an occasion to use horsepower. Favorite Lady, our 8-year old Percheron mare, is a splendid example of the lesson that we make. This animal, though only eight years old, has worked for five years and has reproduced herself four times, yet she is in splendid condition today. What I want the Connecticut farmer, and others who may be interested, to do, is to look over this animal carefully, and then compare her with a truck purchased eight years ago. Then he can decide for himself if there is a lesson for him in it."

BRINGS JUSTICE'S SUIT ON CLAIM FOR $30

Louis Pappas of New York has brought suit against Rose Depecchio of Norwich, claiming damages of $30. The suit is returnable before Justice of the Peace H. H. Pettis on September 14.

It is alleged in the complaint that from Jan. 1, 1922 to Sept. 1, 1922, at various times, the defendant and her three minor children were furnished by the plaintiff, at the request of the defendant, with rooms, food, attendance and other necessaries. The same is alleged to be reasonably worth $25 which the defendant has not paid. Attachment against property of the defendant is for $100.

Motored From New Haven

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Golkowske and Master William Graham Golkowske of Whitneyville, who motored from New Haven, were guests over Sunday and Labor Day of Mrs. Golkowske's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Rollinson of Canterbury. They also called on relatives in Taftville. Before returning, the Golkowske family were callers Labor Day at the home of Mr. Golkowske's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Golkowske of Pratt street.

Miss Alma Golkowske who makes her home with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Golkowske, in Whitneyville, accompanied them as far as Norwich, remaining over the holiday recess at her parents' home.

The First Congregational Young People's Christian Endeavor service Sunday evening, was in charge of the missionary committee, with Miss Jessie Hyde, leader. Rules For the Game of Life was the subject, with Scripture references in Timothy, I Corinthians and Peter.

At the Sunday morning worship of the First Congregational church, the pastor, Rev. Gordon P. Bailey preached an impressive sermon on "The Ministry of Suffering." Scripture reference was in Peter.

Rev. Mr. Bailey spoke of Christs suffering, and how He was made perfect through His suffering. That that is what we as people should strive to be was emphasized by the speaker.

At the close of the regular order of worship, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed, Rev. Mr. Bailey officiating.

"The Mission of Our Church," is the theme assigned to the Congregational mid-week service for conference and prayer, Thursday evening.

Rev. James B. Aldrich preached Sunday morning at the First Methodist Episcopal church, from I Corinthians 15: 21-22. For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all dies even so in Christ shall all be made alive.

Rev. Mr. Aldrich also conducted a communion service in celebration of The Lord's Supper, during the morning worship; and at the Young People's Christian Endeavor service in the evening, he was the leader. At this time the topic was—"Learning How to Pray." Matthew 6:5-15.

Last Sunday morning, Rev. Mr. Aldrichs text was Job 23-3. Oh, that I knew where I might find Him, that I might come even to His seat!

Through an over-sight the Scripture lines were confused with the text; the third verse of the thirty-third chapter being referred to, through error.

POETRY

G. A. R. at Grand Rapids

The band of heroes who preserved a state
Grows fewer, fewer still, yet force remains
To emphasize with crutches or with cane
Achievements history half may demonstrate;
Our nation lives because they laughed at fate,
Dare-devil boys, unpinched by Caution's chains,
Who now are half gorget where Mars in street reigns,
Though patriots all their deeds about emulate.
Grand Rapids? Yes, well chosen was the place
For this reunion of the G. A. R.;
Down Time's Grand Rapids human feet must race.
The Bayards' mortal, as the oxen is are;
But grim immortalism we meet face to face
In hates that are the seed of human war.

Her Answer

Today, dear heart, but just today,
The sunshine over all,
The roses crimsoning the air
Along the garden wall!
Then let the dreams and dreamer die,
Whate'er shall be, shall be—
Today will still be thine and mine
To all eternity.

And oh, there is no glory, dear,
When all the world is done,
There is no splendor lasteth out
The sinking of the sun;
There is no thing that lasts, not one,
When we have turned to clay,
But this: you loved me—all the rest
Fades with the world away.

So little while, so little while,
This world doth last for us,
There is no way to keep it, dear,
But just to spend it thus.
There is no hand may stop the sand
From flowing fast away
But his who turns the whole glass down
And dreams 'tis all today.

—John Bennett.

COL. MITCHELL'S VIEW ON OUR NAT'L DEFENSE SYSTEM

Recommends the Creation of an Aeronautics Bureau Under a Secretary of Air—Contends That the Entire Problem of National Defense Should Be Consolidated Under One Head, With Three Sections Under Sub-Divisions: Army, Navy and Air—Proceedings Are Under Way at the War Department to Call Col. Mitchell to Account For His Criticism of the Army and Navy Air Services.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Colonel William Mitchel, former assistant Air Chief and now Eight Corps Area Air Officer, broke his silence of three days again here today by issuing a formal statement in which he recommended creation by the next Congress of an Aeronautics Bureau under a Secretary of Air and suggested plans for the bureau's operation.

He said that the entire national defense should be consolidated under one head, who would be held responsible, but that the department should be divided into three sections under Sub-secretaries, army, navy and air.

Colonel Mitchell refrained from commenting upon his statement of Saturday, nor did he mention the imbroglio of his command stirred up. He confined himself to the department, he said, saying five must apply a remedy to the conditions existing in our whole national defense system, and in our aeronautics in particular. Preliminary steps should be taken at once and in December decisive action by Congress to put these measures into force.

"We should consolidate our whole national defense under one head and hold one man responsible for the whole thing. Under him should be three sub-secretaries, one for the army or the land, one for the navy or the water, and one for our aeronautics.

"Policies pertaining to our national defense should be recommended by the secretary of national defense to the president upon the advice of the three sub-secretaries. Having three sub-secretaries would insure there being no deadlock, as often occurs at the present time between the army and navy. All supplies common to the three services should be gotten by a central agency, so as to avoid competition between the different branches of the government.

"In time of war or threatened emergency, capital should be conscripted as well as labor. All raw materials for the construction of national defense equipment should be obtained and distributed under one head.

"According to this system, the army organization would remain much the same as it is at present, except that it would be modernized. The naval organization would also have little change. Any air service that these departments needed would be permanently assigned to them.

"The secretary of the air, however, should be entrusted with the whole aeronautical department of the government, which is even more important in time of peace than it is in time of war, because we can employ aviation in useful pursuits during peace, such as carrying the mail, patrolling the forests, surveying the country, and aiding agriculture, animal industry and exploration.

Department of Aeronautics

"The department of aeronautics should be divided into three principal functions, one charged with the development of civil aviation. This should provide for the airways throughout the country, the aids to air navigation and provide an efficient weather service and storm warnings; a legal department to make recommendations about all air navigation laws, inspection of pilots and aircraft, so as to be sure the public is safeguarded when traveling or using air craft.

"There should also be formed an aeronautical corporation similar to our inland waterways corporation, which should operate between the great centers of population, so as to show what things could be carried safely and at a profit through the air. All figures on this should be made public, so that as soon as possible any civilian company desiring to take it over should be allowed to do so. At the present stage of the development of aeronautics the government must assist, as all aeronautics is a national asset.

"The second division should be a section of fabrication or construction. In this department, special studies should be made of the kind of aircraft that are necessary, or their airworthiness and safety. They should be made in accordance with the desires and wishes of the flying men, by experts and thoroughly tried out before being issued. No aircraft should be built by the government. All should be built by civilian organizations so as to keep up competition, invention and initiative by the people.

"The third division should be that of force, that part specifically charged with the air defense of the whole country. Provision should be made for a suitable number of well trained flying men and good airplanes to defend this country in case of trouble. Only a small part of the total need be kept constantly under arms; the rest should be working in civil life and the mechanics keeping up their work in the factories and in the industries which go to make up aircraft, being called out for suitable period of training when necessary.

"Practically every civilized country has now adopted this sane, economical and logical system. With a plan of this kind working, the question of who is to command any undertaking is absolutely fixed—if the predominant in it be a sea force, that is the navy ought to have command of the undertaking and the army and air force report to it. If it is going to be a land force the army should have charge of it and all the elements of the navy and air forces report to it. If it is to be an air campaign, the air force should have charge and the army and navy report to it. The secretary of national defense could determine this.

"With an adequate air force in this country, it is difficult to see how any hostile host can touch our soil, coming from Europe or from Asia.

"Due to the increased understanding of modern implements of defense, it is probable that in the near future civilized nations of the world will agree to eliminate from their national defense arrangements all useless and expensive elements that now enter into it, and will confine themselves to a defensive armament consisting of aircraft, submarines and sufficient land forces for their needs. This is what the influence of air power is bringing about.

Old Army and Navy System

"For many years we have had to cater to the old army and navy system—it now should be stopped and a new one instituted. To sidestep this change, propositions certainly will be made to create a special service of aviation within the army for work over land; a special service of aviation in the navy for work over the water, and a special service of aviation within the department of commence to handle civil aeronautics. Although this sounds alluring, it will be even a worse condition than obtains at present because the old system will still control the aviation in the army, navy and department of commerce and will even entrench it more strongly. This has been tried in other countries in England, for instance, before a modern organization was made. The Germans used to attack London—the army air force would chase them as far as the coast, there would be no naval air force, because they were tooling around in flying boats somewhere and under an entirely separate command. The Germans therefore did very much as they pleased.

"Civil aviation was assigned to the Board of trade, which in England is something like our department of commerce. It was put under non-fliers who knew absolutely nothing about aviation and one of the first rules they prescribed was 'when two airplanes meet in a fog, they should blow their fog horns.' The utter absurdity of the whole thing was quickly understood by the British people and the whole proposition consolidated under one head. The Germans had done this before them in 1916 and other nations either have done it entirely or are doing it at the present.

"In addition to the department of national defense, under one secretary, there should be a council of national defense to consist of the secretary of state, the secretary of the treasury and the secretary of national defense, in case the president desired advice on the conditions relative to a present or to prospective emergencies, he would instruct the secretary of state to convene this council and report to him the result of their deliberations.

"The secretary of state, having called together the secretary of national defense and the secretary of the treasury might say 'Gentlemen, it is probable that a certain country, combined with others, may force us to defend ourselves within five years. Mr. Secretary of national defense, what do you need in the armed forces of this nation to maintain our independence and institutions?' The secretary of national defense might answer:: 'I need an air force of 2,000 airplanes, a naval force of 400 vessels and an army of half a million men, the cost of which will amount to so much money, with an amount of so much cash immediately available.' The secretary of state would then ask the secretary of the treasury: 'How much money have you that can be applied to this proposition, and how much need we raise by taxation at once?' After having received the necessary data from the secretary of the treasury, the whole report could be quickly made up and given to the president and an absolute accurate estimate of the whole situation made. Under our present system, tremendous complications would result in case of an emergency as has been the case in the past.

"The terrible conditions in our national aeronautics today is not so much the result of the absolute ignorance of individuals—because often these are selected on the principle of saying 'Tag, you're it. Go play with aviation,' when they know nothing about it and are really more to be pitied than blamed. The trouble is with the system and we flying people insist that our views be known and weighed by the American public."

TO CALL MITCHELL TO ACCOUNT FOR CRITICISM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Proceedings were initiated today at the war department to call Colonel William Mitchell to account for his public declaration that administration of the army and navy air services had been criminally negligent and "almost treasonable."

By direction of Major General John L. Hines, chief of staff, Major General Eli A. Helmick, the inspector general began an investigation with the assignment of Colonel George A. Nugent immediately prepared to proceed to San Antonio, Texas, where Colonel Mitchell is stationed, to ask him in person if he did make the statements attributed to him in published articles.

No further action will be taken by the war department until Colonel Nugent returns and submits his report. Directions given General Helmick by General Hines, however, call for recommendations as to action the event authenticity of the statements is established. Since it is not doubted at the department that Colonel Mitchell will admit having made the statements under investigation, the preliminary move is merely a necessary step paving the way possibly for trial by an army court.

Secretary Wilbur plans, meanwhile to make no representations in the matter to the war department on behalf of the navy administration, such action would be necessary only if the army officials overlooked some important point, he feels and this is unlikely.

It will be a week or longer before Colonel Nugent returns and a decision can be reached whether the Mitchell statements constitute violations of the articles of war which would warrant the convening of a court martial.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Monastery Pillaging

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Burglars have made a rich haul in pillaging the famous Cisterian Monastery at Zwettl, in Lower Austria. The value of their loot is estimated at several billion kronen.

Earl of Portsmouth Dead

LONDON, Sept. 8—The earl of Portsmouth died in London last night, aged 68. The Honorable Oliver Henry Wallop, a resident of Wyoming, is heir to the title of earl of Portsmouth. He is the younger brother of the late earl, who was not married and the third son of the fifth earl.

German Cabinet to Meet.

BERLING, Sept. 8.—(AP)—An executive session of the cabinet early next week will decide the German government's position on formal participation of Foreign Minister Stresemann in a conference with Allied Statesmen on the proposed security pact.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS CONFRONTING COOLIDGE

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Sept. 8.—(AP)—President Coolidge is withholding definite decision on a number of important questions confronting the administration until he can consult with advisers in Washington, he expects to leave here tomorrow night, arriving in the Capitol Thursday afternoon.

One of the problems to be dealth with on the executive's return to Washington is whether the Agricultural Conference should be reconvened to complete its survey of the farm problem. Mr. Coolidge is of the opinion it should be given opportunity to draft final recommendations to Congress but is awaiting the view of secretary Jardine as to whether the step is advisable.

Another question that is giving the President some concern it was indicated today at White Court is the growing necessity for public buildings in Washington and elsewhere. Mr. Coolidge fears there will be formidable opposition in Congress to any measure that does not specifically statew here buildings are to be constructed. He expects to go over this situation with Secretary Mellon, Postmaster General New and Congressional leaders.

Comment could not be obtained today at the summer White House on the Mitchell charges against the war and Navy Departments for their aviation policy. In other fields, however the view of the President were disclosed. It was indicated that he believed the United States should do nothing that would discourage the League of Nations in taking steps to promote security abroad, perhaps through another Armament Conference. I was also made plain that Mr. Coolidge is convinced that sentiment is growing in the Senate for the World Court proposal.

Callers at White Court today in addition to newspaper reporters who had a conference with the President included Adolph H. Och, publishers of New York Times, who was a luncheon guest and Orman Mather Democratic National Committeeman from New York, who called to pay his respects.

BIG PAY DAY FOR THE ANTHRACITE MINERS TODAY

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 8—Distribution of the largest payroll in the history of the anthracite industry will be started tomorrow by the anthracite operators.

This pay is for the last two weeks of August and will approximate $15,000,000. It will go to approximately 157,000 men for a fortnight's work.

Individual coal companies are distributing as high as $1,600,000 and on one payroll more than two hundred workers are listed for pay of more than $200 for the two week's period.

Anticipating the suspension, anthracite miners laid aside any rules limiting production and in some cases increased output from an average of one and one half cars in preceding months to nearly two cars for each inside man per day, an increased production of more than twenty per cent., according to figures in the hands of the producers.

The average daily hours put in by the workers during the two weeks period was seven, according to the time sheets. The average for the inside man in the three months previous to August was six hours a day.

A number of the coal companies have utilized the workers' due bills as a means of conveying messages to them regarding their attitude of the suspension of mining.

W. C. T. U. PRESIDENT SHOT DEAD AT VINTON, IOWA

VINTON, Iowa, Sept. 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Shot down as she was writing a paper she intended to read today before the Benton County W. C. T. U. of which she was president, Mrs. C. B. Cook was killed in her home last night. Her friends believe she was the victim of one of a number of liquor law violators against whom she had been active.

One shot, fired through a rear window as she sat writing her paper, entitled "Looking Forward," caused her death an hour and a half later. She was unable to supply any information to aid authorities in their search for her assailant.

"Oh save me, save me" were the only words she uttered to her aged mother, Mrs. Underwood when the latter hurried downstairs upon hearing her daughter scream following the shooting.

Mrs. Underwood at the coroners inquest this afternoon expressed the belief that "some of those drunks who hang around the streets near our home" were responsible.

MACHINE TOOL EXHIBIT OF YALE UNIVERSITY

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 8—With huge machines pounding and smaller ones grinding and cutting, Mason laboratory in Hillhouse avenue, was transformed into a big industrial plant tonight, at the opening of the fifth annual machine tool exhibition held under the joint auspices of Yale university department of mechanical engineering, American Society of Mechanical Engineers machine shop practice division, New Haven chamber of commerce and the New Haven section, A. S. M. E. One hundred manufacturers have exhibits in full operation and in the majority of cases commercial products are being turned out while the machines are being demonstrated. More than 2,000 attended the opening tonight. The exhibit will last until Friday.

Convention of Conn. Federation of Labor

President O'Meara Proposes a Campaign For the Institution of New Unions—Various Reports Made.

NEW BRITAIN, Sept 8.—(AP)—With the appointment of committees, reports of officers, and other preliminary business disposed of today, the 200 delegates attending the 40th annual convention of the Connecticut Federation of Labor expect to turn their attention tomorrow to a consideration of some of the important resolutions which are to be brought before the convention.

President Patrick F. O'Meara in his annual report proposed a campaign for the institution of new unions. He also discussed some existing conditions. During the afternoon reports from the valous locals' delegations wee called for.

Some of the reports follow:

The barbers of Hartford said that their working hours were too long.

The New Haven barbers said that they had the same hours as were observed in Hartford but that they were satisfied.

The trolleymen's local reported that they had a grievance which was now being arbitrated.

The brewery locals reported as "doing well."

The bakers of New Haven were not satisfied. They said that they would present a resolution advocating a boycott on certain nationally known brands of bread and cake upon the claims that they are open shop manufacturers.

"Business and wages are good. Everybody prosperous" the Hartford bricklayers reported.

The carpenters of New Britain said that conditions were good with a few open shops in the city. One local factory which is making tools was criticised.

The mill men of Bridgeport reported that there was only one union shop out of the eight in that city.

New Haven carpenters reported on the recent strike there.

Among the speakers this afternoon was Thomas McMahon of New York, international president of the United Textile Workers, who gave a resume of the strike of operatives of the American Thread company at Willimantic.

Mr. MacMahon also commented on the cost of the production of a suit of clothes and the price the retailer eventually received for a suit. He said that labor cost on a $60 suit is seventy cents and the entire cost of manufacturing material is $1.40. More than 75 per cent of the cost of producing a suit, Mr. McMahon declared, is that of management.

Nine committees were appointed They were for auditing, credentials, constitution, officers' report, reception, distribution, press, resolutions and grievances.

The members of the resolutions committee are: John M. Murphy, New Haven, chairman; William H. Weihnery, Meriden, Thomas Russell, Hartford; Sidney Frank, Greenwich, Frank B. Govang, New Haven, Edward A. Collins, Stamford; Conrad L. Leary, Stamford, James Haugh Danbury, and Adaline Lacrasia, Willimantic.

The grievance committee: Frank O'Meara, Hartford; Thomas Potts, Stamford, Floren Alsang, New Haven, William Therrien, New Haven, Henry Geis, Meriden, Frank A. Fitzgerald, New Haven; William H. Donahue, Norwich, Joseph Donovan, Hartford.

RECONSTRUCTION OF EUROPE ON PERMANENT PEACE BASIS

GENEVA, Sept 8—(A. P.)—Optimism in allied circles regarding the prospects for the reconstruction of Europe on a basis of permanent peace in agreement with Germany received a new impetus today.

An early meeting between the foreign ministers of the allied powers and of Germany to discuss the security pact now seems virtually assured, and it probably will be held in some Swiss city early in October. That Dr. Stresemann, the German foreign minister, will attend seems definitely assumed by the allied statesmen, and this afternoon Premier Painleve and Foreign Minister Briand of France and Foreign Secretary Chamberlain of England went by automobile to Aix-Les-Baines where they appraised Premier Baldwin of Great Britain of their decision to invite Dr. Stresemann to such a conference.

The suspension today of sessions of the assembly of the league of nations to permit organization of that body's machinery made it possible for the three allied leaders to make this journey.

The Associated Press correspondent learned tonight that the first meeting with Dr. Stresemann, which Premier Mussolini of Italy probably will attend, is likely to be followed by others, thus permitting careful reflection on any thorny point which may arise.

GOV. TRUMBULL IS BACK FROM VACATION IN MAINE

HARTFORD, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Governor Trumbull was at his office at the capitol this afternoon, having returned to the state Monday from a vacation in Maine. He said that he enjoyed the vacation thoroughly and feels much rested, although the fishing at the Maine lakes was not up to the usual standard, mostly because of the variable weather of the past few weeks.

The governor was busy with numerous matters that have come up in his absence. Regarding the moving picture tax situation, he said the matter rested with the tax officials and his office was awaiting the announced visit of the committee from the Motion Picture Owners' association.

SENSANTIONAL ESCAPE FROM WORCESTER COUNTY JAIL

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Walter J. Marlborough, 24, who we being held at the Worcester county jail on a charge of breaking, entering and larceny, made a sensational escape late today by diving through an unlocked gate in the guardroom. Marlborough was talking with his mother and was seated near the gate which leads to the exit. A jail guard had just unlocked a big wire gate to allow two women to leave. His back was turned and he swung the gate open. Marlborough saw his chance, hurled himself between the two women and escaped. He was last seen running toward the city through Central street.

Working For Welfare Of Federal Workers

Convention Favors Employment of Civilian Physicans in the Canal Zone Instead of Army Doctors.

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A resolution favoring the the employment of civilian physicians in the Canal Zone instead of army doctors was adopted by the Eighth Convention of the National Federation of Federal Workers here today. The convention also authorized the Executive Council to investigate the feasibility of establishing a home for retired employes and to take up at Washington the matter of proper wage rates in the Canal Zone for federal employes.

The resolution recommending the replacement of army doctors by civilians set forth that at present civilian physicians are giving way, as their terms of service expire, to military medical men. The residents of the zone are opposed to the substitution of officers on short tours of duty for civilian physicians who become permanent members of the community and acquire a local reputation and special skill in the treatment of tropical diseases," it was stated.

The Executive Council was instructed to take up the matter with the War Department.

The council was also directed to take up immediately after the convention the subject of wage scales of clerks, school teachers, police, firemen and other workers, aside from skilled mechanics.

In the preamble of the retirement resolution, it was declared that the retirement allowan ce for employes is "universally admitted to be inadequate" and that in most cases it "is insufficient to support retired federal employes in even reasonable comfort.

AUTOMOBILE DEATH TOLL AT FAMILY REUNION

FAIRFIELD, Conn., Sept. 8—(A. P.)—A family reunion and outing was turned into a grim tragedy this afternoon, when one man was killed and several persons were injured as an automobile left the road and turned over twice on Bronson avenue in front of the of deerfeery in Greenfield Hill.

William Putrin, 35, of Maspeth, L. I., was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, but his injuries were fatal. Death followed during the afternoon. He is survived by a wife and three children. William Kayatski, 15 Firth street, Maspeth, L. I., driver of the car, suffered abrasions and contusions. It was necessary to take five stitches in his knee to close one of the wounds. A four year old girl in the same car was badly shaken up and cut, while two others also suffered minor injuries.

Kayatski is being held in $1,500 bond on a charge of manslaughter pending the inquest.

PREPARING PROSECUTION OF HARRISON W. NOEL

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Authorities in two counties tonight were preparing to prosecute Harrison W. Noel, 20, former insane asylum inmate who confessed kidnapping and murdering 6-year-old Mary Daly, on four major charges on the assumption that he is sane until otherwise proven by defense counsel.

Indictments in Essex county for the murder of Raymond Pierce, negro taxicab driver, and for the kidnaping will be sought soon, possibly tomorrow.

FORD MOTOR CO. PLANES ARE TO CARRY U. S. MAIL

DETROIT, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Airpanes of the Ford Motor Company will carry United States mail between Detroit and Chicago, beginning within the next two weeks, it was announced tonight following a conference today between Postmaster General Harry S. New, Henry Ford and William J. Mayo, of the Ford Company.

OBITUARY

Frank Milton Garland

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 8—Frank Milton Garland, inventor of the Garland rapid fire gun, died at his home here yesterday as the result of a shock received several years ago, it as learned today. He was born in Hennaker, Merrimac county, New Hampshire, September 8, 1854.

Mr. Garland began working at an early age when he became a member of the village band. At 17 he left home and came to this city, finding employment in the Winchester Repeating Arms company. While there he studied the mechanism of firearms and one day chanced to read that Hiram Maxim was making a gun which worked by recoil.

Inspired by the success of another Mr. Garland turned his attention to inventing a machine gun. His first successful attempt was in Gatling style. The model was purchased by the Russians. Since then he has spent his energies in perfecting the gun which is said to be the most simple automatic rapid-fire gun ever constructed and that it has the fewest number of parts. Other types of firm arms and models of various ships famous in his day, were constructed by him.

Mr. Garland traveled in many parts of the world during his life time. He was sent by the late President Wilson to Europe during the world war on a secret mission and it was while on this mission that he received the shock which was the direct cause of his death.

He was a member of an expedition which at the close of the Chino-Japanese war went to China in an effort to develop mines, build roads and otherwise develop the country.

Mr. Garland was known not only in social circles throughout the country but also in political circles, William A. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, being a close friend.

Prominent in Masonic circles of New York, he was a 32nd degree Mason, a Shringr of the Mecca Shrine and a member of the Loyal Order of Moose.

He is survived by his widow.

The time of the funeral has not as yet been set.

F. K. Schifferli

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 8.—(AP)—F. K. Schifferli, editor of the Aurora, a Catholic weekly published in this city, died here today, 76 years old. He probably was the dean of Catholic journalists in this country, having been engaged in such work for more than 50 years. He was born in Switzerland. He is survived by his widow, eight children and 23 grand children.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT THE CONNECTICUT STATE FAIR

Crowds Poured Into the Fair Grounds in Hartford in a Continuous Stream—Mayor Stevens of Hartford and Eighteen Other Mayors of the State Were Present—Races Postponed From Labor Day Were Run Off on a Heavy Track.

HARTFORD, Sept. 8—(A. P.)—With clear skies overhead and the ground fast drying out, the Connecticut state fair entered upon its third day today which was in reality the opening because of the Labor day rain, which kept most people from the park Monday.

The sun shone brightly all day, aiding the tide of business to the ice cream venders which Monday ran a poor second to the hot dog stands. The grounds were surprisingly dry under foot, considering the great pools of water that took the place of the roadways on Labor day. Tons of ashes, hay and sawdust were dumped on the walks, and by night fall today no one could tell that the day previous had seen such temperamental weather.

Mayor Stevens with 18 other mayors from all over the state attended the festivities today reaching the grounds about noon. The day was officially set aside as City day and the visiting mayors assembled at the municipal building shortly after 11 o'clock. The mayors had lunch at the park, and afterward made an inspection of the various exhibits on the ground. The display at the state department building was of special interest to these men who had police and administration problems to work out in their own cities. Mayor Stevens expressed regret that Mayor Fitzgerald, of New Haven, was unable to attend the gathering because of budget hearings in that city.

As though to make up for the days already lost, the crowds poured into the fair grounds today in a continuous stream which, starting as soon as the gates were opened in the morning continued all day and far into the night. Children were present and in evidence, hundreds of them who had gained admittance legally and otherwise, taking advantage of the last day of freedom before the opening of the schools tomorrow. Swings swung and merry-go-rounds went merrily around laden with children making a frantic effort to squeeze the greatest amount of pleasure out of the few remaining hours.

The races postponed from Labor day were run off today on a rather heavy track, drawing a large crowd, which judging by the amount of noise, overlooked the dampness of the track in the excitement of the races. An elaborate vaudeville performance, staged in front of the grand stand proved an added attraction, and a band which played continually between races made the afternoon complete for those who follow the horses. A shooting exhibition which included knocking off oranges that were thrown in the air formed part of the show which took place while the horses were warming up and a trapeze performer, who would have discouraged the most enterprising insurance company, executed about seventy five above the crowd. Several vocal selections by Dorothy Root, an opera singer, who is reputed to be able to "beat the band," completed the vaudeville program.

The judging of the cattle continued today and awards were given out in Dorel Hall. Superintendent Boulter, of the Goodwin estates succeeded in leaving few firsts for the other contestants, especially in the field of hot house exhibits. Another floral display, which burst forth in full glory today, was the little railroad crossing station, a replica of the one kept by Miss Mary Malloy in Forestville, and tended by that lady in person at the fair. The black and white crossing sign and the little house are complete, surrounded by flowers and looking very trim and neat, the object being to show how attractive even such a utilitarian thing as a crossing station can be made when the keeper so desires.

Almost lost in the great industrial building but still creating considerable interest, is the exhibit of the state board of education for the blind, which is under the direction of Miss Susie Todd, of New Haven, and Miss Ina Reed, of this city.

The display included many articles manufactured by blind people in their homes, such as trays, boxed basket work and wicker stands. Among the chief contributors to the exhibit are Ira Rathburn, of Mystic, who although blind and deaf has turned out some remarkable articles in reed and wicker. Some of the things were sent in by people who are not only blind, but also crippled and the work of one contributor, who has been confined to her bed for 10 years, is worthy of mention as much for the skill in execution as for the difficulties under which the contributor worked.

PROGRESS OF MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—(A. P.)—The principle of the direct primary came to the fore in New York mayoralty campaign today, one week from primary day.

Senator James J. Walker, the Tammany candidate who is attempting to win the Democratic nomination from Mayor John F. Hylan, for the ninth time in as many days of speech making called upon the mayor to declare whether he will withdraw from the race or run as an independent candidate if defeated at the primary polls next Tuesday.

Mayor Hylan maintained silence while his campaign headquarters refused to concede any possibility of his defeat in the primary selections.

Senator Walker reiterated his intention of abiding by the primary results. He has repeatedly said he would support the Democratic ticket if he is defeated.

It was said in Tammany circles that John H. McCooney, Brooklyn leader supporting Hylan, would attempt to persuade the mayor to make known his position at one of the large mass meetings winding up his campaign in Brooklyn Friday night. Senator Walker and Governor Smith chief supporter of Walker, will speak in another part of Brooklyn the same night.

A statement from Mayor Hylan today promised district leaders who are opposing his redesignation by the Democratic party that he had no personal feeling against them.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL FOR AUTOMOBILE FATALITY

BRISTOL, Conn., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Wayne Gilbar, of Newell avenue, this city, was arrested late today and is being held in jail here without bail, pending investigation by the prosecuting attorney into the death, early Sunday morning, of Harry Marcinek, of Plainville. Marcinek died as the result of injuries sustained when struck by an automobile in Forestville, while he and a companion were walking the five miles to Plainville. After Marcinek had been knocked down, the driver of the car which hit him, sped away.

Two of Gilbar's brothers, Bert, of the same address, and Leonard, of Hartford, and Clement Violette, of Hartford, owner of a car which Gilbar admits he was driving the night of the accident, are being held as material witnesses. The four who had been to a dance in Farmington were returning to Bristol about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, they say. Police say that they admit hitting something in the vicinity of where Marcinek was killed, but they believed it was a dog. An examination of the car which they had used was said to have shown that a front fender and the radiator had been badly dented.

PRIMARIES FOR TOWN OFFICERS IN MANCHESTER

MANCHESTER, Sept. 8—The republican and democratic primary for the nomination of town officers was held today with 2,437 of the 5300 registered republicans voting and 282 democrats. Of the twelve candidates for town clerk on the republican list, Samuel Turkington received 465; Miss Hattie Strickland 301 and J. H. Johnston 273 votes. S. E. Johnston, in the contest for the nomination for three year term as assessor received 369 votes to succeed himself.

In the democratic primary only one race developed, that for registrar, Lewis Breen received 128 votes and Walter W. Cowles 45.

ALLEN B. LINCOLN TALKED TO TEACHERS IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 8—(A. P.)—The foundation of character is the main business of the schools, State Representative Allen B. Lincoln, said in an address at the gathering of nearly 1,200 teachers and principals of grammar and high schools at the opening of schools here today.

Opening with a general meeting this morning, the teachers were addressed by Rev. James Grant, on "A hospitable mind, or the teacher's mental attitude." Superintendent of Schools F. H. Leeba followed with a short talk.

Mr. Lincoln spoke at noon. The following is taken from his address:

"If you will reflect upon the present status and operation of the four great social institutions of this republic, and of this city, as of every corporate community, namely, the home, the church, and the government itself I think you will realize that amid the upset conditions of recent years, the schools have functioned more nearly and more efficiently to their purpose than the home the church or the government. • • •

"After all, the foundation of character is the main business of the schools. The business man may not expect much knowledge of business methods from the youth who enters his office or store or factory, but he may rightly expect a willingness to learn and to do, with loyalty and faithfulness.

"The personal influence of the teacher is likely to make a deeper impression than the class work.

"It is of vital importance for the schools to realize that moral training is a science as exact and effective as mathematics, in essential principles and results, and as necessary in preparation for business and for sound citizenship as training in mathematics. It will not do to neglect moral teaching in the Sunday school. It is a lamentable fact that with a few notable exceptions, the Sunday school is not functioning today as a determining influence in civic character. • • • Little children must be taught the fundamentals of character: Honesty, truthfulness the lessons of the golden rule."

GOV. TRUMBULL DID NOT SEND STATE POLICE TO WILLIMANTIC

HARTFORD, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Commenting on the statement of President Patrick F. O'Meara, of the state federation of labor in New Britain criticising his attitude in the Willimantic strike, Governor Trumbull said he did not order the state police to Willimantic. The department sent men there, he said, without being requested to do so by him. The governor said he had been in conference with officials from the federation on the strike settlement question.

Superintendent Robert T. Hurley of the state police tonight also said that no request or order had been received from the governor regarding the strike duty of the state police at Willimantic. "The governor did not request that the state police go to Willimantic," the superintendent said. "It was necessary that we go on duty there when we did—and we did."

ANOTHER RAID MADE IN BOSTON'S CHINATOWN

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Boston's Chinese district, under close surveillance since recent flares in Tong hostilities, was subjected to another raid this afternoon when 11 men were arrested for gambling.

The police claimed that they arrested the Chinese when games of "Pow" and "Pan-Tan" were interrupted, and said that they seized $300 in money from the tables.

WILLIMANTIC

At St. Joseph's church, Tuesday morning, Eugene E. Curran of Prospect street and Miss Winifred A. Moriarty of Windham Road were united in marriage by Rev. Henry E. Quinn, pastor of the church. Hundreds of friends and relatives attended the ceremony and the nuptial high mass, which was sung by Rev. Father Quinn. Miss Magdalena R. Moriarty, sister of the bride was bridesmaid and Lester Gelinas, a cousin of the groom, was best man.

The bride wore a French gown of orchid georgette, with picture hat of a corresponding tint. She carried a prayer book of mother-of-pearl. Her bouquet was of white Killarney roses with shower of lilies-of-the-valley. The frock of Miss Magdalena Moriarty, the bridesmaid, was of coral Elizabeth crepe and her picture hat was of black velvet. She carried an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses. At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party and attendants motored to Hartford where a breakfast was served. After a two weeks' honeymoon journey, Mr. and Mrs. Curran will occupy a newly furnished home at 166 Prospect street.

Mrs. Curran is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moriarty of 148 Windham Road. She is a graduate of Natchaug Grammar, Windham High and the State Normal schools and for several years has been a successful primary teacher in Natchaug Grammar school. Mr. Curran is the son of Mrs. Fannie Curran of Prospect street. He has gained popularity through his activities in social and fraternal affairs and is connected with a number of civic organizations. Following his return from overseas service in the medical department of the A. E. F. he became a partner in the firm of Curran & Flynn, druggists. Guests from out-of-town who attended the wedding came from Cleveland, Ohio, New York, Providence, R. I., and Boston, Mass.

Vice-President James P. Bath was in charge of the weekly luncheon of Willimantic Rotary Club, Tuesday noon, in the absence of President John F. Ahern, who is on a vacation. In view of the fact that several of the members plan to attend the Fall Rotary Conclave at the Hotel Griswold, Eastern Point, next Tuesday, it was voted to omit the regular noon luncheon. Members not planning to attend the conclave are to report at the Y. M. C. A. office at noon for roll call. Song Leader Doc Jones enlisted the services of Ellison Smith, John Pickett, Henry Standish and Rev. Arthur Wheelock for a pleasing round of old-favorite selections. John T. Quinlan was at the piano. Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock was given a welcome, following his return from an absence of several weeks. Others greeted were James B. Fullerton, who has been camping in northern Maine and James P. Mustard, who visited the Maryland shores and Delaware. It was voted that the chair appoint a committee of three to cooperate with other organizations in lending assistance to sell stock for a proposed new addition to the Willimantic Industrial Company building. Special States Attorney Howard Bradford of Putnam was a guest of the club.

Albert Stygar of 19 Main street, Joseph Makora of 49 Brook street and Frank Nyzek of 42 Ash street charged with assault and battery on Frank Leiss of 79 Ives street pleaded not guilty to the charges when in police court Tuesday morning. They were arrested Monday, following a general mixup at the Makora home. Leiss, who is an employe at the American Thread Company, states that he was invited to Makora's place and upon his arrival there was set upon by the three men. His face was severely battered and he displayed a highly discolored left eye. An additional charge of selling liquor was held against Makora on complaint of Leiss, but this was nolled. Deputy Judge Rusell A. Andrews found all guilty and imposed fines of $30 and costs in each case. Nyzek and Stygar were required to pay $23.13, and Makora, $25.13. All three appealed to the Windham County superior court and bonds of $500 were named and furnished. Leiss claimed that he went twice to the Makora home Monday and purchased liquor. The last visit was in the afternoon and after the three men had assisted him in drinking a pint of liquor which he had purchased from Makora, they accused him, giving him a severe beating before he was able to make his way out of the house. Officer Bombria stated that in answer to a call to quell a row at Makora's home he found the plaintiff outside the house, bleeding from wounds in the face and neck. Makora said that Leiss came to his house and tried to buy liquor, but was told by witness that he was not in that kind of business. Leiss returned later for the same purpose and had an argument with Stygar. Makora warned Leiss to stop his vile language in front of the small children in the house, but the latter persisted and after a second warning Makora ejected him from the house, gripping him by the collar and pushing him out, but not striking plaintiff. He said that none in the party had had an liquor. Nyzek said that he came to Makora's house shortly before Leiss was ejected. Neither he nor Stygar participated in the act and he saw no violence in the way of striking the plaintiff. Stygar's story was the same as told by the other witnesses. Recalled to the witness stand Officer Bombria said that although he could not say that Makora was intoxicated, he was positive that Nyzek and Stygar were under the influence of liquor. Leiss said that he went struck him, because he had returned to work in the thread mills. Prosecuting Attorney H. S. Goucher asked for a second penalty in an effort to check the wholesale assaults committed out of feeling arising from the strike situation.

Mr. and Mrs. Hector Gaudreau of 17 Ash street observed their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home Saturday and entertained a number of friends and relatives at a social and lunch. They were married September 3, 1900, at Notre Dame church in Central Falls, R. I. They received many gifts of silver and money on their anniversary. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Cyril A. Lamoureux, their daughter Juliette, Mrs. Joseph Caoutte, Bona Gingras, Miss Agnes Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gaudreau, Hormisdas Gaudreau, Miss Deriba Gaudreau, Edilyse Gaudreau, Miss Jeanette Gaudreau of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Etien Ducharme, Mr. and Mrs. Dieudonne Ducharme, Mr. and Mrs. Aimee Laplante, Aimee Laplante, Ernest Laplante, Ernest Tessier, Joseph Ledoux, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gaudreau of Pawtucket, R. I., Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Ducharme, Valmore Ducharme, of Manville, R. I., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chapignig, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reneau, Mr. and Mrs. Olivier Benoit of Whittinsville, R. I., Eugene Chapignig of Providence.

Therese Florence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lechaire, Florence died early Tuesday morning. The funeral was held from the parents home, 50 Jackson Place in the afternoon at two o'clock. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

There is local interest in the arrest of George Riley, 21, of Capitol avenue, Hartford by the vice squad and of his sentence to one year in jail, Saturday when found guilty of a charge of living on the wages of prostitution and soliciting. According to the vital statistics at the office of the Windham town clerk George L. Riley, 20, then engaged as an automobile painter in New London married Annette Lussier, 19, of this city, August 28, 1924. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Papillon. It is alleged in the charges that Riley induced his wife to accept attention from other men for pay. Her case is being continued for investigation by the probation office.

The board of registrars, A. Linn Weatherhead, and Thomas A. Shea were in session at the town building Tuesday to receive applications from men and women desiring to be made voters before the coming town and city elections. This was the last opportunity offered applicants and a good sized number responded. Later, the board of selectmen and the town clerk will be in session to administer the oath to voters.

Frances E. Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wells S. Wilcox entertained little friends Labor day, her fifth birthday. White and pink flowers adorned the dining room. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilcox assisted by Mrs. A. Dodge and Mrs. George Robertson. The birthday cake was made by Miss Florence Jones. Present were: Eleanor Castello, Ruth Service, Barbara and Olive James, Evelyn and Alma Hickey, Sally Foss and Betty Wilcox.

There were questionings eyes on Main street Tuesday morning, when Officer Grant Bombria, of the police department, was seen walking up and down the main thoroughfare holding a small child in his arms and entering in his whims in a genuine fatherly manner, although it is known that the officer is still a happy bachelor. It developed that he was only performing one of the varied duties of a police officer. The child wandered to his side in tears and he toted it around the street until he located its mother.

That an unusually low mortality rate is prevailing here was made known Tuesday when figures showed that on March 9, last, twenty-two hundred operatives of the American Thread Company walked out on a strike, but apparently not to their doom, for but two deaths have occurred in their ranks since that day and many of the strikers have seen anywhere from 20 to 50 years of service in the mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon I. Brindamour entertained over the holiday Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brindamour and family, Miss Alice Pilde, Roy Richards and Arthur Comeau, all of Lynn, Mass., Leo Dumas of New Britain, Miss Marguerite Burke of Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lowe and Homer Brindamour and George Murphy of Hartford and Albert Brindamour of Detroit, Michigan.

R. E. Jones, poultry specialist of Connecticut Agricultural College delivered an address on "Preparing Pullets for Winter Production" at the egg-laying poultry institute district meeting held under the auspices of the Tolland county farm bureau in Vernon Hall, Columbia, Tuesday evening. The second address of the evening was by Miss Hutchinson, of Andover, on the subject entitled "I Saw on the Prairie Wide Trip."

Mrs. Susan T. Sullivan of the Natchaug School faculty and her daughter Miss Louise have returned from a motor trip to the Catskills and Adirondacks and in Canada, returning through the New England states.

Sheriff Charles A. Gates transferred Frank Linke, alias John Budniski, Robert Langevin and Leonard St. Laurent from the county jail at Brooklyn to the state reformatory at Cheshire Tuesday. The three were convicted during the present term of the Windham county superior court.

For the second time this year, someone has taken the bulbs in the trolley waiting station at The Ridges.

This (Wednesday) evening the Democrats gather for their annual caucus to nominate town officers. Thursday evening everybody will gather for a special city meeting to vote on recommendations for sidewalk and street building. Friday night will bring the annual Republican town caucus.

Dinner guests in Eastford Labor day included from this city: Mr. and Mrs. George S. Elliott and daughter, Miss Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gates, Mrs. Helen B. Avery, Mrs. Henry B. Lincoln, Dr. and Mrs. A. V. Segar, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Simonds, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight E. Abel, Judge and Mrs. George E. Hinman and daughter, Miss Virginia, Mrs. Eliza Williams and Mrs. Carrie Kemp.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clouthier have disposed of their property at 393 Valley street to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bachert.

What appeared to be an attempted break was discovered over the week-end in the silverware department of the H. C. Murray and Chronicle Printing Company buildings on Church street. Pieces of the wooden gate at one end of the alleyway had been broken off. The police state, however, that the gate was partly smashed some time ago.

BRACKETT GOLDEN WEDDING AT SOUTH WILLINGTON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 8—Representative and Mrs. William H. Brackett celebrated their golden wedding at their home in South Willington Labor Day when friends were entertained at a reception in the afternoon and evening. Mr. Brackett has been an office holder in the town for many years. He represented Willington in the Legislature in 1887, 1889, 1921, 1923 and 1925. He has been justice of the peace for twenty years, from 1891 to 1911; treasurer of the town of Willington from 1905 to 1921; first selectman from 1911 to 1925; and has been a deacon of the Baptist church, now the Federal church, for thirty years. As a boy Mr. Brackett first worked in the bleach room of the Gardiner Hall Jr. Thread Company at South Willington. For forty seven years he has been overseer of the spooling room. For forty-four years he has been a member of Uriel Lodge of Free Masons, being its master for a decade. Mr. Brackett was born in Woodstock Valley, August 14, 1854, a son of Orville and Harlot Main Brackett. He married Miss Annie Brownlee, at Tolland. Mrs. Brackett is the daughter of John and Barbara Steel Brownlee and was born March 31, 1855, at Lasser Dee, Ireland. She came to this country when eighteen. Their only child, George Brackett, died November 25, 1905, leaving his wife, Mrs. Lena Korper Brackett and a daughter, Miss Hazel Korper Brackett, a student at Connecticut College for Women.

Bulletin: The lawsuit which was brought against Moses B. Haddad by Solomon F. Haddad was settled out of court; as after I explained to him his mistake he withdrew all charges. I did not owe Solomon F. Haddad money. The $2,000 I hold for him is repairs on the restaurant he agreed to pay for before I repaired some for him; and if he vacated the restaurant it was to be left in the same condition as when he entered it. He vacated same and now I have repaired the property and all charges for same will be declared from the $2,000 which I hold for him. He has now agreed to all the arrangements and has accepted the offer to pay all damages without going to court.

MOSES B. HADDAD.

WESTERLY

The September session of the Westerly Town council was held Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, having been postponed from Labor day. There were present Council President Campbell, Councilmen Morrison, Rossi, Nichols, Smith and later in the session Councilman Utter, together with Council Clerk Whipple and Solicitor Ferguson making the only absentee Councilman Fowler.

Commander Archibald H. Davis of Bayberry Ridge, Watch Hill, appeared before the council stating that he was chairman of a committee named at the meeting of the Watch Hill Fire district meeting, the other members not present being Dr. John Champlin and Frank W. Coy, relative to garbage thrown into the waters of Little Narragansett Bay at Watch Hill, saying that it constituted a nuisance if not a menace to health. He said that when a new yacht comes in a man goes out to it from the Watch Hill Yacht club, to inform those aboard that there is a can for garbage at the club house dock. The question before his committee was how to get authority to compel the boats to use the facilities provided. The duties of the harbor master had been looked into and it had been decided that his powers covered only the movements of boats. He wished the council to enact an ordinance to cover the matter. President Campbell doubted the jurisdiction of the town council over the waters of the bay. While the council admitted that the condition was bad at Watch Hill where after week ends wheelbarrow loads of refuse could be picked up along shore, the matter was referred to Town Solicitor Ferguson to determine the method of procedure.

Roy Hitchcock asked the council to favorably consider the traffic signal beacon which had been set at the juncture of Elm, Granite and Broad streets on a sixty day trial basis. He was informed that the police committee of the council would consider the matter and it is understood it will be purchased for the use of the town.

Engineer A. L. Leon of the Westerly highway commission spoke to the town council on the condition at the Leonard House on Main street, where the outlet sewer pipe of the place had a 2 1-2 foot drop into a catch basin surface water drain and when it filled up caused a stench and a $40 expense to the highway department every time the cap stone was taken off to clean the place.

The condition at the corner of Railroad avenue and Canal street, where surface water collects and where on Monday his department had burst several lengths of suction pipe in its endeavors to pump the water away. Here it is reported that sewage from the Chester block and property on Railroad avenue finds its way into this catch basin pocket and the outlet pipe is stopped up.

The third place spoken of to the council by Engneier Leon was that at 37 Beach street where the sewer from the property is discharged into the drain at the entrance to the old street car barn property. All these places have a nauseating stench and are said to be menaces to health. These property owners where there is a sewer installed are to be given legal notices to connect with the sewer or be liable to a penalty of not over $30o fine and 6 months in jail.

Action on the town's acceptance of $700 for the care of the Vars burial plot is to be further investigated by the council.

Permits to Joseph F. Grills to hold two boxing exhibitions in September was voted referred to the Westerly Police Committee.

The matter of granting licenses to Watch Hill store keepers and the arrival of itinerant venders with two day sales at Watch Hill and other places was a perplexity for the council; although the necessity of action this year was decided as not needed the possible employment of a detective on following years was considered.

Plats and profiles of Melrose Heights, owned by the Maynard Land company of Providence, having the approval of the Westerly highway commission and the Westerly Zoning board, were voted accepted.

A deed was received from Franc W. Coy Real Estate company to land on Park avenue, having the approval of the superintendent of the Westerly Water Works was voted accepted so that sewers could be continued and laid over that stretch.

Milk licenses were voted Charles F. Bulghtman and A. and P. stores.

A quit claim deed to that portion of the White Rock bridge, also the approach located in Rhode Island, was voted accepted with Attorney Ferguson to make the proper agreement, it being understood that the former deed to the Westerly highway commission was to be destroyed as received from Receiver R. W. Perkins of Norwich, of the Shore Line Electric railway. In connection with the work of tearing out the old electric road equipment it was voted that invitation be sent to Mr. Perkins to meet with the Westerly highway commission and president of the Westerly town council to close up the affairs.

The report of Chief of Police Thomas E Brown showed 30 arrests for August.

Health Officer Dr. Samuel C. Webster's report showed one case of typhoid fever reported.

Westerly's public school year begins this (Wednesday) morning when some seventy-five teachers, engaged by the Westerly school committee, Thomas Perry, chairman; Edgar P. Maxson, clerk and Daniel F. Larkin, under Superintendent Willard H. Bacon, begin the fall term.

An American Red Cross Regional conference is to be held this (Wednesday) morning at the Ocean House, Watch Hill, with the Westerly Chapter of the American Red Cross, Miss Lucy M. Crowley, executive secretary. From the number of acceptances received the attendance of interested workers from all sections of Rhode Island will aggregate nearly a hundred. From the Newport chapter will be present some of the workers who assisted at the time of the Mackinac steamboat disaster in Newport harbor, August 4th. Executive Secretary Helen Greenhalgh of the Pawtucket chapter, which did excellent work at the time of the disaster will also be present and details of the work done will be given.

Following is the program:

11, Address of Welcome, James M. Pendleton, chairman Westerly Chapter; 11:15, American Red Cross Public Health Nursing, Miss Malinda Harvey, assistant director, Red Cross Nursing Service, National Headquarters; 12, Junior Red Cross and other services, James T. Nicholson, assistant to vice chairman, National Headquarters; luncheon 1-2:30.

Afternoon session: 2:30, Roll Call, Curtis E. Hill, chairman, Roll Call, Providence Chapter; 3:15, Home Service and extension to civilian population, Mrs. Corrine H. Teller, executive secretary, North Brattleboro Chapter.

The marriage of Miss Madeline R. Riley and Delo J. Robertas was solemnized at the Church of the Immaculate Conception Monday morning at 8 o'clock, Rev. Father Vincent officiating. The bride was dressed in white satin trimmed with lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Virginia Riley, sister of the bride wore a yellow satin frock and large yellow satin hat to match. She carried pink tea roses. Fred Roberts was best man. Martin Spellman sang during the mass. After the wedding a breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding trip will be through Boston and over the Mohawk trail. After their return they will make their home at 17 Prospect street, West Side. The guests present from out of town were John M. Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Goodwin and son George of Gardner, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Perenl of Wrentham, Mass. Mrs. Roberts received many beautiful presents.

Saturday morning at 8 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Miss Mary A. Driscoll, daughter of Mrs. Grace S. Driscoll of Tower street, was united in marriage with James M. O'Brien of Hartford, Conn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Vincent, S. M., and he also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed. The wedding marches were played by Mrs. Frank Ahern, and during the mass, Martin H. Spellman sang a hymn to the Sacred Heart and Gounod's Ave Maria. Miss Livona Hampson of Westerly was the bridesmaid, and Edward Eames of Hartford, was best man. The bride wore a gown of white georgette over satin, trimmed with Spanish lace. Her veil was held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Her bridesmaid wore yellow georgette over charmeuse, with hat to match. She carried garden flowers.

Following the ceremony at the church, a breakfast was served to relatives at the Elm Tree Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien left Saturday afternoon on a trip to New York city. Mrs. O'Brien's traveling suit was of navy moire twill and she wore a black velvet hat.

Upon their return they will make their home at 45 Tower street.

The funeral of Walter Hazard, who died Friday at his home, 26 Dayton street, was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services were held at the home and burial was in the First Hopkinton cemetery. The bearers were John Whitford, Edward Simons, William Gardner, Alwood Gardner, Tyrom Whitford and James Robinson. Mr. Hazard is survived by his wife, two sisters and a brother.

W. J. Laughlin returned to Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y. Sunday afternoon after a week's vacation visit with relatives in Westerly and Pawcatuck.

Richard Greenway of Philadelphia was the Labor day guest of Westerly relatives and friends.

Joseph Crowley, a Pullman conductor in the New Haven railroad, was the week end guest of Pawcatuck and Westerly relatives and friends.

Miss Dorothy Lincoln returned to Westerly Tuesday morning from Hartford, where she was the Labor day guest of Oliver Hanson and daughter, Mildred, of Oakland avenue.

Peleg Briggs was a business visitor in New York Tuesday.

Master Robert Thomas returned Tuesday from his Pawcatuck home to resume his school duties at Mystic Oral school.

Miss Elizabeth D. Pendleton of Stonington and Westerly has returned to her home in Stonington, from a week's vacation visit at Union City, N. J., and New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Service and daughters Ethel and Elsie, of Central Falls, R. I., were automobile guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. William Senior, in Pawcatuck.

Miss Mildred York has returned from a vacation visit at Sugar Hill, N. H.

Mrs. Robert H. Farnham has returned to Westerly from a week's visit with Senator and Mrs. J. Eugene Littlefield on Block Island.

Fred S. Opie was a business caller in Woonsocket, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mitchell were week end automobile visitors in Boston.

Pawcatuck Supernumerary Police Patrolman E. A. Kenyon while going to New London Monday afternoon was thrown out of the automobile in which he was making the trip with two other men on business, when the automobile overturned. Officer Kenyon was thrown so that he struck one of the other men and suffered a badly bruised and scratched face and nose. He was taken to a nearby house in Noank where the mishap occurred, and a doctor who was called found that no bones had been broken. The other men also suffered bruises and cuts.

A bald-headed eagle was bagged by George Elmer Leonard Sunday forenoon near Chase Hill. The eagle was observed near the highway and was pursued by Mr. Leonard with a gunny sack which he successfully placed over the bird's head. It was captured and brought to Westerly, where it now occupies a cage in Wilcox park. The wing spread measures more than four feet and it is supposed that the bird was stunned when captured.

Speaking for Superintendent W. H. Bacon of the Westerly School Committee, Town Solicitor Ferguson told the councilmen that contract for the transportation of school children to White Rock had been given N. F. Tuckerman and that Tuesday morning it was learned from the Mooney buses that Watch Hill school children would not be taken by the Mooney busses unless at full rate fare if the White Rock contract was not given to them. Superintendent Bacon came into the council meeting and said that Tuckerman had agreed to take the school children a year ago at $1,200, and at that time the Mooney bus price was $2,000. The school committee and Mooney busses split the difference and they were paid $1,600. Councilman Smith said that the council had made a mistake in "backing up" the Mooney busses. President Campbell said that the Mooney busses had to be given some support, or there would not have been any bus service. Councilman Rossi said that if he had children to go to school he would prefer that they ride in the better type Mooney bus, but thought that the Mooney busses ought to be able to provide as cheap transportation as the Tuckerman busses. It was finally decided that it was a matter for the school committee to adjust.

It is expected that this (Wednesday) morning when acting under their contract from the Westerly School Committee, the Tuckerman busses start with pupils for the White Rock school. Mrs. Mooney will instruct her lawyer to proceed against Mr. Tuckerman, as she understands that there is an injunction against busses being operated in conflict with the franchise given her by the Rhode Island State Board of Public Utilities. It is also said that both Superintendent Bacon and Mrs. Mooney have been to the Utilities Board in Providence.

A vote was passed confirming the borrowing of $50,000 at 4 per cent interest by Town Treasurer James M. Pendleton, issuing notes therefor to the Sayles estate for the same, September 1, 1925 and due March 1, 1926, and there was considerable discussion about the rate charged for the town's money.

Complaint was received about the cesspool at the comfort station at Watch Hill. Councilman Nichols informed the council that dry sand had found its way through the stone wall and that there was no present need of attention until the end of the season.

An argument was precipitated over the bill for "Wall & Co., on system, $580.00," and the other bills of the month for police amounting to $466.61; Waterworks bills $2,478.91; Sewer bills, $5,562.03; Poor department bills, $604.-36. And the other town bills.

Councilman Farquahr Smith asked where the money was coming from to pay the Wall bill. It was first thought that it could be taken from the "miscellaneous account, budget balance," but there was not enough money left to pay the bill out of this fund, there being but $203.97 remaining.

Councilman Smith asked Councilman Utter where the figures "$35,000.00, Dunn's corner school," and "$40,000.00 Elm street school" in the amounts set up as valuation for these school properties on the Wall & Company statement were obtained from, as it could readily be seen that the figure for the Dunn's corner school did not seem reasonable. Councilman Utter told him that they were dealing in "costs" figures but that it was not clear to him how they were arrived at.

Councilman Smith asked Mr. Utter if he knew how much the accounting system had cost to date, and Mr. Utter thought $2,500, but Mr. Smith told him that the figures to date showed $3,500, and before they were through with it he thought the total would run up to $5,000.

Councilman Nichols thought that the valuation of the Dunn's corner school had been arrived at "by guess, and that the guess had been bad."

Other figures picked out of the Wall statement was $535,000. Waterworks valuation" and it was stated that Superintendent McKenzie of the Westerly Waterworks Department had told the councilmen at a previous meeting that the waterworks plant was 'over a million dollars."

One of the councilmen characterized the accounting system as "all poppycock." But Mr. Utter said that when the statements as prepared by Wall & Company were shown to business men of Westerly, who understood such matters, they said that the results were most gratifying to them.

It was voted to take the appropriation from the miscellaneous fund and to show a deficit

Town Solicitor John Ferguson, Jr., called the Council's attention to the figure in the statement of Wall & Company of Providence, showing the town worth $2,000,000., which he compared with the $6,500,000, worth, as considered in Rhode Island legislative acts.

Heat Made Britons Thirsty

LONDON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The recent prolonged spell of hot weather most unusual for England, has been responsible for an unusual consumption of lemons. In four weeks 52,500,000 of the fruit have been consumed in Great Britain. That quantity represents the imports for June and is 15,000,000 more than the usual monthly consignments from Italy.

Berlin Tries Street Bus

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The first London bus has arrived in Berlin. It is introduced as an experiment and should it prove satisfactory, 200 of them will be put in operation.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Supt. William E. Parker of the schools in Killingly and Brooklyn had a very busy day of it Tuesday, going about as sessions opened for the year from one school to another and managing to visit them all, excepting the school at South Killingly.

Late Tuesday afternoon Supt. Parker had practically a complete check-up on the enrollment for the year. There are few changes from the enrollments of last year, except it be larger at the Danielson graded school, where approximately 325 pupils are registered this year, though exact figures were not available Tuesday evening. At Dayville, there are 145 pupils, 214 at Goodyear, Attawaugan 92, Ballouville 66, East Killingly 57, Valley 12, Center 62. It was estimated Tuesday evening that the attendance at South Killingly would be about 16. In Brooklyn, there were 126 at the East Brooklyn school, 51 at Brooklyn Center, and 13 at the Gilbert school.

A new high record of attendance was established at Killingly High school Tuesday upon the opening of a new school year, the enrollment reaching 248. This likely will be increased a few as late enrollments are made during the present week.

The freshman class is the largest in the history of the school, numbering 94. The nearest approach to this number by any entering class was in 1911, when 90 entered. This was prior to the development of Plainfield High school and during a period when numbers of pupils came to Killingly High from the communities of the town of Plainfield.

The congestion complained of at the high school last year is aggravated by the new influx of pupils. There is such pressure for space that the assembly hall will have to be given over for class room purposes, Principal Ernest R. Warren said Tuesday afternoon.

The constantly increasing enrollment at the high school the past few years has forecasted the need of enlarged facilities, such as likely will be recommended by a special committee of the town when it makes its report within a few days.

Music lovers of Danielson and all the surrounding communities are assured a treat on Thursday evening of this week when Diggitt's Popular band, including a number of well known musicians in Goodyear, Attawaugan, Dayville and Danielson, is to give a concert on Davis Park. The program that has been arranged includes standard works of well known composers, some of the popular song hits, selections by a male quartet, with band accompaniment, and instrumental solos. The program follows:

Dunlop March (R. B. Hall); Don't Bring Lulu (Brown-Henderson), male quartet; Overture, Golden Crescent (Miller); Lizzie Polka (Hartman)), with cornet solo triple-tongued by Joseph Diggitt; Ukelele Lady, male quartet with band accompaniment; Yearning (Burke) male quartet with band; March, Frank and King's Comedians (Hill); cornet solo, Amatie (Cary) Mr. Benoit soloist; Overture, War Songs, (Mackie-Beyer); If You Knew Susie (Sylvia), band and male quartet; trombone solo, The Old Home Down On The aFrm (Halow), Joseph Green, soloist; Let Me Call You Sweetheart, band and male quartet; Washington Post March (Sousa).

Mrs. Amy Bates, 90, died Monday at her home in East Killingly, where she had been a resident for years. Mrs. Bates was born in Killingly January 26, 1835, a daughter of George W. and Delliah Russell Randall, and excepting for a short time had lived her life at East Killingly. Mrs. Bates had been an invalid for more than ten years, during all of which time she was tenderly and lovingly cared for by her aged husband, who was in practically constant attendance upon her. Mrs. Bates leaves her husband, Thomas T. Bates, to whom, as her second husband, she had been married more than 60 years, a daughter, Mrs. W. E. Harrington, of Danielson, three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Young America may still be depended upon to do the unexpected. A lad of no more than 6 demonstrated this, when he sauntered in Dowe's store, his hands thrust deep into the pockets of his blue denim overalls and gave his order for a daily paper for which he had been sent. The clerical staff went pop-eyed and felt none too comfortable when the youngster nonchalantly hauled a live green snake out of one pocket while engaged in the hunt for the pennies to pay the paper bill. Stuffing the snake back in his pocket, the little chap took his paper and went away whistling. Apparently there was nothing unusual to him in carrying around a live snake. There was an echoing whisper of surprise from inside the store as the door closed after this prodigy and his strange pet.

A valuable cow out of the herd of registered Guernseys of the Wauregan company lost her life in a peculiar accident at Wauregan Tuesday morning. Several of the cows had gone from the pasture where they were feeding into a nearby lot, to feast upon rowen. The fact was reported to the Wauregan Company farm and prompt action taken to get the cows out of the field and back to where they had been pastured. One cow, starting to run, stepped on two rotted boards covering an old well and broke through, her hind quarters going down while she struggled with her fore feet to keep from sliding into the water. A rush for a rope to tie around the cow, that she might be hauled out proved a fruitless effort, for the cow slipped down into the well and was drowned before effective assistance could be given her. The carcass later was removed from the well.

Killingly is on the eve of caucusing to name candidates for town officers. Though the caucuses of the republicans and of the democrats are scheduled for the latter part of this week, there appears to be no very general interest as yet. It is unlikely that there will be many or important changes in the lists of candidates the parties will present. It is believed that First Selectman John A. Gilbert and Napoleon P. Giagras, republicans, and Patrick Riley, democrat, all will be named to succeed themselves on the board of selectmen.

Throughout the town of Killingly public schools opened Tuesday morning for another year of work. St. James' school opens this (Wednesday) morning.

Very considerable losses to outdoor programs and enterprises arranged for Labor day were sustained because of rain.

Henry McDermott of Woonsocket has been a visitor at his home in Danielson.

Miss Hester Zander of Indianapolis has been a visitor here with Mr. and Mrs. George LaBonte.

Relatives from Danielson were at Baltic to attend the funeral services for Raymond Jodoin, who had many friends in this territory.

At Hopkins Mills, ten miles east of here, the Fred Smith general store was totally destroyed by fire Sunday morning. This was an old established business. The stock of merchandise was general and a filling station was a feature of the business.

At Moosup, good progress is being made on the construction of an addition to the mill of Aldrich Brothers and on tenement houses being built to care for additional operatives to be employed at the plant.

After the holiday lay off, work was resumed on the state highway construction contract between Danielson and Elmville Tuesday. It is anticipated that this contract will be completed by mid-November.

Repairs will have been completed at the Brooklyn fair grounds before the opening of the annual exhibition during the present month.

A total of five accidents in which motor cars figured were reported as having occurred in this territory over the holiday period.

Mrs. Leonard Richards and son, who have been spending the summer in England and Wales, are expected to return to Danielson during October.

Henry C. Neilson returned to his home in Hartford Tuesday after spending the holiday period with friends in Danielson.

Tuesday, for the great majority, marked the end of the general vacation season of 1925, and of buckling down to work in earnest through the fall and winter.

The rain of Labor day in this section amounted to nearly an inch, and was a fine contribution toward the replenishment of streams.

Members of Rose of Lima council K. of C., have received cards announcing the the forth coming election of officers.

Tuesday afternoon at his home on the West Side, funeral services for Lelano P. Parkhurst were conducted by Rev. C. J. Armstrong of the Danielson Baptist church, with numbers of relatives and friends in attendance. Burial was in Grove street cemetery at Putnam. The bearers were John E. Allen, J. Herbert Briggs, Alanson B. Colvin and Henry Anderson. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

JEWETT CITY

The Ashland Quartet of fancy divers, Louise Segal, Mildred Monde, Henry Vincent and Roland Gumet, were numbered among the many outdoor attractions forced to cancel programs Labor Day owing to the downpour of rain. They were to give an exhibition at the Rocky Point Auditorium and were on the same bill with the national champion Longfellow, and metropolitan champion Gazelle, who were to give a special exhibition along with a troupe of professional diving girls. Ethelda Bleitrey, world's champion female swimmer was also scheduled for a special exhibition. With such an array of talent it throws considerable distinction toward Jewett City to be represented on such a program. Hal Chase had his new time also special added attraction star, Eugene Shurey, nine year old "boy buriesque," especially groomed and prepared for this exhibition. When the sad news of Miss Bleitrey's telephone communication was conveyed to Geney, he clearly demonstrated why he is a colossal headliner by successfully subduing the ready moist offerings, though with as little effort. Had the clouds abated been as efficient in this direction the local natatorial exponents would without question be pretyy well recognized as a headline attraction by this date.

FRIENDS SAD AT PARTING, THOUGH ONLY POLICE DOGS

DANIELSON, Sept. 3.—Twenty-one police dog puppies, whose happy days have been spent on the plains and hillsides of their native Palisade kennels up at East Killingly, bade each other a tearful farewell and soulfully wailed their sorrow, Tuesday afternoon, when they were sent away from each other to live for evermore apart. Of course, the puppies didn't cry exactly like a baby cries, but their pitiful little faces attested the sadness of the hour.

With this sentimental background, it may be related that the police dog industry has assumed proportions not fully sensed by many not in close touch with it. This may be indicated by citing that the playmate of one little puppy shipped to a town in the Province of Ontario will have his home in Sunny Florida. Another of the puppies was destined for Kenneth Square, Pa., another for Kenosha, Wis., others for Camden and Vienna, Me., mother for New Hampshire and one or two for New York city. The value of the 21 puppies, all thoroughbreds, was given as $385. Henri L. Baer, owner of the Palisade kennels, has within the past few years shipped police dogs to about every nook and corner of the United States, also to Cuba and Porto Rico. He is known the country over, wherever there is interest in police dogs.

MR. AND MRS. A. C. GREENE REACH DIAMOND WEDDING

DANIELSON, Sept. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Greene observed their 60th wedding anniversary, in a quiet way, September 6th. Only four of their children were able to be with their father, Charles B. and his wife of New London, George M. and his family from Ashland, Mass., Mary E. from Cambridge, Mass., and Alice L., who has been caring for her parents the past two years. Rev. William Beard, and his brother from New York, called to offer congratulations as did also a few other friends.

They received gifts of flowers, boxes of candy, money, a fine wedding cake of large proportions, beautifully decorated, letters, and postals.

Dinner was served at one o'clock and all returned to their homes in the early afternoon.

The 24th of this month, Mr. Greene will observe his 96th birthday.

HANDS
across the years

When HARRISON was President in 1889, dainty hands found perfect protection . . IVORY offers your hands the same protection TODAY

Ladies of the '80's! What quaint clothes they wore! But they were oh, so careful about their hands—hands were a "confession" if they showed signs of housework.

Today matters are different. Clothes are far simpler, far more beautiful. And busy hands, capably performing a dozen different tasks each day, are an important factor in the modern woman's charm.

But never red, roughened hands! Such hands are still a "confession"—a confession of carelessness and laxness. Because they are unnecessary! As unnecessary today as in the Eighties.

For it is not the work that hands do which makes them rough and red—it is the soap used in the work.

You wouldn't dream of washing your hands with harsh soap. Yet that is exactly what you do when you use such soap for dishwashing and clothes washing.

If you will change to Ivory for these purposes, you will never have to worry again.

Ivory protects your hands with its purity and gentleness, just as it protects millions of lovely complexions. Yet it cleans perfectly. Its rich, safe suds make dishes sparkle and leave clothes sweetly clean.

Cost? A few cents extra each week, as against the saving of your hands and your clothes, and of the first-aid lotions and creams needed to counteract the effects of harsh soap.

Ivory is made in four convenient forms for every household cleansing task. Use it exclusively for your hands' sake.

SOUVENIR HUNTERS.

Acts were committed following the wreck of the Shenandoah which fall little if any short of vandalism. There were those who could not refrain from pulling the broken airship to pieces for bits as souvenirs and they paused not to realise what they were doing or how much of a handicap they were placing in the way of the investigators. There were even those who must have realised that they were deliberately stealing when they took away the barograph and other scientific apparatus from the control station of the ship, but think of the state of mind of those who actually robbed the bodies of the dead, taking away the ring and wrist watch of the commander, and committing perhaps other similar looting.

There are those who cannot deny themselves the chance to collect souvenirs. There is such a thing as the harmless souvenir gatherer, but there are also those who care nothing for the havoc they cause so long as they are able to obtain some piece of material to connect with some important event or some appalling disaster. They even carry out their hobby to the extent of destroying property and think nothing of carrying away things which are valuable and recognized as the property of others.

Vandalism which removes property, valuable or otherwise, as in the case of the Shenandoah before anything has actually been thrown away is not so different than that type which bring about the destruction of other kinds of property for spite. There is no more excuse for it than there is for the occasional outbreak resulting in the smashing of gravestones, the wrecking of flower gardens, the painting of monuments and other similar depredations.

The souvenir hunter may be with us to stay but when it comes to acts of destruction, the removal of important evidence and the rubbing of those who have been killed in such a disaster the acts are more than can be condoned. Anyone who knows the difference between right and wrong ought not to be involved in such business.

WHERE THE INNOCENT SUFFER

Widespread horror has been expressed over the double crime which was undoubtedly committed by a demented youth in New Jersey, but what seems equally appalling is the fact that the mental condition of the young man was known. He had tried to kill his father, and yet he was permitted to have his liberty, go where he pleased, have an automobile and be a menace to the general public.

It can be fully appreciated how the parents feel and the attitude of his mother in deploring the terrible damage her demented son has done and continually repeating "If it could only be undone." That it cannot be is fully hardened murderer. He will be given that it wasn't realized what might happen sufficiently in advance to cause the proper steps to be taken to prevent it.

Conditions which have been disclosed since the tragedy show that the young man's condition was no secret. He had been under treatment and yet in spite of the fact that he had a tendency to attack others he was given the very chance he should have been denied to prey upon the unsuspecting.

There are too many instances where such a course is followed. Reluctance to confine individuals can be appreciated, but waiting to do so until they have taken the lives of others is too often practiced. What is done cannot be undone, but it might have been prevented had there not been the willingness to take the chance that he would commit no crime, when it was known that his mental condition was just such as to indicate that he was liable to.

There is no reason to expect that the young man will be treated as a mental defective and kept in return the benefit of the fact that he is understood, but the unfortunate part is that. Had it been done some time ago there would not have occurred the double, cold blooded killing. The need of such action seems to have been required in his case ever since his inclination was disclosed in his attack upon his father. It is another case where the innocent pay for others' negligence.

LABOR DAY ACCIDENTS.

While the rain of Labor day served to keep down the number using the highways it did to a certain degree contribute to the accidents of the holiday by causing wet and muddy roadbeds for the automobilists to negotiate.

But it was not the rain or the wet roaded which caused one driver to violate the rule of the road which warns against trying to pass another car on a hill. In this instance there was the very headon collision which such driving is likely to cause and which the rule endeavors to prevent.

Wet pavements was not the cause of the collision between an auto and motor bus causing the injury of two, nor the reason for one car crashing into another which it was trying to pass. There is nothing to indicate that it caused a light sedan to be drive onto a railroad crossing in front of a locomotive, as the result of which four were killed.

The rain was not the cause of the cutting in which caused the smashing of two cars and injury to three persons at South Deerfield, Mass., nor the arrest of two men in New Haven for nine infractions of the motor vehicle laws.

There is no getting away from the fact that rain makes the roads treacherous. Any driver is aware of that fact and that in itself furnishes adequate reason for the exercise of a greater degree of care in driving by driving slower, by carefully conforming to the rules, by avoiding cutting in or trying to pass on curves or hills. The menace of the slippery pavement is much decreased if there is not excessive speed. Slippery streets in fact carry their own warning and every driver knows it and unless due allowance is made for it serious trouble can be expected to follow. But when there is a display of recklessness in combination with wet and muddy roads trouble may well be anticipated and guarded against.

The Labor day toll was plenty large enough. Whether it would have been larger, or what is might have been, had the day been pleasant is something we need not worry about.

THE AUTO INDUSTRY.

Frequently the question has been asked as to when the saturation point of automobile production will be reached in this country. As those who ask it must realize it is a hard question to answer. From year to year the production is maintained and even increased. It has gotten so that every one in about seven has an automobile of some kind, and yet the demand does not decrease.

According to the national organization of automobile dealers, which has made an analysis of the situation, concerning production and sales, there were in this country on the first of July only about 10,000 automobiles in the hands of the dealers and that the demand threatened to exceed the supply. The situation as they found it was such that had the production of autos been stopped for only one day it would have resulted in the exhaustion of the supply.

More and more automobiles are being bought. Those who have had the fever are joining the ranks of owners. Old cars have to be replaced from time to time and new models always create a desire for them on the part of those who do not have to think of the expense involved. And yet, as might have been and probably was anticipated the lowering of prices has resulted in more satisfactory net earnings for producer and distributor.

This showing in the automobile trade is certainly a most interesting and encouraging one. It displays a healthy condition and it is to be realized that the putting of so much money into this line of business indicates that other lines are making it possible. The automobile is not a toy and the day of motor saturation is not going to be easily foretold.

VIVIANI.

Not an old man in years but through years of experience and service in behalf of his country, the death of Rene Viviani, former premier of France, means a distinct loss to that country, where as statesman, lawyer and orator he had long since made his mark.

Viviani was premier of France at the opening of the war. He was not new to French politics but he was new to the premiership, which he had held but a fortnight before the outbreak of the war. Back in 1892 he made his debut in the chamber and came into notice as a pupil of Jaures, but while he was a socialist he quickly made it clear that he was not of the radical type. He took another course than his teacher and it was evident that while he was rated as a socialist he did not let that overpower his patriotism. His allegiance was first of all to his country. Socialism with him had to take a secondary place. It was in this manner that he devoted his whole attention to guiding the activities of France during the opening year of the war, and it was he who called for unity among the parties of France in anticipation of the struggle which he knew to be ahead. He urged standing together as Frenchmen and forgetting the party differences. Even after stepping out of the premiership he remained in the French cabinet which was followed by other forms of service for his country up to the closing days of the war.

Viviani was a French colonial but a most loyal and brilliant Frenchman whose career has been one of influence and whose death means a distinct loss to that country where his ability has been recognized and respected.

THE SEWING CIRCLE

"I am going to cooking school," announced the young matron with the auburn wave, prodding an eyelet in the garment she was making, and buttonholing it carefully.

"Really?" said the fluffy-haired blond, looking up from concentrated effort on a white net jabot with lace ends. "When did this happen?"

"Last week," said the young matron, "and you needn't grin at me like that, either, Celeste. This is no fad, believe me! I hate pots and pans and ovens and egg beaters and you know it well. If I'd been born with a cooking spoon in my mouth as you were—"

The visiting guest from the south was gazing at the two with puzzled amazement writ large on her face.

"I began to mess around the kitchen at the age of 6 or thereabouts," explained the fluffy-haired blond kindly, "and my mother says it cost her more good cooks than the records will ever show. Then, you see, I had an aunt in Vermont, where we spent our summers, who was one of those original, hallmarked, dyed-in-the-wool New England cooks you read about. She discovered in me what she considered a budding talent, and took over my education, 'you might say. Anyway, I can cook and love to."

The visiting guest from the south eased slightly. "You-all are too funny," she said. "Sometimes I think you northern women actually like to work."

"Hmmmmm," said the young matron with the auburn wave; "one none of us can get maids more than half the time any more, you see—and those we do get can't do much of anything."

A frown threatened on her smooth forehead and she bit off a threat impatiently. "I don't see any use in dodging the facts and their plain conclusion," she said. "It's certainly a part of my job to see that George is properly and intelligently fed, and if I can't hire it done what then? Of course, I know how to make fudge and marshmallow layer cake but we can't eat those for breakfast can we? Hence the cooking school."

She regarded the eyelet for a moment and then she laughed suddenly.

"Since it had to be done," she said, "I decided to do it right, so I signed up in a class for professional family cooks four hours every Thursday afternoon. And, really, girls, you have no idea what a thrill I get out of it. The other members of the class don't know I'm bluffing and one of them asked me the other day if I hadn't better hurry; it was 5 o'clock, she said, and my lady would be mad if I was late. They'd scorn me if they knew I couldn't make a biscuit," she added, frankly, "but you just wait."

The visiting guest from the south was still puzzled, but her astonishment merged at this point into acute disapproval. "You-all are too funny," she remarked again, with a shrug. "We've lived north for a year now and I've only changed cooks once. I never even look into the kitchen, and I'm certainly not going to spoil my hands with housework, I must go now," she added sweetly, "because I have an appointment for facial massage. No, thank you, dear, I never take tea in the afternoon—it's bad for the complexion, don't you think? Au 'voir, mes amies."

The door closed behind her and the sewing circle sewed silently for the space of thirty seconds.

"She's awfully pretty, isn't she?" said the fluffy-haired blond, finally, with generous sincerity.

"Prettiest thing I ever saw," agreed the young matron with the auburn wave.

Ensued another silence. Then, "I dined at her house once," said the young matron, thoughtfully. "No, you needn't glare at me like that, Celeste; I'm not being catty; I'm simply weighing things in my mind. The soup was canned and lukewarm, and the salad was sort of limp and discouraged looking, and the cake for dessert was made in a factory."

She folded her work and reached for her tea with an air of decision. "I'm going down to that cooking school tomorrow," she said firmly, "and register for a full course. Hand me those sandwiches, Celeste."—Exchange.

From Small Beginnings

Roger Sherman, the Shoemaker Signer of the Declaration of Independence

Those who saw a small boy busily at work in a New England shoemaker's shop some 40 years before the American Revolution little thought that they were looking upon an individual who would write his name forever into the history of the American continent. In the small boy, busy with his hammer, they could not see the promise of the man who was to aid in formulating a new government, the man whose plans were to be followed by a nation of over a hundred million people. Every man has the opportunity to make a triumph of this life. If he has the will and persistency to work. Roger Sherman, the little Massachusetts shoemaker working for his father, who was also a shoemaker, did not himself look forward to anything great. The one thing that he meant to do was to do his best in any work. So there he sat at the shoemaker's bench and worked long hours.

Later in life, he was no longer the poorly educated person that he had been, and he was no longer a shoemaker, without influence or power. He was among the leaders of the American Colonies who met in Philadelphia on that fateful day in 1776, when it was proposed to sign a Declaration of independence from Great Britain. He walked boldly to the front and signed his name, thus risking all that he had gained by years of hard study and work. Later still, he aided others in drawing up that great body of principles known as the Constitution of the United States. It was largely his idea that gave the states equal representation in the senate and representation in the house in accordance with population. In all the discussions in the days when the union of colonies was formed into a nation Roger Sherman was a leader. The shoemaker's boy had made himself not a maker of shoes but a maker of a nation. This he had but done by hard work.

When he came to early manhood he left his bench and found active work aiding in surveying. Inspired to do something still better, he read law in the office of an old lawyer and by the time he was 32 had become a lawyer. Being a natural leader, he was chosen to represent his neighbors, and thus at 55 was present in Philadelphia. He held many high offices, and lived until he was 72.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The New York State monument to be dedicated on Gettysburg Battlefield today was designed by Edward P. Casey, an architect and sculptor of eminence, who also designed the New York monument on the battlefield of Antietam. Mr. Casey was born in Portland, Me., and received his education at Columbia University. After graduating in 1888 he went to Paris and spent three years in studying art. Since he settled down in New York City he has executed some of the best commissions yet given in the country to architects and sculptors capable of dealing with the highest type of civic design. He was the architect of Memorial Continental Hall in Washington and the architect for the completion of the Congressional Library Building. The memorial bridge across the Potomac at Washington is still another monument to Mr. Casey's genius as an artist.

Stories That Recall Others

Quick Work

A New Yorker, entertaining a London friend making his first visit to the metropolis of America, took him out to see the big buildings. He marveled at the Metropolitan, admitted it was fine, and asked: "How long did it take to construct it?" On being told, he replied, "We would have done it in London in half the time."

So it went at each building; the same query and the same boast. Coming to the Woolworth building the visitor was frankly surprised, but came back gamely with "How long did it take?"

"D——d if I know," was the response. "It wasn't there when I went home to supper last night!"

Sleeping With One Eye

Johnny, age seven, was an important member of that class Robert Louis Stevenson called the "sleepyheads." His mother always had great difficulty in getting him out of bed mornings in time for school. Johnny's uncle had recently come to their home for a visit. During the war he had lost his left eye and wore a glass substitute. One morning, several days after his uncle's arrival, Johnny's mother had at last succeeded in arousing Johnny. When he finally opened his eyes he remarked, "Mother, do people with one eye get as much sleep as people with two eyes?"

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

IMBROS AND TENEDOS

"Imbros and Tenedos, the two islands that Greece, acting on the decision of the great Powers, restored to Turkey, might be called the gate posts of the Hellespont," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Imbros, the larger, is about eleven miles off the mouth of the strait, to the northwest, and Tenedos is about the same distance south of the entrance.

"As a matter of territory the two islands do not amount to a great deal. The greatest length of Imbros is 17 miles, and its greatest width nine miles. Little Tenedos is scarcely three miles long and two broad. But lying at the entrance to one of most important sea channels in the world, their strategic value is great.

"Greece gives them up reluctantly because they constitute a sort of little Hellenic Alsace-Lorraine. There was great rejoicing when they, with the other Aegean islands came once more under Greek control as a result of the World war, after centuries of Turkish ownership. A partial compensation for the return of Imbro and Tenedos to the Turks is that all the rest of the Aegean Islands, many of them much larger and intrinsically more valuable, remain Greek territory.

"The two sentinel islands of the Hellespont figured in Greek history from hundreds of years before Christ. Pericles planted one of his queer garrison-like colonies of 'cleruchies' in Imbros. Tenedos was one of the most loyal members of the Delian League; the last recorded event in the history of that pre-Christian League of Nations, was a gift of money in 240 B. C. from Tenedos to Athens.

"'Imbros with its olive groves and fig orchards, and its fields of grain, has some value agriculturally. Little Tenedos, aside from its strategic importance, must point to a rich and somewhat romantic past. It was to this little island—if we may believe Homer—that the Greeks withdrew their fleet when they pretended to raise the siege of Troy, leaving the fatal and famous gift horse.

"'Jason—if again we may believe the ancient lore—skirted the little isles as he passed in quest of the golden fleece; and great naval events have taken place in their waters ever since.

"When the Allies in 1915 decided on the ill-fated project of attempting to force the Dardanelles, their first step was to seize Tenedos, then in Turkish hands, and to make it the headquarters for their land forces. Lemnos, only a few miles away, became the naval base. Later Imbros was made a second base for military contingents; and from these two bases the brave Anzacs and their allies went on landing-vessels to the impossible task of seizing the heavily fortified Gallipoli peninsula. From the highlands of Tenedos, where the ancient Greeks may have watched the Trojans accept their wooden steed, allied observers watched the 'Queen Elizabeth,' and her associate superdreadnaughts open their mighty fire on the Dardanelles forts and saw Chanak burn.

"The last interesting event of the war which Tenedos witnessed was the quixotic and fatal sortie of the German cruisers 'Boben' and 'Breslau' which had been cooped up in the straits since early August, 1914. They dashed out of the Dardanelles January 20, 1918 and sank some small boats, but almost immediately struck mines. The Breslau sank near Tenedos and the 'Boben' barely managed to turn around and limp back to beach herself in the straits."

Southampton Attracts Old Line

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 8—Having abandoned this port nearly 50 years ago because of lack of accommodation, the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company intends using it again for almost all its services. The authorities take this as a compliment to their efforts of late years to make Southampton the chief passenger port of the United Kingdom.

Germans Laud American's Talks

BERLIN, Sept. 8—The German press makes favorable mention of a series of illustrated lectures given throughout Germany by George F. Bauer, of the American National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. He spoke on "Highways, the Production of Safety Campaigns."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Buster Bear Gets An Idea.

Some folks will on others live,
They always take and never give.
—Old Mother Nature.

At first Buster Bear couldn't make out just what Chatterer was doing. He didn't see just what it was that Chatterer had in his mouth. He only knew that Chatterer was carrying something up the tree and he felt reasonably sure that that something was something to eat.

"I'll wait and see if he comes down again," thought Buster, and he waited. He didn't have to wait long. It was only a minute or two before down came Chatterer and scurried away as fast as his little legs could take him. Buster couldn't see where he went, but after waiting a few moments, Buster heard those little scurrying feet returning. Then Chatterer appeared, and this time Buster saw what it was that Chatterer was carrying.

"A mushroom!" exclaimed Buster under his breath. "Now what is that red-footed scamp doing with those mushrooms?" He waited until Chatterer had climbed, left the mushroom, and gone for another. Then he quietly moved over where he could look up in that tree. At once he discovered mushrooms wedged into the forks of that tree and he knew that they were put there to dry. Buster chuckled to himself.

"That scamp is laying up a store of good food for the winter," said Buster. "I won't bother him now for I am not hungry, besides, there is plenty of other good food. But I'll just keep this tree in mind. Yes, sir, I'll just keep this tree in mind. About the time I'm getting ready to go to sleep for the winter a dinner of mushrooms will taste first rate. By that time those mushrooms will be dry and sweet. They will be even better eating then than they are now, and they'll be right here waiting for me when other food is hard to find. Yes, sir, I'll keep this tree in mind for my last meal before I go to sleep. This is one of the best trees I ever had. Usually I have trouble in getting that last meal, and usually it doesn't amount to much. With my stomach full of nice, dry, sweet, delicious mushrooms, I ought to sleep well. I hope Chatterer finds over and over so many more, I'll keep an eye on him from now on."

Now Buster was so interested in his day dreams that he quite forgot he was standing in plain sight staring up in that tree. Back came Chatterer and the first thing he saw was Buster staring up in that tree. Chatterer forgot he had a mushroom in his mouth. He opened it to scold Buster and call him bad names, and, of course, down fell the mushroom. Then how his tongue flew! He blamed Buster because he had dropped the mushroom.

Buster said nothing, but shuffled over to the mushroom Chatterer had dropped, picked it up, ate it, and shuffled away quite as much as if no person as Chatterer the Red Squirrel existed. Chatterer scolded until Buster was out of sight. Then he stopped scolding as abruptly as he had begun. A thought had popped into his head. What if Buster Bear had seen all those mushrooms he had stored up in that tree? Chattered sighed. It was a deep heavy sigh.

"I must move them," said he. "It's a big job, but I must move every one of those mushrooms. I never would have another easy moment knowing that Buster Bear knows where they are. It is a great pity that I can't put them away in my storehouse, but they would rot there. I've tried it before and I know."

Down scampered Chatterer and away he ran to make sure that Buster Bear had really gone away. It didn't take him long to find that Buster really had. Then Chatterer raced about through the tree tops, jumping from tree to tree, until finally he found one that suited him. He could get to it from the trees where the mushrooms were without ever going down on the ground. He wasted no time. He moved all those mushrooms. He didn't leave one in that tree where Buster Bear had found them.

"There," said Chatterer, as he put the last mushroom in place, "if that fellow is thinking of stealing my mushrooms he'll have to think again." (Copyright, 1925, by T. W. Burgess)

Japan Honors Movie Stars

TOKYO, Sept. 8—That the Japanese are as enthusiastic about moving pictures and movie stars are the film fans in America was recently evidenced by a prize contest for the most popular Japanese cinema player. The contest was conducted by the Miyako Shimbun of Tokyo, one of the leading amusement newspapers, and the winner, Miss Nobuko Satsuki, received 1,212,553 votes. Both male and female players were eligible. Miss Satsuki is noted for her "vamp" roles.

CHICAGO BOASTS LARGEST MEADOW PARK AREA IN U. S.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—(A. P.) — The largest clear, level grass meadow in any park in the United States is the one in Washington Park here. It has an area of 101.7 square acres, which is nearly one-third of the total area of the park.

The meadow is as level as engineering skill can make it and is covered with a velvet coat of grass. There is space for 250 perfect football gridirons, 125 baseball fields and more than 1,500 tennis courts.

Here Chicago's multitudes find room to "stretch their legs." The meadow is surrounded by shaded walks and pleasure drives, miniature lakes and flower gardens. The famous "Bug Club," an institution unique to Chicago, meets at this spot. Men, women and children of every description gather in groups to listen to soap box orators and demagogues deliver impassioned messages. It is a place where the American right to absolute freedom of speech is unhampered.

Washington Park is the second largest of Chicago's parks ranking next to Jackson, which has an area of 554 acres. More than $2,700,000 has been spent in improvements, plus the original cost of the land. The park has 110 tennis courts, 29 baseball diamonds and two football fields, in addition to 45,000 square feet of children's play ground, 25,000 square feet of wading pools and 1,250 square feet of sand courts.

The closed level space occupying the northern end known as the "meadow," is approximately 2,00 feet wide and 3,000 feet long.

WORLD RADIO LEADERSHIP IS CLAIMED FOR CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 8—Chicago is the radio hub of the world, both in number of Class B broadcasting stations and in superiority of equipment and type of station, declared E. A. Beane, federal supervisor of radio of the middle-western states, with headquarters here.

The city has about reached the saturation point, he said, and with exception of one or two permits already given, it is closed to further development.

Chicago and Illinois now have 45 broadcasting stations of the first class Mr. Beane said. Thirty-seven stations both A and B classes are located in Chicago and a 40-mile radius. Sixteen stations are operated within the city limits.

Twenty stations were put in operation in 1924, a year which Mr. Beane described as phenomenal in growth. The newest station to come on the air here will be WJAZ the Zenith plant.

The city is similarly situated in the manufacturing and distributing field of radio equipment and supplies, Mr. Beane explained. It is the home of seven large radio instrument companies, three manufacturing concerns and upwards of 200 smaller houses.

States with large numbers of broadcasting stations, as shown by the supervisor, are Illinois 45; California 43; Pennsylvania 40; Ohio, 35; New York 33; and Texas 25.

Three hundred 10-cent pieces are made each minute by a coin stamping machine in use by the government.

OBITUARY
Mrs. Charles C. Griswold

Following an illness dating back four months ago, Mary Frances Willey, widow of Charles C. Griswold, died Tuesday afternoon about 12:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Francis C. Harwood, No. 56 Alice St. Taken ill four months ago Mrs. Griswold had borne her suffering with fortitude. Some weeks ago she underwent an operation and for a while in July was able to be up and around the house but complications developed shortly afterwards and she failed rapidly from then until the time of her death.

Mrs. Griswold was 78 years of age and was born in Montville. She spent her early years in Lyme where she received her grammar school education and later graduated from the New Britain normal school. For a while previous to her marriage with the late Charles C. Griswold she taught school. Mr. and Mrs. Griswold were married in 1874 at the Central Baptist church this city by the Rev. John Davies. For the last 34 years Mrs. Griswold has made her home in Norwich. She is survived by an only daughter, Mrs. Francis C. Harwood, with whom she lived. There are also two sister, Miss Jessie A. Willey and Miss Kate J. Willey of this city and three brothers, Edward G. Willey and Herbert Willey of this city and James Willey of Meriden and one grandson, Percival Francis Harwood.

Mrs. Griswold, during her long residence in Norwich, made many warm friends by whom she was highly respected. She was a loving mother and a true friend and neighbor. Her motto was service as she was ever willing to help those who were in need of friendly aid. Her death is mourned by a wide circle of friends who extend their sympathy to the family.

Mrs. Michael H. Donahoe.

At her home in Baltic, Monday afternoon, occurred the death of Anne Jane Donovan, wife of Michael H. Donahoe, following a week's illness. Mrs. Donahoe suffered a slight cerebral hemorrhage, Friday, August 28th, and showed some improvement until Sunday when she suffered a second attack from which she was unable to rally.

Born in Norwich, June 22, 1862, Mrs. Donahoe was the daughter of Jeremiah T., and Ann Conklin Donovan. She attended the local schools up to the age of 12 when the family moved to Tolland. In Tolland about 40 years ago she was united in marriage with Michael H. Donahoe who survives her. For many years Mr. and Mrs. Donahoe have resided in Baltic where she was well known and highly respected by her many friends. Mrs. Donahoe was a member of the Immaculate Conception church of Baltic, a member of the Rosary society, the Connecticut Council of Catholic Women and of the League of Women Voters.

Surviving besides her husband are five daughters, Mrs. Amie J. Gordon of Springfield, Mrs. Thomas L. Ferrow of Meriden, Mrs. John F. Conway of Baltic, Mrs. Louis D. Carroll of Washington, D. C. and Mrs. Maximilian A. Bangs of South Manchester; three sons, Thomas, John and Joseph Donahoe of Baltic, two sisters, Miss Margaret Donovan and Mrs. Julia D. Cotter of Hartford and three brothers, Joseph T. Donovan of Bristol, and William and James Donovan of Providence.

TESTIFY TO SMELL OF KEROSENE AT TRIAL ON ARSON CHARGE

Officials of the Norwich fire department were the chief witnesses in the superior court here Tuesday afternoon against Ralon Yzzo, when he was on trial for arson on the charge that he set fire to his dwelling house on Bromley St., East Side, on the morning of July 29, 1925. The house was discovered on fire on the roof, and the blaze was extinguished by the fire department after it had burned a small hole in the shingles.

Judge Leonard J. Nickerson is hearing the case, State attorney Arthur M. Brown is assisted in the prosecution by Lee Roy Robbins, prosecuting attorney in the Norwich city court. The accused man is defended by attorney Charles L. Stewart.

The trial occupied all the afternoon session of court, by which time the state had concluded its case with the exception of testimony from state chemist Noonan, who will probably be here today. (Wednesday.)

Henry G. Peck, president and treasurer of the building and contracting firm of Peck-McWilliams Co., and vice-president of the Chelsea Savings Bank, testified to the value of the Yzzo house, stating that week before last he visited the house with County Detective Lewis. Mr. Peck put the value of the house at $2,-000. He gave a description of the house, which is a frame dwelling, shingled on its four sides, comparatively new. The roof is not in very good condition.

Charles D. Foster, an insurance agent, testified to insuring the Yzzo house through his office in two policies of $1,000 each in the New London County Mutual Fire Insurance Co. one for $1,000 in the Boston Insurance Co.

State attorney Brown asked the witness whether he had had any prior experience with Yzzo in regard to fires, to which attorney Stewart objected and the point of the admissibility was argued before Judge Nickerson, who sustained the objection. State attorney Brown claimed they could show that a barn on Yzzo's premises had been burned shortly before this fire, for which Yzzo received in insurance money in excess of the value of the barn.

On cross examination attorney Stewart asked the dates of the three policies two of which were issued in May, 1922, and the other in November 1924. They had a mortgage clause payable to Gilbert S. Raymond, trustee.

David J. Kehr, an insurance agent, testified to having issued two policies for $500 each on the Yzzo dwelling in the New London Country Mutual Fire Insurance Co. One policy was issued in December 1922 and the other in January 1923. Each carried the mortgagee clause.

Mrs. Abbie Davis, who lives on Fox Hill, the next house to the Yzzo property, testified that she looked out of her window about 3 o'clock on the morning of July 29, but she could tell little about the fire.

Discovered The Fire.

George J. Alwood of 94 Stonington road an employe of the Conn. Co. testified that he passed the Yzzo house about 3:30 a. m. on the day of the fire as he was on his way to work, and saw a fire on the roof of the house. The fire was burning briskly, but there were no signs of Yzzo or his wife. The witness said he was on a motorcycle and that he turned around and rode back and gave notice to the fire station. Then he went back to the Yzzo house, tried the door, and told Yzzo like the house was on fire when Yzzo looked out of a second story window, Yzzo seemed very much surprised and came out of the house. The witness said that the fire, when he first saw it, was the size of a good sized washtub. The firemen were there, the witness said, when Yzzo came out of the house. He could not tell how Yzzo was clothed.

Deputy fire chief Henry R. Taft of the Norwich department stated on the stand that it was at 3:53 a. m. when the notice of the Yzzo fire was received at the central fire station. The deputy chief ordered out two pieces of apparatus and went to the fire himself. The first he saw of Yzzo was when the man put his head through the kitchen window. Then Yzzo came out. He was clothed in undershirt, a pair of trousers and shoes. The witness said he noticed the odor of kerosene before he went into the house, catching the odor of kerosene in the smoke as he arrived at the house. Deputy chief Taft told of getting Yzzo to show him the way to the attic. Before they got to the attic they were hailed by Yzzo letting down a trap door that led to the cellar. The witness said he noticed kerosene on shingles which the fire had not reached. He took some of the shingles which were subsequently delivered to the chief and then sent to Hartford. The witness identified two shingles which were put in as exhibits. They still have a kerosene odor, the witness said, when he had smelled them on the witness stand.

Odor of Kerosene.

The deputy chief said he thought the fire had been burning ten or fifteen minutes and the odor of kerosene was very strong. The witness told of a bottle with kerosene in it that was standing on a shelf in the rear of the stove. The neck of the bottle was wet outside with kerosene and blackened, he said. Yzzo, according to the witness, said the bottle was used for lightning the kitchen stove. There was no fire in the stove on this morning. The witness said it would have been an easy matter for anyone to push the bottle through the shingles of the roof so as to pour kerosene on the outside of the shingles. Deputy Chief Taft testified to making an investigation at the house later with Chief Stanton and county detective Lewis. Candle grease was found by the detective on the floor under the roof where the fire was.

On cross examination by Attorney Stewart it was brought out that there was a ladder about 40 feet from where the fire was and the ladder was long enough to reach the roof. Two burned matches were picked up by Chief Stanton on the cement three or four feet away from a point under where the fire was. There was a 5-gallon kerosene oil can and an oil stove in the cellar of the house. There were electric wires under the floor of the attic which were about 24 inches from the fire.

To a question on re-direct examination by the state attorney, the deputy chief said it was not possible for the electric light wires to start this fire.

Fire Chief Testifies

Fire Chief Howard L. Stanton, who is fire marshal, testified to investigating the fire with Deputy Taft about 9 o'clock on the morning of the fire. They went to the house where the Yzzo boy let them in. The chief said there was kerosene on the roof for a space 30 inches wide and 5 feet long. The odor was very distinct. The chief produced two burnt matches which he picked up at the end of the building about 15 feet from where the fire was. These, he said, came from about a pint of burned matches which were there. The chief testified that Yzzo told him no one was in the house the night before the fire except Yzzo and his little son. Yzzo said he didn't know anything about the fire, when the chief accused him of setting it.

The chief said the condition of the roof was such that a bottle could easily have been pushed through it, and his corroborated the testimony of Deputy Taft as to the condition of the bottle of kerosene, and the chief also declared that the odor of kerosene was still on the shingles from the Yzzo house.

In his opinion, Chief Stanton testified that his experience and his investigation he was convinced the fire was set from the inside of the roof.

Attorney Stewart conducted a long cross examination of the chief in which he asked the chief whether he had told a reporter for the newspaper that he found matches inside and outside the house. The chief said he thought he had.

To the state attorney the chief said it would not have been possible for any electric wires in the house to have caused this fire.

To a question from Judge Nickerson, Chief Stanton stated that the fire had burned about 24 to 30 inches square on the outside of the roof, but only a small space on the inside.

Capt. Dennis J. Brennan of the Norwich fire department testified to receiving the report of the fire from a man on a motorcycle and of responding to the call. On arriving at the house, they put up a ladder and put the fire out with an extinguisher. The captain told of going into the kitchen of the house and on the shelf back of the stove, the bottle was wet all over with kerosene. The kitchen stove was cold.

Found Candle Grease

County Detective William Lewis followed on the stand and told of being shown the bottle and shingles by Chief Stanton the day after the fire. There was odor of kerosene on the shingles and there seemed to be spots of candle grease on the neck of the bottle. The detective also told of finding candle grease on the floor of the attic, which Yzzo said he thought had been left by his brother who had been doing some wiring. Yzzo told him all the family, except his boy, were away on the night before the fire.

A candle, which County Detective Lewis said Mrs. Yzzo had given him, and scrapings from the floor of the attic were introduced as exhibits through Detective Lewis, who also identified some nails from the roof of the Yzzo house, which he had pulled out with his fingers.

The county detective testified a sworn report which he had received from State Chemist Noonan on an analysis of the shingles, the wax scrapings, the candles and the deposit on the outside of the bottle. The court sustained the objection of the defendant's counsel to the introduction of this report and the state attorney will be obliged to get Mr. Noonan to court.

The witness said he saw a lot of bottles, two oil stoves, and an oil can in the cellar of the Yzzo house.

Two Character Witnesses.

For the accommodation of witnesses for the defense who could not be in court Wednesday the attorney for Yzzo was allowed to introduce two character witnesses the last few minutes of the court session.

These were Edwin J. Edwards, a rural free delivery carrier, and Bruno Pedace, a shoemaker, living on East Main street, both of whom said that the character of Mr. Yzzo was good. They had both known him for over 15 years.

DOUBLE BIRTHDAY PARTY AT PRESTON CITY

A most delightful party was held last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Geisthardt, Preston City, in honor of their two children's birthdays, Barbara being five years old, August 30 and Charles Arthur was two on the 28th.

Twelve little friends were present enjoying games, followed by a dainty lunch of sandwiches, cookies, birthday cake, punch and ice cream. Lastly a peanut hunt took place on the lawn. Mrs. Geisthardt was ably assisted by Miss Dorothy Bennett.

Barbara and Charles Arthur received many beautiful gifts from their friends.

Arthur Edward Dawley whose birthday occurred August 20, also received gifts and a birthday cake.

The rooms were tastefully decorated as were the tables and cakes to carry out the blue and yellow color scheme.

ACCUSED OF RECKLESSNESS IN DRIVING AUTOMOBILE

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 8.—Harry L. Cochrane, 32 Antwerp street, Brighton, Mass., a sailor attached to the United States Revenue cutter Beale, was arrested tonight by Traffic Officer Howard Sloan charged with reckless driving. He will be arraigned in the police court tomorrow morning and in default of a surety on his bonds of $100 his automobile is being held for his court appearance. Cochrane was driving on Bank street and, according to Patrolman Clarence Wells, was driving at an excessive rate of speed and refused to stop when the officer signaled him to do so. Patrolman Wells communicated with the police station with the result that the automobile was observed passing the corner of State and Bank streets a short time later, where Officer Sloan was on duty and the arrest of Cochrane followed.

SUMMONED TO APPEAR IN COURT IN SALEM

An automobile operated by Miss Beatrice Smith of Naugatuck and one operated by Sherwood N. Sisk of South Manchester were in collision at Frazier's corner, Salem, about 7:30 Monday night when Miss Smith is alleged to have failed to given the proper signal when she suddenly stopped her car.

The accident was investigated by State Policeman Whitmarsh and Miss Smith was ordered to appear in the Salem town court on September 11 to answer to charges of violating the rules of the road. Very little damage was done.

GOING TO PLEASANT VIEW, INJURED AT COLCHESTER

Jack Hunt, of Elm terrice, Manchester and Miss Mildred Daley of Vernon avenue, Rockville were injured in an automobile accident in Colchester Monday morning. Mr. Hunt with a young woman friend and another couple from Rockville started in a closed car for Pleasant View, R. I. to spend the day. While passing through Colchester another car came from a side street and ran into their car, smashing it considerably. All four passengers were thrown clear of the car. Mr. Hunt received a bad scalp wound and Miss Daley was badly cut with glass.

Enjoyed Adirondacks Tour

Dr. and Mrs. Albert J. Sisay have been on a tour through the Adirondacks, stopping several days at Fraternaland, a Masonic camp on Paradox Lake near Ticonderoga, and returning by way of Lake Champlain and the Green Mountains.

"NERVES" AS ALIBI FOR DISAGREEABLENESS

Nervousness is used as an alibi to cover a multitude of disagreeable traits, according to a diagnosis of the great American malady made by a physician studying the effects of habit upon health. While real nervousness is the result of disease, he finds that the majority of people given to talking about their 'nerves' are merely ill-tempered and self-centered, and take small pains to cultivate control or any degree of patience.

"Too many people have fallen into the bad habit of fairly exploiting their 'nerves', and secretly must consider all the consequent disagreeable expressions, displaying lamentable lack of poise, as marks of distinction. Else why would they continually talk about being 'so nervous'?—in fact so persistently do they refer to this unpleasant condition they seem almost to brag about it," said Dr. Chester T. Brown, associate medical director of the Prudential Insurance Company.

"The only person justified in having a nervous breakdown is the one who has undergone a severe strain mental or physical, over a prolonged period," he continued. "His reserve strength has been exhausted. His nerve cells have broken down. His nerve control is lost as a result. Even his mentality may suffer a setback.

"But the average person falls back on 'nerves' as an excuse for every known mean or foolish act they perform. Men are as guilty as women; perhaps more so. Everything that is contrary to the nervous person's self-approved convictions 'gets on his nerves', and excuses him for displays of bad manners or selfishness. Few have any shame because of this lack of self control.

"Of course when a person is overfatigued his self control is lessened. The natural reactions to his primitive instincts are quickened. Inhibitions break down. It is the kind of thing the person who does intensive brain work and exhausts his nervous energy quickly, must learn to expect and to guard against. He is the person who is supposed popularly to be the 'chronic grouch.' As a matter of fact he could not pursue his mental activities if he had not acquired a goodly amount of poise.

Worry, too, will exhaust nervous energy. People should learn to control their imaginations and not permit them to conjure up the worst outcome of a trivial trivial trouble. Worry serves no purpose and incapacitates a person to cope with the real difficulties he may have to meet. Worry encourages the imagination to distort facts and inflict no end of punishment upon the victim.

"The test of character is meeting and overcoming difficulties, great or trivial, as we meet them with as little fussing and complaining as possible. To the credit of the American man, and equally the American woman, I have to say that they do this in the big things. It is the everyday, petty irritation that upsets their balance.

"Avoid annoyance whenever possible. Pleasant surroundings and agreeable companions have a beneficient influence on the mind and consequently on the body. Have them whenever you can. But when you are placed in an unpleasant position, if you cannot extricate yourself, submit at least passively, if you cannot, or do not choose to do it gracefully. Do not let your nervous force be so easily depleted. Ragged 'nerves' are no more becoming than ragged clothes."

COAST DEFENSE TRAINING WAS AT COST OF $100,000

Summer training activities at the island coast defenses at the eastern end of Long Island Sound this year cost about $100,000 according to an estimate given by Colonel F. K. Ferguson, commandant of the coast artillery defenses of Long island sound, stationed at Fort H. G. Wright, Fishers Island. Lieutenant Colonel J. R. Musgrave, commandant to the summer training and anti-aircraft camp at Fort Terry, Plum Island, estimates that the cost of training 387 M. T. C. students this summer will approximate $17,000. The transportation of troops is one of the most expensive of items, costing about $100 a man. This expense alone runs into thousands of dollars. Seventy cents a day is allowed each man for meals. Hundreds of thousands of pounds of coal have been consumed by steamers of the army quartermaster corps plying between here and the island forts. One vessel assigned to target towing work consumed more than 245,000 pounds of coal during July and August.

With only a few hundred thousand dollars allotted for Long Island coast defense work it has become extremely difficult, say the officers, to maintain efficiency and keep within the limits of the coast defense appropriation. Tracer bullets used in machine gun target practice now cost 12 cents each. During summer target practice these tracer bullets have been used at a ratio of one in every five. These Browning machine guns fire 600 shots a minute and have been in steady use all summer.

Because of the lack of funds the steamers General John E. Hyde and General Nelson Pickering have already been tied up for the winter. The former had barely concluded its summer schedule work when its supply of fuel oil was exhausted, without the money to buy additional oil. It is expected that the General Richard Arnold, now making the harbor runs, will soon be tied up, leaving but one steamer, the General Nathanael Greene, for transportation to and from the islands. The curtailment of transportation facilities is regarded as a serious annoyance by the army officers and personnel at Fishers Island. Although the Fishers Island Navigation company operates a boat between New London and the island during the winter months, it is sometimes impossible to make the trip, due to bad weather or the necessity of making repairs.

PROVIDENCE SLOOP IS SEIZED AS RUM RUNNER

NEW LONDON, Sept. 8.—While proceeding through Block Island sound late this afternoon, a fishing sloop believed to belong in Providence, was seized as a rum-runner by one of the fleet of destroyers attached to the United States Coast Guard sectional base at this port. The seized craft, which was captured about 20 miles off Block Island, was brought into port about 8 o'clock and moored at the state pier. The craft has about 800 cases of rye and Scotch whiskey and several cans of alcohol aboard. The crew will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Russell H. Carpenter tomorrow.

At the United States Coast Guard sectional base no information would be given out because of the inability to locate Capt. Young, officer in charge at the pier.

WOMEN READ PAPERS AT MISSIONARY MEETING

The woman's home and foreign mission circle of the First Baptist church met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. C. Dunbar on Ann street, when Mrs. Frank Lathrop read the scripture and offered prayer in opening the meeting.

It was voted to have the circle do its part towards the jubilee anniversary in 1927.

Mrs. Grace E. Willey was in charge of the programme for the afternoon, which included papers by Mrs. J. J. Parsons, Mrs. Frank P. Church, Mrs. Minnie Amburn, Mrs. Louis A. Wheeler and Mrs. La Rue Bliven.

The circle voted to have the monthly collections go towards the jubilee anniversary fund.

CELEBRATED THEIR SEVENTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. David T. Lyons observed their seventh wedding anniversary Tuesday evening by entertaining about 60 of their friends at their new home, No. 38 Penobscot street. An orchestra concert, radio numbers and vocal selections followed by a supper provided a most enjoyable evening for all. At the residence of Mrs. J. B. Cyrs there was a splendid concert programme by an orchestra consisting of Viola White, piano, Irene White, saxophone, Harold White, violin (all of Willimantic), Lester Carter, saxophone and Mr. Moore, trap drums. Vocal selections were given by Mrs. Delima Donovan, Mrs. David Lyons, Robert Woodmansee, Mrs. Robert Woodmansee, and Mrs. W. G. Ladd of Hartford entertained with a vocal selection and also a splendidly executed dance number.

Radio numbers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyons added to the attractiveness of the evening's programme. Nearly 60 guests were served supper there, the menu consisting of potato salad, assorted sandwiches, rolls, coffee, cocoa, grape juice, fruit punch, ice cream and fruit. Assisting Mrs. Lyons in serving were Mrs. Donovan and Mrs. W. G. Ladd of Hartford. Guests were present from Norwich, Willimantic and Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyons were united in marriage seven years ago, September 5th at Fort H. G. Wright. They have five children, Mary Elizabeth, Thomas Joseph, Edward Francis, John Magnell and Clifford D. Lyons. Mr. Lyons is an ex-service man and is well known in Irong Norwich people. When the war broke out he enlisted in the local national guard and served with the old 56th artillery in France. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lyons are well known and popular with their many friends who wish them many more years of prosperity and happiness.

ASK FIFTH AND SIXTH GRADES AT THAMESVILLE

The town school board at its September meeting Tuesday evening in the school superintendent's office received a petition from a number of Thamesville people, asking for the establishment of fifth and sixth grades at the West Thames Street school. The children in that section of the town go to the Elizabeth Street school for these grades. The board took the petition under consideration and referred it to Edward J. Graham, superintendent of schools, for investigation and report.

The school board also took under consideration the situation at the Groeneville grammar school where the large enrollment will require two additional teachers. The classes will have to be re-arranged and the new teachers will be appointed to take care of the extra large number of pupils this year.

The new Bishop school on the East Side, along with the other town schools opened Tuesday morning for the fall term. The new school accommodates children from the 1st to the 7th grades and there is additional room for special classes. The school board received and acted on regular bills and transacted other routine business matters.

EAST LYME ON TRIAL ON LIQUOR CHARGE

The case of Wasily Slepicka of East Lyme, twice before found guilty of violation of the liquor law, went to trial in the superior court here Tuesday morning before Judge Leonard J. Nickerson.

Slepicka is charged on three counts, namely, actual sale on August 15, second actual sale on Augst 29, and reputation. Attorney George Curtis Morgan, counsel for the accused, pleaded for a continuance, stating that certain defense witnesses from New York had not arrived but his plea was denied by the court.

Witnesses who testified were Walter Daniels of New York who told of a sale of liquor to him, George Robert Deane, second selectman of East Lyme, George Henry Clark of Niantic, Constable Charles Tubbs of Niantic and Lester George Clark of Niantic.

The trial was concluded at the morning session of court except for one witness whom Attorney Morgan may produce this (Wednesday) morning.

664 TO BE MADES IN TOWN DISTRICTS

A total of 664 applications from to-be-mades had been received by the registrars of voters when they closed their session Tuesday at 6 p. m. This number was made up of 339 men and 325 women, who had shown interest enough to take the initial step in becoming qualified as voters for the town election.

The following shows the figures in the six districts, which are compared with the figures of to-be-mades in 1923:

6	27	24	19	31	46	55
Totals	339	489	325	456	664	945

The board for making voters will be in session at the town hall on Saturday September 19 and Saturday, September 26 from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., standard time.

The board of registration consists of the following: First district, Tyler D. Guy, Cornelius J. Down

ATHLETICS TURN BACK THE SENATORS AS THEY BREAK LONG LOSING STREAK

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8—Tuning up for their battle for international tennis supremacy this week end, all the members of the United States and French Davis cup teams practiced today on the turf of the Germantown Cricket club, where challenge round matches take place Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Fresh from their sensational triumph over the Australians in the inter-zone finals at Forest Hills, the French aces, Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste, accompanied by Captain Max Decugis and Jacques Brugnon, substitute, arrived from New York late in the day to take the courts soon after the quartet of Americans, Tilden, Johnston, Richards and Captain Williams, had finished a brisk workout.

France's hopes have been lifted to a high peak by their advance to the challenge round for the first time since the wearers of the tri-color entered the Davis cup competition, in 1903. Captain Decugis was bubbling over with optimism as he watched Lacoste and Borotra in practice.

"We are not over-confident of victory," said Decugis, "but Rene and Jean will give a good account of themselves. They will give these Americans a good fight."

While America's lineup is believed to have been decided upon, with Tilden and Johnston bearing the singles burden and Richards and Williams seated for the doubles task, no official selection has yet been made. The singles lineup will not be disclosed officially until tomorrow.

Tilden apparently has recovered entirely from the lame shoulder which had bothered him for some time while all four of the Americans declared themselves in excellent condition.

FIVE NATIONS ENTERED IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Fifty-American players and 12 foreign stars, representing five nations, will compete in the men's National Tennis championships on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis club at Forest Hills next week.

Eight Americans and six foreigners were seeded in the draw today. Seven of the first ten ranking stars are entered.

The American seeded players in the order of their ranking include the defending champion, William T. Tilden 2nd, of Philadelphia; William M. Johnson of San Francisco; Vincent Richards of Yonkers, N. Y., Howard O. Kinsey of San Francisco; R. Norris Williams, 3nd, Philadelphia; B. I. C. Norton of St. Louis; Dr. George King of New York and Wallace F. Johnson of Philadelphia.

The foreigners who are seeded in the draw include Jean Borotra of France; Rene La Coste of France; Manuel Alonso of Spain; James O. Anderson of Australia; T. Kozuda of Japan and J. Brugnon of France.

William T. Tilden, 2nd, National Champion, drew a fellow townsman, Carl Fisher, in his first round match while William M. Johnston was paired with Horace S. Orser of New York. Vincent Richards will have a Japanese star as his first round rival in H. Iwasaki.

In all probability the semi-final matches will see America's four Davis cup stars in action, Barring upsets Johnston and Williams should reach the semi-finals in the upper half while all critics concede that Richards and Tilden will play in the semi-finals in the lower half.

DAZZY VANCE FACES TWENTY-SEVEN BATSMEN

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 8.—(AP) Dazzy Vance, of the Brooklyn Robins, king pitcher of the National League, came within a lone hit of hurling a perfect game in the first section of a double-header with the Phillies today. Only twenty-seven batters faced him in the nine innings as he shut out Arthur Fletcher's club in a pitching duel with Pierce, 1 to 0.

The lone bingle off Vance's delivery, a clean single to right Chick Hawks, came with one out in the second inning. Wrightstone, the next batter, filed to Brown and Hawks was later thrown out trying to steal second.

Wrightstone's hoist was the last ball hit out of the infield by the Phillies until the ninth, when Fonseca lifted to Cox and Wendell filed to Brown. By fanning six batters, Vance increased his season's strikeout record to 204. The victory marked his twenty-first triumph this year.

Vance's brilliant pitching was considered all the more remarkable by baseball men because he mounted the pitching slab after, only two days' rest.

TIGERS TAKE TWO OUT OF THREE FROM ST. LOUIS

MISS COLLETT ENTERS FINALS AT SARANAC LAKE

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 8— Glenna Collett of Providence, R. I., former national and present French women's golf champion, and Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., school girl star, today reached the final round of the Adirondack women's championship.

Miss Collett eliminated Mrs. J. J. Thompson of Siwanoy, 5 and 4, while Miss Orcutt defeated Mrs. C. M. Daniels of Buffalo, N. Y., 4 and 3.

CENTRAL PRACTICALLY SURE OF FIRST PLACE

The Centrals strengthened their hold on first place in the Twi-light League by defeating the Nuggets 6 to 1 last evening in a four inning game at the Duwell field. Gauthier allowed the Nuggets three hits and one run, all coming in the fourth inning. Guillet, first up in the fourth, singled through the short-stop and stole second on the first ball pitched Lessema. He went to third on Lesseman's sinfield hit. He held third while Smith threw out Raille and scored on Bill Liberty's single George Madden ended the short rally by taking three beautiful cuts at the ball.

The Centrals scored their six runs in the third inning. Smith doubled to right and continued to third on Greene's wild throw to second, and scored on Gauthier's single. Gauthier scored on L. Dugas double and Yerington's single. Dugas scored and Yerrington advanced a base when Liberty made a balk. Yerrington went to third on A. Dugas's single. When a play was tried on Yerrington at third Dugas went to second. Both scored on Dona's long double to right. Dona scored when Eddie Murphy crashed one against the cash customers in left field for two bases. Thus ended the scoring for the Centrals. Score:

Tonights Game.

Tonight the E. C. P. and Yantic teams will play for the last time and it should be good from the word go. Both of these teams are traveling at a fast gait proving real penneat contenders. The E. C. P. at the present are in third place only a game and a half behind the leaders and should they win the remainder of their games and the East Ends and Centrals should make a slight break it would put these boys representing the Power Co. pretty close to the top. These boys during the season have given the Centrals a hot race and it was only last week after they went into a tie with the leaders that the fighting Saints took a fall out of them dragging them down a couple of pigs.

Either Simcox or Dickson will pitch tonight for the Power Co. and Shefflott or Cormier will catch. Ed. Harris or "Chick" Stanley will be on first, Joe Barry on second, Ringland at short, Davis on third and Clabby, Lester Hall, and Harold Hull will play the outfield.

The Yantic team under the wing George Gaskell of late is proving real dangerous, only two weeks ago holding the East Ends to a 2 to 2 tie and with "Gill" Jones working right tonight are likely to cause considerable trouble for the Power Co. The remainder of the lineup will include Burns behind the bat, Sweet at first, Hoxie on second, Hewitt at third and Rathburn at short with Marchant, Hoxie and Williams in the outfield.

The game tonight will start at 6.15 and should it be a clear night the full seven innings will be played. Last nights game was supposed to start early but Madden's boys from Jewett City had trouble getting down and it was close to seven before the game started but four full innings were played before darkness fell as a result of fast playing by both teams.

Immediately after tonights game a meeting of the managers will be held in regards to playing off postponed games and also to try to get the games started at 6 p. m. nights.

BROOKLYN DEFEATS GOODYEAR IN FAST GAME

Sunday afternoon at Goodyear the Brooklyn Town team took a hard fought game from the locals by a score of 3 to 1.

Goodyear's only hit and run came in the eighth, Forcier scoring on Tetreault's scratch hit. Brooklyn hit safely eight times, Nealson getting a circuit drive.

The feature of the game was the double play, W. Page to G. De Forest to G. Herr to C. Page. This play came as Tetreault tried to steal home and Holleran second and was one of the fastest double plays ever seen at the Goodyear field. The score:

MOOSUP WOOL-MEN BEAT JEWETT CITY ALL STARS

On Sunday the American Woolen team of Moosup defeated the Jewett City All Stars. The game was a close one up to the 8th inning, when the Moosup team staged a late rally and when the dust settled 5 runs had crossed the rubber and the game was sewed up. Murphy, in the box for Moosup, pitched a heady game allowing but 6 hits and striking out 14 batters while his mates gave him perfect support The feature of the game was White's catching and his three base clout in the 8th inning. PLAYERS ROUNDING INTO SHAPE FOR DAVIS CUP MATCHES LAST OF WEEK

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.— (AP)—Connie Mack's Athletics, battling as though their pennant chances were still far from hopeless, turned on their conquerors, Washington, today, captured the third game of the series, 6 to 4, and checked their losing streak after sustaining twelve straight defeats.

While the Mackmen battered away successfully at the right-hand offerings of Alex Ferguson, veteran recently acquired from Boston, Slim Harris held the Senators scoreless for seven innings. Only to be knocked out of the box in the ninth, when Washington scored three runs and threatened to over-take the Athletics, until Sammy Gray checked the rally.

The victory reduced to eight games the margin of the League leading Senators with the final game of the series scheduled tomorrow. It was the first triumph for the Mackmen since Aug. 23, when they started to crumble in the West, and only their fifth victory in the last twenty-two games played.

Until the eighth inning today, Harris baffled the Senators, allowing only three safe hits, two of which were scratches. He was found for one run in the eighth and was replaced in the ninth Gray after Veach, batting for Peck, scored Goslin and Judge with a smashing double. Ruether, who had walked, scored Washington's fourth run on Adams' sacrifice fly but Gray put a speedy ending to the uprising.

Harris received credit for the victory, despite his failure to last, and now has won five of the six games the Athletics have taken from the Senators all season.

The Athletics bunched their nine hits off Ferguson in the earlier stages of the game to pile up a commanding lead. A crowd of 15,000 saw the game. The score:

YANKS WIN TWO GAMES AND RUTH GETS HOMEF

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 8.—(AP)—The Yankees took both games of a double-header from the Red Sox today, 5 to 4, and 7 to 4, Babe Ruth regained his batting stride, hitting a homer off the left hander, Ross, in the second game after gathering two singles in the opener.

Ben Paschal clouted two homers in successive times at bat, both off Ross, each ball clearing the left field wall. Two players made their big league blow, shortstop Mark Koenig, for the Yanks, and our Joe Dugan der Simon Rosenthal for the Sox. he score:

NORWICH WOMAN DRIVER CRASHES AGAINST A TREE AT NEW LONDON

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 8—An automobile, owned by the "Drive Your Own Car" company, a Main street establishment, and driven by Mrs. Margaret S. Taber, 110 River avenue, Norwich, wife of one of the officials of the company, was wrecked early this morning on Broad street, when the car crashed against a tree. So terrific was the bump that the entire front of the car was demolished. None of the passengers sustained injuries of a serious nature. The car was allowed to remain in the highway until 8 o'clock this afternoon, when the police issued orders to a garage official to cause the machine to be towed to storage.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel has caused the operators' licenses of William O. Wheary, stationed at the state pier; Joe Hassan, 565 Bank street, and J. B. Monahan, a member of the crew of the U. S. 13, to be suspended.

Mary E. Tinker, Annie M. Keeney, Caroline B. Felt and Frank L. Bragaw have sold a dwelling and small parcel of land on Williams street to Frank and Catherine Bernacki.

Luke Martin, former well known contractor residing at 22 Montauk avenue, was struck and painfully injured by an automobile last night on Bank street. Although Mr. Martin did not suffer any broken bones, he will be confined to his home indefinitely because of the nature of his injuries, and his advanced years. Mr. Martin was attempting to cross Bank street, near the corner of Shaw street. Rain was falling and when an automobile owned and driven by Adolfo Luzietti, of Fog Plain road, Waterford, came along the drivers vision was somewhat interfered with and as a result, Mr. Martin was struck, being hurled to the pavement and rendered unconscious. He was carried to a nearby poolroom and after being revived was removed to his home where it was found that he had suffered only bruises and scratches.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary E. Hammell, widow of Edward Hammell, was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at 48 Shapeley street, the services being conducted by Rev. J. Reveridge Lee. The bearers were Samuel Holloway, Monroe Wallwork, John Bergen and Charles Sauter. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

John Higgins of Jefferson avenue "got his" from Judge Victor Prince in the police court this morning for he was sent to jail to serve a term of ninety days, one-third of which time representing the penalty of intoxication and two-thirds his punishment for creating a disturbance at his home. Higgins had a police court record before that of today was established, for he has been presented often for intoxication and the abuse of a little horse with which he earns a living. A confirmed drunkard, he was released from jail where he was serving a sentence of ten days Monday because his daughter, Mrs. Mary Morgan, wife of Richard Morgan, 332 Harrison street, a young woman of 19 had died in childbirth. Higgins sought and secured sympathy that would allow him to go from the jail to his home. But when he went there he took with him a quart bottle of liquor minus the drinks he had taken from it and which intoxicated him. His conduct was such that his family asked for his arrest and punishment. Police Sergeant Cavanaugh hustled him off to the police station without ceremony and he was up for punishment this morning. Higgins told a silly story of having work to go to and representing that he was provoked into doing as he had done. His rambling and drivelling talk only brought him a penalty that he deserved, inasmuch as the whipping post cannot be resorted to as a punishment for fellows of his sort.

Ernest Pelletier, residing on Shapely street was fined $10 for a breach of the peace that consisted of abusing a police officer with his tongue because the officers of this city did not put a stop to the selling of liquor. Pelletier's father was intoxicated and was down on the walk on Main street when Policeman W. Riordan happened along. The officer sought to get at the cause of the collection of a crowd and there became aware of what attracted them. The younger Pelletier began abuses of the officer and told him the police were at fault because it was possible for the senior Pelletier to obtain liquor. Officer Riordan asked the son to furnish evidence of where the liquor was obtained, saying that the seller would be prosecuted, if evidence were obtained. This seemed to inspire the younger Pelletier to use vulgar and obscene language in criticising the police so he was arrested and the father was allowed to be taken to his home. Judge Prince gave Pelletier something of the same advice that Riordan gave to him and then fined him.

Peter Reilly, came over from his home in Thames street Groton, operating his automobile. He did not have his registration in his car, nor was his license endorsed with the signature of the owner of both features being one of the most serious offenses of the state. It happened that Reilly was held up and then the facts became known and he was ordered to court. That experience gave Reilly, nearly 30, for he was fined $15 and he also had th ecosts of prosecution to settle.

Newton Lanphere, a stone cutter, was fined $10 for intoxication. Newton has been a frequent visitor to court but heretofore he has escaped with light punishment.

William Skibo, a resident of Glastonbury, had his Labor day drunk on a train of the New Haven railroad. He boarded it at Bridgeport much under the influence of liquor intending to get off at New Haven and continue to Glastonbury, but he fell asleep and could not be aroused at New Haven so was brought on to New London. Here he left the train and sought lodging at the police station. He was not then sober enough to be allowed his liberty so he was held and presented in court this morning. He told his story and the court decided to allow him to get out of town and proceed to Glastonbury.

John Ryan told the Fishers Island story in court today and got away with it because Judge Prince decided that if Reilly could stay away from the court for three years, as he had up to his appearance today, he was not without hope. Judge Prince told Ryan that the Fishers Island story had not been told in court for a fortnight and that his version of it was somewhat new, so it sounded so good he would give Ryan a chance and suspended judgement.

Rufus Bogwell, a sailor, was prosecuted for a breach of the peace. He was held for the coast guard authorities as he had overstayed his leave of absence and was due for a penalty when he returned to the station.

Mrs. Maria W. Dart, wife of Lewis Dart, died late Saturday at her home, 10 West Pleasant street, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Dart was of advanced years and besides her husband, is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Robert Elliott, of Worcester, Mass., and Miss Mary Dart, this city. The funeral took place Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the family home, the services being conducted by Rev. C. F. Spaulding, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. The bearers were Leonard Dart, Abbott L. Douglass, Robert Elliott and Walter Dart. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

The funeral of Joseph P. Sullivan was held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, a solemn hig hmass of requiem being celebrated by Rev. Alexander Wollschlaeger, with Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley, deacon and Rev. Raymond O'Callahan sub-deacon. The bearers were Robert Kelley, Michael Sullivan, Patrick Shea, Daniel Devine, Frank Delmore and Harold O'Mara. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Francesca Marlano, widow of Pietro Marlano, was held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. Rev. William C. Fitzsimons, pastor of the church sang requiem high mass. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of John W. Sullivan was held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and was attended by many mourners. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Raymond O'Callahan, with Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley, deacon, and Rev. Alexander Wollschlaeger sub-deacon. The bearers were Daniel Mack, John White, Peter Henigan, Patrick Cassidy, Peter Dyer and James T. Allen. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. Amy Sargeant, wife of Frank Sargent, whose death occurred in Clinton, were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the parish house of the First church of Christ. Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the church officiating. The bearers were Henry Cooper, Charles Riley, William H. Reeves and Oliver Cooper. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Morgan was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, a mass of requiem being sung by Rev. Alexander Wollschlaeger. The bearers were George Higgins, John Morgan, Austin Kelley, Charles Sullivan, James Carver and Paul McGuire. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Miss Isabel Austin, of Gorton St., has resumed her duties as clerk in the office of City Treasurer Herbert G. Huntley, having spent a fort night in Canadian cities and at Niagara Falls.

The hatchway in front of the premises 10 State street is in an extremely dangerous condition and today Patrolman John Clifford caused the highway department to be notified of the defective sidewalk. A report of the danger spot was made by the police a month ago.

The New Haven police this evening requested the New London authorities to be on the lookout for two automobiles stolen from the former city earlier in the day. One of the stolen cars is a Jordan sedan and carries registration 61-935. Connecticut issue. The other car is a Studebaker touring car and its registration is X-2566.

An automobile owned and operated by George Balady, 147 North Bank street, backed against and damaged a public service machine owned by W. G. Andrews, this afternoon, corner of State and Main streets.

Mrs. George Byles and infant son, of Niantic; Edward Hopkins, 26 Ashcraft road; Miss May Kennedy, 37 Mahan street; Miss Helen Maynard, Niantic; Mrs. Harry Durgin and infant daughter, 84 Maple avenue; John and Mary Hart, 68 Allen street, Groton; Mrs. John Domonco and infant daughter, Niantic; Mrs. Mildred Lockhart, 528 Main street; Lillian Hubert, Day Nursery, Main street; Thomas Johnson, 35 Nathan Hale St.; William Gallizard, United States Coast Guard academy; Miss Viola Otis 12 Tenth street; Sherman Southland, barge Banjo; Carl Johnson, Mystic; Miss Cartherine Gadbois, 95 Federal street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, were dismissed yesterday and today.

Mrs. Alice Scaggs, of Huntington, W. Va., and daughter, Mrs. Anna Lehman, Ashland, Ky., have concluded a three weeks' visit with the former's sister, Mrs. Jennie Taylor, 96 Blinman street.

Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney, who underwent a serious operation at Lawrence hospital a fortnight ago, was able to return to his home, 63 Howard street today. Captain Pinney's condition, while greatly improved, will not be such as will permit his resuming his duties at the police station for some time.

John Hendry, of Bank street, employed as bookkeeper by the Central Coal company and who has been under treatment at Lawrence hospital ten days, underwent an operation this forenoon for stomach trouble. His condition, it was stated at the institution this evening, was as comfortable as could be expected.

MRS THOMAS LYNCH DIES FROM BURNS OF MONDAY

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 8. — Mrs. Thomas Lynch, of Groton died this evening at 6.15 o'clock. Her home, a nice little two-family bungalo in the section known as Groton Park, got afire Monday morning about 8 o'clock. Mrs. Lynch was terribly burned in an effort to save some of her household goods. She was attempting to adjust the oil stove used in the house for cooking when the flames spread over the stove and the latter exploded. She sustained second and third degree burns about the head, arms and body, so that from the time she was admitted to Lawrence hospital, her life was despaired of. The family occupied the entire cottage and their lost was complete.

PLANNING BOARD CHECK MATES BLYDENBURGH AV. SCHEME.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON Sept. 8.—The city council held a session of half an hour this evening, during which but little business was transacted. Application was received for the erection of three cottages and a bungalow, for a two-story addition and for the building of two garages. These were granted without any remarks. City Manager Holt submitted a tentative estimate of the city budget for the coming year, which showed on its face a reduction in the amount of money that would be required of $13,700. The figures given are subject to revision, however.

The city manager was authorized to enter into a contract with the Cabral company for renting to the company for storage purposes property of the city near and adjoining the almshouse at a price of $25 a month.

Councilor Woodruff reported for the public safety committee progress in the matter of the street which B. L. Armstrong desires shall be opened up in the vicinity of the south end of Montauk avenue.

The resolution for the laying of a sewer on Pierce street, 260 feet west from Main street had its second reading, the city announcing its purpose of beginning the work. The cost of the sewer will be in round figures $800, of which amount the city is to pay $209. The balance of the expense will be taxed against the abutting property.

The planning board interfered with the plans of someone to erect a large boarding house or rooming house at the east end of Blydenburgh avenue by announcing its intention to extend Blydenburgh avenue to Robinson street, which is one of the streets running across the Rubinson lot or circus lot, as it is known. Councilor Whiton explained that the extension in contemplation would make necessary the acquirin, of some land by the city, but not at great expense. He also declared that the extension would avert having a dead end of Blydenburgh avenue. He said that while no application for the permission to erect the boarding or rooming house had been made to the council, he understood that the scheme was in contemplation, so the planning board had taken the action announced to the council. The planning board submitted a map of the section that the council might see the layout of the land. The recommendation of the planning board was approved by the council.

Applications of two gasoline pumps were received and approved.

The council was asked by Max Merran to permit the removal of a tree from in front of the property at Colt and Reed streets and the city manager was given the authority to grant or deny the request, after he had inspected the situation.

The A. M. E. Zion church was given permission to have tag day the 11th of October for a free Bible campaign.

The American Legion expressed its gratification with the reception accorded the members at the time of its annual meeting here and was enthusiastic in its praise of the treatment accorded them. Hope was expressed that another convention of the Legion might be held here.

NIANTIC

The Niantic Public library will be closed today (Labor Day) and will be open on Thursday from 2 to 5 o'clock (standard time).

CONSTANTLY IMPROVED
BUT NO YEARLY MODELS

It has never been the policy of Dodge Brothers, Inc., to build yearly models.

When an improvement is discovered, perfected, tested and found good, it is made at once. The car is always up-to-date.

Moreover, the owner does not have to fear that his Dodge Brothers Motor Car will be made obsolete, shortly after he has bought it, by the announcement of radically new types.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—In the quietness of the little section of South Canterbury where runs a rippling never failing brook is located a colonial and stately farm house in excellent condition. With the beautiful trees and picturesque surroundings as well as the 30 acres of well divided land this place is attractive especially for a summer home or perhaps for the retiring person looking for quiet and comfort. It is interesting to know that a railroad station is within 3-4 of a mile and also school and post office. A veranda eight feet wide 29 feet long on one side and over 50 feet on the front makes one just wish that they could settle down there for it is simply ideal. I own this place personally and can arrange terms to suit any good buyer who has a portion to pay down. Price is right. Write or phone William M. Foreign exchanges irregular; Italian lire strong.

Cotton strong; bullish government report.

Sugar featureless.

Coffee steady; trade buying.

Chicago

Wheat higher; firm Liverpool market.

MARKET WAS RETROACTIVE

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—Increase of the rediscount rate from 4 to 5 1-2 per cent. the heaviest since last June, turned the course of stock prices downward today after an earlier persistent upswing, which was featured by the huge building up of a number of stock issues, motor and food shares. Total sales were about one and one quarter million shares.

Extensive calling of bank loans, which accompanied the higher money rates was explained by the sharp deficit in reserve shown in last Saturday's reserve banks statement, but there was a tendency in some quarters to interpret it as an effort on the part of banking interests to hold speculative operations within bounds.

Operations for the rise, started to bid up stocks at the opening of the market on the theory that record-breaking freight traffic, bank clearances and other generally accepted indices of business gave promise of substantial earnings and favorable dividend developments on many stocks this fall. Bear traders, who were surprised at the sharp rebound of the market in the closing days of last week, were cautious in extending their commitments, with the result that bools met with little opposition until after the money rate was advanced for the third time.

Speculative interest shifted from the stock to the cotton market on the publication of a government report indicating a yield of 13,740,000, or well below the average private estimates. December futures advanced more than $5 a bale, selling as high as 23.73 cents a pound, but reacted on profit taking, the general market closing about $2.50 to $3 a bale higher.

Chrysler was the sensational feature of the motor group, soaring over 10 points to 149 1-4, or within a small fraction of the record high and closing near the top. Pierce Arrow common and preferred attained high prices at 44 5-8 and 94, respectively, but cancelled their gains and closed fractionally lower on the day. Nash Motors jumped 7 points on one sale before declaration of an initial dividend of 75 cents being announced after market closed.

Other outstanding industrial strong spots were California Packing, Coca Cola, Cudahy Packing, Fleischmann, Lima Locomotive, Sears Roebuck and Ward Baking B, all of which closed about two to five points higher. American Can was heavy from the start, breaking over 5 points to 225 3-4 and then rallying above 227. Heaviness also cropped out in such popular issues as Du Pont, General Electric, Mack Trucks, Davison Chemical, International Paper, public service of New Jersey, Republic Steel and Westinghouse Air Brake, the net losses in which ranged from 1 to 3 points.

A sudden demand for Kansas City Southern, which advanced about four points to a new high at 42 1-4, was caused the few features of the railroad group. Pittsburgh and West Virginia and Gulf Mobile and Northern also broke through to new highs, but they failed to maintain their gains. Atlantic Coast Line closed a point higher at 180 after touching a new top at 182.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent, and advanced successfully to 4 1-2, 5 and 5 1-2. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Exchange quotations were irregular with sterling occasional advance of 64 points to foreign kroner to 22.11 cents, the first rate since the war by the outstanding feature. Considerable interest also was manifested in another ten point jump in Italian lire which crossed 4.10 cents to the highest level since the government announced its restrictive program. Belgian sterling yielded fractionally at 24.84 1-2, or just above the new "gold parity," French francs held firm about unchanged.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—The sustained strength of foreign obligations in the face of unsettlement in other sections of the list featured today's irregular bond market. Trading started off with a fresh burst of activity after the double holiday but was later restricted by a sharp rise in the call money rate, for which temporary conditions were responsible.

Buying of European bonds, however, continued unabated, reaching sufficient volume in the German government and some of the French city issues to push prices to new peaks for the year. Crossing 99, the German 7s sold about 7 1-2 points above the low level of the year touched last spring. Other active features were the French railroad liens, the Belgians issues and the Chinese Railway 5s with the foreign financial situation brightening up, investment bankers said, buyers have turned to these bonds because of their attractive yields.

The stiffening of call money discouraged the accumulation of domestic bonds, except for a few railroad issues which offered speculative possibilities. Florida, Western & Northern 7s at one time sold 5 points above last week's closing, establishing a new high record at 159. About half this gain was lost before the close. Denver & Rio Grande Western 5s, International Great Northern adjustment 6s, and "Big Four" 5s were among the other favored issues.

CIVIC ASSOCIATIONS ENDORSE PLAN FOR IMPROVED HIGHWAY LAYOUT

Endorsed by the press and leading citizens of Windham and New London counties as well as eleven chambers of commerce, business men's associations, Rotary and Lion's Clubs, and United Commercial Travelers, the plan of relocating the Norwich-Putnam federal highway is now coming rapidly into the lime light. The proposition has proved the most perfect set up ever proposed by civic organizations in eastern Connecticut for the betterment of existing highway conditions, embodying as it does a keen perception of its strategical importance in time of war, connecting up with the Military highway at Norwich and the submarine base and state pier at New London, the logical port for the embarkation of troops from central Massachusetts and Connecticut. In times of peace it will serve interstate transportation and bus lines with a modicum of danger to pedestrians and tourists. It offers protection to school children and the public in general, when attending church services.

There has not been one sound argument advanced in opposition to the proposed changes.

Copies of resolutions of the various eastern Connecticut civic associations together with scores of letters from influential citizens, industrial plants etc., with the following from H. R. Branche, chairman of the civic committee of the United Commercial Travelers of America (Norwich Council) sponsors for the relocation plan, have been presented to Division Engineer J. H. Smith of the state highway department, with request that he place them before Commissioner J. A. MacDonald, with such recommendations as seem for the best interests of all the people in Connecticut, the future welfare of the traveling public, in general, and the nation as a whole. These communications referred to are the following:

Norwich, Conn.
September 9th. 1925.

Mr. J. H. Smith, Div. Eng.,
State Highway Department,
Thayer Building,
Dear Mr. Smith:

Herewith, you will please find copies of resolutions adopted by the various civic associations, favoring a plan for the relocation of the Norwich-Putnam trunk highway, together with map showing such proposed changes as the civic interests of eastern Connecticut feel would prove of incalculable benefit in conserving human life, shortening distance and expediting traffic. All of which we earnestly submit to you, for your study and investigation, with the request that you in turn deliver such exhibits to State Highway Commissioner J. A. MacDonald with such endorsement as you may feel the plan warrants.

Allow me to suggest that you read the newspaper clippings accompanying the resolution. You will find them arranged in a manner that will simplify their perusal. Especially do I desire to call your attention to the editorials from the Norwich Morning Bulletin, Putnam Patriot, Moosup Journal, and other eastern Connecticut papers, all of which endorse the project in principle and on broad and progressive lines.

The United Commercial Travelers, Norwich Council No. 309, in conjunction with the Eastern Connecticut Civic Association, have during the past two years, been engaged in working out a program for the betterment of highway conditions in New London and Windham counties, fully believing that this end of the state is entitled to the best there is to be had in highway improvement. Since the completion of the four mile stretch of concrete roadway, passing through Plainfield and the letting of new roadway construction contracts, for two more sections—one south of Norwich city line and the other north of Danielson city line—our organization assumes that not later than another spring, plans for improving certain sections, as shown on accompanying map, would come in for a share of your attention, in as much as the major portion of danger spots, viz: congested streets, railroad grade crossings, narrow bridges and abrupt curves, are within this zone.

It is to assist, rather than embarrass, the work of the highway department, that an effort has been made to correlate public opinion through regular recognized channels.

President Coolidge in speaking of highway safety, at the First National Conference on street and highway safety held in Washington, December 15th, 1924 said: "If the death and disaster that now fall upon innocent people through the year and over our country as a whole, were concentrated into one calamity, we would shudder at the tremendous catastrophe." It was reported at this meeting, 22,500 people were killed and 678,000 injured in 1923 as a result of street and highway accidents. This of course, represents only a part of the total casualties—twentieth century progress has brought about an alarming situation. Newspapers are constantly urging better traffic conditions.

Highways and streets are being broadened, through traffic is being taken off congested city and village streets-by-passing all such and thus permitting local business to better and with greater safety care for its own and conserve the lives of men, women and children. Railroads are using every precaution to safeguard the public. Automobile clubs, industries, chambers of commerce, Rotary and Lions clubs etc., are co-operating to their utmost.

The United Commercial Travelers of America, with a membership of 110,000, 90 per cent. of whom cover their territory by the use of the automobile, are campaigning for better and safer highways. In view of the foregoing, are we asking too much when we urge the state highway department of Connecticut to give us this much needed relief on the Norwich-Putnam highway, "The Mohegan Trail."

Yours for Safer and better highways,
H. R. BRANCHE
Chairman Executive and Civic Committee's Norwich Council No. 309 U. C. T. of A.

At a meeting of the United Commercial Travelers Norwich Council U. C. T. No. 309, August 26, 1925, it was unanimously voted to endorse the plan, as outlined by Counselor H. R. Branche chairman of the civic committee, for the re-location of the trunk highway between a point in Lisbon, south of the point where the Newent road intersects the trunk line, to a point north of green in Danielson, where the Providence-Hartford trunk highway crosses the green, in the city of Danielson. It was also voted: that the civic committee use every effort to encourage similar action by chambers of commerce, Rotary clubs, Lions' clubs and other organizations in eastern Connecticut interested in the betterment of highway conditions in this end of the state.

Signed
CHARLES W. PEARSON

Mr. H. R. Branche,
Norwich, Conn.
Dear Sir:

The following resolution regarding the proposed changes on road leading from Norwich to Putnam was unanimously passed by our organization at its regular meeting held August 13th, 1925.

Resolved; That the plan as presented be accepted with reservations. That Jewett City would present a counter proposition in so far as the highway passing through the borough was concerned.

A committee of 5 was appointed by the chair, to draw up a plan, with full power, the same to be turned over to Mr. Branche, who would have it attached to U. C. T. plan and presented the state highway department.

Names of the committee: George H. Prior, chairman; Jacob Weschler, John T. Dolan, James H. Shea, William W. Bromley.

Yours truly
WILLIAM M. MCNICOL, secretary

Mr. H. R. Branche
Norwich, Conn.
Dear Mr. Branche:

The following resolution was adopted by this organization at a special meeting held Wednesday evening August 19, 1925.

"Resolved: That the Moosup Chamber of Commerce heartily approves and commends in general the plan submitted by the United Commercial Travelers for altering and improving the state highway leading from Danielson to Norwich, Conn.," eliminating grade crossings, and avoiding dangerous corners and thickly settled communities; bearing in mind that the details of such plan should be determined by highway engineers."

This copy of the resolution is sent you in accordance with instructions from the chamber.

Very truly yours,
HAROLD F. BURGESS, Secretary

The Lincoln Club, Plainfield
August 21st, 1925

Voted at a special meeting of the Lincoln club, held August 21, 1925, that we unanimously endorse the resolution of the proposed re-location of the new state highway leading from Norwich to Danielson, as shown on map presented by H. H. R. Branche
26 Mohegan Road.
Dear Sir:-

Our president, Mr. Anderson, has informed me that you failed to receive the notice of our resolution regarding your proposed relocation of highway between Jewett City and Danielson. I am therefore sending it again. We voted as follows:

Resolved: That the Lions club of Norwich approve the proposed relocation of road between Jewett City and Danielson.

Very truly,
E. A. RICH, Sec.

Danielson Chamber of Commerce
September 5, 1925.

Mr. H. R. Branche,
26 Mohegan Road.
Norwich, Conn.
Dear Mr. Branche:-

At a meeting of the Danielson Chamber of Commerce held Thursday evening the following resolution was unanimously adopted.

Resolved: that the Danielson Chamber of Commerce approves of the new proposed lay-out for a state road to be built down Broad street and the Green Hollow road as shown on a map prepared by you dated, August 7, 1925, provided the present state road to Wauregan and Central Village is also maintained as a state road.

Very truly yours,
A. M. THOMPSON, Sec.

In the event of the federal and state highway departments finding the plan as submitted practical and economical in construction and decide to follow such plan, there will not be a railroad grade crossing, narrow bridge, abrupt curve or what could be considered a danger point between Long Island Sound and the Massachusetts line and eastern Connecticut will have a splendid concrete highway from north to south across the state. With our recognized, superior water and modern electric power stations, here is an economic saving that invites the cooperation of every manufacturer looking for all that is to be desired, viz: best in highways, best in cheap mechanical power, best in railroad transportation, best in healthful living environment, best in schools and religious opportunities.

Big Clambake at Oneco

A large and appetizing clambake was held at the home of Benjamin Cole in Oneco on Sunday, thirty five people being present from Moosup, Oneco, New Bedford, Norwich, Plainfield, Portertown, New Haven and Ekonk. Roasted vegetables, fish, frankfurts and sausages were served in the bake after which cake, ice cream, watermelon, fruit, candy and root beer were served. Dancing, games and music made a very enjoyable afternoon.

As the clambake was a large one, at six o'clock the table was crowded again for supper after which the friends departed, some of them going to Benjamin Hall's where they were to spend Labor Day.

Wrecked in Collision

A Cadillac sedan owned and driven by Irwin C. Burdick of 34 River avenue was reported to be a complete wreck after a collision Monday night on North Main street near the tannery with the automobile of William Dempsky of 54 Mowry avenue. The sedan struck a pole after colliding with the Dempsky car which was only slightly damaged.

Returned from Motor Trip

Mr. and Mrs. C. Eugene Saunders and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Pukallus have returned from an automobile trip up the Hudson River going over the Storm King Highway and Bear Mountain Bridge stopping at West Point and Hudson, N. Y., and returning over the Mohawk Trail.

CONTINUANCE IN CASE ON RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGE

At the city court session Tuesday morning, Judge Arthur F. Libby, on the bench, Angelo Dimitry, 41, of No. 19 Thames streets, was presented on a charge of reckless driving and also on a charge of driving with one headlight. On request of City Attorney Lee Roy Robbins the case was continued until September 12th bonds of $100 being furnished. City Attorney Robbins stated that he had some reasons to believe that Dimitry was the operator of the automobile which hit Henry W. Whitmarsh, 63 and Gilbert Edwards, 48, both of No. 9 Bushnell place, on the New London turnpike about 7:30 o'clock Monday night. Dimitry was arrested later in the evening when he figured in a collision with a machine of Arthur Peltier of Versailles, a short distance from the spot where the two men were hit.

Joseph Toczko, 26, of No. 67 Sixth street, who is charged with violation of the liquor law through sale, and who jumped his $1,500 bond last spring, was presented before the court. His case was reopened when Toczko appeared in court Tuesday morning. Probable cause was found and he was bound over to the superior court under bonds of $2,000, furnished by Mary Chimielewska and Emily Toczko.

On recommendation of City Attorney Lee Roy Robbins, a nolle was entered in the case of Arthur Sarion of Versailles, charged with reckless driving. He was in a collision last week at Taftville.

A Samon street man, charged with breach of the peace in beating his wife and child, was sent to jail for ten days.

SMASH SKYLIGHT IN ATTEMPT AT BURGLARY

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 8.—An attempt was made tonight to burglarize the clothing store of H. Resnikowff, 399 Bank street. Shortly after 10 o'clock, an occupant of a tenement adjoining the clothing store detected the sound of breaking glass and reported the fact to Patrolman Henry Hicks. The officer investigated and determined that crooks had ascended to the roof of the clothing store where they smashed the skylight for the purpose of gaining entrance to the store. A search of the premises together with a search of the street failed to find any suspicious characters. It is believed that the sound of the breaking glass was such as to cause any attempt by the thieves to enter the store.

STRIKES TWO POLES ON NEW LONDON STREET

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 8.—A Packard touring car, owned and driven by Harry C. Griswold, 181 Connecticut avenue, in passing through Pequot avenue tonight, collided with two telephone poles. Griswold is now a patient at Home Memorial hospital suffering from lacerations of the face and head and possible internal injuries. He was operating his car in a northerly direction and losing control of the machine he struck one telephone pole, caromed off and continued off the highway and struck a second telephone pole and stopped. Griswold was thrown against the steering wheel and was cut by the glass of the shattered windshield. He was taken to the hospital by a passing autoist and it will not be determined for a day or two whether he is internally injured.

SERVE OLD WARRANT ON MAN IN GREENEVILLE

John Fluta, 27, for whom the police have been holding a warrant since March 19, 1924 on the charge of violation of the liquor law, was arrested in Greeneville Tuesday night by Sergeant Mathew Delancy. Bonds of $1,000 were given for his appearance in the city court.

Enjoyed a Week's Tour.

Mrs. Isabel Wathen of Norwich Town returned Sunday after a week's tour through Pennsylvania and Canada.

Mrs. Wathen, accompanied by friends from Manchester, attended the forty seventh annual exhibition at Toronto, stopping at Niagara Falls on the way.

Everett D. Benjamin of Preston City recently purchased a registered Shropshire ram from James E. Lord of Torrington.

NORWICH TOWN

Under the auspices of the missionary committee of the First Congregational Young People's Christian Endeavor society, an informal social is to be held Friday afternoon, beginning at four o'clock (daylight saving time) in the chapel. The get-together of the young people is for the purpose of doing work for the pupils of Miss Ruth Beebe, a member of the faculty at Trinity school, Athens, Alabama, who has been spending her vacation here. This chiefly will comprise pasting post cards, cutting out pictures, etc., to be used in Miss Beebe's work.

All those who come in the afternoon for prelunch work, bring lunch. Early in the evening light refreshments will be served to all. Miss Beebe, who has been a successful teacher in the south for several years returns Friday, September 18th, to resume her work. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde M. Beebe, of East Town street.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Yerrington of Oneco street, had as dinner guests Labor Day, George Jalbert and Lewis Andrews, of Woonsocket, R. I., Miss Anna Rousseau and Armand Lanoie of Providence, the last mentioned a brother of Mrs. Yerrington, also her sister, Miss Lanoie and brother, Leo Lanoie, of Norwich, and Miss Helen Robinson of New London. Armand Lanoie came to Norwich, to be best man at the Worthington-Leroux wedding Saturday afternoon. While in Norwich the Yerrington guests visited Fanning Park dahlia gardens, being enthusiastic in their admiration of these beautiful blooms. Several large bouquets were taken back to Providence and Woonsocket, upon their return.

Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fulton, and Mrs. Rose Kinney, all of Huntington avenue, left by automobile Tuesday morning to pass the next three weeks at Hodgson Camp, situated on the Niantic river.

At the home of Mrs. Elizabeth R. Kinney, on Town street, Mr. and Mrs. William E. House had as guests over Sunday and Labor Day Mr. House's aunt, Mrs. Olive Isbel, also his cousins, Mihran Basdekian and Misses Agnes and Hazel Kalalian, all of Bridgeport, who motored to Norwich Town.

Another student from the Town Street school, James Mullen, will enter the Norwich Free Academy at the opening of the term this (Wednesday) morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Gert Smith and Master Albert Smith returned to Brooklyn, Conn., Tuesday morning, having spent Sunday and Labor Day at the home of Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan L. Smith, of Town street.

Mr. and Mrs. Roswell J. P. Brown of Oneco street, and Mr. Brown's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Halstead Brown, of Norwich, motored Sunday to Fair Haven, stopping en route at Narragansett Pier and Point Judith. The party, all dahlia enthusiasts, visited several dahlia gardens in New Bedford, also made two stops to visit the large gardens in Fair Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Halstead Brown returned to Norwich with Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Brown, and were their guests over that night and Labor Day.

POETRY

Poem

There is no rhyme that is half so sweet
As the song of the wind in the ripening wheat;
There is no metre that's half so fine
As the lilt of the brook under rock and vine;
And the loveliest lyric I ever heard
Was the wildwood strain of a forest bird.
If the wind and the brook and the bird would teach
My heart their beautiful parts of speech,
And the natural art that they may use with,
My pen would sing of beauty and myth
In a rhyme and a metre that none before
Have sung in their love, or dreamed in their lore.
And the world would be richer one poet the more.

—Madison Cawein.

The Glove and the Lions

King Francis was a hearty king, and loved a royal sport,
And one day, as his lions fought, sat looking on the court.
The nobles filled the benches and the ladies in their pride,
And 'mongst them sat the Count de Lorge, with one for whom he sighed;
And truly 'twas a gallant thing to win that crowning show,
Valor and love, and a king above, and the royal beasts below.

Ramped and roared the lions, with horrid, laughing jaws;
They bit, they glared, gave blows like beams, a wind went with their paws
With wallowing might and stifled roar they rolled on one another,
Till all the pit with sand and mane was in a thunderous smother;
The bloody foam above the bars came whisking through the air;
Said Francis then, "Faith, gentlemen, we're better here than there."

De Lorge's love o'erheard the king, a beauteous lively dame,
With smiling lips and sharp bright eyes, which always seemed the same;
She thought, "The count, my lover, is brave as brave can be;
He surely would do wondrous things to show his love of me;
King, ladies, lovers, all look on; the occasion is divine;
I'll drop my glove to prove his love; great glory will be mine."

She dropped her glove, to prove his love, then looked at him and smiled,
He bowed, and in a moment leaped among the lions wild;
The leap was quick, return was quick, he has regained his place,
Then threw the glove, but not with love, right in the lady's face.
"By heaven," said Francis, "rightly done," and he rose from where he sat;
"No love," quoth he, "but vanity, sets love a task like that."

—Leigh Hunt.

GOVERNOR AND SENATORS TO ATTEND STATE FAIR TODAY

Trumbull, McLean and Bingham Will Be Escorted From the Capitol to Charter Oak Park by a Detail of State Police —There Will Be a Special Parade of Livestock on the Track in Honor of the Distinguished Guests—A Mimic Battle Has Been Planned, Embracing An Air Force, a Chemical Detail, Machine Gun and Howitzer Batteries, Cavalry and a Great Body of Infantry.

HARTFORD, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Governor Trumbull, United States Senators George P. McLean and Hiram Bingham, with representatives from all the other New England states will be the guests of the Connecticut state fair tomorrow which has been especially set aside as "Governors' Day."

The governor, the Connecticut senators and the other state officials will meet at the Capitol in the morning, being escorted from there to the fair grounds by a detail of state police. An inspection of the grounds and the various exhibits will be conducted under the direction of the management of the fair, and the governor's party will then return to the city for luncheon.

In the early afternoon, on the judges' stand in the center of the track, Willard B. Rogers, who is director of the reception committee and also publicity manager of the fair will introduce Governor Trumbull who will make a short address. Senator Bingham, who will be the chief speaker of the afternoon, will follow the governor.

Besides all the regular features such as races, vaudeville and shooting exhibitions, there will be special parade of live stock on the track in honor of the distinguished guests.

But the greatest feature of the day, and the thing designed to appeal to the greatest number of visitors to the fair is the mimic warfare, staged in honor of the governor, embracing almost every branch of the service concerned in the type of battle presented and giving as graphic an idea of modern warfare as can be done without hardships and death. Under the able direction of Colonel D. Gordon Hunter, acting in co-operation with Adjutant General George M. Cole, a mimic battle has been planned, embracing the air force of the 169th regiment under Major Talbot O. Freeman, a chemical detail from Massachusetts, machine gun and howitzer batteries, cavalry and a great body of infantry.

Companies K and F, of the 169th regiment Connecticut National Guard will form the blue army which will be composed of Company G, supported by howitzer and machine gun companies.

Every detail of battle will be presented from the pitching of camp, a surprise attack, artillery barrage and machine gun fire to the final destruction of a fort by aerial bombing. The method of laying down a smoke screen to protect positions from enemy observation planes will be shown and the chemical detachment will demonstrate how an attack is made with poison gas, while the defending forces will fight off the enemy, wearing their gas masks in the action.

The maneuvers will be judged by military judges and the "victory" awarded to the side most skillfully carrying out their actions. The finale will come when Governor Trumbull holds a review of the two "armies" which will execute various difficult drills before the grand stand and the cavalry will finish with one of the most thrilling of all spectacles, the sabre charge.

Another event, less exciting perhaps, but not without an appeal, will be the strength tests for oxen teams, which will also be held tomorrow. Twelve yokes will compete, the test being made by piling weights on a stone boat, which the oxen must start and haul a certain distance in a specified time.

Because of the disappointing rain of Labor Day an effort is being made to make governors' day the great event of the fair this year. Attractions of every sort have been arranged, and the largest crowd of the fair is expected to visit the grounds tomorrow.

Today was "farmers' day" and a program especially planned to interest and instruct the hundreds of agriculturists of the state was presented at the park. The judging of the Jerseys was held, as well as the swine and sheep which was held in a judging ring with special bleacher seats which were well filled by interested livestock men. At noon a "meet your neighbor" hour was held, when people from the country round could get together and become acquainted.

Great interest was created by the sale of baby beef on the hoof, especially as the two champions in the class were up for sale. The champion of the show was bought by the Hartford Market company for $1 a pound, the animal tipping the scales at a little over 1,000 pounds. Other animals were sold at 15 to 25 cents a pound on the hoof.

Awards in the canning competition among the 4H club members were awarded and a demonstration of correct posture was given by several teams from different parts of the state.

HEALTHIEST AUGUST IN HISTORY OF THE STATE

HARTFORD, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The month just passed was the healthiest August in the history of the state, according to the statistical records of the state department of health, Dr. Stanley H. Osborn, commissioner of health, said today. There were no cases of smallpox in the state during the month and cases of other contagious diseases were in most instances considerably below the averages of former years.

The epidemic of typhoid cases, forty three was the lowest recorded during August of any year. The previous low was forty five cases last year. The totals are approximately one half of the number of cases reached in 1921 when there were ninety six and in 1918 when 104 cases were reported.

The infantile paralysis total for last month was fourteen cases, a decrease from thirty six last year. This decrease is reported for Connecticut despite the fact that the disease is unusually prevalent in many states this year. Several southern and western states have particularly bad epidemics, Dr. Osborn said.

There were sixty four cases of diphtheria, compared with 91 cases in August last year and 124 the previous year. While the cases of this disease are not as numerous this year, it appears in a virulent form and the death rate has been rather high. Dr. Osborn advises parents to have their children immunized by the use of diphtheria anti-toxin to prevent the possible unhappy results which have followed many cases this year.

The department has received numerous complaints on the great number of mosquitoes which have descended on communities during the summer months.

PRAISE FOR AUGUSTUS THOMAS AND HIS PLAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Augustus Thomas and his new play, "Still Waters," came in for praise tonight from G. C. Hinckley, national secretary of the association against prohibition amendment, after it had drawn criticism today from Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the anti-saloon league.

Mr. Thomas has returned to the stage after an absence of a quarter century to take the part in his play of a United States senator who votes one way and drinks another. Mr. Wheeler described the play as "propaganda" and predicted its early failure on that ground, but Mr. Hinckley lauded it for "dealing with the corruption and rottenness attending the prohibition experiment."

"So far as we know, 'Still Waters' is the first play to be staged which adequately presents the case against prohibition," said Mr. Hinckley, while Mr. Wheeler asserted that the playwright has "become blinded by passion to the majority mind of the nation."

NOEL INDICTED FOR MURDER AND KIDNAPING

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Harrison Noel, confessed murderer of 6-year-old Mary Daly and of Raymond Pierce, negro chauffeur, was indicted by the Essex county grand jury late today for the murder of Pierce and for the kidnaping of the child. Both crimes occurred in that county. An indictment charging Noel with the murder of the child will be sent to Passaic county where she was killed.

THREE DROWNING CHILDREN RESCUED BY TWO NUNS

NYACK, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Two nuns, clad in the garments of their order, today leaped into the Hudson river and rescued two of three drowning children.

The children, members of a party from the lowest East Side of New York which has been spending a vacation at a camp in Upper Nyack, were in charge of Miss Mariam Egan, a school teacher, and a nurse.

Angelina Macgro, 11 years old and Alice Vernon, 13, ran ahead of the party to wade in the river. The swift current drew them into mid-stream.

In the excitement, Mary Bella Pieter, 11, who could not swim, jumped into the river. Miss Egan attempted to rescue the three girls, but the current was so swift that she had to return to shore.

Sisters Mary Sumpta and Mary Immaculate, who were walking in the park, heard the shouts and rushed to the water's edge.

Without hesitation they plunged in and swam to the girls struggling in the water. They succeeded in rescuing the first two children but little Mary Bella already had gone down. Her body was recovered half an hour later.

EDGAR A. BANCROFT ESTATE IS ESTIMATED AT $1,750,000

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(AP)—An estate estimated at $1,750,000 was left by Edgar A. Bancroft, United States ambassador to Japan who died at Tokyo in July.

Eldgiege Bancroft Pierce, a nephew and heir today filed petition for letters of administration, under which the probate court would authorize him to administer the estate pending location of a will.

Mr. Pierce said no will had been found but expressed the opinion that the document may be among a quantity of Mr. Bancroft's effects still in Tokyo.

Other heirs beside Mr. Pierce, an attorney, include:

Miss Antoinette Bancroft, a sister, and Miss Catherine Pierce, a niece, both of Waterbury, Conn., and Lloyd orick Bancroft, a brother, of Washington, D. C.

CHARGED WITH STEALING HIS FATHER'S AUTOMOBILE

NEW BRITAIN, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Alexander Rutkowski, 58 Orange street, this city, was arrested today charged with stealing his father's automobile, reckless driving and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The car was stolen on the night of August 30, and police are investigating Rutkoski's possible connection with the death of Ernest Passauri, who died from injuries sustained when struck by an automobile near his home here on that night.

REPORT OF CLUE TO THE MISSING SEAPLANE PN 9 No. 1

HONOLULU, Sept. 9.—(AP)—What may be the first definite clue in the search for the missing naval seaplane PN-9, number 1, appeared today when authorities received a report that a Hawaiian found two aviators' coats on Keaukahakeaa Beach, Island of Hawaii, yesterday. Fearing trouble the man let the coats lay undisturbed. The report is being investigated. The beach is approximately seven miles from Hilo, principal city of the island.

Shenandoah Flight Was Non-Political

Secretary Wilbur Answers Criticism Resulting From Loss of Dirigible and Seaplane PN-9 No. 1.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Secretary Wilbur in a formal statement today answered criticism resulting from the loss of the Shenandoah and the seaplane PN-9, No. 1.

He declared "there was nothing political whatever in connection with the flight of the Shenandoa" and reiterated that Lieutenant Commander Zachary Lansdowne of the dirigible, and Commander John Rodgers, of the plane themselves selected the time of the two flights.

The statement was issued after the secretary had conferred with Captain G. W. Steele, commandant of the Lakehurst naval station, and Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics, who returned to Washington today.

"It seems wise without waiting for the termination of the formal inquiry," said the secretary, "to correct certain misleading statements that are being published."

The flight of the Shenandoah, he declared, was determined upon last June and had no relation to the polar flight or the Hawaiian flight. Colonel William Mitchell in his recent attack on the army and navy air service referred to the Shenandoah flight as an effort to offset failure of the two other ventures.

Neither Commander Lansdowne nor Commander Rodgers had ever protested against the flights, he asserted, but were on the contrary, confident that they would be successful.

Chairman Butler of the house naval affairs committee, who also called on Secretary Wilbur today, announced later that a congressional investigation would be made of the Shenandoah disaster and the attack of Colonel William Mitchell on the administration of the air services.

Both Colonel Mitchell and Captain Anton Beinen, dirigible construction engineer who said the number of gas valves in the airship had been reduced to the point where helium gas could not escape with the necessary rapidity, will be called before the committee to testify, the chairman said. It also will investigate statements attributed to Mrs. Lansdowne, widow of the commander, that her husband had taken the dirigible out on the disastrous cruise after he had protested to the navy department. Mrs. Lansdowne later said her statement had been misunderstood and had not criticized the secretary.

Chairman Lambert, of the special house air craft committee before which much of the aviation controversy was aired during the last session of congress, said today in substance he believed Colonel Mitchell had "stated truths which rankle because not presented according to Hoyle," but that the problem was too complicated for congressional determination and should be decided by an engineering commission.

Secretary Wilbur, in his statement, replied also to the criticism that reduction of the number of helium escape valves was responsible for the crash, and said he had directed sections of "five of the most competent and learned officers in the navy" to "ascertain the actual facts" of the disaster.

Admiral Moffett, who spent most of the afternoon in conference with Mr. Wilbur, declared Commander Rodgers and all members of his crew were anxious to make the flight to Hawaii and that no hesitancy was evinced by any of them.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE IS EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Sept. 9—Envigorated by his 11 weeks stay, President Coolidge pulled stakes tonight at his summer retreat, and turned toward Washington enthusiastic over the prospects of a successful winter in congress as outlined to him in numerous conferences with administration leaders.

The president took with him on his special train to Washington Senator Butler.

The Mayflower, which has been anchored during the summer in Marblehead harbor nearby, will shove off early tomorrow on a return voyage to Washington, where it probably will arrive late Saturday, or Sunday morning.

The detail of 40 marines who have guarded the summer home of the president will break camp Friday morning.

AUDITING OF BOOKS BEST PROTECTION FOR BUSINESS MAN

RICHMOND, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Trusted employes are defaulting at the rate of a dozen a day in the United States and the best way for a business man to protect himself from loss is to have his books audited when employes do not expect it, F. L. Pride of Boston, president of the American Society of Certified Accountants, today advised the fourth annual convention of the body.

"There are few dishonest men," declared Mr. Pride; "that is, few men really intend to steal. They get control of large sums of money and are tempted to borrow. They are caught. Nine out of ten are tempted by the stock market."

WATERBURY WOMAN KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

WATERBURY, Sept. 9.— (AP)—Miss Mary Mulumphy, 60, of 159 South street, was killed almost instantly when she was hit by an automobile as she stepped from the sidewalk at South Main and Washington streets shortly after 8 o'clock tonight. Rushed to St. Mary's hospital, she died a few minutes after arrival from a fractured skull and a broken leg. John V. Casey, of West Haven, driver of the automobile that hit the woman, was held in $3,000 bonds pending the finding of the coroner.

HOUSEHOLD SHRINE USED AS A CACHE FOR LIQUOR

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The use of a household shrine as a cache for liquor, was discovered by the police today in a house in the Roxbury section. A pipe ran from a tank of alcoholic "splits" to a shelf on which stood a saint's statue, a prayer book, two holy pictures and two candlesticks. The spigot of the pipe line was at the base of the statue. Mrs. Nellie A. Davey, was arrested and charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale.

Actresses Are to be Less Scantily Clad

Big Producers Believe Public is Tiring of Daring Scenes and Over-Abundance of Sex Material.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Psychological plays, a new kind of sex play, and a low flare-back to Shakespeare—these classifications cover, in brief, what producers here say will be offered the theatre going public during the coming season.

It seems that the spotlight of the stage is to be turned away, for a time at least, from the scantily clad human form and trained on the mental contortions and gyrations which animate that form. With one eye on their own rehearsals and the other cocked to watch closely their contemporaries, the big producers of New York are "feeling their way" into the new season.

Almost without exception they plan to open the season with "light, frothy stuff," saving the heavier dramatics for a time when they will have a chance to judge how the public will receive them. Speaking of the coming season, one producer, known for handling high type dramatic productions said:

"The education of the public, and particularly its increased understanding of psychology, is bound to have an effect upon the theatrical offerings this year. Being able to understand why a certain character acts in a certain way under certain conditions, they will analyze each play for themselves.

Thus they will look for a new mental kick. This leads me to believe that plays having plots based upon psychology will receive recommendation."

Several producers agree in forecasting the doom of the "box office sex play," that type of play, which relies upon abundance of sex material and a number of daring scenes to attract patronage, is already losing out of the popular race, they believe.

In its place they expect to poduce a new type of play having probably little less of actual sex material in it, but having such material proportionately interwoven with the story of the play, and assigned its natural place in the action. If ideas advanced by such producers as David Belasco, the Shuberts, Winthrop Ames and others are correctly interpreted, these plays also will be a throw-back to psychology with the glorification of passion as their object and its great motivating power at their plot.

Most of the more influential producers expect the coming season to be a well balanced one with an adequate number of each type of production at the start. An increased number of foreign plays, English, French, Norwegian, Hungarian and Italian, are expected to invade this country. This internationalization of the stage is receiving much attention from producers. The popularity of foreign plays they do not take to indicate any preference on the part of the public for plays coming from abroad, but are rather inclined to the opinion that, in many instances, really better plays are being produced in these countries.

VIEWS ON THE SUCCESS OF COMMERCIAL AVIATION

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The success of commercial aviation from an economical viewpoint depends upon the development of the all metal airplane, according to Glen Hoppin, representative of the Ford Motor company, scout metal airplane division, who spoke in Lampson lyceum tonight in connection with the fifth annual machine tool exhibition now being held at Mason laboratory of Yale University.

The production of airplanes for individual use is not within the present range of practicability, Mr. Hoppin said. He stressed the importance of military aviation, but pointed out that a commercial airplane should be as different from a military type of plane as the freighter is from the battleship. He traced briefly the success of the Ford organization in air transportation.

COLORED SUPREME LODGE OF THE ORDER OF MOOSE

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The colored supreme lodge of the Independent Benevolent and Protective Order of Moose, tonight brought to a close the business meeting and installation of officers that completed its four days convention in this city. Delegates were present from all the eastern and mid-western states. David McDaniels, of the Empire state lodge, New York City, was elected supreme dictator for 1926 and Octavia Washington, of Baltimore, was installed as supreme noble queen. A reception and the conferring of degrees upon 35 men and 46 women of the affiliated lodge concluded the session. Detroit was selected as the scene of the 1926 convention.

POLICE CAR AS ESCORT IN DELIVERY OF PAYROLLS

INCIDENTS DELAYING THE SECURITY PACT DISCUSSION

Allies Embarrased as to How to Treat Poland and Czechoslovakia—Problem is Delaying Invitation to Germany to Send Her Foreign Minister to Meet the Allied Representatives in a First Conference to Discuss the Proposed Pact—France Finds the Situation Embarrassing.

GENEVA, Sept. 9.—(A. P.)—The dispatching of an invitation to Germany to send her foreign minister to meet the allied representatives in a first conference to discuss the proposed security pact is being delayed, largely due to embarrassment among the allies as to how to treat Poland and Czechoslovakia, both of whom ardently desire to be represented.

France is particularly embarrassed because she is in alliance with both these countries and neither wishes to abandon them nor seem to be ignoring their interests. England seems to be determined to restrict the conversations with the German foreign minister to France, Belgium, Italy and herself, feeling strongly that the proposed Rhineland pact should be handled as a separate concrete issue and not tied up with or complicated by any attempts to settled the security problems between Germany and Germany's eastern neighbors.

Poland and Czechoslovakia, however, fear that they may be left in the lurch if the main German security pact is negotiated without constant account being taken of additional arrangements to be concluded later between them and Germany.

A French spokesman said tonight that if Poland and Czechoslovakia are not actually participants in the first meeting with Germany's representatives they should not be far removed from the meeting place, which means that France will confer constantly with her allies during the conference.

POINTS OF INTEREST TO UNITED STATES AT GENEVA

GENEVA, Sept. 9.—(A. P.)—Several points of interest to the United States marked today's developments in connection with the session of the League of Nations assembly.

While the council of the league was meeting today to dispose of routine matters, Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana and Andrieus A. Jones of New Mexico followed up their attendance at the session of the assembly by a tour of inspection of the league secretariat. They saw the committees and technical organizations at work and said that they were impressed by the business-like way in which the routine of the league was expedited.

The league council today adopted a vote of thanks to Walker D. Hines, the American chairman of the league's commission to investigate navigation on the Rhine and the Danube. Alberto N. Guani, Uruguay's representative on the counbcil, referred in a speech to Mr. Hines' important wartime work as director general of railways in the United States.

In connection with the repoq of the league's permanent opium commission the league approved a resolution proposed by the commission that the various governments study the recent extradiction treaty between the United States and Canada, covering offenders against the laws concerning opium and other dangerous drugs with a view to the conclusion of similar treaties between members of the league.

It is reported here that Foreign Minister Tchitcherin of Russia will send an unofficial representative to Geneva to follow the deliberations of the assembly and to keep an eye on the security negotiations between the allies and Germany. Should such a representative arrive openly he would be entitled to no special privileges and to no seat in the assembly, although he might by courtesy be given a place in the diplomatic gallery

WHAT MRS. COOK WAS WRITING WHEN SHOT DEAD

VINTON, Ia., Sept. 9.—A plea for help in the enforcement of the prohibition and other laws was written in a speech Mrs. C. B. Cook, Benton county W. C. T. U. president was preparing when she was shot dead in her home Monday night by an unidentified assailant. Friends claim a liquor law violator shot the woman.

"Friends," she wrote, "are we afraid to take up the burden? Is it hard for the same ones to keep the fight up all the time. Others must put their shoulders to the wheel. Let us pray that every Christian woman will enlist in the service for God and home and every land."

Referring to law enforcement she declared that "a very grave crisis is facing American ideals today when traitors in our midst are seeking to undermine our constitution and trying to make ridiculous the greatest law in the world, the flag that has for its motto 'liberty is respect for law.'"

Mrs. Cook's unfinished address was made public while state and county authorities hunted for information that might lead to the arrest of the slayer. The woman is known to have given "tips" to officers relative to alleged liquor law violations.

LEGIONNAIRES FAVOR SEPARATE AIR SERVICE

CHANUTE, Kas., Sept. 9.—(AP)—A resolution asking that a separate department be created to administer the nation's air service was adopted here today by the Kansas department of the American Legion.

Alvin Owsley, of Dallas, Texas, past national commander, said in an address that the air service in the war was a disgrace to the nation and today is a continuing disgrace."

The resolution declares "It is evident that jealousy and inefficiency have greatly hampered the air service resulting in loss of life and threatening its efficiency."

The Arkansas department of the American Legion in session at Eldorado, Ark., went on record today as favoring an independent air service development, along the lines outlined by Colonel William Mitchell.

WITHDRAW AS CONTESTANTS IN NATIONAL BEAUTY PAGEANT

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Miss Mildred Walker, "Miss Pittsburgh," and Miss Mary Anne Guth, "Miss Erie," have withdrawn as contestants in the national beauty pageant, their representative, M. D. Crandall, of Pittsburgh, announced here today.

The reason for withdrawal, Mr. Crandall said, is that Miss Dorothy Knapp, "Miss Manhattan," is not only a professional, but is in the employ of a moving picture corporation now making a film of the pageant.

Crandall admitted a possibility of the withdrawal of the entire Pennsylvania delegation.

FORECAST OF PRINCIPAL CROPS FOR THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Forecasts of this year's principal crops, calculated from conditions existing September 1 and announced today by the department of agriculture, placed corn production at 2,885,000,000 bushels, winter wheat at 416,000,000 bushels, spring wheat at 284,000,000 bushels and the total wheat crop at 700,000,000 bushels.

A month ago, the forecasts placed corn production at 2,955,000,000 bushels, winter wheat at 416,000,000 bushels, spring wheat at 263,000,000 bushels and all wheat at 678,000,000 bushels.

THREE DEPUTY PROHIBITION AGENTS FOR NEW ENGLAND

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The treasury was advised today of the appointment of three deputy prohibition administrators by the prohibition administrators in New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine, respectively. The appointments included J. S. Lewis, for New Hampshire, Burt S. Hyland for Vermont and Seth May for Maine.

RECOMMENDATIONS ADOPTED BY THE CONNECTICUT F. OF L.

NEW BRITAIN, Sept. 9—The nomination of officers, the approval of all recommendations made by President Patrick O'Meara, of New Haven, the presentation of a resolution asking the delegates to support a fight to relieve the present situation relative to the state movie tax law and a heated discussion concerning the requirements of delegates to wear five union labels on their clothing, were the features of the afternoon session today of the convention of the Connecticut Federation of Labor.

President O'Meara's recommendations made in his opening speech included: A drive for cooperation among local unions; objections to the provision of the 18th amendment as it now stands; discouraging the turning out of semi-finished mechanics instead of thoroughly trained men in vocational schools; applying the present immigration laws; advocating the confining of political activities to the two major parties; advocating the establishment of labor banks; aggressive resistance to wage reductions; higher wages to injured workers by compensation laws; old age pensions; out of work insurance; election of public utility commissioners; election of court judges; establishment of a five day week; and home rule legislation.

The convention unanimously named President O'Meara as its only candidate for the nomination for president, John J. Egan, of Bridgeport was nominated to succeed himself as secretary-treasurer. The nominations for vice-presidents five of which are to be elected follow:

Arthur Wallace, representing the carpenters and joiners, Greenwich; Charles J. Moore, musicians, Torrington; Sidney Frank, electricians, Greenwich; Otto J. Scheutz, brewery workers, Hartford; Joseph H. Baker, tobacco, Waterbury; Renssalear Reade, painter, Meriden and Daniel A. Gorman, hatter, Danbury. The election will probably be held tomorrow morning.

Three cities were placed on nomination at which to hold the convention next year. They are Danbury, Stafford and Middletown.

The convention voted to amend the constitution so that instead of the secretary-treasurer receiving $800 a year as provided, he would be paid $6 a week and expenses. It was voted not to change the date of the convention from September to June.

TWO MEN WERE SHOT, DURING RIOT IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Sept. 9—Leon Brienner was shot and killed and Eric Hugberg was shot and seriously injured in a riot in the residential section here tonight. The trouble started when a negro family moved into a section previously inhabited only by white persons. The men shot were white.

Police reserves were called to the house last night when missiles were thrown through the windows in an effort to force the negroes to vacate. The negroes determined to hold the property and tonight a crowd estimated at several thousand persons gathered at the house.

According to witnesses, the crowd tonight made no attempt to injure the property, but the negroes, seeing the persons outside, opened fire. Both of the men struck by bullets lived in the block in which the house is located.

Hougberg told the police that he was walking past the house and was not in the mob that apparently provoked the negroes' attack. When police arrived they found the house packed with negroes. They were arrested.

MORE THAN 50,000,000 FEET OF LUMBER DESTROYED BY FIRE

HAWKESBURY, Ontario, Sept. 9.—(AP)—More than 50,000,000 feet of lumber, valued at approximately $2,000,000, the property of the Hawkesbury Lumber Company Ltd., was destroyed by fire today on the island of the Ottawa river where the company's yards, mills and houses are located just opposite this town.

WILLIMANTIC

Three thousand, three hundred and fifty-three pupils, 150 more than in 1924, registered in the schools of the town on the opening day, Wednesday. Exclusive of this number is the estimated enrollment of 185 pupils at the Willimantic State Normal School, 95 of whom are members of the Junior, or entering class.

It had been the general opinion that due to the influx of a large number of French families into the city to replace strikers at the thread mills, St. Mary's Parochial school would be overtaxed with a record breaking enrollment. It was stated at the school, however, that the registration Wednesday was smaller than that of the last school year, although it was expected that the total would be swollen considerably before the close of the week.

Principal Egbert A. Case gave out the following figures relative to the registrations at the Windham High School: Freshmen, 217 pupils; Sophomores, 174, 123 Juniors and 102 Seniors. The Senior class is the largest in the school history and the total enrollment exceeds that of previous years on the opening day by fifty pupils. This places all available space in the High School into occupancy and allows no room for increases in enrollment for this or succeeding years.

The changes in teachers in the various schools has been few. At St. Mary's and St. Joseph's schools practically the same Sisters have been returned to duty. The primary grades at St. Joseph's will open this (Thursday) morning with an anticipated registration of fifty.

The registration at the North Windham grammar school remained below forty Wednesday. Fifty pupils enrolled on the opening day last year. This is the largest decrease in any of the schools of the town, in comparative figures. This is explained by the fact that pupils who reside in Mansfield Center and Mansfield Hollow, who attended in North Windham last year, are now attending schools in Mansfield. Many of them are being accommodated in an addition which practically doubles the size of the Mansfield Hollow one-room school.

As near as could be learned none of the schools are overtaxed, although considerable work yet remains in placing the pupils in numbers as equal as possible in the various rooms. The list of town schools and the total enrollment follows:

Windham High School 630. St. Mary's School 695. St. Joseph's School 545. Windham Street Model School 556. Natchaug Grammar School 624. Windham Center School 162. South Windham School 51. North Windham School 38. Oaks School, Willimantic, 112. Total, 3,353.

The changes made in teachers of schools under town supervision are: Windham Center School—Miss Catherine Farrell, Grades 1 and 2; Miss Louise Adams, Grade 3 and 4.

Natchaug Grammar School—Miss Magdelene R. Moriarty, Grade 4; Miss Marion C. Healy, Grade 3; Miss Mary Grady, Grade 1.

South Windham School—Miss Mary Santoro, upper grade. Oaks School—Miss Ruth Ferguson.

Joseph Paquette of Park street, this city, was charged Wednesday morning in the police court with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. He pleaded guilty but displayed signs of repentence, stating that he had never been arrested before and was sorry for the act. His wife testified that he was a model husband. Judge Foss took these good qualifications into consideration and imposed the minimum fine of $100 and costs remitting $50 of the fine. The arrest was made by Officer Nicholas Orlando who saw the machine zigzag in the road and halted the driver.

Daniel Yakowleff, of 35 Main street, was charged on two counts with violation of the automobile law, in not giving the right of way and failure to change his address on his operator's license and registration card, after a removal of residence. Through Attorney Harvey the accused entered a demurrer, which was overruled by Judge Foss. Yakowleff backed his car out of a side street on lower Main street and in doing so the machine struck one owned by Joseph E. Martin of 9 William street, Lowell, Mass., which was parked on one side of the street. Yakowleff settled for the damage to Martin's car. The accused was fined $3 and costs, amounting to $8.15, which was paid.

Miss Emma Rondeau died at her home 112 Ives street, early Wednesday, after a long illness. She was born in St. Sauveur, Quebec, November 21, 1858, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Remi Rondeau. She was a devout member of St. Mary's church and highly respected by the many friends she had won during the forty years that she resided in this city. Miss Rondeau had been employed at the American Thread Company for thirty-three years and had remained in occupancy of the company's tenement at 112 Ives street during that period. Her death is the third to occur in the ranks of the strikers since the calling of the strike, in March. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Martin DeBlois and Mrs. Napoleon DeBlois, of this city, five step-sisters, Mrs. Wilfred Dupuis of Montreal, Miss Emelia Rondeau, Miss Alvina Rondeau, Miss Odilon Lamontagne and Miss Marieanna Rondeau all of Willimantic, three step-brothers, Laurea Rondeau of this city, Joseph of Detroit, Mich., and Adjutor Rondeau of this city.

President J. P. Quirlson was in charge of the quarterly meeting of the directors of the Welfare Bureau. The reports for the three summer months were read by the secretary. An informal discussion was then held on welfare problems arising in the town and city. Chief among them was the family problem in its many phases, caused for the most part by sickness—mental or physical—unemployment and inability or unwillingness to make proper adjustments within the family. Other cases discussed were immigration, compensation, court cases, committments, travelers' aid service, etc.

The following officers were elected at the last meeting of San Jose Council, No. 14, Knights of Columbus, at which Grand Knight P. A. Connor presided; he received a re-election for a second term; Deputy Grand Knight, James Healy; chancellor, James S. Donahue, Jr., warden, John Sugrue; financial secretary, John M. Brassfield; recording secretary, Walter Hughes; advocate, James F. Twomey; inner guard, Edward Sullivan; outer guard, Frank Klososki; treasurer, Thomas O'Brien; trustees, Gilbert P. Flynn and William Grady. An entertainment will be staged at the installation ceremonies.

The formal program was omitted at the weekly meeting and luncheon of the Willimantic Rotary club held on Wednesday noon in the Y. M. C. A. President Dr. C. E. Simonds was in charge. The club voted to furnish schedule cards for the Windham High school football season. The next evening meeting of the club will be September 16, in Mansfield Center where a program will be carried out, in charge of Rev. T. Hawthorne Jones, Samuel Chesbro and Sherman P. Hollister.

A bell alarm from Box 15 on Main street, opposite Mansfield avenue brought out all available fire fighting apparatus in the city, Tuesday night. The blaze, which had started in a clothes closet and spread to an adjoining room in the home of Morris Sussman of 1143 Main street was extinguished with one tank of chemicals. It was discovered by Arthur Lussier, a neighbor. The damage was slight.

Mr. and Mrs. George Delude entertained Tuesday night for their daughter Ernestine on her 12th birthday. Present were: Miss Janina and Knth erine Kaliskik, Clara Roy, Marie Anna and Cecilie Caron, Inas Loveland, Helen Muff, Ida Rosen, Leon, Mary, Russ and Irene Delude, Mitchell, Wilfrid Caron, Maxy Rosen, Emanuel Laberio, Willie Mazur, John Mazur, and John Stinel.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson gave a dinner party Tuesday evening in honor of the approaching marriage of their niece, Ruth Alberta Walker and Gilbert Blackburn both of Willimantic. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. James Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Walker and son William, W. H. Terry and Mrs. Stella Lathrop.

Fifty members of the St. Joseph Boy Scout band of this city leave today (Thursday) to participate in the concert contest at Charter Oak Park, Hartford, on Governor's Day.

Mrs. H. R. Woodward of Ashford has returned home following two month's illness at St. Joseph's hospital. Mr. Woodward still remains in a feeble condition. He is being cared for by his daughter Miss Alice and a nurse.

The engagement of Miss Blanche Charron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Charron of Hartford, formerly of this city, to William Charles Mudge, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Mudge of Westerly, R. I., has been announced.

BIGAMY CASE COMES UP IN SUPERIOR COURT WED.

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 9—The criminal term of the Windham county superior court for September resumed sessions Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock with Judge Christopher L. Avery on the bench.

Michael Renejowski of this city, charged with having in his possession a dangerous weapon, August 3rd, last, was brought to trial. Through County Defender Charles L. Torrey the accused changed his plea from not guilty to guilty. Judge Avery later announced that the sentence of the lower court of a fine of $5 and 15 days in jail would be sustained. Renejowski had carried a piece of broom handle about a foot long with a double elbow of a one inch lead pipe attached to the end. He was arrested during a disturbance near the American Thread Company mills.

Oscar St. Laurent of Putnam, charged with bigamy, pleaded guilty. St. Laurent married Anna Gaucher in 1904. August 31, 1924 he married Irene Falter, of Woodstock, and continued to live with the latter. Judge Avery took two phases of the case into consideration in passing judgment. The first was that St. Laurent's first wife was willing to divorce him and the second was his record during the World war. St. Laurent was committed to jail for a term of one year with a proviso that at the conclusion of that time he marry the Falter woman in legal manner. Upon his failure to marry his alleged second wife the sentence would be revised as a more severe one.

There was a short recess and when court reopened, the divorce proceedings instituted by Mrs. St. Laurent No. 1 were taken up. She was represented by Attorney Torrey. She testified that she was Anna Gaucher of Worcester, Mass., and had married Oscar St. Laurent January 18, 1904. Two children were born to them, one having died. The other, a girl, Silvia Viola St. Laurent, was born March 23, 1905. The grounds for divorce were established as bigamy and by reason of defendant being convicted of the same crime. Judge Avery granted the decree and allowed Mrs. St. Laurent the custody of her daughter.

The continued cases of six Woodstock boys charged with statutory burglary in the village of South Woodstock, January 25, March 3, and March 5 of this year were then taken up. They were represented by Attorney Charles L. Torrey as guardian ad litem. The youths worked in various combinations but all were implicated in one or the other of the series of crimes. It was explained by Special State Attorney Howard Bradford. Articles valued at about $200 were stolen from the homes of Clarence W. Bowen, Gustave Erickson and H. Gustonis. Previous breaks had been made by the boys, but complete restitution had been made in these cases and they were not included in the charges. All of the boys agreed to repay for the stolen property or return such stolen articles as they still possessed. According to the amount of leadership each of the boys took in the breaks, they were assessed in percentages for the amounts to be restored. Two of the older boys were sentenced to the state reformatory, with judgment suspended and they were placed in the care of Special Probation Officer Robert E. Harris of South Woodstock, for one year. The younger boys were given suspended sentences to the School for Boys and placed in charge of Mr. Harris for one year. In the case of the oldest of the boys Attorney Torrey stated that the young man had made application to join the U. S. Navy. Judge Avery stated that if the lad actually enlisted in the Navy, he would revoke the probation sentence in order to give him a chance to begin service with a clean record.

John Dvanchas of Worcester, Mass., charged with violation of the rules of the road in failing to keep his car to the right at the time of a collision of his car with one driven by Peter Staskwitz in the town of Thompson, August 2nd, was presented before the jury for arrival late in the afternoon. The case was continued until Thursday. This case is the first to be tried by jury during the session. The jury drawn to try the case is James Sunderland, Ashford; Oliver Sabins, Canterbury; Clifford M. Burdick, Chaplin; Oliver P. Bartlett and Ray A. Whipple, Killingly; Frank W. Daggett and James Coffey, Plainfield; Henry Racicot, Scotland; Arthur Mills and Herbert Dillaber, Thompson; B. E. Eddy and Franklin Walker, Woodstock.

CHARLES DANSEREAU GIVEN STATE PRISON SENTENCE

The case of Charles Dansereau of the town of Plainfield, charged with receiving stolen property on four counts was the ultra-interesting case of the day as it had been predicted to be a long-drawn out case, to be tried by jury. A large number of witnesses was on hand to give testimony. Following the calling of the panel and the excusing of several of the jurymen, those selected to hear the case were sworn in by Assistant Clerk of the Court Miss Marjorie Bradford. The information relative to the case was then explained to the jury by Special State Attorney Bradford.

It was charged that Dansereau, who is 52 had received in his possession, July 9 of this year, a Dodge coupe which had been stolen from Irving H. Joffe of Worcester, Mass., the identity of the thief not being known but it being established that Dansereau was fully aware of the fact that the machine was a stolen one. A similar charge was entered in the case of the theft of a Reo speedwagon from the G. F. Stimpson Company in Worcester, Mass., in July of 1924. The Dodge was valued at $1,000 and the Reo at $1,200. An amendment to the information was entered by Attorney Bradford to the effect that Dansereau had been convicted in Worcester May 24, 1894 for horse stealing and sentenced to thirteen years in jail. He was convicted by the Windham county superior, October 15, 1920, for the theft of cattle and sentenced to a term in jail of from two to three years, and has otherwise established a police record. At this point court adjourned for lunch.

The session was resumed at 1:45 o'clock and after the jury had came in it was announced that Dansereau would change his plea to guilty. Upon his doing so Judge Avery imposed a sentence of from eight to ten years on the second count and of three years on state's prison on the third. Court was adjourned until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

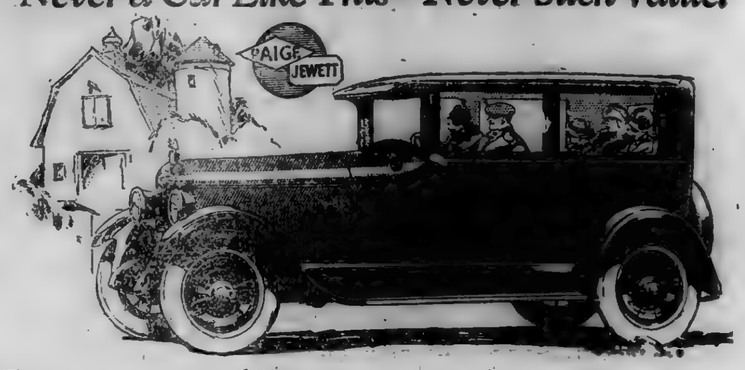
"Never a Car Like This—Never Such Value!"



Improved Jewett Gives Larger Finer Car for Less Money

Greater sales, greater enthusiasm than ever before greeted this comparison-proof Jewett Coach.

And no wonder! For in roominess and fine riding quality—in quality of detail—in sheer ability on the road—in value, Jewett Coach leads the field.

Here is roominess like in big sedans—only without their bulk. We recently added more roominess. And added length gives amazing new riding case. Take any road you find at the speed you like to ride. Jewett Coach will do it restfully.

Never Such Performance!

To drive Jewett Coach is to experience a brand of performance that's utterly new and amazing. Power that pulls the hardest hills on high and carries you along open stretches at 60 and better.

You'll realize that Jewett has put two to three thousand dollar engineering into a car that sells for $1245. That's why Jewett performance is taken for granted wherever motor cars are sold.

And you can expect this kind of performance from Jewett Coach for years without worry of upkeep cost, for it's a sturdy, well-built car throughout. That's why Jewett is worth more than ordinary cars. Because Jewett has been unwilling to sacrifice quality in a single detail.

August Jewett sales this year exceed August, 1924, by 131%, emphatic proof of this car's great new value.

Let us show you today what this new motor car satisfaction really means—yourself at the wheel.

More entrance space than any Coach. Enter or leave rear without disturbing those in front

Many Important Improvements

A new air cleaner adds years of service—insures clean air—clean oil—clean cylinders. Greater freedom from carbon, scored cylinders and worn bearings—increased motor life are the results. Light switch is now conveniently at hand on the steering gear. Indirect lighting on the dash diminates glare. Gear shift and emergency brake levers are moved forward to provide clear floor space in front—and many other improvements. (616-3)

New lower prices on all improved Jewett models as follows: Coach $1245, De Luxe Touring $1320, De Luxe Coach $1400, De Luxe Roadster $1500, De Luxe Sedan $1680. Prices f. o. b. Detroit, tax extra. Paige-hydraulic 4-wheel brakes at slight extra cost

One Emergency
proves its value

Fire, a burglar, sudden illness—you need help at once.

If you are faced with an emergency, will you have to lose precious moments running through dark rooms to the telephone?

Not if you have an extension telephone in your bedroom! When you need it most, it is within reach of your hand, ready to summon speedy assistance.

Its worth in one emergency will be many times its small cost.

An extension telephone is an additional telephone connected to your present line, having the same number, and, like your present telephone, used for both making and receiving calls.

Conveniently located in your home, its cost (after a moderate connection charge) is less than 2 cents a day.

Call our local Business Office for further information, or—better yet—save time by giving your order for an extension telephone at once.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

While a band is playing a concert and entertaining the multitude on Davis Park this (Thursday) evening a more or less secret konclave of citizens will be in progress in Danielson, selecting hand-picked candidates for both the republican and democratic town tickets, to be named at caucuses scheduled for Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, respectively.

This should interest an electorate that has paid little or no attention this year to party tickets, or those whose names might appear upon them. It is due notice to the average man and woman to be at either one or the other of the caucuses and see that nothing is put over on them, if they have any interest at all partywise, in the republican or democratic organizations of the town. Organizations or groups that work in the dark seldom have the real welfare of the community at heart.

It has come to light that the conference scheduled for this evening contemplates no thought of party lines—it is entirely non-partisan, on the surface. But it has an ulterior motive.

Overtures to attend the conference have been turned down cold by party leaders who have only their party interests at stake, and as responsible and accountable citizens in these capacities.

An unadulterated citizens' party movement, with no regard for any powerful party unit is one thing. It is to be respected as entirely legitimate and worthy of those who would break old ties and venture into new and promising fields. A conference that seeks to dominate by using elements of power from the republican party and, likewise, from the democratic party and that operates as secretly as may be and undercover is an entirely different proposition. It is a bid to use the strength of the republican party and the strength of the democratic party to further such questionable ends of its own as it dare not proclaim publicly.

There is no legal, legitimate Citizens' party in the town of Killingly. Attempts to introduce one the past few years have failed miserably—the records will attest this. No Citizens' ticket has obtained enough votes to be legally recognized as such. There is no Citizens' party caucus list. There has been nothing but a name.

A solicitor of attendance at the citizens' meeting scheduled for this evening has gone out of the way to explain that both republican and democrats will be present. Here is admission of loyalty to neither of the dominant political parties in this town. It is enough—or should be for the average voter.

The object of tonight's secret meeting is to vent spite, prejudice and related evils that need not be mentioned on those of the republican and democratic organizations who do not conform to a new and amazing code of ethics.

This information is given publicity for the welfare of the town of Killingly, a remarkably good town that cannot afford to indulge a pitiable minority in any innate foolishness. Killingly must go on to greater things. It cannot stop where it is and will not!

What has been said here is with a view to awakening all of the electors of Killingly to their responsibilities as voters. If they elect to miss this week's caucuses and something happens to displease them, they will have only themselves to blame—and will be the laughing stock of a handful of people not loyal to any political party. This applies equally to the republicans and to the democrats.

The Bulletin is in possession of information as to where tonight's secret konclave is to be held and as to what it is hoped to do there. Publication of this information is deferred, in view of the statements herewith given for the general information of the voters of Killingly, without regard to party lines.

Wednesday afternoon at the home of his son, Charles A. Tillinghast, North Main street, a prayer service for Thomas Avery Tillinghast, who died at Salisbury, N. C., last Saturday, was conducted by Rev. M. Joseph Twomey, pastor of Peddie Memorial church, Newark, N. J., formerly pastor of Danielson Baptist church. This was followed by a funeral service at the Tillinghast Memorial chapel in Evergreen cemetery, Central Village, the chapel service also conducted by Rev. Mr. Twomey. Many relatives and friends of Mr. Tillinghast, who was long a resident in Brooklyn and for a time in Killingly before he went south, attended the service. Burial was in the Tillinghast Memorial plot in Evergreen cemetery, where generations of the family, long identified with the affairs of Windham county, lie at rest. The floral tributes, numbering among them pieces from friends in the south, were exceptionally beautiful.

The bearers were Charles A. Tillinghast, Everett T. Tillinghast, both of Danielson, Willis A. Tillinghast, Hendersonville, N. C., sons of the deceased, Clinton F. Pellett, Danielson, a son-in-law and F. W. Tillinghast and Arthur Tillinghast of Plainfield, nephews. F. W. Tillinghast and sons of Central Village were the funeral directors.

Numbered among the relatives who came from afar were Elbert Tillinghast of Upper Montclair, N. J., E. M. Tillinghast of West Brookfield, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. George Lyon, Woodstock, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Ingamells of St. Louis, Mo. It was a source of regret to the members of the family that Mrs. Tillinghast, who is at Salisbury, and Mr. Tillinghast's sister, resident on Sisten Island, were unable to attend the funeral services on account of ill health.

Mr. Tillinghast was a member of the Danielson Baptist church for many years.

In the highways and by-ways of Danielson and other parts of the town of Killingly Wednesday, there was repeated with the grave sympathy that should attend such a recital how an old and rusted automobile under which the skeletons of four people were pinned and had been found down at the foot of a steep embankment on the Providence highway, a few miles east of here. The car bore a Florida registration of 1924, and all the ghastly evidence would tend to indicate that four people, evidently touring, had perished in some untoward happening, about a year ago.

That makes a more or less goose-flesh beguiling and soul-racking story for the average person. There is only one trouble with it. It is a 100 per cent. untrue, and may the One Hundred Percenters forgive this sacrilegious misuse of what has come to be a more or less sacred fetish.

Rambling on, it might be asserted that these same four people were found dead last September at the foot of a cliff on the Mohawk trail. That season they were killed in a car bearing an Illinois registration and had been dead fourteen months before found. The year before that, they were killed in the White Mountains in a car that was from Texas. Talk about a cat with nine lives. Mention the gullibility of people! It's a million to one shot that there's still a wonderful market for gold bricks. At any rate, there's a big market for wood alcohol as a basis for wonderful Scotch highballs!

Swimming in the brooks of Killingly and nearby towns this (Thursday) morning are fingerling trout that were released by members of the Danielson Rod and Gun club from 30 cans sent from the state fish hatchery. Here's information free and uncontaminated with any political slant—a boon to all of those who like to angle for the wily trout as well as those who care not a darn about fishing, but are wonderful feeders when a mess of perfected cuisined trout are placed before them.

This release was an incident of the steady work the Danielson Rod and Gun club has carried on this year and in other recent years to restock the brooks of Killingly and nearby Windham county towns. It is largely a labor of love. The club members care not who get the trout when they are grown to catching size, asking for themselves only the joy of a few whours along an alluring stream, shut off from a busy world and with only the wonders of nature to contemplate.

Danielson may preen itself on the fact that it has a savings institution—the Brooklyn Savings bank—that is edging right close to listing resources in excess of $5,000,000. Theres a record for savings institutions in the county—it tops them all! Depositors of the institution received Wednesday statements showing resources of the institution on September 1, a dividend date, as $4,995,349.78. This bank had its inception in the neighboring town of Brooklyn in 1872, a matter of record that Danielson will never ignore, and under a system of management that has never varied from a policy of a live conversativeness has grown and grown untill it is the daddy of the savings institutions in Windham county today, insofar as resources are concerned,and is enjoying a growth that is healthy, steady and apparently of unlimited possibilities. The country is still very young, as countries go. J. Arthur Atwood is president of this bank, F. A. Jacobs vice-president, Sidney W. Bard treasurer and Charles Bragg, Central Village, senior member of the board of trustees.

As screenings from the daily deluge of gossip goes, there is special interest in the theory that the fire at the Fred Smith store in Hopkins Mills, ten mile seast of here, last Sunday morning, was incendiary. A story to be heard Wednesday, dealing, of cougse, with a theory, was that robbers loaded trucks with goods from the Smith store stock, replenished and all set for the winter trade, then set the place afire and drove off. While this is no more than the belief of numbers of people, it is of interest. Mr. Smith stands to lose thousands of dollars, as his insurance was nowhere near adequate to cover his loss.

Kenneth Kornelius Kopernicus—candidate for an office in Killingly! A regular guy, no doubt, and with a full quota of K's! But he was the eliminator of the Copernican system. Somebody is sure to vote against him just for that. Didn't it spell progress? And wasn't it unAmerican?

Friday night, at the home of Joseph Birch, on the West Side there is to be a meeting of themembers of the Windham County Kennel club to talk over the project of having a dog show at Brooklyn fair.

Killingly, unfortunately, is like New York in one respect. It has an impending election. All of which suggests a prospective newspaper headline: "Hylan Breaks Right Arm Patting Self on Back."

C. A. Fitts of North Amherst, Mass., classmate at Northeastern university, Boston, of Max Bretschneider of Mechanic street, has been a visitor here with Mr. Bretschneider. They resume their studies next week.

Lieut. Charles Hibbard, U. S. N., son of Dr. Nathaniel and Mrs. Hibbard of Reynolds street, has left there after a few days' visit with his parents to assume an important post in the U. S. naval establishment at Honolulu. Lieut. Hibbard is a specialist in submarine construction and operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Young have been spending a few days at their cottage at Oakland Beach.

Though no definite checkup had been possible, due to the work of organization of classes for the year, it was indicated Wednesday, at the opening of St. James' schools on Franklin street and Connecticut Mills village that over 500 pupils were enrolled.

Chief John McFarland, republican, will not be a candidate this year for re-election as a constable of the town of Killingly. Chief McFarland's duties as an officer of the borough requires all his time.

There was a meeting of the Danielson Girls' club, Tuesday evening, at which plans of interest to the club were discussed. Refreshments were served.

J. Carl Witter was at Granby, this state, Wednesday, to conduct an important auction sale.

Wednesday evening dances at Wildwood park have been discontinued for the season by Manager P. J. Sheridan. Saturday evening dances are to continue indefinitely.

A new hose nozzle with a barrier, circular spray of water around the heavy streamto be directed at the fire has been added to the equipment of the fire department by Chief A. P. Woodward.

There was another exodus from this section Wednesday of those who like to attend fairs.

Of interest is the fact that the Danielson Chamber of Commerce, with the provision that the present state highway between Danielson and Central Village is maintained has approved plans for an auxiliary state highway contemplating the development of the Green Hollow road.

The worried look on many a man's face this week is due to his fear of the effects of an edict of fashion—arbitrarily fixing Tuesday of next week, September 15, as the day ultimate on which straw hats may be worn this season. Every woman in the land is entitled to at least one laugh about this.

How Mrs. V. R. Sweet Lost 40 Pounds—

She explains it below to every reader overburdened with excess FAT

Wonderful French formula works wonders even in most stubborn cases of obesity—NO DIETS—DANGEROUS DRUGS OR EXERCISES.

Hundreds of letters of fat people who have reduced with SAN-GRI-NA tell the same story as Mrs. Sweet, of Albion, Idaho.

"I was able to take off several pounds of fat every week without any effort or harmful effect—at the same time I greatly improved my health—I ate all I wanted, did not have to exercise or take dangerous drugs and thanks to SAN-GRI-NA my dream of getting back to my normal weight is at last realized.

If you are a fat woman let me tell you what to do: Get a box of SAN-GRI-NA today, take two small tablets before your meals and safely lose a few pounds of excess fat each week—It took four boxes of SAN-GRI-NA to reduce me of forty pounds—It made me look at least ten years younger and entirely transformed my health and appearance. I gladly sign my name to this letter because I am happy to be able to help every fat man or woman regain a slender, healthy, normal figure.—Mrs. V. R. Sweet.

NOTICE—SAN-GRI-NA is a scientific discovery made up from the formula of one of the best French medical authorities on obesity—It is guaranteed absolutely harmless and not to contain dangerous drugs or chemicals—IT HAS REDUCED HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE WHERE EVERYTHING ELSE HAD FAILED—SAN-GRI-NA is not a new, untried or unknown formula—it was used for years in Europe by most reliable obesity specialists with remarkable success. It has now been introduced in America and is sold by the leading druggists at a price within the reach of all.

On sale at any good drug or department store. If your druggist does not carry SAN-GRI-NA in stock he can get it from his wholesaler or you can send a money order or check for $1.50 direct to Scientific Research Laboratories, 1841 Broadway, N. Y. C.

REDUCING TAXES

On the question of tax reduction there is no doubt where the president stands. He has advocated it and urged it repeatedly and believes that the people are entitled to it now. Thus it is in keeping with his policy when he favors the application of any reduction to the tax bills that will be levied for the present year.

Income taxes are not due for 1925 until next March. That of course allows plenty of time in which to determine what the reduction is going to be and have the blanks made out accordingly. That is there is plenty of time if it is properly used. There is no time to be wasted. Congress must get down to business and expedite matters if it is going to give this reduction to those who must pay taxes on 1925 incomes without causing delay and a hustle in the last few days.

There seems to be no question but what tax reduction is coming. The president fully understands the demand and it will be a most surprising situation if it is not realized by congress. With government expenditures kept down that tax reduction may be obtained it is proper that the taxpayers of this year should get the benefit of it and not wait for another year before getting the reduction. Relief from burdensome taxation or taxation which is not necessary, cannot come too soon. The quicker it is extended the quicker the benefit will be felt and that is what the public is clamoring for.

There are those who have nevertheless done, their best to obstruct tax reduction. Probably there will be those who will do so in the coming session, opening in December. It is not to be expected that there will be such haste displayed as will result in an imperfect tax bill, but there is good and sufficient reason for a safe amount of speed and an early determination of this matter which means so much to the people in general. There is no excuse for dilly dallying about such a step and creating a large amount of confusion as the days come for filling the tax returns. Early consideration and early action will meet the situation.

BURDENING AUTO OWNERS

Among the complaints that are being registered are those by the automobilists who figure that they are being taxed altogether too much. They are obliged to pay a tax on the purchase price of the machine, to pay a property tax, to obtain registration and driver's license, to pay a tax on certain parts and to pay a tax on the fuel they use. They squirm and insist that it is too much.

In the state of New York there has been a hot fight waged for the reducing of grade crossings and considerable support has been given to the idea of a large bond issue for the purpose of meeting the situation. It has of course met with strong opposition and one of the suggestions that has made in an apparent effort to upset such a plan is to require the railroads to meet half of the expense of such work and have the state provide the rest, the state share of the expense being raised through the imposition of a tax on gasoline.

In New York as elsewhere grade crossing elimination has been regarded as a proper expense for the entire state or for such part at least of the work as the state must bear, but according to this idea the grade crossing expense, other than what is met by the railroads, would be passed along to the automobile owners. That this plan would be received with a howl of protest can be expected. The overburdened automobile owner is carryingenough . He can raise no very great objection to the payment of a special gasoline tax when the proceeds therefrom go to the building or maintenance of highways, something which serves his requirements and contributes to his comfort, but when he is made the object of taxation for purposes which come under general taxation he has grounds for kicking and can be expected to make himself heard. The New York idea is simply put forth as a suggestion. It seems highly probable that it will get no further unless we greatly misjudge the temper of the automobile owners of the Empire state. Those who consider they are burdened enough are not going to stand still while an addition is being made to their load.

AN EFFECTIVE LAW.

When this country set out to restrict immigration by limiting the number of aliens who could enter it adopted the quota system by which only a certain percentage of those from the respective countries already in the United States would be allowed to come in. It was desired and intended to keep down the hordes from abroad at a time when it was believed they would be particularly anxious to emigrate. Restrictions have been increased since they were first established but from figures which have just been made public it is shown that there has been a reduction in immigration of 66 per cent and it is impossible to attribute it to anything else than the immigration law.

While the immigrants last year totalled just over 294,000 there were those who returned home to a total of more than 90,000 so that the net increase in aliens in this country was just over 200,000 which means a decrease of more than 400,000 from the previous year.

The quota restrictions in this country unquestionably brought the check desired but they do not appear to have stood in the way of many others coming had they desired since there were a half dozen countries which failed to exhaust their quotas Czechoslovakia being 17 per cent short and even Italy, which has complained so much about the effects of the restrictive law, might have sent ten per cent more than it did.

In the halting of the tide of immigration the results aimed at have been secured. We are still getting aliens from abroad and from neighboring countries where quota restrictions do not apply, but we are much better able to take care of them than under the old plan when all who could meet the immigration test could get in. That Europe is providing different conditions than it did is recognized at the present time, but we have gotten away from unrestricted immigration and there is no prospect that there will be any immediate change.

"SCHOOLHOUSE AHEAD."

Throughout the summer the increasing tide of automobile traffic has been paying little attention to the occasional signs "Schoolhouse ahead. Drive slowly." It hasn't been necessary because the schoolhouses have not been occupied. But schools are again in session and the signs should be heeded.

It is an unfortunate fact that many of the automobile fatalities involve children. Their disposition is to center their attention upon what they are doing and upon leaving school they are inclined to dash into the street in their haste to get away or in their play. Many give little or no thought to the danger that is involved in such action. They do not stop to visualize the auto that may be bowling along at a rapid rate or coming from around a corner. They are forgetful and prone to ignore warnings. It is therefore important that auto drivers should be prepared to meet such emergencies and do whatever lies within their power to prevent injuries and death.

This can best be done by having the machines under control when they are approaching schoolhouses and observance of the warning that is given by the caution signs will be of great benefit in meeting such situations.

Thus the opening of school means something to the automobile driver. It means that while he has had no reason to pay any attention to such signs in the last two months they actually stand for something now. It is far better to respect the signs and encounter no children at all than to disregard them and be the cause of crippling or killing some youngester.

Be on the lookout for schoolhouse signs and remember that—school is again in session.

MENTAL DEFECTIVES.

Coming close after the Noel case in New Jersey is one of similar character in New York city where a young man on parole from an insane hospital stalked the object of his animosity until he got him where he wanted him and then shot him dead.

In this instance the young man had brooded over the fact that seven years ago a delicatessen dealer had been of striking his mother over the head with a cane following a dispute over a small sum of money. The dealer was acquitted but the young man continued his ill feeling and determination to have revenge until his mother recognized the danger and had him placed in an insane hospital. He had remained there for 17 months and less that two weeks ago was released on parole. His first move was to carry out the purpose which he had apparently continued to harbor. He was able to acquire a revolver and take the life of another.

Here are two instances brought to attention within a short time that show how seriously the public is menaced by those who are permitted their liberty when it is known that they have threatened the lives of others and are mentally defective.

The New York young man was out under parole. A test was being made of his condition. That test was being made upon the public with the result that one man has been murdered in cold blood. Such cases certainly do not create confidence in the judgment and methods of certain of our alienists. Either there was a condition which was poorly diagnosed or else there was a disposition to take a chance with the young man that experience has shown to have been entirely unwarranted. Taking chances with mental defectives which have shown a dangerous disposition certainly does not contribute to public safety.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Conditions are ripe now for the robbers to turn their attention to the filled coal bins.

The man on the corner says: It's about time for some to complain that it is two cold for comfort.

School days. How they are longed for by those who cannot have them and frowned upon by those for whom they are scheduled.

The only discernible prejudice against the two dollar bills is that they do not command as much in trade as the five dollar bills.

Of course the coal strike is young as yet, but a strike in that region under peaceful conditions shows a marked contrast to similar situations in the past.

The mayor of New York has been deprived of the city's radio broadcasting station for political purposes. Think of a mayor getting such rough treatment in New York.

New York gives indications that it has had enough of Hylan. But Hylan was the product of Tammany and is there any more reason to expect anything different of one Tammany candidate than of another?

THE SEWING CIRCLE

"Why is a clam supposed to be happy?" inquired the fluffy-haired blond, pensively.

"Is it a conundrum or a philosophy?" asked the young matron with the auburn wave, rolling her eyes at the speaker as she stooped to bite off a thread.

"Neither," said the fluffy-haired blond. "I was merely yearning for information. I saw some today at the market, and they looked so cosy and spineless in a state of nature that I couldn't help wondering."

"Like the hostess at a dinner party we went to last week," contributed the young matron with the auburn wave. "When the clams were served she remarked that she was always a bit afraid of clams, and she only hoped those wouldn't kill us all. They were not fatal, as it proved, but her suggestion gave me such an extraordinary feeling inside me that the roast had a funny flavor to me somehow, and the salad tasted weird and even the almond ice cream, which is usually my favorite dessert, was a total loss."

"Well, my sympathies are with the hostess, anyway, on general principles," affirmed the fluffy-haired blond. "We are without a cook at present, the jewel we have had for six months having decided to marry the iceman who delivers in our block."

"Gracious me," interrupted the newest member, looking her alarm. "Do you mean that terribly handsome, big man with a bass voice?"

"Absolutely. Why?"

"Why enough," wailed the newest member. "I am told he is the matrimonial catch of the neighborhood, that iceman. A regular—"

"Regular devil with the ladies?" suggested the fluffy-haired blond politely.

"Exactly," agreed the newest member. "And my maid also has been the recipient of his attentions. Now I shall lose her, of course."

"Oh, maybe not," advised the fluffy-haired blond cheerfully. "Our Gusta tells me that when she removes him from the matrimonial market she moves hi maiso to another route, nearer to her place of residence, and that his brother will get his present job. Maybe the brother is an Adonis, too. Anyway, don't look so worried. Have you visitors coming, or what?"

"Yes, visitors," said the newest member. "Relatives of my husband, from Mississippi. Three of them are coming in a bunch, and I don't even know how long they intend to stay. I'm not clever at housekeeping, either. Somehow I can't seem to have company successfully in the casual way others do."

"Oh, time will cure that trouble," comforted the fluffy-haired blond. "But how come you issue such—er—blanket invitations, anyway?"

"Really, I don't know," groaned the newest member. "Five years ago I made a solemn resolution never again to tender another invitation of that kind, but you know how things do happen sometimes to make it necessary."

"What was the occasion of the vow five years ago?" inquired the young matron with the auburn wave.

"Oh," said the newest member, giggling reminiscently, "that was in the spring I was graduated from college. I went to Smith, you know. My family came back home right after commencement, but I stayed on a few days to do this and that, and when we parted at the station here, I said to her, 'You must come to visit me sometime soon.' And she looked at me and said, 'When shall I come? Next month?'"

The sewing circle gasped.

"Did she actually come?" inquired the fluffy-haired blond incredulously.

"Yes, indeed," the new member assured her. "She came and stayed three weeks. Her brother was living here at a club, so he came to see her." The newest member looked confused and blushed gently. "You see, I married the brother," she added.

"Oh!" said the sewing circle, delightedly.

"His sister says she had it all planned from the first," confessed the newest member. "She is married now to a rich cotton broker."

"One of those general manager persons?" murmured the fluffy-haired blond with a commiserating glance. "And she's coming to visit you again now?"

The newest member nodded, dumbly.

"You poor thing!" said the sewing circle, in heartfelt sympathy.—Exchange.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Bible.

Mr. Editor:—It is strange that no one has answered Mr. Boardman's complaint that the Bible is filled with mistakes.

Bible is the most wonderful of books. In God. The price of eternal life is to believe Jesus the son of God died that we might be saved.

Because one does not understand is no proof that truth is not there.

Few undcrstand a telephone and no one knows what electricity is but we all use both.

Good gifts have to be sought in the right way and we have to ask properly to receive. Taken this way the Bible is the most wonderful of books.

THE GONDOLA FIGHTS FOR ITS LIFE

A demonstration by indignant gondoliers in Venice because of the increasing use of motor-boats on the canals of the city may have the most elementary economic consideration at its roots—the fight to hold one's job—but there was much more at the bottom of it as well, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Venice's environment evolved the gondola almost as truly as an aquatic life changed legs into flippers for seals or put web feet on ducks," says the bulletin. "Venice not only has 'water avenues,' large canals in which motor-boats can operate, but also many scores of narrow and shallow 'water lanes' and 'water alleys' where the use of mechanically propelled craft would be out of the question. Probably no other boat as large as a gondola, even though driven by oar or pole, could navigate these small channels successfully. Extreme lightness of draft, and ability to turn and swerve about agilely are the chief requirements made by Venice's canal traffic, and every line and curve of a gondola seems designed to achieve these ends.

"This distinctive craft is more like a skate gliding over a surface than a boat ploughing into it. Both ends are curved up and the bottom is flattened. The weight of the gondolier in the stern tends to raise the prow; and the boat seems eager to climb out of the water at every stroke. Although a few motor-boats have operated satisfactorily for years on the broad Grand Canal, one can imagine their troubles in a traffic jam on even the medium-sized waterways to be not unlike those of a farm tractor set down among the darting, dodging taxicabs of Fifth Avenue.

"Even if it were not surely protected by the existence of the smaller canals, sentiment would fight ably with the gondoliers for the life of their institution—for it is little less. One can hardly imagine Venice without gondolas. And the gondoliers themselves are an important factor in Venetian life. Henry James called these sturdy, sun-burned, water-loving men 'the true children of Venice.' They typify much more closely than the merchants and artisans and gentry, on their pile-made ground, the spirit of the founders of Venice who built up among the waters the unequaled maritime world power of its day.

"The visitor to Venice for the first time is sure to be disappointed in the appearance of the gondola. So much that is romantic has been associated with these boats that the stranger unconsciously expects them to be gaily decorated. But each is like all the rest, a somber, unrelieved black. The powerful council of the old Venetian republic provided for this dusky hue back in the sixteenth century, and the requirement has been followed as faithfully ever since as if the mighty Ten still held unquestioned powers of life and death over all the citizenry. One explanation of the queer law is that Venetians were squandering too much money vying with one another in decking their gondolas with costly trappings. Another is that it was to lend prestige to authority. At any rate the edict excepted the gondolas of the Doge and the foreign ambassadors which were richly embellished in gold and crimson.

"At the height of Venetian prosperity the wealth of certain individuals might be measured by the number of gondolas they maintained as in America today one's bank account may sometimes be inferred from the automobiles he owns. At the present time there are relatively few privately owned gondolas. They serve as taxicabs with 'stands' at prominent points along the canal banks. Some Venetian families hire a gondolier and his boat from month to month; and as is true of chauffeurs in some moderately well-to-do families in the United States, the gondolier, when not rowing his boat, may act as butler or general man-servant about the house.

"The gondola is first mentioned in manuscripts of 1094 A. D., but had probably been evolving from forms not greatly different since the first Venetians took up their abode on the lagoon mud-banks several centuries earlier. The unusual craft has flourished only where it was born, and is hardly known in other parts of the world save as a curiosity, or to give a breath of Venice to the ornamental lakes of World Fairs. One of the few transplantations of the gondola that has been attempted was to the Grand Canal that Louis XIV built at Versailles in 1674. These boats, a gift of Venice, unlike their patterns, were brilliantly decorated. A colony of Italian gondoliers and their families was established in the Parisian suburb and remained until the French Revolution."

Stories That Recall Others

Weather Made to Order

Jackie, age six, had been told he might go to the seashore if it didn't rain. The night before the grand and glorious day his mother suggested that, before he went to sleep he should ask God to bring nice weather, for the contemplated trip.

"Did you pray to God as I asked you to?" the mother inquired next day.

"Yes," responded Jackie, and he said, "It ain't gonna rain no more."

Father is Now Satisfied.

A certain young woman married and moved to a central west state a couple of years ago, but that didn't convince her New England father that get anything there that would equal the New England corn meal. Periodically a sack of it was sent as a gift to the new home in spite of the repeated assurances from the daughter that she was living in the corn belt.

This summer fathes made his first visit to his daughter in her new home. "Daughter," he said solemnly alighting from the train, "I've seen enough corn to feed the world," and he came home with a firm resolve that it would not be necessary to forward any more corn meal to the corn belt.

How to Remove Superfluous Hair —FOREVER

Modern science definitely proves that the safest and surest way to remove superfluous hair forever is by the repeated removal of the hair roots themselves. For Karma's marvelous ingredients, applied almost as easily as cold cream, penetrate directly to the hair roots, speedily loosen them, and gently lift them out—leaving the skin clean, smooth and even lovelier than before. No fuss, no bother, no growing back of hair stronger than ever. The cause of hair growth has been removed!

Why suffer the humiliation of superfluous hair a day longer? Get Karma today and try it! It is positively guaranteed to remove superfluous hair safely and forever—or money refunded. Sold by all good dealers such as G. C. Engler Drug Store, H. M. Lerou Drug Store, Porteous & Mitchell Co.

From Small Beginnings

William Alexander Founder of a College

When William Alexander, a Kentucky boy, having gained a common school education, resolved to go to college even if he had to work his way through, he little dreamed that he was taking the first step toward a great work in foreign lands and toward the founding of a college that would rise to prominence.

"In the early part of the 19th Century, college was by no means as expensive as it is now, but, on the other hand, in those days money was most difficult to obtain. Young Alexander found it very trying indeed to gain enough money for his support, not to speak of gaining enough to pay his way through four years of training. He worked at anything that offered honest money but he was able to save most from money earned by teaching. He entered Centre College, in the Blue-grass region of Kentucky, studied hard and continued work for self-support. In 1826 he graduated and at once entered Princeton Theological Seminary. On his graduation he resolved to use his education in missionary work in the South Seas.

When he was 26 he made the long and dangerous voyage on a sailing vessel to Honolulu. At that time the present beautiful city of Honolulu did not exist. Instead, there were a few trading huts and a multitude of savage natives. In this place, a half years voyage from home and friends, the young man worked and taught with such success that he was sent to the wilder Society Islands and the still wilder Marquesas. In the latter islands he worked for eight months, practically alone among cannibals. He then returned to the Hawaiian Islands where he held a great revival. Much of his work in the various islands determined in teaching the young. He became increasingly interested in education, translated a geometry and books on navigation, and finally united with other interested people in establishing what is now known as Oahu College in Honolulu.

In his later days he devoted himself to the writing of books, with the purpose of increasing general education. He must many times have reflected that he had been well repaid for the effort he had made in gaining an education.

CHILD TRAINING

THREATS BUT NO ACTION

Jack Wooten

"Albert, you must not do that! Take your hand off that flower-pot!"

A pair of blue eyes turned leisurely upon Mrs. Harris, as she sat in the rocker on the front porch. Two chubby hands held fast to the little geranium pot on the balustrade.

"Albert." Mrs. Harris insisted, "mother will spank you if you upset that plant. Cme here now,dearie, and let me wipe your dirty hands."

The three-year-old shook his curly head. "Flowers putty," he grunted, "an' Albert wants to play."

The child began to shake the geranium vigorously. He was totally unmoved by the threatened spanks.

"Mind me, Albert!" the words were wasted on deaf little ears. "I'll come after you if you don't leave that pot alone!"

"Flowers putty," answered Albert, "pot shaky."

The child began to sway the flower pot back and forth, laughing with glee. But suddenly bang! Mrs. Harris' foot came down on the floor. Albert, in the act of pushing the geranium pot towards the outer edge of the balustrade, gave a childish start and removed his chubby hands. There was a crash, and the flower-pot toppled from its unsteady perch, and lay upon the ground broken into bits.

"Albert!" exclaimed Mrs. Harris, "I told you I would whip you if you didn't leave that flower-pot alone!"

"Gone," the child fumbled at the balustrade. "Broke, Mama." He shuffled his feet and scrambled down the steps, out to the scene of the wreck.

Mrs. Harris rocked back and forth, displeasure written upon her face—her hands resting harmlessly in her lap.

Albert's father came home at six, and found his three-year-old son still toying with the pieces of flower-pot. The mother still sat in the porch chair her heart full of unhappiness.

Upon seeing his father, Albert rushed into outstretched arms. Once safely hoisted on Mr. Harris' shoulder, he pointed with glee at the crippled pot. "Broke," he said, "Albert let fall."

"You broke that pot?" the father frowned. "I have to. . ."—

"Mama have to spank but mama don't," interrupted Albert.

The father said no more. He saw his wife as he climbed the steps.

"I told Albert a dozen times to leave that pot alone," the mother explained, "but he kept right on until it fell."

"Let's not talk about it before him," answered the father.

"Did you threaten to whip him?" he asked later.

"Yes, but he didn't mind."

"Each time you spoke to him you threatened to spank him if he didn't leave the pot alone?"

"Yes."

"And you didn't punish him?"

"Why, no, I . . . ."

"You just kept threatening, is that it?"

"I thought I'd frighten him away by pretending."

"Frighten! the mischief Marie, a mother isn't supposed to be a bear to her child; she's supposed to be a parent."

"But, I didn't want to spank him. I wanted to coax him away."

"You can't coax by threats: you coax by candies and fruits."

"Of course, I wouldn't bribe him! I wished to be firm."

"You accomplished the opposite of your aim, Marie. You made Albert think that you were wishy-washy. You threatened to whip him and you didn't keep your word. You gave him to understand that you were all bluff, and children can't be bluffed."

"Well," sighed Mrs. Harris, "you're home now. You can punish him."

"For what"

"Playing with the geranium pot."

"It's too late now," said Mr. Harris "The thing's gone, and I'm afraid Albert's confidence in you is also gone."

Buster Misses the Mushrooms

Who knows his treasure is suspected
At once will see that it's protected.
..Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

It was two or three days after Buster Bear's discovery of the mushroom tree of Chatterer the Red Squirrel before he thought of it again. The mushroom tree was, you know, a tree in which Chatterer the Red Squirrel was storing up mushrooms to dry that that he might have them in the winter. Buster had discovered that tree quite by accident, and he had made up his mind that he would have one grand feast of mushrooms the last thing before he went to sleep for the winter. He felt quite sure that he would find those mushrooms right there when he went back to get them. He knew that Chatterer would not eat them until winter. They were to be a part of Chatterer's winter food supply.

The first time that Buster happened to be over near where that tree was growing, he of course thought of it. "I may as well have a look at it," said he. "By this time Chatterer ought to have many more mushrooms hung up to dry. I hope he has. They certainly will taste good. And when I have a thing that tastes good I want a lot of it. My, it makes me hungry just to think of those mushrooms. It will be hard to wait until that last meal."

Buster shuffled along through the Green Forest toward that tree. When he came to it he sat up and looked up into it, all the time licking his lips. Then he stopped licking his lips. Then he blinked his little eyes. You know, Buster has little eyes for such a big fellow. Then he rubbed his little eyes. He rubbed them two, or three times. Something was wrong. Either something was wrong with his eyes or he was looking up in the wrong tree. Not a mushroom was to be seen. No, sir, not a mushroom was to be seen. He walked all around the tree. It certainly looked like the right tree. Still, perhaps he was mistaken. He would look at the other trees. He did. He looked at one after another. In not one was there so much as a piece of a mushroom.

"This is queer," muttered Buster. "Yes sir, this is queer. It is the queerest thing I ever heard of. What can have become of those mushrooms? Now that they are gone I want them more than ever."

Then an idea popped into Buster's head. He remembered that Chatterer had seen him looking up at those mushrooms. In fact, Chatterer had called him bad names—the very worst names he could think of. He guessed now what had happened.

"That noisy little rascal has taken all those mushrooms away and hidden them," muttered Buster. "He must have guessed that I was planning to get them. That is what he must have done. My, I must have those mushrooms. He thinks he's smart, but I'll show him that he can't fool Buster Bear. No, siree, he can't fool Buster Bear. I guess he can't hide those mushrooms where I can't find them. He has got to put them up where they'll dry. That means that he can't hide them away in a hollow tree as he would acorns or nuts. They would spoil hidden away that way, and he knows it. He must have put them up in another tree somewhere, and all I have to do is look around until I find that tree. That ought not be a very difficult thing to do."

"I may as well have a look at it," said he.

So Buster started off, looking up in all the trees for mushrooms. By and by his neck began to ache. You see he had his head tipped back so much that it made his neck ache. And he discovered that the Green Forest had a great many trees. He hadn't realized how many trees there were in the Green Forest. There were big trees and little trees and middle-sized trees. Buster began to doubt that it would be so easy to find those mushrooms.

You probably know that Cod Liver Oil is the greatest flesh producer in the world.

Because it contains more Vitemines than any food you can get.

You'll be glad to know that Cod Liver Oil comes in sugar coated tablets now, so if you really want to put 10 or 20 pounds of solid healthy flesh on your bones and feel well and strong—ask Lee & Osgood Co. or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets and if you don't gain five pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

It isn't anything unusual for a person to gain 10 pounds in 30 days.

WILL GIVE ADDRESSES ON WORK AMONG INDIANS

Miss Isabel Crawford, whose account of missionary work among the Indians, was a particularly interesting feature of the afternoon session of the annual meeting of the New London county Baptist association here on Wednesday at the Central Baptist church, is to remain in the city for several days and is to fill four speaking engagements while here. This (Thursday) afternoon she will speak at the prayer meeting at the Third Baptist church, on Friday afternoon at the out-door rally of the Central Baptist church women's league at Mohegan park on Sunday morning at the First Baptist church and on Sunday evening at the Preston City Baptist church.

Miss Crawford is the daughter of a Baptist minister and teacher and was born at Chebeaudin, Canada passing her years of growth there and at Woodstock and in Manitoba. After graduating from the Baptist Missionary Training School in 1893, she was appointed by the board of the Woman's American Baptist Home Mission Society of the field of work among Indians.

Nearly eight years were spent by her among the Kiowas or Blanket Indians at Elk Creek and the Saddle Mountain, Oklahoma, resulting in a strong work and the establishment of a fine church with a building erected by its own members. Her experience was then put to use in the supervision of the work among Indians, visiting all the stations of the Woman's Society. Later she was transferred to Red House, New York.

Miss Crawford says of herself that her success has been due to "splendid helpers, a cast-iron constitution, a Scotch determination, Irish nonsense, the Divine call and the power of the Holy Spirit. Had any of these been lacking the results could not have been the same." She has faced the demands of Christmas festivities in remote places, of funerals and weddings, the building of a church, holding services, killing pigs, training workers, preparing "big eats,"—and has met them all with undaunted courage and a high sense of humor, which especially distinguishes her as a writer and speaker.

WEDDINGS

Wilcock-Heibel

At the German Lutheran church, Franklin street, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. Herman A. TO MAKE BROADWAY HILL AND UNION ST. ONE-WAY FOR TRAFFIC

Recommendations that Broadway hill and Union street be made one-way streets, Broadway north and Union street south, were submitted to the court of common council Wednesday evening at its September meeting. Action on this recommendation, along with other recommended changes in the traffic rules, as submitted by the police committee, was deferred until the next regular meeting of the council.

The meeting was called to order about 8:30 o'clock by His Honor Mayor Milo R. Waters, and according to custom the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was dispensed with and the meeting proceeded to act on petitions. They were disposed of as follows after the clerk had read his return of publication on the new ordinances regulating traffic and after the council had adopted the new regulations as proposed at the August meeting.

From the West End Community Association, protesting against the speeding of automobiles through West Main street. Referred to the police commissioners.

From Albert E. Hayden, et al., asking the city to accept as a public street, Marjorie street, near Prospect Park. Referred to the public works committee.

From Norwich Lodge, No. 430, B. P. O. E., through its trustees, asking the city to install two bug lights to light the area which the lodge has set aside at the Elks home as a free parking space for Elks. Referred to the police commissioners.

From Rev. S. A. Iciek, pastor of St. Joseph's church, inviting the members of the council and city officers to attend the blessing of the corner stone of the new school which the parish is erecting. The blessing of the corner stone will occur Sunday, Sept. 20, at 4 p. m., and Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, bishop of the Hartford diocese, will officiate. The council accepted the invitation.

The monthly reports of the street commissioner, and city treasuerr were received and accepted. The police committee reporting on the petition of Adams P. Carroll for a street light at the end of Carroll avenue, recommended that the petition be granted. The report was accepted.

Traffic Regulation Changes

The police committee then submitted several recommendations changing the present parking limit on Cliff street, requiring the turning around the beacon at Broadway corner, allowing parking on the west side of Broadway hill from Willow street to the top, where parking is now prohibited and making Broadway one way north up the hill and Union street one way south. The recommendations are as follows:

Be it ordained by the court of common council of the City of Norwich:

Sec. 1—Section 16 of an ordinance of the City of Norwich concerning traffic adopted December 1st 1924, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 16—The operator of a vehicle shall not turn the same around in Main street between Burnham Square and Washington Square except around the traffic beacons located near the intersections of Ferry and Cliff street with Main street; nor shall the operator of any vehicle turn the same around in the following streets and portions of streets, Bath street, Broadway between Union square and Main street, Shetucket street from Laurel Hill bridge to Main street, Willow street, Franklin street from Franklin square to Willow street; nor shall the operator of any vehicle drive the same from Broadway around the traffic beacon or signal located at the intersection of Main street, Shetucket street and Broadway and return with said vehicle directly to Broadway; nor shall the operator of any vehicle drive said vehicle from Shetucket street around said traffic beacon or signal located at the said intersection of Main street, Shetucket street and Broadway and return with said vehicle directly to Shetucket street.

Sec. 2—Section 27 of an ordinance of the City of Norwich concerning traffic adopted December 1st, 1924, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 27—No person shall park any vehicle on the west side of Broadway from Main street to Union square.

Section 3—Section 38 of an ordinance of the City of Norwich concerning traffic adopted December 1st, 1924, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 38—No person shall park any vehicle on the southeasterly side of Cliff street from Main street to the intersection of Cliff street with Park street and no person shall park any vehicle on the northwesterly side of Cliff street from Main street to the intersection of Cliff street with Hamlin street for a longer period than forty minutes.

Section 4—Section 43 of an ordinance of the City of Norwich concerning traffic adopted December 1st 1924, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 42—No person shall operate or drive any vehicle on Main street between its junction with Broadway and Shetucket street and its junction with Washington square except in a westerly direction, nor on Water street between its junction with Commerce street and its junction with Shetucket street except in an easterly direction, nor on Willow street between Broadway and Chestnut street except in an easterly direction nor on Broadway between its junction with Union square and its junction with Union street at the upper end of the little plain except in a northerly direction; nor at Union street between its junction with Broadway at the upper end of the little plain and its junction with Union square except in a southerly direction.

The council at the recommendation of the police committee deferred action on the new changes until the next regular meeting, the first Monday night in October.

A claim from Herman Wisbnewski of No. 149 Baltic street for $6.75 as the result of the breaking of a spring on his machine on Boswell avenue in front of the Boswell avenue school was referred to the finance committee and the corporation counsel.

Bills Approved

Bills were approved as follows:

The council adjourned about 8:45 o'clock.

NORWICH GRANGE FAIR HAS INTERESTING EXHIBITS

Steiner Hall was converted into a country fairgrounds Wednesday evening when Norwich grange, No. 172, Patrons of Husbandry, held its annual fair there with an extensive and interesting display of fruit, flowers, vegetables, fancy work and cake that won admiring comment from the many visitors.

The three judges, Miss Mabel Rogers, Robert Lillie and S. E. Holdridge of Ledyard, got to work early in the evening and made the awards that brought blue ribbons to the winners and red ribbons for second place. The following were the awards:

Flowers: Mrs. Cecelia W. Lester, first; Mrs. R. J. P. Brown, second. Cake: Mrs. Jensen, first; Mrs. Austin, second. Fancy work: Mrs. Jahn, first; Miss Briggs, second. Fruit: C. C. Ellis, first; Mrs. Ida Richardson, second. Vegetables: John E. Fanning, first; John M. Rogers, second.

Music was furnished by the Guile Duo during the evening. The home made candy table was in charge of Mrs. William S. Murray and Mrs. Louis Mitchell and the feast committee served ice cream, cake, frankfurters and coffee. There was a grab bag and a fortune teller who enjoyed lively patronage during the fair.

A beautiful display of old fashioned flowers, 12 varieties, was made by Mrs. W. H. Rush, and one of the unusual exhibits that attracted attention was a mammoth squash weighing 63 1-2 pounds from the garden of Mrs Cecelia W. Lester on Laurel Hill.

One of the most notable features was included in the display of S. E. Holdridge of Ledyard, none of whose entries were in competition. He had a remarkable strawberry plant of the Improved Progressive variety which had 160 berries on it. Mr. Holdridge said this was not a freak plant but his field contained many such prolific bearers and was a beautiful sight.

His display of fruits and vegetables contained a number of novelties including Chinese cabbage, kohlrabi, Chinese cucumber, savoy cabbage watermelon, citron, pumpkin, squash, grapes and peaches.

John Staubley, Sr., officiated as auctioneer during the evening, disposing of many of the articles which had been exhibited.

SPRINKLERS CHECK FIRE PICKER MACHINE STARTS

The American Waste and Metal Co., was threatened with a serious blaze Wednesday afternoon about 3:30 when a picker machine caught fire. The "silent watchman" (sprinkler system) was on the job, and the fire department arrived on the scene in response to a bell alarm, from box 115, the sprinkler had practically extinguished the fire.

Chief H. L. Stanton, speaking of sprinkler systems, said if more of them are installed in large buildings, stores, factories and even hotels, the protection afforded would greatly lessen the danger of serious fires.

Chief Stanton, Deputy Chief Henry R. Taft and Capt. Dennis Brennan were in the superior court attending an arson trial when the alarm rang, but they made a hurried exit from the court room and boarded the apparatus on the run as it came out of Chestnut street into Union square.

EASTERN CONNECTICUT POWER TEAM OUT OF RUNNING FOR LEAGUE PENNANT

"Cannonball" Gill Jones nearly altered the twilight league hall of fame when he held the hard-hitting E. C. P. team to a solitary hit and one run in five innings. The Yantics won by a 2-1 score. This defeat puts the E. C. P. out of the running for the pennant. Gill struck out eight of the power team, walked two and knocked in the two runs that won the game. He deserved a shutout but errors on the part of his colleagues allowed the E. C. P. to put one run over in the fourth inning. The game was featured by two running catches by Clabby, both being labeled for extra bases. The Yantics scored their two runs in the first inning. Hewitt, first man up, was hit by a pitched ball, was sacrificed to second by Cummings; Sweet was safe at first when Ringland made a low throw to first. Hewitt holding second. Both advanced a base when E. Hoxie grounded out to Dickson. Gill Jones then won his own ball game with a timely single to center that scored Hewitt and Sweet.

The E. C. P. scored their run in the fourth when Joe Hull singled, went to second when Cummins made a bad throw on Dickson's grounder. He scored on two fielder's choices. This left the bases crowded but a fast double play, Jones to Burns to Sweet, put a stop to any further scoring. The box score as follows:

Tonight's Game

Tonight the fighting Saints the sensation of late in the twilight league will hook up with the East Ends, champions of 1924 and at present runners up to the Centrals for the championship of 1925. The East Ends getting off to a poor start at the beginning of the season looked like tailenders, but through hard, snappy, clean playing have climbed the league ladder until now they are within striking distance of the league leaders. In Oney's team tonight they are liable to meet a snag as the boys representing St. Joseph's of late have been going strong, only a few weeks ago giving the E. C. P.'s pennant aspirations a severe jolt and last week breaking the Nugget's winning streak. Should the Saints succeed in defeating the East Ends tonight it will practically cinch the pennant for the Centrals as neither team can afford to lose a game at this stage of the season. The East Ends after climbing as they have of late will no doubt put up a pretty stiff battle before bowing to any team. In order to give Oney's squad plenty of opposition Manager Bill Peduce will use the following lineup: Belair, catch; "Chick" Davis, pitch; Tim Coughlin at first; ——— at second, Normandin at short; Harry Mills at third and Noel, Gaudette, J. Murphy, Joubert and Bill Austin in the outfield.

The Saints will lineup with either Young Stanley or "Spike" Liberty in the box, Robertson behind the bat, Paul at first, Oney on second, Nap Liberty at short, Hoffman at third and Gilbert, Busch, Rainey and Koslowski in the outfield.

The East Ends are also slated to play the Yanlics on Friday night.

The small bore individual match was won by Virgil Richards of New Haven, Conn. This is fired on 500 and 100 yards ranges, he cored 399 out of a possible 400.

RECORD OF RIVAL DAVIS CUP PLAYERS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Comparative Davis cup records of the rival American and French players in the challenge round tomorrow show the defending pair, Tilden and Johnston, well ahead of their opponents. Each of the American aces has met defeat only once in the international team competition, Tilden losing in the doubles with Richards to Australia in 1922, while Johnston lost to J. O. Anderson of Australia in the singles in 1923.

The table of matches follows:

Player	Won	Lost	Pct.
W. T. Tilden, U. S.	13	1	.947
W. M. Johnston, U. S.	14	1	.947
Rene Lacoste, France	24	5	.827

GLENNA COLLETT WINS ANOTHER CHAMPIONSHIP

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R. I., former Women's Golf Champion, today won the Adirondack Women's Championship on the Saranac Inn course by defeating Miss Orcutt, eastern and New Jersey champion five and four.

After Miss Orcutt obtained an early lead, Miss Collett played seven holes one under par, and the eastern champion lost five consecutive holes.

WOTELL OF BRIDGEPORT SUSPENDED FOR SEASON

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 9—(AP)—Frank Wotell, first baseman of the Bridgeport Eastern league club, was suspended for the balance of the season and fined $25 by Manager Kise Wilhelm today. "Indifferent playing on the field and failure to observe training rules," was given as the cause for the suspension.

KEARNS LEAVES TO TAKE CHARGE OF WALKER

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. — (AP) — Jack Kearns left today for New York to take charge of Mickey Walker's training camp for the welterweight champion's match with Dave Shade in New York September 21.

Kearns discussing his affairs with Jack Dempsey, declaring that the heavyweight champion faces lawsuits if he attempts to box before September in 1926, for anybody other than the promoter eKarns picks out to stage the show.

"I'm out of the muddle now," he declared. "It's between Dempsey and Rickard. That contract I've signed with Tex binds Dempsey to box either Gene Tunney or Harry Wills and he'll have to go through with it. Rickard's money is up, so is mine. Paddy Mullins will have to sign for Wills also. I see where Paddy wants it arranged so that he will get part of the forfeit money in case Dempsey refuses. I'll fix that up tomorrow when I arrive in New York."

Kearns was amused at the report from the coast that Dempsey was coming here to meet Floyd Fitzsimmons and Mullen on September 17, to sign with the Michigan city promoter. "Sure he can sign with Fitz," said Kearns, "but I think Dempsey knows enough of my methods to take a look at the money first. If he closes with Floyd, you'll see some action from Rickard."

Kearns revealed that he had entered into other contracts along the lines laid down in his agreement with Dempsey.

They call for exhibition and theatrical work. Thus, he pointed out, he has Dempsey stopped all around. As to motion pictures the old contract, closed before the break, is still in force.

Kearns pointed out that he is powerless to prevent Dempsey from making a match, or closing for stake work, but he will receive his share of the purse just the same. His agreement with Rickard and a stage booking agent puts it up to these latter men to halt the champion, if they care to.

TAFTVILLE TO PLAY WAUREGAN SATURDAY

Saturday at the Providence street Grounds Taftville A. A. and Wauregan starts their fall series, the first game at Taftville Saturday and the second at Wauregan Sunday. WORCESTER WINS TWO FROM PITTSFIELD

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 9.—(AP) Worcester defeated Pittsfield in both games of a double header this afternoon, 6 to 4 and 8 to 0. Five hits off Sullivan in the opening inning decided the first game. Goldsmith was effective in the second, the Hillies not having a scoring chance. A double play was made by Purcell who caught a low liner with one hand and ran to second to tag a base runner who had come from first on the drive. Scores:

Worcester .....50100000x—6
Pittsfield .....30200000 0—4

Two base hits, H. Thomas, Eayrs. Hogan, C. Thomas, Long.

BRIDGEPORT BREAKS EVEN WITH WATERBURY

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 9. — (AP)— Bridgeport and Waterbury divided in a double header here this afternoon, both contests resulting in close pitching duels.

Bishop had the better of Horan in the first game which Waterbury won, 4 to 2 while O'Neal met with hard luck in the nightcap when he was beaten 1 to 0, after allowing only two hits. Two passes and a double by Runser in the seventh inning yielded the only run. The scores:

First game:

Waterbury .....01102000 0—4
Bridgeport .....00000200 0—2

Two base hits, Cosgrove, Henzes.

Second game:

Waterbury .....00000000 0—0

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. — (A. P.)—Ed White, a local wrestling promoter, today opened negotiations with Gabe Kaufmann of Kansas City, manager of Wayne Munn, to purchase the contract of the Nebraska wrestling giant. Munn, since losing to Ed "Strangler" Lewis has expressed a desire to return to boxing, in which he started his profession.

GENE TUNNEY SIGNED TO MEET BARTLEY MADDEN

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 9.—(A. P.)—Gene Tunney, American light-heavyweight champion, has been signed to meet Bartley Madden, of New York, in a ten round fight probably in Minneapolis September 8. It was said that Curtain W. X. Fawcett, the promoter, is paying a purse of $20,000 for the match $12,000 of which will go to Tunney.

CONNIE MACK'S ATHLETICS PICK UP ANOTHER GAME BY BEATING SENATORS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(AP)—It may turn out that the Athletics acquired their good-luck mascots, two little pickaninnies, a trifle late. The tide of fortune, which, with the two ebony-hued youngsters on the dugout steps, turned yesterday in favor of the Mackmen after twelve straight defeats, rolled them on to victory again today in the final game of the series with Washington.

By taking the measure of the Senators, 9 to 7, in a tumultuous, free-hitting battle, the Athletics earned an even break in the four-game series and cut the margin of the league-leading champions to seven games.

This come-back of the Athletics bids fair to prolong the American League pennant issue but with only about a score of games remaining on each club's schedule, it is still a forlorn task for the Mackmen to overcome their rivals.

Al Simmons slugging center-fielder, Lefty Baumgartner and Eddie Rommel, veteran knuckle ball twirler, were the heroes of the Athletics' victory, but the mighty bat of Roger Peckinpaugh, "Old Warhorse" of the Washington clan, almost downed Mack's men single-handed.

Peck, smashing homers into the left-field stands in successive innings, the third and fourth, rapp up four runs with those blows and accounted for six of the Senator's seven tallies altogether, driving in a fifth with a sacrifice fly and another on an infield out.

Even this herculean batting was not strong enough to stop the rampaging Mackmen, who banged away until they overcame the Senators big lead with a sensational five-run rally in the sixth inning that drove Tom Zachary from the box. All told the Athletics shelled three Washington twirlers for fifteen hits.

The telling stroke for the As in the sixth was delivered by Simmons, who lashed out a triple with the bases full off Allen Russell. Zachary's successor. Zachary had been found for two runs previously in this inning and five altogether so that the trio of tallies brought in by Mack's outfield ace provided the deciding margin for the home forces. He was the first batter to face Russell and slammed the second pitch to the far corner of right field.

This rally by the Athletics followed a succession of thrusts by Washington, with Peckinpaugh in the leading role, which drove out Rube Walberg, Mack's opening mound choice, with the bases full, two runs already in and two out in the sixth. Lefty Baumgatner, rushed into this breach, retired Rice for the third out. This was the only batter Baumgartner faced, for he was withdrawn for a pinch-hitter in the next half of the inning, yet he gets credit for the victory.

Rommel shared the pitching laurels with Baumgartner by coming to the rescue of Groves in the eighth. Rommel retired the Senators after two men had reached base with one out, and then kept the champions again at bay in the ninth. The score:

ATHLETICS NOW SEVEN GAMES BEHIND SENATORS

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(A. P.)—Tonight the Philadelphia Athletics, their morale reviewed by the tonic of two sweet victories after a dozen defeats are standing in virtually the same spot that they occupied before the double defeat of Labor Day.

Seven games behind the Senators who seem to have deviated momentarily from the straight path to pennant achievements the Athletics have a chance to repeat the memorable Boston Brave drive of 1914.

Connie Mack's youngsters won a give and take game from the Senators 9 to 7. The standing:

Washington	85	48	.639
Philadelphia	76	53	.584

The Chicago Cubs, apparently playing better ball under the guidance of George Tibson, forced Pittsburgh, National League leaders to dip their colors in an eleven inning game, 9 to 7. The New York Giants crept up half a game on the Pirates, defeat. The standing:

Pittsburgh	83	50	.624

SAYS THAT NEW CHAMP WILL BE CROWNED

RYE, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(A. P.)—No matter what may happen in the next two days when the second half of the Hits in the 21st championship of the United States Senior Golf Association takes the field, a new champion will be crowned. Claude M. Hart of the Brae Burn club, Boston, the association's left-handed champion, lost his magic putting touch in the play today and with the best department of his game gone, took 84 holes.

This lapse permitted two former champions to pass him, Fred Snare of the Garden City club led the field with a card of 77, which with his 79 of yesterday, gave him a total of 156 for the 36 holes.

First to eclipse Hart, however, was Hugh Halsell of Dallas, Texas, 1923 title holder, who came in with a 78 giving him a total score of 157 for 36 holes against Hart's 161. A few minutes later Snare, 1922 title holder, came in with the fastest pace set by anyone in the tournament, nosing out Halsell by a stroke.

The second half of the field in the tournament will start play tomorrow.

ALBANY MAKES IT TWO STRAIGHT FROM NEW HAVEN

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Albany made it two straight over New Haven today, winning 2 to 2. A double by Munn and a single by Belanger gave the home team the deciding run. Hauk's fielding was a feature. Score:

New Haven .....00010010 0—2
Albany .....00000021 x—3

Two base hits, McCory, Munn.

Brooklyn is Defeated.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(A. P.)—The Brooklyn club of the National League was defeated 4 to 2 in an exhibition game here today by the Kingston Colonials.

PLAY FINALS IN MIDDLE STATES TOURNEY TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(A. P.)—Semi-final round singles matches in the girls' junior national and women's middle states lawn tennis tournaments were reached today at the Philadelphia Cricket club.

Miss Helen Jacobs, of California, national champion, meets Miss M. P. Wickes, of Newport, in one bracket of the girls' championship, while Miss Alice Francis, of Orange, N. J., plays Miss Louise Slocum of Boston, in the other.

The upper bracket of the middle states tourney brings together Mrs. Molla Mallory, New York, and Miss Molly Thayer, Philadelphia, Miss Elisabeth Ryan, of California, opposes Mrs. Marion E. Jessup, of Wilmington, in the other bracket.

The feature of today's middle states matches was Mrs. Mallory's easy victory over Helen Jacobs, 6-1, 6-2. Miss Jacobs' inability to get to the net caused her downfall.

HARTFORD BUNCHES HITS TO DEFEAT SPRINGFIELD

HARTFORD, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Hartford bunched hits off Fortune at opportune times and defeated Springfield here today five to nothing. Baring wildness Daily was in command of the situation at all times. Play in the field by Comiskey featured. Score:

Springfield .....00000000 0—0
Hartford .....10101002 x—5

Two base hits, Hesse, Schinkel, Fraser, Niederkorn.

STRIKERS' INFLUENCE LANDS REPUBLICAN ON DEM. TICKET

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 9.—James E. Smith, republican, for years the first selectman of the town of Windham, prior to the term being served by Selectman Russell A. Andrews, defeated the democratic incumbent of the office by an overwhelming majority, at the democratic caucus held in the town hall Wednesday night to nominate candidates for the town election in October. The consolidation of the voting power of the strikers of the American Thread Co. put over Mr. Smith's nomination and the same pressure will be brought to bear at the polls.

First Selectman Andrews, who has been regarded by some as unfavorable to the cause of labor, was placed in nomination by Patrick J. Toomey, but his candidacy failed to be sustained when a vote by ballot disclosed that out of 323 votes cast Andrews had received but 86 and Smith 231. There were six blaks. One hundred and sixty-two votes were necessary for a choice. Mr. Smith's nomination was made by James Reynolds.

The third nomination for the office had been made by John L. Sullivan, who named Bert F. Moore, but the latter declined. At the caucus Corporation Counsel Thomas J. Kelly presided with Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton clerk. The candidates nominated for the various offices are: Assessor for three years, John R. Pickett; member of the board of relief for three years, Alexis Caisse; first selectman, James M. Smith; second selectman, David P. Ahern, present incumbents; town clerk and town treasurer, Frank P. Fenton, present incumbent; agent town deposit fund, George C. McCracken; auditor, Conrad Bubeau; tax collector, Bert More, present incumbent; constables, Gustave Siekal, William D. Kelley, Joseph Peck and John T. Nichols (renominated); registrar of voters, Thomas A. Shea (renominated; members of the town school committee for three years, L. W. P. S. Keating (renominated), James F. Toomey.

The call for nomination of first selectman created chaos, in what had been an orderly

WESTERLY

At the September session of the Westerly Town council, Councilman Utter introduced a resolution, seconded by Councilman Louis Rossi, that the Council President name a committee of three, one to be himself, to consider the improvement of Main street. Also to consult with the Westerly Highway Commission to re-lay Main street and Union street, as well as the new street proposed by the Westerly planning board, as to the costs and feasability and to report to the Town Council the figures and proposition, which would eventually come before a special financial town meeting.

Recommendations were adopted by the council that the Westerly Water Works department procure an accurate list of those property owners, along the sewer main already laid, so that the exact situation could be known, when it became necessary for legal notices to be sent property owners to make sewer connections. It was the sense of the council that the first of January next should be the limit date where sewer mains will have been in for at least a year's time, also that a year's notice be given where the mains have been but recently laid.

Building in Westerly, from the building permits issued by Zoning Inspector Louis J. Rossi for August show a slight falling off from the record for July, when 36 were issued although there was an increase over June, when 18 was the number granted.

August building permits granted by Zoning Inspector Louis J. Rossi were:

A.—Union Ice Company, Frank J. Harrison, 10 Pierce street. Location of ice building on Commercial drive.

James L. Fraziera, 28 East avenue, 2-car garage 18' x 27'. No. 28 East avenue.

Work on the parochial school of the Immaculate Conception church has proceeded to the point where the window frames for the first story are in place and the brick side walls are well up to the top of the sashes.

Mrs. Mary E. Stillman was the hostess to a house party at her Pleasant View cottage Wednesday at which Mrs. Ella Cook of Camden, N. Y.; Mrs. George Clark of East Orange, N. J., and Mrs. Elizabeth Spicer, Mrs. Everett E. Whipple and Mrs. Everett B. Clarke, all of Westerly were guests.

William Holden left Westerly Wednesday night, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. William Holt, for New York city.

Mrs. Truman H. Newbury and Mrs. Henry B. Joy, of Watch Hill, have been active at three meetings of workers at the Ocean House, Watch Hill, when 4,296 surgical dressings have been made for the Westerly Hospital. Another year it is planned to hold weekly Wednesday meetings at Watch Hill for interested cottagers and hotel workers to prepare these surgical supplies.

The public schools of Westerly opened Wednesday after the summer vacation. The enrollment at the 11 school houses showed that 2221 pupils attended on the opening day. A year ago on the opening day the enrollment showed a total of 2175 pupils 45 less than this year.

Owing to the difficulty in getting bus transportation for children in the rural districts it is figured that the total attendance will be materially increased with the next day or two.

The enrollment figures for the various schools show: High school, 343; Dunn's Corners, 22; White Rock, 53; Beach street, 45; Chestnut street, Bellville street, 47; Park avenue, 174; Bradford, 226; Third street, 375; Pleasant street, 208; Quaker Hill, 130.

FLYNN-KELLER WEDDING FOLLOWED BY RECEPTION

(Special to the Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Sept. 9.—Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Miss Claire Margaret Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Keller, was united in marriage with Edward Leo Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Flynn of Mystic. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Vincent, S. M., who also celebrated the nuptial high mass which followed. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev. Thomas P. Mooney of Mystic and Rev. William J. Fitzgerald of Milford, Conn., occupied seats in the sanctuary.

During the mass Martin H. Spellman sang Gounod's Ave Maria and Frank's Panis Angelicus. At the offertory, Mr. Spellman and Edward J. Butler sang McCabe's, O, Salutaris.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen L. Keller. John F. Flynn of Mystic, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Clarence Bliven and Raymond L. Ehell of Mystic and Edward J. Butler and Charles J. Butler, 2d, of Westerly.

The bride's gown, cut with court train, was of white satin back crepe, trimmed with Chantilly lace and rhinestones. Her veil of Chantilly lace was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley.

The bridesmaid was gowned in sky blue crepe de chine, and wore a large panne velvet hat to match. She carried pink roses.

Following the ceremony at the church a breakfast was served to members of both families at the Stonington Manor Inn.

In the afternoon from 1:30 to 5 o'clock a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle, and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Butler, at 67 Granite street. About 200 relatives and friends were present, including guests from New York, New Rochelle, New London, Mystic, Springfield, Mass., and Milford, Conn.

The bride received many beautiful gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a platinum bracelet set with a diamond; to the best man he gave a wrist watch, and to the ushers cuff links. The bride's gift to the groom was an Elks' card case, and to her maid of honor she gave a pearl bracelet.

Mr. and Mrs. Flynn left in the evening by automobile for a visit to Atlantic City. Upon their return they will occupy their new bungalow on Prospect street, Mystic, and will be at home after October 1.

MYSTIC

The Garden Club met with Mrs. Julia B. Coats on Cliff street, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. L. P. Allyn presided. She read an article from a newspaper on the suggestion of beautifying the state highway from Saybrook to New London, the old post road. Before the road was completed from Bank square up Baptist Hill to New London road, the Garden Club had raised the money and had a landscape gardener set out trees and shrubs that are growing so motorists have the pleasure of viewing them as they run through. Mrs. Coats read a lengthy article from a garden book entitled "Autumn work in the Garden." It described the work of planting fall bulbs and caring for them. Mrs. Etta Smith read a poem "Everyman's Garden" by Edgar A. Guest. After a discussion of growing plants of various kinds all were invited to inspect Mrs. Coats' garden which contains many varieties of blossoms. She has had a beautiful garden for several years, requiring much work and entailing considerable expense.

Thin People Need Plenty of Phosphate

Apt to Take On Good Healthy Flesh, if Phosphates are Taken with Meals.

Thin men and women, nervous and "all-in" out of sorts, who want nerve force, energy, ambition and power of endurance, are just the people who will find a helpful friend in Evans' Triple Phosphates, which is undoubtedly just what your nerve, blood and bone cells are begging for.

Evans' Triple Phosphates feeds the nerves direct with the phosphorus food elements they crave for. So much so that the broadminded druggist says:

"Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anaemic or run-down, take a natural, unadulterated substance such as Evans' Triple Phosphates and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve, energy, strength of body and mind and power of endurance."

Evans' Triple Phosphates (the inexpensive organic phosphate) for those who are anxious to improve their health, is dispensed by Lee & Osgood and all leading druggists in the original package.

Young Men

We have placed more than 900 graduates and students during the past year at salaries ranging from $1,200 to $5,000. There is a demand for our graduates because of the reputation this school has for turning out well trained accountants.

Large business corporations and public accountants come to us for men whom they desire to develop for positions of large responsibilities. They are critical in making selections, and invariably place emphasis upon personality as well as technical ability. We are, therefore, particularly interested in enrolling men of the clean-cut, upstanding type who possess an abundance of common sense and ambition. We have no difficulty whatever in placing such men after they have completed our training.

This is a professional school of college grade which specializes in training men for the duties of office manager, cost accountant, auditor, comptroller, treasurer, and public accountant.

To Be Bentley-Trained Carries Prestige in Business.

It requires two years to complete our courses. Graduates of the classical, general, or commercial courses of high schools are admitted without entrance examinations. Excellent dormitory accommodations are provided for out-of-town students. Classes start September 16th. Send for catalog.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

Building operations in Norwich continue at about the same level although the greater number of permits being issued are for garages. Much of the work on new houses is progressing rapidly with a view to having them completed before cold weather sets in, but there still continues to be a demand for new construction.

During the past week the following building permits were issued by Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton, value of construction over $12,000:

To P. W. Calkins to erect frame garage, 14 ft. by 20 ft. on Peck St.

To William P. Church to alter and add to present frame house on Hamlin street, size of piazza 9 ft. by 16 ft.

To Patrick F. Sweeney to make alterations to building on land of Harry M. Land on Broadway, adding sterm porch at rear, new roofing and inside alterations.

To Joseph Wojculewicz to alter present house, rear of 143 Hickory street, by adding hood over door.

To Frederick S. Wilcox to erect a frame garage 11 ft. by 18 ft. at 187 Hamilton avenue, foundation and floor of cement.

To Albert A. Belliveau, Second St., addition 10 ft. by 22 ft. to present building; also add dormer windows.

To George E. Pitcher to build frame house on North Main street, 30 ft. by 45 ft., two and one half stories, stone cellar with cement bottom, stone underpining, timber frame, wood finish, shingled roof.

To John J. Cousins to erect frame garage, 10 ft. by 18 ft. on Spruce St.

NEW LONDON

Samuel Shapiro and L. M. Kenyon have plans for a block of stores to be built at 43 Jay street. It is planned to erect a one-story building, 24x32 feet, of concrete blocks, arranged for two stores. Plate glass fronts and metal ceilings will be required. The work will be done by the day.

Contractors are building two stores at the corner of Union and Golden streets and are building a three-family frame and stucco house and a six-car concrete block garage for Mr. Reed.

The Florence Artificial Stone Co., Inc., Moore St., are furnishing the cast stone for new schoolhouse on Mercer St., also for the new schoolhouse in Norwich the new theatre in Willimantic and the cast stone for the garage being erected by the Savings Bank of New London.

The contract has been awarded to build a cottage on Dell avenue for Mary Brennan. The house will be 32x34 feet, of frame construction, containing five rooms and bath. The usual conveniences will be provided.

Building Permits

Emma M. Lincoln, frame garage, 22 Crystal avenue $200.

Mary Brennan, frame house, Dell avenue, $3,000.

Freeman Bros., frame garage, Truman street, $300.

John P. Connell, frame garage Crystal avenue, $200.

Mrs. V. Giardina, alterations, Shaw street, $200.

R. F. Adams, alterations, 16 Mountain St., $300.

Silas Maxson, Jr., frame house, on Henry Street $3,500.

L. E. Fritts, frame garage, Phillips street, $300.

Sam Shapiro, block of stores, Jay St., $2,500.

J. T. Allen, concrete garage, 98 Street, $300.

Harry Scheinman, addition, 78 Washington St., $500.

E. L. Deshefy, frame house, Vauxhall St., $5,000.

Rachel Coopersmith, addition, Connecticut avenue $200. Frame garage, Lincoln avenue, $100.

Number of permits for the week 14; estimated cost of buildings $16,600.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

Real estate sales in Norwich during the past week totalled 11 as compared with 13 in 1924, while mortgage loans were $29,145 as against $29,050.

In New London the corresponding weeks showed sales to be 23 against 6 and loans $155,177 against $50,915.

The Situation

Tinged with caution tells the story of the business attitude of today. The reasons for confidence are manifold, but as always, the need for caution is manifest. That a large volume of goods is being moved to the market is evidenced by record carloadings and enormous bank clearings; while comfortable money and healthy inventory and credit conditions indicate that these goods are moving directly into consumptive channels. Here and there we find instances of dissatisfaction. Such is always the case, even with prosperity as evenly distributed as at present. But the general belief that is gaining strength with each passing week is that business will be increasingly good this fall and better this winter. And what is more important, this growing confidence is being translated into actual business in the form of bigger orders. It is now to be hoped that the warning against reckless speculation hoisted early this year will not be lost sight of.

Building Labor Survey

An encouraging feature of the present building situation is that, although the construction volume is enormous, the indications are that a definite point of stabilization has been reached in the matter of labor costs within the industry. The following summary of current building labor conditions is published by S. W. Straus & Co., following a national survey:

1. National movement of higher wages seems definitely checked for the present.

2. Wage rates show greater stability, although there is still some slight upward tendencies.

3. No indication of a general movement to reduce wages and only a few cities report any downward revision of scales.

4. Longer agreements are being signed by contractors that will tend to stabilize the industry.

5. Except for several jurisdictional disputes, labor is fairly tranquil.

6. Building labor is well employed and only an occasional shortage of skilled craftsmen is reported.

7. Bonus payments and the practice of contractors bidding against each other for men have largely disappeared.

8. Unskilled labor maintains high rates, although the supply is being increased by slackness of factory employment.

9. Bulk of common labor supply needed for building industry being furnished by Canada and Mexico as immigrations laws have considerably reduced the supply from Europe.

10. Apprenticeship schools are steadily increasing the supply of skilled building craftsmen.

The eruption period of Old Faithful geyser, commonly stated to be exactly one hour, fluctuates between 55 and 75 minutes, with an average of about 63 minutes.

THE RADIO AMATEUR'S PART IN THE MACMILLAN EXPEDITION

Who is this radio amateur?

Everybody who reads newspapers has been introduced to him this summer by the line, in virtually every news dispatch about the MacMillan Arctic Expedition, which said, "This message was transmitted through amateur station—operated by—."

Some nights he was in Cedar Rapids, Iowa; then again he would be at South Manchester, Conn., he ranged from Portland, Oregon, to Portland, Maine, and he showed up in Australia and in England.

The great majority of the messages given out by the National Geographical Society, and many of those made public by the Navy department, depended upon these amateurs.

From coast to coast, and from the Gulf to Canada, radio amateurs have been working long hours into the night, taking thousands of words in news dispatches, and also personal messages, and doing it as a gift of service. For the amateur's only recompense is a lavly and enduring affection for his hobby, "ham radio," and a desire to contribute further to the radio science he has done so much to develop.

One of the amateurs who has been most successful in "getting" WNP, (meaning the wireless station aboard the expedition's flagship, the Bowdoin) is a 15-year old schoolboy who took his vacation money to go to Wiscasset, Maine, and interview John Reinartz about short wave sending and receiving. Another is a well-to-do tobacco planter. A third is a successful business man who burns the midnight tubes as his hobby. Most of the amateurs however, are high school boys.

Amateur as Old as Radio

Amateur radio is as old as radio itself. In the days of the spark transmitter there were a host of enthusiasts striving mightily, with comparatively inferior equipment, to converse with their fellows in nearby towns. There gradually grew up a camaraderie of accomplishment. These transmitting amateurs were able to converse with each other from town to town by means of the special telegraphic code evolved for radio.

As the discoveries of scientists, at work in laboratories, and of amateurs, at work in their radio shacks, stretched out the distance over which it was possible to converse, there was born the idea of finding a station between two others that were unable to communicate directly with each other, and make of the half-way station a relay point.

The development of this idea was the development of the American Radio Relay League. Enthusiastic amateurs banded together to furnish relay service to their fellow-amateurs and to the public. As the years passed on and the apparatus used in transmitting and receiving units became more efficient this need for relaying became less acute. With this change came another.

Amateur radio stations were added to the equipment of vessels that had never before considered carrying radio; portable, low-powered amateur stations became a necessity for expeditions to odd corners of the world where other means of communication were limited.

These stations away from civilization and the homeland, because of varying conditions, were not always able to talk with one specified station at home. Thus once more the relaying of messages became a matter of prime importance to the transmitting amateur.

Transmitting over great distances and with low power that makes verbal communication difficult, the radio amateur uses telegraphic code, similar to that used by wire lines. Instead of the familiar clicks of the line there is a steady flow of short and long buzzer—dots and dashes—and as the evening wears on and morning approaches the radio amateur has before him long messages that no other method of communication could bring in so rapidly.

When plans were being developed for the present MacMillan Expedition officials of the National Geographic society wanted a reliable method of carrying on daily communication between the expedition and the United States. A survey of the possibilities showed that dependence might be placed on this amateur,—who, much like the explorer, was willing to work long hours and endure discomfort for the love of the "game."

Amateurs in America successfully talk with Argentina, with Indo-China, with Japan, with New Zealand, with Australia and with England.

If such men were available and were able to carry on nightly conversations over such prodigious distances, they were the men with whom the expedition must make its arrangements. Short waves and low power were the logical methods of communicating from the Far North.

Governmental regulations had given the amateur the short wave bands where his skill and experiments developed a host of new radio theories. The necessity of keeping a hobby within reasonable financial bounds precluded the use of high power.

Reinartz Chosen for Operator

With these facts in mind officers of the National Geographic Society and of the American Radio Relay League, worked out plans with John L. Reinartz, operator of the Bowdoin and one of the outstanding exponents of the new short wave theories. It was decided that member stations of the American Radio Relay League in the United States and Canada—or other countries if necessary—would act as receiving stations for all of the news and scientific information sent back to this country by the expedition. At the same time messages between members of the expedition and their families and friends in the United States would be handled by the amateur radio stations.

This plan is worked without interruption throughout the stay of the expedition in the Far North. Daily schedules have been maintained. News dispatches have been handled with a speed that would delight the most critical editor and personal messages have kept the morale of the exploring party end of the families at home at a higher pitch than was ever possible under old conditions.

From the standpoint of getting news home the radio accomplishments are ideal. On a recent occasion when the airplanes of the expedition started out on an exploration trip at 10:47 in the morning word was sent out from the Bowdoin at 11:03 that the planes had just started on a three hour run.

Received by A. A. Collins, radio station 9CXX, at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the dispatch was relayed to the headquarters of the National Geographic Society in Washington at 11:56 and immediately released to the various news services that cover the country.

So great was the speed with which the entire transaction was accomplished that many papers were on the streets before the airplanes had returned to their station with the Schooner Bowdoin.

A number of remarkable feats in radio were accomplished in the course of the summer. Long distance relays were handled in record time, extremely long distance reception was recorded and many stations maintained daily schedules over a considerable number of days at a time.

Two-Way Distance Record

Bruce Stone, of San Jose, California, owner and operator of station 6AMM, succeeded in carrying on two way communication with the expedition when it was off the coast of Greenland, making a distance record for two way work. The record of greatest distance covered by a message from the explorers goes to several dispatches copied by I. H. O'Meara of Gisbourne, New Zealand. O'Meara was unable to make two way work of it however, due to the extreme distance.

Other members of the American Radio Relay League who are recorded as contributing to this remarkable distance work are L. Elden Smith of Whittier, California; R. Bartholomew of Porto Rico, J. W. Nowan of Mobile, Alabama, and John Bansola of St. Petersburg, Florida.

One set of messages covered a unique path but succeeded in making the journey within a day. The expedition stations established contact with J. A. Partridge of London, owner of British amateur radio station 2KF. Partridge took a sheaf of messages and immediately relayed them to D. H. Sarkisian of West New York, New Jersey. From Sarkisian's station to the headquarters of the National Geographic Society in Washington was but a trifle after that.

Others sharing honors with A. A. Collins, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, are Donald C. S. Comstock of East Hartford, Conn.; G. H. Pinney of South Manchester, Conn.; A. W. Everest of Pittsfield, Mass.; E. H. Keeper of Elmhurst Manor, N. Y.; E. B. Duvall of Mt. Ranier, Maryland; J. M. Meyer of Milwaukee, Wisconsin; and Fred Link of York, Pa. Comstock and Pinney, as friends and neighbors of John eRinartz, aperator on the Bowdoin, whose home is also in South Manchester, hold enviable records for getting messages through from the Northland and returning answers at the same sitting.

Throughout the time when the expedition was out of touch with all other kinds of communication, daily news dispatches, messages to and from the members of the party, and routine naval messages have had free way on the short wave transmitters and receivers of the transmitting radio amateurs in every country where clarity of reception was possible.

Part of 'Frisco Sinking

A vast area of San Francisco is slowly but surely slipping into the sea, but this particular, earth movement is occasioning so little alarm that the general opinion seems to be "let her slip."

All of the migratory territory is on made land, and it was figured at the time that the vast fill was made it would continue to settle.

The great Union Perry Building, one of the biggest and showiest railroad terminals in the United States has settled fourteen inches since its construction in 1898, engineers estimate. The settlement has been so gradual and even, however, that no crack is apparent anywhere in the vast structure. Also that rate of subsidence is growing gradually less, as a depression of but 1.37 inches has been noted in the last six years.

The building rests on a foundation 3000 piles, which are set in a series of piers made up of concrete to the amount of 55,000 tons. It is at the westernmost boundary of the big fill.

Human pile drivers in the form of a dozen Chinese hauling heavy weights and dropping it are a common sight in China.

WOMAN'S LIFE SAVER

Mother of Nine Convinced

One Dose of Beecham's Pills are the Remedy for Sick Headaches and Constipation

"Your pills certainly have done 'Wonders' for me. I am thirty-eight years of age, been married thirteen years and am the mother of nine children.

Tire Prices Are LOW—

CRUDE RUBBER HIGHEST IN YEARS

Buy Now and Save Money!

The unprecedented demand for Firestone quality and mileage has more than doubled the sales of Gum-Dipped Cords to car owners so far this year, enabling us—because of this tremendous volume—to keep prices low.

Experienced car owners insist on tires that deliver the greatest mileage at the lowest cost per mile, because such tires last longer—make the restricted rubber supply go further—reduce crude rubber costs—and help maintain the present low tire prices.

Gum-Dipping, the Firestone extra process, is also one of the biggest and most important economy factors in tire performance. This method of treating cord fabric, developed by Firestone tire chemists and engineers, insulates every fiber of every cord with rubber, and gives the sidewalls the extra strength to withstand the extra flexing strain—insuring maximum safety, comfort and economy.

Studebaker Standard Six Coach, $1325.00 Delivered in Norwich

Or, under Studebaker's fair and liberal Budget Payment Plan, this Coach may be purchased out of monthly income with an initial payment of only $445.00 DOWN

One-Profit Value Unit-Built Construction

Make Studebakers Bargains in Quality

BECAUSE Studebaker builds for Studebaker cars all bodies, all engines, all axles, clutches, differentials, steering gear, springs, gear sets, gray iron castings and drop forgings—it is possible to give purchasers two advantages:

1. A prics advantage: Because Studebaker eliminates extra profits which all other manufacturers (except Ford) must pay to outside parts or body makers. Thus Studebaker is able to use steel of extra toughness, fine northern white ash and hard maple, wool upholstery, plate glass, painstaking workmanship to precision standards, and extra equipment, such as gasoline gauge, clock, stop light, etc.—yet charge no more than competing cars.

2. A construction adeantage: Because all parts are not only designed to constitute one harmonious unit, but are Unit-Built in Studebaker plants. Being built as a unit, every Studebaker functions as a unit. This results in years longer life, scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation, greater riding comfort, minimum repair costs and, finally, higher resale value.

The net of it is this: the one-profit Studebaker with its unit-built construction offers you a bargain in quality.

There are others in our general price field who also build quality cars. But for models that are at all comparable their prices are higher.

Others, who once built quality cars, have made material sacrifice in order to secure superficial price advantages. These cars are good value for the man or woman who wants that kind of a car. But if he wants a bargain in quality there is only one answer—Studebaker.

Consider, for instance, the Standard Six Coach, illustrated above. It has wool upholstering; plate glass; fine trim to hide all tacks; heavy, ornamental hardware; clock; gasoline gauge on dash; automatic windshield cleaner; stop light; locks on ignition; steering gear, door and spare-tire carrier all operated by a single key.

Slam the door and the sound says "quality." Swing on the door. Run one wheel up on the curb and note how the doors still open and close. Sit on the firm, heavy fenders. Try the steering gear. See how easily it handles the full-size balloon tires. Test the comfort of the deep rear seat. Its genuine wool upholstery covers two layers of washed, quilted cotton, one layer of genuine curled hair and extra long springs closely held together by small coil springs.

Run the engine—the most powerful in any car of this size and weight, according to the ratings of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Come in and see this bargain in quality—the lowered price closed car ever sold by Studebaker.

Truth in Advertising

NEW LONDON PREPARING FOR STATE JUNIOR O. U. A. M. CONVENTION

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 9—The annual state convention of the Junior Order American Mechanics is to take place in this city Sept. 21st and 22nd. Arrangements are being made to hold a street parade the opening day of the convention and City Manager William A. Holt has already given permission for the event. It is expected that between 200 and 300 delegates will be attendance.

Harry Cochrane, a member of the crew of the coast guard steamer Beale, was fined $25 in the police court this morning for recklessly operating an automobile last evening, on Town Hill and Bank street. Policeman Clarence Martin saw Cochrane come down the decline into Bank street at a speed that was alarmingly fast and yelled to him, but Cochrane took no heed of the officer. Martin gave chase on a motorcycle and at Howard street overhauled him, though he did a snake squirm to avoid the Cochrane car and other automobiles that were moving there. Cochrane was arrested and in court today could not excuse his conduct in driving through a crowded street at a 35 or 40 mile clip. Judge Prince intimated to Cochrane that a man who speeded in that way and who paid no heed to people crossing the street was not a fit person to operate a car.

Rudolph Peltier was fined a similar amount for failing to reduce the speed of his car when he passed intersecting streets. He hit a speed of 30 to 35 miles, according to Officer Clarence Wells, who called to Peltier to stop. When Peltier was given a chance to explain, he said he was in a hurry to get home and to sleep at 9 o'clock in the evening, so he "stepped on it" and went along. "Do you not realize that others are entitled to some rights in the street?" Judge Prince inquired. Peltier said he was hurrying, and the court ordered him to pay the fine for his recklessness. Peltier is having experience with the police that does not come to all men. He gave a bond for his brother Monday and scolded because the money would not be refunded to him without identification. He was told then that he might be in court again. The warning was fulfilled in 24 hours.

Robert Reed, of New Haven, forfeited a bond of $15 for failure to appear in court when ordered to be there for violation of the rules of the road. He considered himself fortunate in escaping with as light a penalty.

Samuel Landau and a partner own a car between them. One of the pair parked the car on Bank street, opposite the Everwear store, where Landau is employed, and there it remained an hour or more, till Policeman Sloan tagged it. Landau explained that he did not know the car was parked, so he escaped any penalty.

Four drunks were listed on the docket today, three of them from Fishers Island, so they said. There must be qualities about the air over on the island that induces absorption of liquor, for the number of drunks that appear here is astonishingly large. The bunch today told such a story that Judge Prince smiled at them and then suspended judgment, that they might get out of town.

John Bowler, another drunk, had a record in the court so he was compelled to arrange for the payment of a fine of $5 and the costs attending his trial.

Notwithstanding there are only three days more in which the candidates for the city council may pursue their campaign for election, there are few indications that they are hustling. Two of the five candidates are more active than are the others, but the report is abroad that the others are doing undercover work and that their plans will be disclosed on election day. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes next Monday will be declared to have been elected, but the others must go before the voters again for election. Unless a much greater interest is manifested than has yet been shown there will be a very light vote cast. Indeed it is predicted that only a small vote is probable, for no one is particularly interested. The selection of the next mayor may yet come into the election and that would arouse the voters to go to the polls.

As a result of a complaint having been made to the police today alleging the reckless driving of an operator of one of the delivery cars of the Zepp bakery, the driver of the machine was hailed to the police station and given a severe reprimand and had it not been for the attitude of the complainant the driver would have been prosecuted, but that course was not desired by the woman lodging the complaint. It was alleged that the commercial car narrowly escaped collision with a pleasure car, corner of State and Huntington streets and just missed striking three meeting streets on their way to school, meeting streets on their way to school.

The police chased two floating peddiers out of the city this forenoon, for the peddlers had not taken out a license to sell their merchandise and it was believed the men were attempting to dispose of an inferior quality of goods. The police were advised several days ago that two men, attired in garb to indicate that they were seafarers, were going about New England attempting to sell imitation linen and that they were frauds. This forenoon Sergeant Marks, of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad's force of special agents, detected two men attempting to sell cloth to pedestrians in the vicinity of the union station. Sergeant Marks acquainted Sergeant Nelson Smith of the former's observation and the two officers started through Bank street in the police automobile for the purpose of intercepting the peddlers. The two men were finally located on Shaw street, corner of Woodbridge street, which is an Italian district, and where they were about to endeavor to sell their wares to women. The men described themselves as John Flemma, 56 Forsyth street, New York and Frank Arditi, 190 Mulberry street, New York. They were taken to the union station and ordered aboard a train headed for Manhattan.

Nelson Beckwith, of Station 21, Waterford; Mrs. Harry Newbury, 181 Howard street; John Brennan, 56 Mercer street; Mrs. Frank Burke, 2 Murray Court; Mrs. Walter Henrici and infant son, 1165 Ocean avenue; Mrs. Leo Redwing and infant son, Niantic and Frederick Peltier, 43 Shapley street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, were dismissed today.

Annie Gilbey has sold the two family residence at 870 Bank street to Leonard and Domenica Belbruno.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel has caused the operator's license of Frank Boyd, 97 Truman street, to be suspended. Boyd's automobile was recently in collision with another machine.

Owen C. Williams, 79, a well known Waterford resident, died last night at Lawrence hospital. He is survived by a wife. He was a member of Brainard lodge of Masons and Palestine Commandery. Mr. Williams was a native of Waterford and had resided there his entire life; he operated a farm for many years and until ill health caused him to abandon active life about a year ago. About two weeks ago Mr. Williams' condition became such that he was transferred to the hospital.

Harry C. Griswold, 181 Connecticut avenue, who was extensively cut about the face and head, last evening when the automobile he was driving crashed against two telephone poles on Pequot avenue, was able to return home today. It has been determined that the patient had not suffered internal injuries, as it was first believed.

Mrs. Charles Miller and children, who have been visiting Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Mary E. Kelley, 28 Pearl street, returned to their home in Hartford today.

Mrs. Ernest M. Cobb, of 34 School street, complained to Acting Prosecuting Attorney Perry J. Hollandersky late this afternoon that Mrs. Christian Olsen, 32 School street, who, Mrs. Cobb intimated had been under treatment at one time at Norwich State Hospital, was acting violently at the Olsen home. Because of the information given by Mrs. Cobb Sergeant John Cavanaugh and Policewoman Jane Cassidy were sent to ascertain the true condition of the woman. The officers, after engaging Mrs. Olsen in conversation reported that the woman appeared to be entirely normal, mentally and that there was not a semblance of indication that she was mentally unbalanced. The officers stated that Mrs. Olsen had engaged in a neighborhood quarrel relative to the boundary line of the Olsen property and because of the quarrel and the gesticulating of the woman it was taken for granted that her mind was not entirely sound.

George Edward, 10 days' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Summerton, died last night at Home Memorial hospital.

Mayor Waldo E. Clarke has received an invitation to attend the 34th Annual Safety Congress, which will open at Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 28 and continue until Oct. 2. The congress convenes annually for the purpose of listening to nationally informed speakers, whose subjects relate to the performance of work in home, street or factory with the greatest degree of safety. Mayor Clarke has not decided whether he will accept the invitation.

The condition of Edward A. Pickett, seriously ill with pneumonia at his home, Summer street is reported tonight as being slightly improved.

Several New Londoners will go to New York tomorrow night and Friday they will witness the 15 round battle between Paul Berlenbach, New York light heavyweight, and Jimmy Slattery, crack Buffalo fighter.

The police today started an investigation into the burning at the Thames shipyard last July 5th, of a government launch and the serious damage of a second craft, which resulted in the death of Antone Alfiero 16, formerly of 37 Orchard street and the serious burning of the boy's brother, Joseph Alfiero, also of 37 Orchard street and Peter Grillo, 35 Orchard street. The investigation is being made by Sergeant John Cavanaugh and officers from Fort H. G. Wright, the latter representing the interest of the federal government. Whether an arrest will be made, it is not known, and will not be determined until the investigation is concluded.

Joseph Alfiero, who is about 35, accompanied by his brother and Grillo, went to the shipyard in an automobile for the purpose of stealing gasoline from one of the government's launches, moored there and undergoing repairs. While the three were on board one of the craft and attempting to remove the gasoline, one of them either lighted a match or allowed a cigarette to be moved too close to the opening in the gasoline tank for the fumes to ignite, for the gasoline became ablaze and resulted in the explosion of the tank. Joseph Alfiero and Grillo were terribly burned about the face, hands and body and were under treatment at Lawrence hospital several weeks. Antone Alfiero was rendered unconscious by the explosion and was hurled to the bottom of the boat, where his presence was not known by rescuers, who hastened to the boat when it became ablaze. An alarm was rung in and when firemen responded several streams of water were poured into the burning boat and the Alfiero youth was drowned, his body being recovered several hours after the fire was extinguished and when the boat was pumped out.

Kills Catarrh Germ In Three Minutes

Chronic catarrh, no matter how bad and cases of bronchial asthma now yield instantly to the amazing discovery of a French scientist. This drugless method called Lavex kills the germ in three minutes, yet it is positively harmless to the most delicate tissues. Your head and lungs are cleared like magic. Sufferers are relieved in a single night. To prove it and to introduce Lavex to a million sufferers in one month, I offer to send a treatment free and postpaid, to any one who will write for it. No obligation. No cost. If it cures you, you can repay the favor by telling your friends—if not, the loss is mine. No matter what you have tried, just send me your name and address for this generous free treatment and prove that you can be rid of catarrh.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

"The Trouble With Wives"

A comedy of married life that scintillates with newness—a human story that treats the marital situation and its hectic sequences from a laugh angle.

That's what one finds in "The Trouble With Wives" at the Palace Theatre. It's an original screen story by Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin, Malcolm St. Clair, who made "Are Parents People ?" as his first Paramount picture, directed. Florence Vidor, Tom Moore, Esther Ralston and Ford Sterling are featured.

Someone once said, whether aptly or not, that the real trouble with wives is that they spend too much, flirt too much, nag too much and wear too little—and the picture proves it—the nagging part, anyway.

A couple of eye-filling sequences include scenes in Moore's ultra-fashionable bootery, with twelve pretty models displaying the latest thing in footwear on shapely ankles, and episodes on the beach at Catalina Island with fifty of filmdom's neatest little mermaids.

There's a strong cast playing in support of the principals.

Breed Theater

The Breed theater has booked the William Fox screen version of James A. Herne's famous play, Hearts of Oak, for two days beginning Friday. Aside from the fact that, as a stage production, the Herne masterpiece was seen by millions of persons all over America, this news is interesting because of the opinions of critics who have seen the motion picture. It has been pronounced one of the strongest heart touching and dramatic photo-plays that has been put on the screen in some time.

Hobart Bosworth has been cast in the leading role of Terry Dunnivan, created on the stage by the author, Mr. Herne. Mr. Fox has selected an excellent cast to support this well known portrayer of sea-faring men. Theodore Von Eltz is seen as Ned and Pauline Starke plays Chrystal.

The first and second episodes of the new chapter play Play Ball written by John J. McGray manager of the New York Giants, will be shown Friday and Saturday also scenes of the wreckage of the giant air cruiser Shenandoah which fell to earth in a windstorm at Cadwell, Ohio.

An Imitation Freshie

Are you imitating another ? Or are you being yourself—expressing your own personality ? Harold Lloyd in "The Freshman," coming Sunday to the Palace theatre, plays the part of a first year college student who seeks to win popularity honors by imitating college heroes of movies and fiction. The result is that he's the object of every prank the jokers can think of. He's the laughing stock of the campus—and the last to learn the truth ! Then pretty Peggy says, "Be yourself, Harold ! Make them like you for yourself, not an imitation of others !" And he learns the magic of her words !

PORTERS RESCUE GIRL WHO HAD FALLEN FROM WHARF

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 9—A six year old Polish girl residing with her parents on John street, had a close call from drowning in the Thames river this evening, but for the timely appearance of rescuers.

The child, accompanied by another roamed to the union station about 6.30 o'clock and then proceeded across the tracks to the Fishers Island Navigation company's pier. While roaming about the dock the girl tripped and fell over the stringer along the north side of the pier and in the rear of the Groton ferry house. The splash caused by the girl entering the water and the cries of her companion were heard by several colored porters employed on the New London line steamer, New Hampshire, who were at the crossing approach awaiting the reception of baggage from passengers going aboard the steamer. Three of the porters ran to where the child was screaming and saw the struggling form in the water. One of the porters was lowered alongside the spiling by the other two and in that manner the child was reached, the rescuer seizing the girl's clothing and permitting both to be pulled to the wharf. Hardly had the child reached the pier when she and her companion ran to the highway bridge over the tracks and crossing the structure ran to their homes, the girl apparently being none the worse for her experience.

TRAINMEN'S TREASURER TOOK FUNDS ON OUTING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 9—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen held a picnic at Red Top Sunday and since then members of the brotherhood have been instituting a search for one of their members, who has disappeared and with him $125, the funds of the order. At the time of the arrangements being made for the affair the missing member, who is a resident of Stonington and who has been a member of the brotherhood 25 years, was given the money to purchase certain eatables intended for the picnickers. Last Saturday the foodstuffs failed to reach the picnic grounds where a force of cooks was preparing the food for the following day. Inquiry was made and then it was revealed to a member of the order, who went to Stonington, that the custodian of the brotherhood's funds had departed a day or two before, apparently with the intention of taking a vacation trip. This it is understood by members of the order to be the case, for it is said the member was later heard of in New Haven.

The disappearance of the brotherhood man did not interfere with the plans of the committee in charge of the picnic, for the needed articles of food were obtained during the night and were delivered at the picnic grounds in ample time to be served at the bake in the afternoon.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

SEPT. 10TH CLOSING DATE TO MAKE ENTRIES

An opportunity for a free trip to Washington, D. C., is not given to every girl in this section of the state but the New London County fair will send a girl from Eastern Connecticut, selected as such by a prominent actress. Entries for the Beautiful Girl contest close on Sept. 10th at 63 Broadway, Norwich and all girls between 17 and 25 years are eligible to compete for the prizes. This is an unusual opportunity and may lead to chances for state competition.

Entries for the decorated automobile parade should be made as speedily as possible to insure an opportunity to compete for the prize of $100 in gold. Business houses, societies, clubs and individuals may enter this contest which takes place Saturday.

Those desirous of entering the Horse Shoe pitching contests on Saturday should sign up at 63 Broadway, a deposit of $1 covering entrance fee and admission to the fairgrounds.

Boys owning dogs and who wish to see the fair without charge on Saturday should bring their pets to the fairgrounds not later than 9:30 o'clock in the morning. A leash and strong collar are required and prizes are to be given for the best dogs in the show. Mayor Milo R. Waters will award the prize to the champion dog.

Other special feature will be the Better Baby Contest, Friday morning at 9 o'clock, open to babies up to two years of age, brought to the fairgrounds and entered. Doctors and nurses are in charge of this feature and prize loving cups are to be awarded. Also the Doll Carriage parade at 10 o'clock Saturday morning which takes place on merchants row, the old midway at the fairgrounds. No advance entries are required in these events.

Attention is also called to the fact that no late entries will be accepted this year in any department; also that a forfeiture of premiums won is required of any exhibitor removing his exhibits from the fairgrounds before 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Premiums are open to any exhibitor who is an annual member of the society, this membership admitting to this years fair.

MAGNIFICENT DAHLIAS AT FANNING PARK GARDENS

For those who enjoy the beauties of nature, a visit to the Fanning Park Dahlia Gardens, on Oneco street, will well repay one for their trouble. When once passing through the rustic entrance, the first exclamation by nearly every visitor is what a gorgeous sight. Here are planted dahlias of all descriptions, from the size of an ordinary button to that of a dinner plate, involving every conceivable shade as to coloring.

Mrs. Roswell J. P. Brown, who grows these world's choicest and best specimens, has received some fine compliments from dahlia enthusiasts, as well as all other visitors, for the quality, foliage, size and growth of her dahlias. There are two large plots, including in all 4,000 hills of dahlias, some being planted in another location on the same street. All are in a healthy condition, not having suffered from the blight that has affected gardens in other places.

The Fanning Park gardens not only display a gorgeous array of magnificent dahlia blooms; but some of the finest quality of asters, gladiolus, snapdragons and the popular straw flowers, may be observed in making a tour of inspection. There are 1000 aster plants in various shades, which are so large and full, they resemble a chrysanthemum. In the large patch of gladiolus, which also are beautiful as to size and colorings, there was planted at the beginning of the season, 30,000 bulbs and bublets, all of which have done exceptionally well. Considering that this has not been called a good flower season, Mrs. Brown feels that she has been wonderfully repaid for her efforts. Visitors to these gardens this summer have included people from many of the larger cities in the New England and Middle Atlantic states.

Dodge Brothers Dealer to Move into New Location

The Jordan Auto Co., distributors of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars and Graham Brothers Trucks, whose headquarters are at Willimantic, are to open a new branch sales and service station September 15th, at 410 Main street, Norwich.

The Jordan Auto Co. has represented Dodge Brothers in Windham and New London Counties since 1915 at which time the Dodge Brothers car first made its appearance. For the past few years the Jordan Auto Co., has operated a branch service station at 95 Chestnut street, this city. The constant growth of the concern, together with its desire to be better prepared to serve its present and future customers, prompted them, several months ago, to purchase the property at the Preston end of Preston bridge, which consisted of a large block containing several stores and tenements.

The Jordan Auto Co. have entirely remodelled this block so that it is now ideally adapted to its future use. The basement or lower floor, access to which is from Talman street, contains 4500 square feet of well lighted floor space which provides excellent facilities for a well equipped repair shop or service station. An enormous yard containing about 5,000 square feet partially concreted is provided directly at the rear of the service station so that it will not be necessary for customers cars to be left on the street.

On the floor above which is on the Main street level, is a very attractive sales room which will permit the display of a few of the types of the ever popular Dodge Brothers car. This same floor, directly at the rear of the salesroom contains an office and a spacious parts department which has been equipped throughout with the latest in steel shelving and where a very complete line of all Dodge Brothers service parts and supplies will be kept.

Children Sent to School Healthy

Many of the children in Connecticut entering school this fall will start their school career in a normal, physical condition. This has been made possible by the monthly attendance at the well child conference for preschool children, which have been held in 91 towns in Connecticut.

Each child has received a thorough, physical examination, and mothers who are most interested in their welfare have been in touch with their family physician so that all handicaps in the shape of physical defects have been corrected.

This is worth while work. There is a monthly well child conference in south Coventry. Mothers should avail themselves of this opportunity by attending the September conference in the public library, Monday, September 14 from 2 to 4 p. m.

At Pachaug Grange Fair

They have erected a new poultry building to accommodate 500 birds. A new story pens and a fast 1-3 mile race track has been completed which is second to none in New England. Already horses have begun to hit the low marks. The fair is to be held three days commencing today and there will be something doing every minute.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Studebaker

The fourth annual "Reserve mileage economy run" for Studebaker motor cars with more than 50,000 miles on their speedometers brought to the starting line in Los Angeles 20 entrants the largest number of one make of car ever assembled for such a run.

Every car completed the 172-mile course from Los Angeles to Lake Arrowhead and return without a single mechanical mishap and without being late at a single control. Yet the average "age" of the 20 was 23,659 miles at the start.

The "youngster" of the lot had gone only 39,353 miles; the oldest car had done 266,156.

Even the winner in the Big Six class had 186,815 miles behind it at the start. Yet it made the 172 miles, rising a mile in altitude to beautiful Arrowhead Inn, with an average of 13.1 miles to the gallon.

The winner in the Special Six class was 21,231-miler, which averaged 16.5 miles to the gallon. First among the Standard or Light Six class had gone 75,895 miles, yet made the remarkable record of 20.5 miles to the gallon with no coasting.

The entire run was made strictly within legal limits—15 miles an hour in cities, 35 miles an hour in the country; full stops at all stop crossings and all the heaviest mountain climbing in second gear from specified limits. The test was for economy in operation and freedom from mechanical troubles.

All the cars were privately owned, entered by Southern California dealers. The 1,872,156 miles aggregate showing on the 20 cars' speedometers at the start was a striking evidence of the reserve mileage built into these widely advertised one-profit cars.

The oldest cars entered were the 1919 models. Every Big Six entered made more than 15 miles to the gallon of gasoline; every Special Six exceeded 15.5 miles and the lowest attainment of the Standard Six class was 18.2 miles. Motors were not shut off during the trip going or returning.

The Gilmore Oil company checked gas and oil; Cliff Mulick of the Lovejoy Pacific company refereed the run; J. E. Van Nuys of Arrowhead Inn checked the arriving and leaving time at the inn. Start and finish was at the Studebaker Corporation's branch office in Los Angeles, with A. W. Maxwell, manager, in charge of the run. In each car was a checker supplied by a competing driver.

Curt Andersen, branch manager for Harry D. Riley of Anaheim, drove the winning Big Six; E. G. Seeley piloted the winning Special Six entered by the Alhambra garage. Jack Adams drove the best Standard Six for Keller Brothers of Pasadena.

The run over, each of the twenty cars was returned to its owner, to keep on its regular service, for all are in daily use and give every evidence of continuing it for years to come. Each owner insists his car is not "old." As one remarked in a poetic mood, "There is no age, to a stout heart."

Broadway Theatre

Like the catchline of a famous advertisement "It's Good to the Last". This in a nutshell explains the program which opens at the Broadway Theatre today. It's an exceptional B. F. Keith Vaudeville program.

Sherwin Kelly offers "Bike-Ology" by George A. Kershaw, a real novelty. Barrett Bros. renders a study in song and dance.

John T. Ray and Florence Everette offer "At the Cloakroom" is a comedy spat.

More comedy with Brown and De Mont in "The Black Diamonds of Cardology."

Cass, Lahn & Co., close the show with a musical variety offering.

Given an unusually fine story, plus a splendid characterization by its star, "The Midnight Girl," starring Lila Lee which begins a three days' engagement will open at the Broadway Theatre today. This is one of the biggest productions released this year by Chadwick Pictures Corporation and will make a strong bid as one of the screen masterpieces of the year.

With the lovely Lila Lee, a star of first magnitude, heading the cast, there is enough of superlative acting to meet the demands of the most critical audiences. In support of Miss Lee there is Gareth Hughes, the popular juvenile, and Dolores Cassinnelli, Charlette Walker, Bela Lugosi, Ruby Blaine and many other popular favorites.

The theme of the screen play is one that will appeal to both sexes of the movie-going public.

A. W. Lindquist covered sixty miles on ice skates in 5 hours 33 minutes in Minnesota, January 4, 1891.

LEGAL NOTICE

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the district of Norwich, on the 9th day of September, A. D. 1925.

Present, NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of RAYMOND J. JODOIN, late of Sprague in said district, deceased.

Azilda Jodoin of Sprague, Conn., appeared in court by attorney and filed a petition praying, for the reasons therein set forth, that an instrument in writing purporting to be the last will and testament of said decedent, be admitted to probate.

Whereupon, it is ordered, that said petition be heard and determined at the probate court room in the city of Norwich, in said district, on the 15th day of September A. D. 1925, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and that notice of the pendency of said petition, and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order one time in some newspaper having a circulation in said district at least three days prior to the date of said hearing and that return be made to this court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.

Attest, HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.

LEGAL NOTICES

Adjournment of Public Auction

By order of the Superior Court for New London County, Hon. Allyn L. Brown, Judge, made on the 20th day of July 1925, in the case of The Bankers Trust Company, against Edna Schaller and others, being No. 5786, pending in said court, the Auction Sale of the hereinafter described real estate has been postponed to Monday, Sept. 14th, 1925 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, (Eastern Standard Time) at which time and on the premises hereinafter described I will sell at Public Auction the following described premises.

A lot of land with the buildings thereon, located in said Norwich and known as No. 171 Broadway, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the northeast corner of land owned now or formerly by Vera Annie Trumbull, running thence 74 degrees, East 402 feet to the northwest corner of land now or formerly of John Quinlan; thence deflecting 87 degrees 30 minutes to the left and running 60 feet; thence deflecting 3 degrees to the right and running 73.4 feet to the last two lines bounded northwesterly by land of Rosalie Flint; thence deflecting 94 degrees 30 minutes to the left and running 503 feet to the southeasterly line of Broadway bounded northeasterly by land now or formerly of Mary T. Harriman, thence deflecting 100 degrees and 21 minutes to the left and running 82 1-2 feet to the place of beginning bounded southwesterly by Broadway being the same premises conveyed to the said Edna Schaller by Mary T. Harriman by deed dated April 29, 1925, and recorded in said Norwich land records, Vol. 169, Page 38.

The aforesaid property will be sold free and clear of all incumbrances except taxes and water rates.

The terms of sale are ten per cent. of purchase price in cash or certified check on day of sale, balance payable on or before the 20th day of September, 1925, at 12 o'clock noon or as soon thereafter as the deed is approved by the court.

Dated at Norwich, Conn., this 9th day of September, 1925.

GILBERT S. RAYMOND, Appointee

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HOLDEN at Colchester, within and for the district of Colchester on the 8th day of September A. D. 1925.

Present, JOHN CONDREN, Judge.

On motion of Kamila Meskanskas of Colchester, Conn., administratrix on the intestate estate of ANTHONY MESKANSWAS, late of Colchester within said district, deceased. This court doth decree that six months from date be allowed and limited for the creditors of said estate to exhibit their claims against the same to the administratrix and directs that public notice be given of this order by advertising in a newspaper having a circulation in said district, and by posting a copy thereof on the public sign post in said town of Colchester nearest the place where the deceased last dwelt.

Certified from record,

JOHN CONDREN, Judge

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the district of Norwich, on the 8th day of September, A. D., 1925.

Present, NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of CAROLYN A. STERRY late of Norwich in said district deceased. The administratrix c. t. a. exhibited her administration account with said estate to the court for allowance; it is therefore Ordered, that the 22nd day of September A. D. 1925, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, at the probate court room in the city of Norwich, in said district, be, and the same is, appointed for hearing hereon, and the said administratrix is directed to give notice thereof by publishing this order once in some newspaper having a circulation in said district at least ten days prior to the date of said hearing, and make return to the court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.

Attest, HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.

MARKET WAS SPECULATIVE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(A. P.)—Speculators for the advance regained control of the upward movement in today's stock market, rallying the general list under the leadership of the railroad, oil and motor shares. The sudden reversal of form was brought about by the assurance of bankers that the higher call money rates were only temporary, and by the publication of statistics showing that freight car loadings in the week ended August 29, were the largest of any single week on record.

Inasmuch as the peak of freight traffic ordinarily is not reached until October, operators for the rise saw interesting possibilities for the carrier stocks. Atlantic coast Line scored a sensational advance of over ten points by touching 189 5-8, a new high record. Delaware and Hudson, Louisville and Nashville, and Denver and Rio Gande Western preferred, all showed net gains of about 3 points. Special interest centered on Southern Railway because of reports that directors at their meeting tomorrow would raise the dividend rate from $5 to $7. The stock closed a point higher at 106 7-8, or within a point of the record top.

Studebaker was the sensation of the motor group, soaring four points to a new high record for the year at 52 3-8 on total transactions exceeding 150,000 shares, or more than one-tenth of the day's entire business. Pool activity, based on high current earnings and reports of increased sales, provided the stimulus for the advance. Chrysler was again run up over seven points to a record top at 155 7-8 at the expense of an overcrowded short interest, and then broke to 150 on realizing. Several other motors closed one to 3 points higher. Another interesting feature of the day's session was the reawakening of speculative interest in the oil shares on the theory that the downward revision of prices had been about completed. The Pan-American issues, Houston Oil, General Petroleum, Atlantic Refiners and Independent Oil and Gas all showed net gains of two points or more, and nearly a dozen others closed at least a point higher.

Packing shares were heavily bought on the belief that the industry had definitely turned the corner. New York Shipbuilding jumped seven points to a record high at 60, in further reflection of the recent sale of a large interest to a Swiss electrical concern. American Safety Razor, DuPont, General Electric, the Commercial Solvents issues, Mack Trucks, International Shoe, Railway Steel Spring and West Penn Company were all bid up anywhere from 3 to 10 points.

Call money renewed at 5 percent, but dropped to 4 1-2 upon the receipt of out of town funds which were attracted by the sharp advance in yesterday's rate. Time money held firm at 4 1-4 to 4 3-4 per cent., depending upon maturity. Prime commercial paper continued to rule between 4 and 4 1-4 percent.

Speculative interest in the foreign exchange market was divided between an extreme gain of 20 points in Italian lire, which touched a new high record for the year at 4.29 cents, and then lost more than half the day's gain on profit taking, and another sharp run up in Norwegian kroner, which hit 22.40 cents, the highest price since the war. Demand sterling held steady around $4.84 1-3 and French francs were slightly firmer at 4.70 cents. Danish kroner ruled about 15 points lower at 26.10 cents.

TAFTVILLE

A miscellaneous shower for Miss Ruth Pollard, R. N., of South Second avenue was given Tuesday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. Adam Leupold of Lisbon, in honor of Miss Pollard's approaching marriage to Frank Connelli of Norwich. After the bride-elect had been showered with gifts, refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present included Mrs. Christopher Trosger, Mrs. Albert J. Aberg, Mrs. Ernest Pollard, Mrs. James Emerson, Mrs. George Helmboldt, Mrs. Andrew Frohmader, Miss Lena Kaempf, Miss Emily Pollard, Miss Isabel Thompson, Mrs. Elmer Larkin of Jewett City and Mrs. Wilbur Dodge and Mrs. Linus Dodge of Block Island, R. I.

The first fall meeting of the Taftville Social & Football Club was held in the clubrooms at the Ponemah house Tuesday evening with a good attendance. President Allan Bogle presided, and four new members were elected.

A Workers' Conference was held Tuesday evening in the parlors of the Taftville Congregational Church with Superintendent Victor H. Davis presiding. It was voted to open the church school next Sunday at 12 o'clock. Rally Day is to be the first Sunday in October as usual, and Miss Gertrude M. Young and Mrs. Edwin G. Crowdis are to care for the needed supplies. Rev. Mr. Crowdis is to obtain a speaker for the day.

Mrs. Jonas Eastwood of North Fourth avenue is confined to her bed with a badly sprained foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bruno and daughter Blanche and Miss Alice Curran of Main street, Occum, Joseph Laroche of Occum Heights and Mr. and Mrs. Irenee Laroche of South B. street have returned to their homes in town after enjoying a three weeks' vacation at their cottage at Nausaket, R. I.

John H. Murphy has returned to his home on Merchants avenue after a stay of several weeks at Watch Hill, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Morin and family of New Bedford, Mass., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Delaney and family of South A street.

Miss Irene Parent of South Second avenue has had as her guest for the past few days, Miss Alma Lague of New Bedford, Mass. Both Miss Parent and Miss Lague are students at the Academy of the Holy Family at Baltic.

Leo Belisle who has been spending the summer at his home in town has resumed his studies at Sacred Heart College, Worcester, Mass.

Eli Tetreault of New Bedford, Mass., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gladue of South A street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Adams and family of North Third avenue and their guest, Mr. Adam's sister, Mrs. Harry Seaman of Hartford, Conn., spent the week end with friends in Providence, R. I., and Putnam.

Miss Anna LaRoche of Occum Heights has returned from Nausauket, R. I., where she has been visiting for the past week.

Joseph Parkinson who has been at the Ponemah House for the past two weeks, has left town.

A thick coat of tarvia was applied to the surface of Norwich avenue Wednesday morning by men employed by the state highway department.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Routhier who have been spending several months in Canada, have returned to the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Harnett and family of Norwich plan to move soon to the village.

R. M. Bliven of Norwich was a business caller in the village Wednesday.

With the beginning of school and cold weather, the attendance at the old swimming hole across the Ponemah mills dam, has greatly decreased this week. The spot looks quite deserted after enjoying a rushing business all summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Senecal and family of South C street are to move to Westerly R. I., where Mr. Senecal has accepted a position.

Mr. and Mrs. John Houston have returned to their home on South Second avenue after a vacation trip to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bolduc and family have closed their cottage at Poquogh Beach and have returned to their home on Bolduc Lane.

BROMLEY STREET MAN "NOT GUILTY" ON ARSON CHARGE AGAINST HIM

Ralph Yzzo of this city, whose trial on the charge of arson was begun Tuesday in the superior court here, was found not guilty by Judge Leonard J. Nickerson late Wednesday afternoon. Yzzo, who is an employe of the city gas and electric department, was accused of having set fire to his dwelling house on Bromley street about 4 o'clock on the morning of July 25, 1925.

Following the disposition of the Yzzo case, Judge Nickerson declared a recess until further order of court as this case concluded all the business of the September criminal term.

In finding Yzzo not guilty, Judge Nickerson made a brief statement in which he outlined his reasons for his judgment. He said he was satisfied that there had been a burning within the meaning of the law, but the question of how the fire was set presented much more difficulty. It was not incumbent upon the accused to show how or by whom the fire was set. There was much that was suspicious in the circumstances but they failed to establish guilt to the degree required by law, Judge Nickerson said he thought that if the bottle of kerosene had been pushed through the roof according to the theory advanced by the state, it would have had different marks on it than had been shown by the testimony. It leaves a very grave doubt and is coupled with the testimony as to character, which was important. Suspicions are strong against the accused, he said, but they are not strong enough to remove all reasonable doubt, and this doubt was so great that he felt obliged to give Yzzo the benefit of it and find Yzzo not guilty.

Arguments in the Case

When the evidence had been concluded in the case shortly after the court had begun the afternoon session, Attorney Lee Roy Robbins, who was assisting State Attorney Arthur M. Brown, made the opening argument for the state. He reviewed the points which he claimed tended to show the guilt of the accused. Yzzo, he claimed, needed a new roof on one side of his house. On the night of July 25 it rained but Yzzo did not know this when he rose in the early morning, went to the attic and poked the bottle of kerosene through the shingles on the poor side of the roof, lighting the fire from the inside, probably with the candle which dropped grease on the bottle and the floor of the attic. At the same time a piece of shingle was dropped into the bottle of kerosene and was not dislodged when the kerosene was scattered over the roof from the bottle. In poking the bottle through the shingles, it accumulated the blackened deposit which the state chemist said was a woody fibre like the shingles. Attorney Robbins alleged that it was improbable that anyone who lit the fire from the outside would have done it on a side of the house exposed to view from the road and to neighbors or would have set it on the roof, to reach which a ladder would have to be used.

Attorney Charles L. Stewart, making the argument for the accused man, called the state's theory an attenuated one and dwelt upon the substantial testimony of the character witnesses for Yzzo. He called attention of Fire Chief Stanton, which varied in the lower and the higher courts as to where he found the two burnt matches outside the house. He argued that the smut on the bottle, the wax on the bottle and the floor of the attic, were all explained by the use that the Yzzo family made of the bottle in lighting the kitchen stove or filling an oil stove and he claimed that the pieces of metal in the bottle was not a piece of a shingle nail from the roof.

In the final argument, State Attorney Brown said that all the circumstances pointed to but one conclusion, the guilt of the accused man. He stressed particularly the smutted condition of the bottle of kerosene, which he said could not be explained by the use which the Yzzo family made of the bottle, and he emphasized the point that the bottle was wet with kerosene when found on the shelf of the kitchen and there was a ring of kerosene on the shelf under the bottle. He mentioned also that the Yzzo house had been bought for about $600, had a mortgage on it for $765, was insured for $4,000, but was worth only $2,000, according to the testimony of a builder.

Character Witnesses

When court opened in the morning to continue trial of the case, four character witnesses for the accused man gave testimony. These were Dr. N. B. Lewis, Gilbert E. Raymond, Michael D'Atri, and Simeon Rosano.

Miss Lillian Hawes, who took the stenographic record, when the case was tried in the city court, read from her notes on Chief Stanton's testimony as to where he found burnt matches outside the house.

Dennis Barry, local contractor and builder, testified that he saw a ladder on the Yzzo premises. It was possible, he said, that a person standing on the ladder could reach to the place where the fire was. A metal in the bottle, which the state alleged to be a nail, was testified to by Mr. Barry as not being a shingle nail, but admitted on cross-examination that it was a nail. Patsy Yeltz, of 591 East Side, a nephew of the accused, told of doing some electrical work in the Yzzo house. He worked wiring the house after his regular day's work by the light of wax candles. He said that he got candle droppings on his hands, shoes, floor, etc.

Miss Rose Yeltz, a daughter of the accused, said that on the day of the fire at her house, she was at Huntington, L. I., with her mother and four other brothers and sisters. They had gone to attend a christening.

As to the kerosene bottle, she said that it had been used to fill an oil stove, house-cleaning, and for the kitchen stove. Other miscellaneous articles, including oil, rags, soaps, nails were on the shelf. A second bottle with a black substance on the outside was introduced. This was to offset the state's testimony that the other bottle had been used to saturate the roof, and as a result the black stuff accumulated.

Patsy Yeltz, 9 year old son of the accused, who was the only one home with his father at the time of the fire, was called. State Attorney Brown objected to the boy's testifying on account of his age and claimed he could not qualify. Judge Nickerson admitted the boy as a witness.

The night prior to the fire, he and his father went to bed about 10.30 p. m. He cooked his own breakfast on an oil stove in the cellar and he told of falling on the cellar stairs and spilling kerosene out of the bottle which he had used to fill the oil stove.

Testimony of Accused

Ralph Yzzo, 40, the accused, who is better known as Yeltz, was the final witness for the defense. He is a compasser at the city gas and electric plant and is paid $30.80 for seven days' work. He said he bought the Bromley street house in 1917, moved into it in 1918, and he described the improvements he made at the place, which cost over $1,500. He told of relatives of his wife on Long Island, to visit whom his children had gone away before the fire. He was at home with only one child, a boy. He said he went to bed about 10.30 and did not get up during the night until he was awakened by the alarm of fire. His boy Patsy slept with him. The witness said he went to his work at the gas house that morning and Chief Stanton saw him there and accused him of putting kerosene on the house, and called him a dirty crook and told him he would fix him. Yzzo said he told the chief he didn't know anything about it. He was arrested about 1 o'clock that day.

Last December the witness said, he had his nephew do some wiring at the house. He said that the bottle of kerosene, which was an exhibit in the case was used for lighting the kitchen stove. There were other bottles in the house, in the attic and other places.

On cross examination, the witness said he had last used the bottle on Monday morning, the fire being on Wednesday morning. There was only a little kerosene left in it.

Over the objection of Attorney Stewart Yzzo answered the questions of State Attorney Brown that there had been fires in his barn in May and in July before this one in the house. Yzzo's answer was "yes." He said he heard no noise around the house before the fire of the 29th and he had never had any trouble with anybody.

County Detective William Lewis was recalled in rebuttal by State Attorney Brown, who asked him about the two oil stoves in the cellar. Only one of them was in use, the witness said. It could be filled by taking off the glass container which held the oil. The county detective reiterated his statement that he poked his flat through the shingles on the roof when he was making his investigation.

ROTARY COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER COMMUNITY CHEST

Visiting Rotarians and guests from Montreal, Willimantic, Philadelphia, New London and the United States navy were present at the meeting of the Norwich Rotary club Wednesday noon at the Wauregan hotel. The meeting was presided over by President J. Nelson Weymouth. Herbert B. Cary asked the divine blessing and the song leader was James L. Case. One of the feature numbers of the song programme was a quartette by Grosvenor Ely, Joseph C. Worth, E. LaRue Bliven and F. Russell Smith.

Hugh B. Campbell, chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the fall conclave of the Rotary clubs to be held this month at the Griswold hotel, and Joseph C. Worth explained the plans in detail.

President Weymouth appointed James L. Case, Edwin A. Harris and James E. Roantree as a committee to meet with similar committee from other civic organizations to consider the community chest plan. As a greeting to Governor Trumbull, his staff and Senator Bingham on Governor's Day at the county fair, Thursday of next week it was voted to hold a joint dinner that day with the Norwich Lions club. The details of the dinner will be left with the programme committee of the two clubs. Judge Arthur F. Libby is chairman of the committee to entertain the governor's party while they are in Norwich and Grosvenor Ely is chairman of the reception committee.

James E. Roantree, treasurer of the American Thermos Bottle Co., was the speaker of the day. He gave an interesting talk on Thermos products which have carried the name of Norwich around the world. Mr. Roantree said the Thermos bottle was first introduced by the late President Walker in 1907 and the business has since grown to vast proportions. He described the company's glass plant at Huntington, West Virginia, which is near the source of supply. He explained the method of making glass, the plant having a tank holding 40 to 50 tons of molten mass, and also the making of bottles from high grade flint glass. Samples of the inside pistons of the Thermos bottle were shown.

The bottles are brought to Norwich by the carload and there are some 15 operators in the plant here, where the silver solution with its mirror-like surface is added. The fillers are all made alike whether for higher or lower priced bottles. The processes of assembling the parts were described showing how the completed Thermos bottles are turned out annually by the million. It is hard to gauge the pint and quart seasons, which vary each year. Sales methods were described and it was stated that the name of Norwich is mentioned in all the company's advertising, which has made the Thermos products known all over the world. This year's business is expected to reach immense proportions.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

JUMPED FROM AUTOMOBILE STALLED ON R. R. TRACKS

Shortly before noon Wednesday a Gardner machine driven by Edgar E. Parker of No. 25 Rogers avenue was demolished when hit by a passenger train at the Second street crossing in Greeneville. Mr. Parker, who is employed at the U. S. Finishing company plant, had started to drive across the tracks when his motor stalled. The train, southbound, was just turning the curve near the crossing.

As Mr. Parker realized that he couldn't get his car started in time to get off the tracks, he jumped from the machine and a second later the engine crashed into the Gardner pushing it several hundred feet down the track. The train stopped, but as it was seen that no one was injured, proceeded on its way after the wrecked machine had been pushed clear of the tracks.

The body of the machine was split, running board and headlights smashed, the windshield and top demolished and the frame badly bent. An auto wrecker was sent to tow the wrecked machine to a garage. The police were notified and Sergt. Myron O. Morgan conducted an investigation of the accident.

HADDAM ANCIENT MARINER REACHES AGE OF 101

Capt. George Parmelee, Haddam's ancient mariner, was 101 years old Monday. Many people came to see this venerable mariner, who still has that cheery smile and those ruddy cheeks that years before the mast bring.

Because of his advanced age, however, he does not venture far from home now, where he lives with his daughter, Miss Phila Parmelee, assistant librarian in Brainard Memorial Library, and his two sons, George and Charles Parmelee. Once a year he goes as far as the general store.

He enjoys sitting in a chair which his neighbors gave him last year.

BEAUTIFUL GIRL HAS CHANCE FOR MOVIES

Some Eastern Connecticut girl may have the good fortune of becoming a famous motion picture star according to an announcement made Wednesday evening by John Callahan, exploitation representative of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, makers of Paramount pictures.

Mr. Callahan, who has been at the Palace Theatre assisting Edward G. McEvoy, manager of the Palace theatre, in the showing of the Ten Commandments, has agreed to cooperate with the New London county fair officials in the Beautiful Girl Contest, stating that the winner of the contest, on her way to Washington, D. C., with her companion, would be invited to stop over at New York and go to the Great Northern Hotel. The following day they would be escorted through the plant of the Famous Players-Lasky company, where the girl judged the most beautiful in Eastern Connecticut, would be screened by the company. Test pictures would then be taken and if found suitable the girl would be invited to attend the school of acting maintained by the company and have a chance to become a screen actress with them.

This offer is in connection with the policy of the company to select new material for the screen. The company feels that hundreds of girls are eligible to enter the movies if given an opportunity to be screened and this offer for the New London county fair is made for just that purpose. Only a few weeks ago a New Haven girl was selected for the screen and is now working with Richard Dix in his new picture.

A representative of the Paramount pictures will be in Norwich on Friday, September 18th to witness the contest and arrange with the winner for her trip through the studio and the screen tests to be made.

Entries for this event have been coming in fast, five being received on Wednesday, but in view of this wonderful offer the fair committee, with Messrs. Callahan and McEvoy have continued the chance to enter the contest until Wednesday, September 16th, entries to be made at 63 Broadway.

Information about the contest and the arrangements with the Famous Players-Lasky corporation may be obtained by calling at the Palace theatre and getting in touch with Mr. McEvoy or by calling Edwin V. Ross, secretary of the fair.

JAIL AND FINE FOR WOMAN ON LIQUOR CHARGE

At the city court session Wednesday morning, Judge Arthur F. Libby nolled the charge of attempted seduction as appears in the warrant, against Robert Appleby, 29, of North Cliff street. The offense which resulted in the issuing of the warrant occurred last October and Appleby was arrested recently on his return to Norwich, after an absence of some months. The family in the case, whose named are Lint, are now located at Bradford R. I. and City Attorney Lee Roy Robbins stated that they wished to drop the charges.

Annie Ladyka of No. 48 Second street, mother of three small children, entered a plea of guilty to sale of liquor. She was fined $200 and costs and in addition given 10 days in jail by Judge Libby.

John Pluta, 27, of Greeneville, was before the court charged with keeping liquor with intent to sell. The case was continued until Saturday to give the state time to secure more evidence and Pluta was released under bonds of $1,000.

Two men charged with breach of the peace in engaging in a fight at Central wharf Sunday afternoon had their cases disposed of on a nolle by paying $7 each. An Occum man was fined and paid $5 and costs for intoxication.

Guests of Mrs. L. H. Tucker

Guests of Mrs. L. H. Tucker of Scotland on Sunday who motored to Pleasant View were: Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Frissell of Middletown, Mr. and Mrs. George Black, Miss Vesta Black of Deep River, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Frissell and Mary Jane Frissell of Higganum, Thomas and Frank H. Frissell of Middletown, Miss Katherine Roberts of Boston, Mrs. N. P. Read, Misses Nellie C. Allison and Fanny N. Allison of Middletown. They enjoyed a delicious basket lunch on the large lawn, consisting of many kinds of cake, sandwiches, cookies, wafers, coffee, milk, pickles, fruit, pears and bananas and a choice variety of candies. Mr. Frissell invited all to have their pictures taken in a group and several different ways. All were delighted and enjoyed the lovely view of more than twenty miles to the west and declared they had enjoyed a most pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Tucker declared it was a pleasant surprise to her, never to be forgotten.

Were Visitors at Scotland Farm

Mrs. A. E. Geer and sons, Walter Leslie, Ralph and Earl, were guests of her mother Mrs. L. H. Tucker of Scotland several days last week. Mrs. Geer returned home Friday taking her other two sons Milton and Harold, who have been spending their vacation with their grandmother and learning how to raise and care for chickens, also garden produce. Both boys were much pleased at their success.

It's that we don't know about people that causes us to have a good opinion of them.

WOMAN'S BACK STOPPED ACHING

I Suffered Three Years. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I have a little girl three years old and ever since her birth I have suffered with my back as if it were breaking in two and I had a bearing down feeling all the time. I also had dizzy spells and was sick at my stomach every month. I had read several letters from women in the newspapers and the druggist recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my husband for me. As a result of taking it my back has stopped aching and the awful bearing down feeling is gone. I feel strong and do all of my housework and care to my little girl. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for constipation. I have recommended these medicines to some of my friends and you may use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. I will be pleased to answer letters of other women that I can help them by telling them what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. PRICE, 147 W. Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota.

GIVEN $600 FINE WITH FOUR MONTHS IN JAIL

Wasliy Slepicka of East Lyme charged with violation of the liquor law on three counts was found guilty and sentenced Wednesday morning in the superior court here by Judge Leonard J. Nickerson. After the testimony was concluded, State Attorney Arthur M. Brown moved for a fine of $1,000 and a sentence of one year in jail but the court made the following decision: Guilty on the first count of actual sale on Aug. 16, fined $300 and costs and given four months in jail; not guilty on the second count of actual sale on Aug. 29; guilty on third count of reputation and fined $100 and costs.

NORWICH TOWN

That the sale and cafeteria supper under the auspices of the Dorcas class of the First Congregational church, Friday afternoon and evening was a success was evidenced by the large number attending and the proceeds realized. The tables which were arranged in the chapel and on the lawn, were decorated with asters, gladioli, dahlias and other garden flowers, some of which were sold later. During the afternoon, aprons, candy, cake, ice cream, vegetables and some canned goods, were sold from tables on the lawn, these in the evening being dispensed in the chapel. The menu for the supper consisted of baked beans, tuna fish salad, potato and cabbage salad, rolls, coffee, cake and ice cream.

Mrs. Daniel M. Dean was chairman of the supper committee, assisted by Mrs. Dwight W. Avery, Mrs. Walter Heath, Miss Mabelle Scott, and Miss Jennie L. Browning. Others who were assigned special tables included: Salads, Mrs. Charles Schwenk, Mrs. Philip B. Whaley, Miss Jessie L. Congdon; cake, Mrs. Albie L. Hale, Mrs. Michael Buckley; ice cream, Mrs. Frank E. Sterry, Mrs. Frank Wheeler; candy, Mrs. Clyde M. Beebe, Mrs. Charles P. Learned; vegetables, Mrs. Dwight L. Underwood; aprons, Mrs. Philena Hough Noland, Mrs. Henry T. Frazier. The cashier was Miss Bessie M. Grant. Miss Dorothy Heath and Miss Lucile Browning were in charge of the grab-bag.

The class cleared over $90. This is to be used toward a hardwood flooring in the chapel parlor and other improvements. There was an attendance of about one hundred. When this class held a similar sale and supper on the chapel lawn about a year ago, a party of tourists including six persons from Bradford, Penn., while passing through Norwich Town, upon observing the activities at this place stopped and liberally patronized the supper. By a singular coincidence this year, the same six persons who are touring the New England states happened to be passing through Norwich Town on Friday, so on the merits of the good supper served on the first occasion, were tempted to make a stop for supper when the above facts were made known.

During his three weeks' vacation most of which was spent in Norwich Town, Alexander G. Kilroy, R. N., who returned to New York Saturday to resume his duties at Bellevue hospital, spent one week at Atlantic Beach, R. I. He was the guest of his cousin, Miss Alice Kilroy, of West Town street, who returned recently. Mr. Kilroy was accompanied by his niece, Miss Kathleen Bronsdale, who also was Miss Kilroy's guest.

Simple Remedy For Bad Stomach Gives Quick Relief

No need of Strong Medicines or Diet—Famous but Simple Old English Recipe Keeps Stomach in Fine Condition, Banishes After-Eating Distress

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this simple advice.

Don't take strong medicines, artificial digestants or pull down your system by following unnecessary starvation diets.

Never hurry your meal or overeat of anything, but within reason most folks may eat what they like—if they will keep their stomach sweet, clean and active and free from the souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion.

And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a small amount of pure Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless and inexpensive form of Magnesia that promptly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A week's trial of Bisurated Magnesia, which may be obtained from any druggist for only a few cents will easily convince you of the great value of this old English recipe.

Be sure and get BISURATED Magnesia—not a laxative.

COM'DER AND CREW OF MISSING PLANE PN9-1 FOUND ALIVE

Plane Was Sighted Floating Shortly After 4 P. M. Yesterday By the Submarine R-4 15 Miles East of Kauai, About 75 Miles From the Island of Oahu, the Destination of the Seaplane in Its Flight Across the Pacific—Rodgers and Crew of Four Were Taken Off—All Are in Good Health —Plane is Being Towed to Pearl Harbor.

HONOLULU, Sept. 10.—(By The A. P.)—Commander John Rodgers, commander of the missing navy seaplane, PN-9, No. 1, and his crew of four men, were found alive tonight 15 miles east of Kauai, by the submarine R-4.

The plane was sighted floating shortly after four o'clock this afternoon when the submarine R-4 started to meet the destroyers coming in from the fleet.

The submarine was commanded by Lieutenant Osborne, who, upon taking off Rodgers and his crew immediately notified the naval authorities, saying the plane was in tow and would arrive in Pearl harbor tonight.

Lieutenant Osborne's message, other than saying the men were safe and well, did not give their condition, simply saying he had taken the plane in tow.

Rodgers and his crew were in good health. This was indicated in a message intercepted by an amateur radio operator from Nawiliwili, which said, "request tug to be sent to Nawiliwili for Rodgers and crew who are in good health."

Rodgers and his crew left San Francisco in an attempted non-stop flight to Honolulu on August 31. The following afternoon, 24 hours after his seaplane, the PN-9, No. 1, hopped off, the plane and crew disappeared about 300 miles from its destination. Last messages from the PN-9, No. 1, stated that its gasoline supply was about exhausted and a forced landing was expected.

The naval vessels stationed along the course of the flight immediately took up the search for the plane, but nothing of the missing men was seen until tonight.

The island of Kauai is 64 miles west by northwest of the island of Oahu. Oahu, of which Honolulu is the principal city, was the destination of the big seaplane in its flight across the waters of the Pacific.

It was off the coast of Kauai that the mine sweeper Whippoorwill reported seeing flares a day or two after the search for the missing plane had started. A white flare and two red flares or rockets were believed to have been seen. Immediately after a check of calculations, the searching operations were transferred to this region, which was considerably outside of the zone previously searched.

When the news of the finding of Rodgers and his men was confirmed by the navy here, Honolulu papers issued extras and the people of the city went wild with joy, enacting scenes reminiscent of the armistice. White clad sailors from the fleet, some of whom had been shipmates of the men of the PN-9, No. 1, mingled with civilians in an eager rush to obtain papers.

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS RELIEVED AND DELIGHTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(A. P.)—News of the rescue of the crew of the PN-9, No. 1, brought expressions of relief and delight from officials in Washington, where, except officially, hope had been virtually abandoned that they would be found.

"We are delighted," said Secretary Wilbur, when informed by The Associated Press that Commander John Rodgers and his crew had been found. "We are very happy that the men are safe."

Rescue of the crew after a search of more than a week served to ease to some extent the lines of disaster that seemed to have gripped the navy department, with the apparent loss of the seaplane and the killing of 14 men two days later in the wreck of the dirigible Shenandoah.

Both accidents have been made the basis of considerable criticism of the department, including that contained in the criticism last Saturday by Colonel William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service and they are generally expected to make the subject of inquiry when congress meets in December.

PREDICTS PRICE OF HARD COAL WILL REMAIN HIGH

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The prediction that the price of anthracite coal will remain high for a considerable time was made today by John Hays Hammond, chairman of the New England fuel committee at a meeting here today to discuss the fuel situation. Education of the public in the use of bituminous coal was the remedy proposed by Mr. Hammond.

"The committee, consisting of representatives of the six New England states and meeting for the second time at the call of Gov. Fuller of Massachusetts voted to act in an advisory capacity to state fuel administrators and to governor in those states where no fuel administrators had been appointed.

In recommending the use of low volatile bituminous coal as fuel in New England Mr. Hammond said that the burning of oil would not solve the problem, as oil was high priced and a "luxury fuel." Even if labor and capital co-operate, he said, and miners and operators reach agreement there was no relief in sight from the high anthracite prices. He declared that use of bituminous coal would mean a saving of $70,000,000 in New England on fuel.

Inwood W. Goss of Connecticut was appointed to attend the hearing before the interstate commerce commission on the protest of the Pennsylvania railroad against awarding new rates on coal. Mr. Goss told the commission that soft coal from Pennsylvania while cheaper than the product of West Virginia, was not so well suited to family use.

Those present at the conference were J. C. Boyle, Portland, Maine; Gov. John C. Wilmot of New Hampshire; Charles C. Sherburne of Vermont; I. W. Goss of Connecticut; Ernest L. Sprague of Rhode Island; and Chairman Hemmond, representing the governor of Massachusetts.

$250 REWARD FOR CAPTURE OF A MURDER SUSPECT

HOULTON, Maine, Sept. 10—Aroostook county officials today offered a $250 reward for the capture of James Doherty, suspected of having shot and killed Joseph Devoe in the latter's camp in Hammond plantation on Tuesday night, after members of a searching posse reported that they had seen Doherty twice near the scene of the shooting.

One of the deputy sheriffs in the posse called upon Doherty to stop and fired at him when he failed to do so. The fugitive, who has been hiding in the timberland section of Hammond plantation is said to have a rifle and four cartridges.

Since the crime, county officers and fish and game wardens familiar with the rugged county here about have been searching for Doherty.

Devoe was killed by a bullet fired from outside his camp late Tuesday night. Companions said he had quarreled with Doherty shortly before.

PRESIDENTIAL YACHT WAS MENACED WITH COLLISION

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)— To avert a threatened collision with the presidential yacht Mayflower, engines were reversed on the liner Martha Washington today while she was bound here from New York. The speed of the steamer was checked and the yacht slid past safely.

The Mayflower was bound for the Cape Cod canal enroute from its summer quarters at Marblehead to Washington. A shift in her course as she approached the liner in Massachusetts Bay sent her heading across the bows of the Martha Washington. Captain Stuperlich of the liner, fearing that the yacht would not have time to get clear, ordered the engines reversed.

FEDERAL EMPLOYES ASK $1,200 PENSION FOR 30 YEARS' SERVICE

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—A resolution requesting the retirement of all federal employes on a minimum pension of $1,200 a year after thirty years of service was adopted here today by the delegates attending the national federation of federal employes convention.

The government workers also passed resolutions to place prohibition agents and other non-classified workers under civil service regulations and the payment of over time wages for all work over eight hours a day.

The executive board was instructed to arrange to have the government furnish the bonds which employes who have charge of government funds, now provide at their own expense. Other subjects discussed were half holidays and payment of traveling expenses for families of government workers transferred to other stations.

The executive board was also instructed to take up with the civil service commission the question of establishing a special list of eligibles, made up of employes dropped from the government service through no fault of their own, to be given preference in filling vacancies.

CIRCUS EMPLOYE SENTENCED FOR A STATUTORY OFFENSE

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 10—Pleading guilty to a statutory offense against a six year old child on the day the Larnum and Bailey circus was in town, Edward Harris, a circus employe, 43 years old, was sentenced to state prison from five to eight years, by Judge G. E. Hinman in the criminal superior court this afternoon.

In presenting the case, Assistant State's Attorney E. Earle Garlick asked for a real stiff sentence. In making his request he stated that of the 105 cases on the docket some 22 were of that low character, but on account of the age of some of the victims and their inability to testify some of them had to be nolled.

In passing sentence, Judge Hinman said that the only redeeming feature was that the accused pleaded guilty, thus saving the family from appearing.

K. K. K. MENTIONED IN PROBE OF MURDER OF MRS. COOK

VINTON, Iowa, Sept. 10.—The name of the Klu Klux Klan twice was mentioned today as authorities continued their attempts to solve the murder of Mrs. C. B. Cook, Benton county W. C. T. U. president.

At funeral services this afternoon for Mrs. Cook who was slain Monday night, the Rev. A. A. Wright, pastor of a rural Christian church, said the woman "held the highest county office in the women's organization of the Ku Klux Klan."

Meanwhile, according to a story told Mrs. C. S. Kleckner, wife of the pastor of the Christian church here, two masked men entered her home and demanded to know if Mr. Kleckner was a klansman. The pastor at the time was attending the funeral services.

Mrs. Kleckner, who came here with the pastor about a week ago, said she told the men she did not think her husband was a member of the klan, and they departed.

FINDING OF NAVY LIFE PRESERVERS NO CLUE

HONOLULU, Sept. 10—(A. P.)—Naval Officer Discount the possibility that two navy life preservers found on a beach south of Hilo may have come from the missing seaplane PN-9 No. 1 More probably, say the officers, the jackets dropped from one of the numerous navy ships which have been patrolling Hawaiian waters in search of the plane.

Leonard Wood, Jr., a Voluntary Bankrupt

Estimates His Liabilities at $14,585 and Assets at $742 —Cash $91, in Bank $1.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Leonard Wood, Jr., son of the governor general of the Philippines, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Brooklyn. He estimated his liabilities at $14,585 and assets at $742 divided as follows: $91 cash; $1 in bank, $300 in open accounts, and an I O U for $350.

Wood's address was given as Great Kills, Staten Island. He gave his occupation as "writer." In the detailed list of his liabilities he said he owed fifteen individuals and four concerns.

Wood's name came before the public frequently in 1923 and 1924 in connection with the oil scandal. He was charged with having used his name and his former rank of captain in the A. E. F. and the name of his father for the promotion and sale of worthless oil stocks, chiefly among ex-service men.

At about the same time stories of fabulous winnings made through stock transactions in Wall street by Osborne C. Wood, his younger brother, also were circulated.

Late in December, 1923, Senator Caraway of Arkansas asked for a congressional investigation of the activities of Leonard Wood, Jr., in the sale of stock of the Acme Production Corporation, an oil company, alleged to be worthless.

Leonard, Jr., denied the charges, which he characterized as "just another dirty dig at my father."

Wood married in 1923, to Miss Delores Graves, said to be a former actress. On his return here from a trip to Europe in June, last year, he announced his intention of becoming an independent theatrical producer on Broadway.

MOVE TO STUDY THE CAUSES OF ECONOMIC UNEASINESS

GENEVA, Sept. 10—A project to convoke a big international economic conference to study the causes of economic uneasiness throughout Europe was set in motion tonight by the French delegation to the league of nations assembly.

Louis Ducheur, speaking for the French delegation, recommended that the league's technical organizations together with the international labor bureau, be asked to draw up a program for such a conference.

Scandinavia today through Osten Unden, the Swedish foreign minister, initiated a move to get something tangible done meanwhile on the subject of compulsory arbitration.

Minister Urden introduced a resolution in the assembly today asking the council of the league to appoint a commission of experts to [illegible] arbitration clauses of the Geneva protocol, and he explained tonight to the Associated Press correspondent that he seeks the elaboration of a collective international convention by which all countries would commit themselves to the arbitration of all conflicts.

While favoring the idea of an extension of the arbitration principle, Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, in his address to the assembly today on the Geneva protocol, made it perfectly clear that the most that Great Britain can do at present is to support the creation of regional pacts like the proposed security agreement with Germany.

Mr. Chamberlain again condemned the Geneva protocol because of its system of penalties. Mr. Chamberlain's new objection to the protocol was so strong that the assembly now seems to be convinced of the impossibility of securing this year the adoption of any revamped document.

FAIL TO FIND WHY YOUNG NOEL REMAINED AT LIBERTY

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 10—(A. P.)—The Essex county board of freeholders and County Supervisor Ernest A. Reed, meeting here today, failed to fix the responsibility for the fact that Harrison Noel, confessed murderer and kidnapper, had remained at liberty following his escape from the Overbrook insane Asylum several months ago.

After deliberating for one hour and a half, the officials late today announced that they had been unable to reach a conclusion, but that they would meet again at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

CHILDREN FOUND BODY OF FATHER HANGING TO RAFTER

MILFORD, Sept. 10—The body of Joseph Zylenski, forty, Upper Naugatuck avenue, Devon, was found hanging in the attic of his home at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Medical authorities pronounced him dead at least three hours. The gruesome find was made by one of his three children, now orphans. Zylenski is believed to have committed suicide, when his mind snapped under the constant brooding over the loss of his wife by death several months ago.

Automobile Crashed Into a Safety Signal

Charles Carlson of Waterbury Was Killed and Four Others Injured Near Southbury.

SOUTHBURY, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Charles Carlson, of Waterbury, was killed and four others injured early tonight when an automobile in which they were riding and driven by Thomas Clifford, of Waterbury failed to make the turn at the overhead railroad bridge between here and Southford and crashed into a safety signal. All of the injured were taken to St. Mary's hospital at Waterbury.

Clifford, whose address is 42 South Main street, Waterbury, is believed to have sustained a broken collar bone. The others injured are: Raymond Mullins, 208 South Main street, and Albert Sarger, 31 Grand street, Waterbury, and David Metz, of Bristol.

The party was en route from Sandy Hook to Waterbury. Clifford is said to have driving at a speed which was too great to take the curve safely. The automobile turned over and was wrecked.

Dr. Samuel Green, medical examiner of Southbury, found that Carlson's neck had been broken, and that he died instantly. He called Assistant Coroner T. E. Conway, of Bridgeport, who is investigating Carlson's death.

MAY HAVE FOURFOLD PROBE OF COL. MITCHELL CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10—Possibility of a four-fold investigation of the charges made by Colonel William Mitchell last week against the air policies and administrations of both the army and navy loomed today when it became known that Acting Secretary Dwight Davis of the war department, was urgently in favor of a full inquiry by a qualified disinterested agency.

Mr. Davis was of the opinion that inquiry, whether conducted by civilians or congress, should be directed not only into the specific charges against the two departments, but also into the wider question of the advisability of establishing a unified air service to insure adequate national defense, a proposal vigorously supported by Colonel Mitchell.

Secretary Wilbur, on the other hand, did not welcome the idea, holding that such an investigation appeared to be "wholly unnecessary," although he asserted that the "navy has absolutely nothing to conceal and no fear of the results of an investigation."

The acting war secretary was represented as regarding Colonel Mitchell's statement as raising four separate issues:

First—the question whether Colonel Mitchell should be disciplined under military law for the attack contained in his statement of the aviation administrations of the two departments.

Second—whether the specific charges made against the administration of the army air service are true or false.

Third—whether the similar and much more serious charges made against the navy air administration are true or false.

Fourth—whether a unified air service would constitute a better method of providing for adequate national defense than the present separate organizations in the army and navy departments.

WILBUR'S VIEWS OF THE AIR SERVICE ADMINISTRATION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Secretary Wilbur believes an investigation of the air service administration by a disinterested agency, as suggested today by Acting Secretary Davis of the war department, appears "wholly unnecessary."

"I do not say we would welcome an investigation" (correct) Mr. Wilbur declared today, but he asserted that the "navy has absolutely nothing to conceal and no fear of the results of an investigation."

"Frankly," he said, "I think the general subject has been under investigation sufficiently."

Apparently referring to charges against the naval air services administration made by Colonel William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army service, the secretary remarked that, if any naval officer has been guilty of misconduct or through incompetence, he has contributed to loss of line in any aircraft disaster, "I would like to know his name," Colonel Mitchell attributed the Shenandoah and PN-9 No. 1 disasters to negligence and incompetence.

MISS EDERLY SWIMMER, TO RETURN TO AMERICA

Cape Gris-Nez, France, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Miss Gertrude Ederle, the American swimmer, who has decided not to make another attempt on the English channel this year, and her chaperon, Miss Vieta, of the Women's Swimming Association of New York, left this evening for Paris. They will sail for United States on board the liner Mauretania from Cherbourgh Saturday.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE HAS BUCKLED DOWN TO HIS TASK IN THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Returning to the sweltering capital today President Coolidge lost no time in shedding his vest and settling down to work. A broad smile expressed his pleasure at coming home and reflected the rest and vigor he had gained in his eleven-weeks stay at Swampscott, Mass., and Plymouth, Vt.

Within an hour after he reached the renovated White House early this afternoon, the president was at his desk in the executive offices, where he went over mail and later conferred with Secretary Kellogg.

Three members of the cabinet, Secretaries Kellogg, Hoover and Jardine, and under-Secretary Grew of the state department met the President and Mrs. Coolidge at the station. Both Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge assured their welcomers of their good health and happiness at returning despite the heat, which was in marked contrast to the weather prevailing at White Court.

Two other members of the cabinet, Secretaries Mellon and Davis, had returned to Washington only a few hours before the President arrived, and tomorrow the wheels of government will begin to turn again at full speed as the executive takes up several pending problems with the cabinet in the first meeting since June.

Several minor appointments in the diplomatic corps were discussed today by the president and Secretary Kellogg.

Among other problems the executive is anxious to dispose of soon is the appointment of an ambassador of Tokyo.

While the president has given no indication of concern over several situations confronting the administration, it is considered likely he will take up with his cabinet tomorrow the suspension of activities in anthracite fields and the possibility that the government will be called upon to distribute coal in event of an emergency. He has also watched closely the statements of Colonel William Mitchell on the administration's aviation policies, and the question of his power to act further toward removing bert E. Haney from the membership of the shipping board is also pending. Mr. Haney has refused the president's request for his resignation.

MOVEMENT TO ESTABLISH A LABOR BANK IN THIS STATE

Authorized by Vote of the Connecticut Federation of Labor— To Be Capitalized at $200,000, With Labor Unions to Hold 55 Per Cent. of the Stock—Professional Promoter is to Receive 5 Per Cent. on the Stock He Sells to Members—Only Two Shares to Be Allowed to One Person —Danbury Chosen as Place For Convention Next Year.

NEW BRITAIN, Sept. 10.—(AP)—After devoting most of the afternoon session to a discussion of labor banks, the delegates to the 40th annual convention of the Connecticut Federation of Labor, voted 87 to 17, to launch a movement to establish a labor bank in this state. It will have an authorized capital of $200,000, fifty five per cent. of the stock is to be in the hands of labor unions, and the other 45 per cent. disposed of at large.

Stock in the bank will be sold by a professional promoter who will receive five per cent. on the stock he sells to members. Only two shares will be allowed to go one person.

During the discussion, it developed that a number of the delegates were opposed to the proposition. Delegates in favor of a labor bank spoke of the success of the five labor banks which have been established by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

President Patrick O'Meara, representing the plumbers of New Haven, and John J. Egan, representing the machinists of Bridgeport, secretary and treasurer, were unanimously re-elected to their respective offices at the selection of officers held during the afternoon.

Vice presidents elected were: Arthur Wallace, representing the carpenters and joiners of Greenwich; Charles J. Moore, musicians, Torrington; Otto J. Scheutz, Brewery workers of Hartford; Joseph E. Baker, trolleymen, Waterbury, and Daniel A. Gorman, Hatters, Danbury.

Danbury was chosen as the place for the convention next year.

President O'Meara in his speech of acceptance sounded a warning against disloyalty within the organization. He concluded with a plea for industrial welfare and harmony.

The convention opened the afternoon session with a discussion of the union paper published in New Haven by the Ornburn Press, Inc., which recently resumed publication after a suspension of several months.

After a resolution to pledge support to the paper was unanimously opposed, a private hearing was held by the resolution committee at which John W. Murphy, of New Haven, spoke for the paper. No report as to the outcome of the hearing could be obtained from members of the committee this afternoon. Their decision on the matter is expected tomorrow morning.

Delegates of the United Brick and Clay Workers of Berlin, reported as having been on strike and that on fifteen plants there which had been non-union, three were now operating and union p[illegible] W. C. Pratt, international vice president of the Brick and Clay Workers, said that the strikers at Berlin had taken over one plant and had planned [illegible] to operate it.

Julius C. Strembler, [illegible] president of the state federation thirteen years ago, was one of the speakers during the afternoon.

The convention will close tomorrow night. Many of the resolutions which have been put before the convention from time to time are expected to be brought up early tomorrow.

HARD LUCK STORY OF A CERTIFIED CHECK FORGER

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 10—William J Sternberg, 28, of Meriden, charged with presenting a forged certified check for $1,200.53 from a Meriden bank to the First National Bank, of this city, drawing $500 against it and quitting the city, told a hard luck story to Judge George E. Hinman, of the criminal superior court this afternoon. He said he had been a salesman for the Kelly Tire Company of West Haven, which was in difficulties some time ago. He said that he not only lost his job, but the $5,000 he invested in the concern. He was in debt and creditors were after him and he said that he was desperate and on the brink of a breakdown.

Assistant State's Attorney E. Earle Garlick reminded Judge Hinman that when Sternberg was finally located in Naugatuck he had in his possession some fraudulent letters of credit and falsely certified bank checks and was going to launch other fraud transactions on other banks.

Max R. Sternberg, a business man of Meriden, and a brother of the accused, made a plea for leniency in the case. He admitted that he was at loss to understand why his brother acted so, as previously his conduct had been exemplary, he had no bad habits nor did he associate with persons of bad habits. His brother said William had been a consistent church member. He also mentioned that the accused had held good positions, and besides being a salesman had been manager of a chain grocery store.

Judge Hinman sent the accused to jail for six months.

GERMAN PRESS TREATS FIERY CROSS AS A "FOOL' LODGE".

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The two German-born Americans, Otto Strohmeshein, 54, and his son Gotthard, 30, who have been arrested in Silesia for the organization in Germany of the "Knights of the Fiery Cross" patterned after the Ku Klux Klan will be brought to Berlin under guard tomorrow.

They will be questioned by a magistrate and then taken to the American consulate where they will appeal for aid. They will be held by the German authorities either for trial with the possibility of conviction, and subsequent deportation, or for immediate deportation. Neither the American embassy nor the consulate contemplates interfering unless the two men, who are described as ministers, whose recent homes were in Chicago, are proved not guilty.

The Berlin chief of police said today that several alleged German ringleaders of the secret order had stated that the Strohschiens and Don Berton Gray, of Hillsboro, Ills., an associate who left Germany three weeks ago, no longer had the guiding influence in the Fiery Cross Society. They were forced from leadership by propaganda work among rabid German nationalist members which made it difficult for the foreigners to remain in positions of responsibility.

The German press treats the Fiery Cross Order as a joke referring to it as a "Fools' Lodge."

WANTED FOR THE THEFT OF JEWELRY IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Sept. 10—(A. P.)—Albert Best, arrested in New York today on charges of stealing jewelry valued at $10,000 from New York dealers, is wanted in Boston on similar charges. Best is the man for whom Police Inspector Benjamin Alexander was searching when the officer was killed in the collapse of the Pickwick Club building here on July 4.

After hearings in New York, warrants from Boston will be served, charging Best with the larceny of jewels worth $6,052 from Hall and Edwards, Tremont street firm.

INCREASE IN ESTIMATE OF CANADIAN WHEAT YIELD

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10—(A. P.)—A Canadian wheat yield of 351,819,000 bushels for 1925 is the preliminary estimate of the bureau of statistics issued this afternoon. The yield last year was 262,000,000 bushels.

$0,000 IN ATTENDANCE AT STATE FAIR YESTERDAY

HARTFORD, Sept. 10—Before Governor Trumbull, representatives of governors of Massachusetts, Vermont and Rhode Island, U. S. Senator Hiram Bingham and Congressmen E. Hart Fenn and James P. Glynn, and the greatest Thursday grand stand crowd in ten years of the state fair, crack troops of the Connecticut National Guard battled with a realism one approximated in actual warfare this afternoon at the state fair. It is estimated that more than 50,000 persons were present. In addition to the 5,000 cars parked within the gates at least [illegible] were left outside and "space" seemed did a rushing business.

Governor Trumbull, introduced by Willard B. Rogers, chairman of the reception committee, made a brief address, commenting on the success of the fair and the efficient handling of details by the workers. At the conclusion of his talk he introduced Senator Bingham to the throngs in and about the grand stand.

"Connecticut is to be congratulated on the display of its products at the fair," Senator Bingham declared. "In every department of the exhibits have visited I have been impressed with the excellence. On this occasion also I wish to congratulate those workers who have made the fair possible and those who have aided in making it what it is, a display of which the state should be proud." He deplored the schedule of the official party which allowed him of brief visits to the various exhibits, saying that he would like to spend an entire day looking them over.

In the official party besides the governor, Senator Bingham, Congressman Fenn and Congressman Glynn, were John J. Dunn, secretary of agriculture of Rhode Island, representing Governor Pothier, Edwin Jones, secretary of agriculture of Vermont, representing Governor Billings, Frederick Cooke, secretary of state of Massachusetts, representing Governor Fuller, lieutenant-Governor Bednard, members of the governor's staff, Mrs. Trumbull and wives of members of the staff. All members were huge yellow dahlias, presented by Louis W. Ailing, of New Haven, who has named the species "the seal of Connecticut dahlia."

TAMMANY CONFIDENT OF VICTORY FOR WALKER

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Civic interest in New Yorks mayoralty struggle was centered today upon probable post-primary activities of the principals.

Tammany leaders confidently predicting victory for their candidate, state Senator James J. Walker, said it was a virtual certainty that Mayor John F. Hylan would head an independent ticket in the general election in November.

Senator Walker continued to ask the Mayor to make known his intention if he is defeated in the primary next Tuesday. The Tammany aspirant, again declared his own intention of remaining a "Good Democrat" after the primary even if he loses.

Hylan headquarters claiming victory for the Mayor, referred to Tammany predictions of an "Independent ticket" as "Bunk." Mayor Hylan himself remained silent.

Mayor Hylan's charges yesterday that General John F. O'Ryan of the Transit Commission was the "Connecting link" between Governor Smith, Senator Walker and "The Interests" were denied today by General O'Ryan.

FUNERAL OF SIMPLICITY FOR RENE VIVIANI

SEINE-PORT, France, Sept. 10.—(AP) The funeral of Rene Viviani, former premier of France, held here today, was characterized by a touching simplicity. It was attended by representatives of president Doumergue premier Painleve and foreign minister Briand, and by such close friends as Bienvenu Martin, Henri Berenger and Louis Malvy. Four ministers represented the government.

The entire population of the countryside followed the cortege to the cemetery, where speakers paid their last tribute to M. Viviani.

WILLIMANTIC

Oscar St. Laurent of Putnam, who was sentenced to one year in the county jail by Judge Christopher L. Avery in the Windham county superior court Wednesday after he had pleaded guilty to bigamy and whose first wife secured a divorce from him later in the day Wednesday, was taken to the office of Justice of the Peace Irving Miron in Putnam Wednesday night by Deputy Sheriff Ayer and married to his second wife, Irene Walter. After being thus divorced and remarried on the same day St. Laurent was taken to Brooklyn jail to serve his sentence.

Gilbert Blackburn of Prospect street and Miss Ruth Walker of 27 Ash avenue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Walker were united in marriage at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon by Rev. J. S. Muirhead at the Methodist parsonage at Prospect street. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowen of Norwich attended the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn left by auto following the ceremony for New London, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Blackburn. The couple will spend their honeymoon in New York and New Jersey where they will visit the groom's sister. After September 15th they will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn on Prospect street.

Complaints have been lodged with the motor vehicle commissioners in both the state of Massachusetts and Connecticut regarding the failure of Catherine Eagan of 334 North Main street, Springfield Mass., relative to her persistent ignoring of a notice to appear in the local police court for violation of the automobile law. The woman was operating an automobile on the afternoon of August 18, which struck and damaged a Ford automobile owned by Mrs. Guilford Smith of South Windham and operated by Charles Pettington. The Springfield woman agreed to settle for the damage to the Ford. Constable Alfred Abbe, who investigated the accident notified her to appear in court. She was further notified by personal letter but failed to appear when the case was called Thursday morning.

Daniel Coughlin of Springfield, Mass. was charged with violation of the automobile laws on two counts in not having an operator's license and not having markers on a trailer being hauled by his truck in the Mansfield town court Wednesday afternoon following his arrest by State Policeman Henry Heinold. Justice of the Peace George B. Andrews nolled the charge of not having markers on the trailer. To the first count of not possessing an operator's license Coughlin pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs, amounting to $39.85 which was paid.

The case of a fifteen year old boy charged with the theft of a bicycle was heard in the juvenile court Thursday morning. The bicycle was valued at $35 and was stolen on March 14. The boy admitted his guilt. He was also charged with violation of probation imposed by the Mansfield town court and was committed to the reform school for boys at Meriden. When placed into custody the lad was believed to have been implicated in a series of breaks in the city but he denied the accusations.

The heads of the local Salvation Army reported to the police department Thursday that about nine o'clock Wednesday evening some person or group of persons sprayed oil over the front door and panel of the citadel on Walnut street. The misdemeanor is being closely investigated by the department.

Motorists having occasion to travel over the stretch of the Danielson-Willimantic highway which lies between South Chaplin at Sherman's Corners and Clark's Corner note that it is being made safe and sane for motor travel. The narrow stretch is not only being enlarged but the several blind curves which have caused a series of accidents are being eliminated by building the road over new ground giving it a straighter and more uniform course.

Martin Shea, who was sentenced to one year in jail for failure to furnish a bond of $700 as a guarantee to pay $12 a week for the support of his wife and child, in the police court Monday morning has been released from the Brooklyn jail pending the outcome of an appeal to the superior court.

Notice of the suspension of the operator's license held by Charles Desjenes of 56 Chestnut street this city was received at police headquarters Thursday from the motor vehicle commissioner.

Members of Francis S. Long Woman's Relief Corps staged a whist party in G. A. R. Hall Wednesday evening with fourteen tables in play. Refreshments were served by the committee comprised of Mrs. Ruth James, chairman; Mrs. Larned, Mrs. Benton, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Champlin.

Graduates of the Hall Memorial grammar school at South Willington who entered the Windham High school this term are: Allen Brownlee, Rowan Usher, Freda Woodworth, Edgar Caine Toberman, Elsie Pardus, Herschubeler and William Tomacik.

Mrs. Walter T. Jones entertained the Sewing Society of the Baptist church at her home in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ottenheimer have returned after a visit with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Bligh of Rockville Center, L. I.

Watson Burton of this city and Friend George Hulst of Omaha, Neb., both students at the U. S. Coast Guard academy at New Londonarespendin academy at New London are spending a week camping at Crystal Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Anderson are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. Charles Chesborough of Leominster, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. James McQuillan have been entertaining their son Arthur McQuillan of Maine.

Miss Marion Tubridy has returned to her home here after a visit with Miss Eunice Seyms of Hebron.

FINED FOR VIOLATING MOTOR VEHICLE LAWS

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 10.—The case of John Dvanchas of Worcester, Mass., charged with violation of the rules of the road was heard by jury at Thursday's session of the Windham county superior court with Judge Christopher L. Avery on the bench. The jury had been panelled Wednesday afternoon and comprised: James Sunderland of Ashford, Oliver Sabins of Canterbury, Clifford M. Burdick of Chaplin, Oliver P. Bartlett and Ray A. Whipple of Killingly, Frank W. Doggett and James Coffey of Plainfield, Henry Racicot of Scotland, Arthur Mills and Herbert Dillaber of Thompson, B. E. Eddy and Franklin Walker of Woodstock. The case was the only one to be tried by jury on the present docket. The case resulted from the collision of a Studebaker car operated by the accused and a Ford car driven by Peter Staskwitz on Sunday, August 2, at Grosvenordale in the town of Thompson. Special State's Attorney Bradford appeared for the complainant, Staskwitz, and Dvanchas was defended by Attorney Samuel B. Harvey.

Staskwitz was the first witness called. He testified that he was traveling along Main street in Grosvenordale, returning home with his family from a trip to Webster, Mass. He met the defendant's car, he stated, and it forced him over to the side of the road. He was unable to avoid a collision. The impact damaged his wheels so that he swerved in the roadway and collided with a second car, a Buick operated by Charles J. White of Worcester. A number of witnesses for the state testified that he was on the right hand side of the road with the right side of the car as close as possible to the trolley tracks to the right of the road. The witnesses were Don Dalige, Gemal Sheriff and Abbul Huzman three Albanians who were walking in the road near the scene of the accident.

State Policeman Edward V. Streaman who investigated the accident testified to finding three cars, a Studebaker, a Buick and the Staskwitz Ford all damaged, the latter machine having suffered the most. He detailed the positions of the car relative to the right of the road and the trolley tracks and the distance between the machines being operated in the same direction.

Following the lunch hour the defense presented its side of the case. John Dvanchas, the accused and driver of the Studebaker testified that the Ford was partly within the trolley tracks and when nearing his car swerved out and struck his car which was on the right hand side of the road. Charles G. White was the next witness. He stated that a party of three cars of which his Buick was one and the last in line were returning from Worcester after a trip to Ocean Beach, New London. Leading the procession was a Nash machine. Next came the Studebaker and lastly his own. Suddenly he saw the Ford which was coming from the opposite direction swerve to the wrong side of the road and strike the Studebaker which was about one hundred feet ahead of his own car. The Ford then careened back into the trolley tracks, described a semi-circle and smashed into his front left fender. After seeing the first collision he had applied his four wheel brakes and stopped, being at a standstill when struck by the Ford. Other witnesses were Mrs. White, Mrs. Julia Sabaski, Walter Sabaski, the driver of the Nash car, and Thomas Stoskus. Mike Stoskus and Mrs. Victoria Stoskus who were riding with John Dvanchas in the Studebaker. Both sides rested their cases at 3:10 o'clock after additional testimony regarding measurements of the road had been introduced by Officer Streaman. Following a short recess an amendment to the information in the case was read by Attorney Bradford relative to the rules for reducing the speed of a motor vehicle and exercising reasonable care when necessary. Following the arguments by the attorneys, Judge Avery delivered his charge to the jury which retired at 4:25 o'clock. At 5:35 o'clock the jury returned with the information that they could not agree. A second attempt to arrive at a decision was made at 5:40 and at 5:55 the jury returned with a verdict of guilty. Judge Avery then imposed a fine of $30 and costs amounting to $75.74.

Court adjourned at 6 p. m., until next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in Putnam, and the jury was discharged for the remainder of the term.

PROHIBITION OFFICERS MAKE TWO LIQUOR HAULS

(Special to the Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 10—Federal Prohibition Enforcement Officers William S. Congdon, Stanton L. Briggs and Harry W. Avery of this city and Constable John Riley of Colchester had a busy day of it Thursday when they cleaned out two moonshine nests and secured a conviction against a third violator, Fred Fitus, whose home on Bailey Lane, Colchester, was successfully raided in a midnight visit by the officers early Sunday morning. Fitus was represented by Attorney Curtis Morgan of New London. The case constituted his third offense. He paid a fine of $100 and costs on August 14th last for a similar violation. There were circumstances in the case which modified the blame against the accused in this instance and Justice of the Peace Fred E. Baker imposed a fine of $50 and costs which was paid.

Tony Falbowski of Colchester was placed under arrest and his distilling plant confiscated Thursday when the federal officers stumbled into the well concealed distilling outfit which Falbowski was operating in the woods some distance from his home on the old William Miller place. The house had been unsuccessfully raided by state police officers the night previously. The officers found a twenty gallon still in operation, 6 gallons of finished product, 190 gallons of mash, 100 pounds of sugar and expensive heating and cooling apparatus. The contraband was confiscated and Falbowski was taken before Justice of the Peace Baker. He pleaded guilty to two counts and was fined a total of $200 an dcosts Falbowski's little plant was concealed as to be entirely invisible twenty feet away. A hammock and cans of food indicated that the man had been camping on the job for some time.

A raid at the home of Martin Sasio of Scott Hill, Colchester, made by the federal officers Thursday afternoon netted a choice stock of 70 gallons prewar wine and seven gallons of fine old whiskey which he said he brought from New York. The liquor was found in the cellar of the house. Sasio was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Baker and fined $35 and costs for possession.

TWO WILLIMANTIC MEN GET JAIL SENTENCES

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 10.—Alphege Potvin and Henry Beaudry of this city changed their pleas of not guilty to guilty of breaking and entering the Bacon store, here, at the Thursday session of the Windham county superior court. The cases were the first to be taken up for the day. Special State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford reviewed the circumstances of the case to the court. In the early morning hours of August 31, last, he stated, both Potvin and Beaudry were intoxicated. They sat down on the step of a building on Temple street and in leaning against the door it was pushed open. Potvin then entered the room which was used as a storeroom for groceries. Beaudry remained seated on the step. Officer Leo Piche of the police department arrived on the scene at this time and placed both men under arrest. Potvin was using a flashlight but apparently had not taken any of the goods. Both men denied any intention to commit a theft despite the suspicious appearance of the situation. Attorney Bradford said it might be difficult to convict the men of a theft or breaking or entering charge. Potvin had figured in similar offenses previously and had been placed on probation. Beaudry had a police court record. At the suggestion of Attorney Bradford, Judge Avery imposed a sentence of four months in jail on each.

Mike Wawer, 20, of Yellow Row, this city, charged with breaking and entering the local freight house of the New Haven railroad was placed under bonds of $1,500 by Judge Avery at the session of the Windham county superior court Thursday and the case was continued until the January criminal term of the court. In lower court probable cause had been found against Wawer.

VOTE $10,000 FOR NEW SIDEWALKS AND GUTTERS

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 10—An additional appropriation of $10,000 for sidewalks and gutters construction was voted at the special city meeting held tonight in the town building. Mayor George W. Hickey presided. The original appropriation was for $20,000.

Several thousand dollars was spent this year in laying concrete gutters and crosswalks on a number of the streets in the business section. In keeping with this program it was also voted to transfer an appropriation of $10,000, originally made for the permanent improvement of West Main street, for use in constructing Church street with an asphalt surface. Two thousand dollars of that sum has already been expended in reconditioning West Main street. It was pointed out that there was a likelyhood that within a short time the Connecticut company would remove its trolley tracks from West Main street and supplant motor buss service to Coventry, also that considerable more digging is being planned to lay the city sewers from Mansfield avenue to the city line.

Under these circumstances it was deemed advisable to delay the laying of concrete in that section.

JEWETT CITY

President Coolidge's special train passed through Jewett City at 4.20 a. m. Thursday. It was preceded by a pilot train. The section men patrolled the tracks in this vicinity all night.

At a regular meeting of Very Rev. Michael McCabe Council, Knights of Columbus held Wednesday evening in Foresters Hall the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Grand Knight, Richard Dudkowski; Deputy Grand Knight, John LeClair; Chancellor, Joseph Barry; Recording Secretary, Edward Walsh; Financial SecreKry, Theodore Boule; Treasurer, Thomas Barnett; Warden, William McGovern; Advocate, Timothy Shea; Trustee, William Downing; Inside Guard, Dennis Griffin; Outside Guard, John Farrel.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Anderson have returned from an automobile trip through the White Mountains and on Cape Cod. They were accompanied by Massachusetts relatives.

It is the practise of several young men to persistently gamble in the Baptist cemetery. This is private property, and several lot owners have complained. The young men have been warned several times, but seem to think they can be seen from only one view point. The fact is, lot owners in another section are keeping tabs on them, also. If this practise is presisted in, serious trouble is certain to follow, for desecration of a cemetery is against the law, and arrests can be made.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

On its way to Hartford to attend the state golf tournament over the Ekonk course of Rhode Island motored through Danielson Thursday morning. From the state line, five miles away, the chief executive of the Ocean State was provided a state police escort over the route to Hartford, each officer Leonard Comstock, one being the motorcycle officer to accompany Governor Pothier and his party through the 55 miles of territory leading to Connecticut's capital city.

Thursday afternoon at one o'clock, at her home in East Killingly, funeral services for Mrs. Amy A. Bates were conducted by Rev. W. D. Hetherington, pastor of the United church in that place. Lead Kindly Light, the favorite hymn of Sunshine Society, was sung during the service by Miss Annie Potter and Miss Arthur Keach. Burial was in the Hartford cemetery. The grave Miss Potter and Miss Keach sang Some Sweet Day. Many floral tributes were arranged about the casket during the service. The bearers were Edward B. Sharpe and Prosper Lapointe of East Killingly, Fred Bates and Herbert Lawton, both of Danielson, of Veterans, A. F. Wood of Danielson had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Danielson has a nifty fire department for a volunteer one, probably as good as there is in the country. With no one on duty at the Central station when an alarm came in just before one o'clock this afternoon, the big motor pumper with a dozen men aboard was out of this station and on its way in just 28 seconds from the first sounding of the alarm. All things considered, this is no less than remarkable.

SHIFTING TRAFFIC.

Meeting traffic conditions is a problem which confronts cities as well as the state. Not only is it necessary to keep traffic moving but to find space to accommodate the steadily increasing volume.

From Bridgeport comes the information that the court of common council of that city has ordered the construction of a backway highway from Central avenue to the Stratford line, along Boston avenue. This means that additional facilities are to be furnished the motorists to get through Bridgeport with less delay and trouble, and unless we are greatly mistaken it will be thoroughly appreciated by the automobile drivers.

While there are some who delight in going through traffic there are many more who dread it and are eager to take longer routes for the sake of escaping it. Thus though it may be longer in distance time is ultimately saved because it can be covered in less time, and in the designating of traffic routes through some cities it is frequently the case that streets are named that will skip the traffic and relieve the congestion, and at the same time facilitate getting through a city as quickly as possible.

While there was an effort made at one time to get all traffic through the center of a community, such is not the case today. The streets are not wide enough to accommodate local and through traffic to the best advantage. For that reason it is being routed elsewhere and in some instances, where possible, on the outskirts where good roads and no delays help the traveler.

Bridgeport is doing only what other cities have already done and what more will soon find it to their advantage to do, while some are being forced to it whether it is liked on not. Action is being forced by the congestion which prevails in certain important business streets when the transfer of part of the traffic to other routes would make better conditions for all concerned.

A WORTHY CAUSE

Having been in operation long enough to show the good effects of their work, there cannot fail to be full appreciation of the excellent service which has been rendered by the institutions for the Negroes at Hampton and Tuskegee. They have demonstrated their worth and the need of keeping such work going for the greater the influence they can be made to shed the greater the benefit that accrues to the country.

Thus in the appeals which have been made for the raising of an endowment fund of $3,000,000 for these two important southern schools there cannot fail to be a general interest. These are doing a wonderful work in spreading the training that is contributing so greatly to the solution of the Negro problems, and what has been so well begun deserves not only to be continued but expanded.

Inspired by the offer of George Eastman to give $2,000,000 to this fund that would make the institutions practically self supporting efforts have been concentrated upon the raising of the other $3,000,000. This was one of the conditions of the Eastman gift and up to date all has been raised but about a half million which must be obtained before the end of the year.

The appeals which are therefore being made in order to obtain the final half million are certainly worthy and should be heeded. Such a cause deserves a widespread and generous support. While it is being devoted directly to the benefit of the Negroes it can be readily appreciated that whatever is done in that direction is bound to be of benefit to the entire nation.

That these institutions should be selected for expansion and the extension of the commendable work they have been doing is no more than should be expected. They fully justify the confidence that is placed in them and there should be a desire on the philanthropically disposed to see that this fund is completed within the specified time.

FIGHTING THE RIFFS.

Sometime ago there was a report that Abd-el-Krim had been offered terms of peace by the French and Spanish, but he was not disposed to act. Now it is intimated that he has sent a representative to state that he is ready to agree to the Franco-Spanish terms.

Time will tell what there is to this report, but in the meantime it is to be noted that the French and Spanish have joined hands and are conducting an advance against the Riffs from different directions. It has taken a long time to get Spain to act in such a manner but, with due appreciation of the benefit that is to be gained by united action, and still smarting under the defeat which the Riffs had administered to them single handed, it is once again in the fight and has reason for feeling much encouraged from the initial drive.

Peace is what is wanted in that part of northern Africa. Both France and Spain would gladly accept it. The Riffians are the ones who have been making trouble and forcing the others to stand their ground or be driven out. Spain barely escaped the latter. France has failed to make such headway, but with a determination to put an end to the revolt the right methods are at last being applied.

Up to now such measures as have been taken by France and Spain separately have not stopped the Riffs. Rather have they had a chance to feel that they were actually driving out the forces of these nations which had been selected to govern their respective regions.

Just what basis there is for the claim that Abd-el-Krim is ready for peace will develop in time, if in fact there is any as yet. As long as he could avoid the union of his opponents he had little to fear apparently, especially since France has desired to escape war and is engaged in it now only because it has been forced against its wishes. It has long since been evident that united action would furnish the quickest means of bringing the Riffs to submission.

MATTER OF DISCIPLINE

Colonel Mitchell continues to make statements in regard to the air policy of the government and the need of an air inquiry. He has taken advantage of the Shenandoah and the PN-9 No. 1 affairs to criticize and make serious charges against the government, and all the time ignoring the fact that he is an officer of the government and therefore in a different position than a private citizen.

Under the circumstances one may wonder what kind of consideration he would give to a subordinate who had adopted a similar attitude over what the colonel had done. It is not to be supposed but what Colonel Mitchell is a believer in discipline and understands that it must be employed in the army. Thus when it comes to upholding it he is not in a position to expect any different treatment than any other. It would in fact be a serious mistake if he were to be permitted to thumb his nose at his superiors while others were expected to toe the line.

Colonel Mitchell has made use of the loss of the airship and seaplane to bring attention to bear on the air service propaganda which he has long since been hammering away on. He has resorted to sensational statements and he has invited whatever the war department finally decides to be necessary in effectively dealing with his case. It is his conduct rather than the question of air service that is at stake and for the good of the service it cannot be overlooked.

It can be imagined what the result would be if every officer was permitted to give vent to his views in regard to the various branches of the army and navy.

DEALING WITH CRIME

In speaking before a Worcester club this week Judge Webster Thayer of the Massachusetts superior court deplored the great amount of encouragement that is today given to the criminal and the law breakers, and he was strong in his denunciation of "the so called leading citizens who select what laws they shall obey and the sickly sentimentality which causes people to place wreaths on the brows of criminals while they pay little attention to the victims."

Judge Thayer voiced sentiments that will be shared by a large number who have watched with alarm the growing tendency to commit crime and the leniency with which those who deliberately violate the law are treated. In his opinion "Crime has become an established business in this country today. Our highways have become 'slaughter houses', made such by reckless and intoxicated automobile drivers. Criminals are becoming bolder and bolder."

The situation is one which has been developing for some time and in the opinion of the judge, who has had an opportunity to see how conditions were developing and what advantage has been taken of the means of escaping penalties, the way to overcome the situation is through "an aroused and fighting public opinion."

The situation which Judge Thayer deals with is no different than that which has too long prevailed through the south in regard to lynching. It is bound to grow worse unless there is sufficient public sentiment aroused to turn the tide in the other direction. The criminally inclined hesitate not to take a mile if allowed an inch.

THE INEVITABLE

"Well," said Miss Belinda's brother Ben, who had just arrived at Hilltop, "how did you find the old place? Are things pretty well started? Did Tim get all the raking done? It was so dark as I drove in that I couldn't get much idea of how we look this spring."

"Things are started," answered Miss Belinda with a wry smile, "and Tim did not do any raking, and I think we are looking—well, to put it mildly, very unusual this spring."

"You don't mean to say that that rascal Tim neglected all the lawns?"

"I wish he had neglected them and the rest of the place, too, Ben. You can imagine how I felt when I landed here and found that he had burned the leaves instead of raking them. Every foot of land is black. I never saw a charcoal field, but I'm sure that Hilltop looks exactly like one now. Talk about the abomination of desolation!"

"But the grass will come up very green, very soon, Sis."

"Yes, that's what Tim says, and I know it will, but in the meantime all my lovely carpet of crowfoot violets is destroyed and the little buttercups that made a cloth of gold down by the tennis court are gone, burned to the very roots, and there's nothing left of that darling delicate pink oxalis that father liked so much on the Indian mounds. I don't believe that will ever come up again, I could weep.

"Well, old dear, instead of crying over spilled milk, you had better rid yourself of Tim. I've told you over and over again that he's more bother than he is worth."

"I know you have, Ben, and I gave you leave to discharge him once, and you didn't do it. Don't you remember?"

"Yes, I remember," Ben smiled a little foolishly. "He's such a well-meaning cuss but, just the same, I think his tenure of office is about completed. Shall I give him an honorable discharge tomorrow with a honorarium?"

"Yes, do!" agreed Miss Belinda heartily. "I really do need a young, strong man, who will be amenable to my wishes. Of course we can be nice to Tim in lots of ways, and have him here as extra help, and—"

"Belinda, you're weakening."

"No, I'm not, Ben, but it's only natural to feel sorry to end such a long association, but I agree with you that he ought to go. You can tell him in the morning. I can get Andy Watson. His mother told me that he's looking for a job."

The next morning during breakfast Tim awkwardly entered the dining room. He coughed apologetically.

"Howdy, Mr. Ben!" he began. "I didn't reckon you was here yet, though I do see 'em at it over on the golf links, say, Miss Belinda, I came in to show you this little feller. That good-for-nothing Andy Watson shot the mother right on her nest and this is the only one of them little robins that wasn't killed falling out. I'm a-going to show Katie how to raise him on bread and milk. He'll be as tame as anything round here."

"I told Andy Watson you never wanted him to set foot on this here place no sir. That you hadn't no use for people who killed mother birds. I told him we'd have him arrested for trespassin' I guess we won't be vexed by him no more.

"And say, Miss Belinda, I brought over them yaller ponderosa tomato plants I raised for you. They got an awful good start in my south window. I reckon this is just right weather now for setting 'em out. I got the ground all ready down there in the old melon patch."

"But, Tim, I wanted the tomatoes in the upper garden."

"Pshaw! That ain't no place for 'em! We'll just put 'em down there in the old melon patch. They'll do fine there. Well, this little feller's got to have his dinner."

"Just as heady as ever," remarked Ben as Tim left the room.

"Yes, but Ben, I wouldn't have that cruel Andy Watson on the place. Ben was just right about that."

"Well, then, Belinda, whom will you have?"

"Don't you think that after all perhaps Tim is—"

"Inevitable," laughed Ben. — Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Roland W. Boyden, who is reported to be under consideration to succeed the late Edgar E. Bancroft as United States ambassador to Japan, is a former Harvard athlete who began the practice of law in Boston after leaving the university, and in time rose to prominence in financial and commercial circles in New England. To the public he is best known as the "official" observer for the state department in the negotiations which led to the German Reparations Agreement. The first governmental position held by Mr. Boyden was with the Food Administration under Secretary Hoover. His work in that capacity drew such favorable attention that he was affiliated with the American delegation to the Paris Peace Conference, and after the termination of that conference he was selected to represent the United States on reparations matters. Mr. Boyden makes his home in Beverly, Mass.

Stories That Recall Others

Made-Overs.

In this family made-overs and hand-me-downs were frequent. Frances, age five, was busily engaged in the basement one day, and when mother called for her to come up she came obediently bringing an old pair of sister's rubbers.

"Mother," she said hopefully, "can't you cut these down and make me a pair?"

A Good Example.

A teacher asked the members of her class to give an example of "tact," which they had observed in the past. None of the students seemed to remember any illustrations, so it was suggested: "As a lady started to get off the car she began chastising the conductor for not letting her off sooner, as she had told him. But the conductor's reply changed her attitude and she got off laughing. 'Now don't you thing that is a good example?'"

"That," came a prompt reply from a boy in the back of the class, "was tact."

From Small Beginnings

Charles Lamb, the Bookkeeper, the Great Essayist and Humorist

Himself stricken by poverty, obliged to work long hours at an uncongenial task, threatened by insanity so that he was at one time confined in an asylum, and burdened by the necessity of supporting an insane sister who had killed his mother, Charles Lamb "stuck to it," led a brave career, carried on his humble work as bookkeeper and in the few leisure hours that he had, wrote books that radiate the spirit of genial good cheer. The man who was himself beset with sorrows made hundreds of thousands smile. Instead of adding to the wretchedness of life he contributed happiness. Instead of making himself an ugly, snarling, fault-finding creature, he made himself the most loved of English essayists. Charles Lamb, more than any other one man, brought sunny companionship into literature.

Charles Lamb's father was an humble clerk to a lawyer, and was too poor to send his son to a school that called for money. Therefore, through his lawyer-acquaintances, he was able to put the boy in a sort of charity school for some seven years. From this charity school, where he had been obliged to wear a distinctive costume, he went at 15 to work for a living. The poor boy, in addition to all his other troubles, stuttered so badly that he could hardly make himself understood. Once in his later years he was advised by a physician to be ducked in salt water. Frail and weak, he entered the water. "D-d-duck me," he said again, and again he spluttered madly. "D-d-d-d-duck me," he cried out when he came up. Down he went—and the next time yelled out madly: "Only w-w-w-once!"

Shut out by his lack of speech from anything else, he became a mere clerk. After short experiences in one or two other places, he entered the East India House at 17, and there bent over a desk and kept books for 33 years.

At 21 this poor, stuttering bookkeeper issued a volume of original poems. From year to year for the rest of his life he wrote poems, stories, plays and essays, and at the same time carried on his humble bookkeeping work and cared for an insane sister. He saw the play he had worked over hissed off the stage — but he continued to smile. He joined with his sister in her lucid intervals in writing the stories of Shakespeare's plays one of the very best books for children. When he was about 45 he began to write for a magazine the series of famous essays known as The Essays of Elia, the most charming of all essays, with a spirit that is most admirable. Lamb slowly wrote himself into fame.

Truly it is a good thing to smile, even in the face of adversity.

Two New Elements

It is reported from Berlin that Prof. Walter Nonnack has isolated two new elements associated with the platinum-palladium group. The atomic numbers are 43 and 75, and the names of masurium and rhenium have been given to the new discoveries. It remains for other workers to confirm the report before it is finally accepted.

Buster Tries Another Plan

Of their own voices, I have found,
Some people dearly love the sound.
Buster Bear.

Buster Bear was getting out of sorts. Yes, sir, he was getting out of sorts. He certainly was. He was beginning to realize that he couldn't look in every tree in the Green Forest for those missing mushrooms. His neck began to ache in no time at all. You see, he wasn't used to walking along with his head tilted up. Of course, he knew that Chatterer couldn't have carried those mushrooms a very great distance, but even at that there were more trees than he cared to think about.

Buster sat down to rest his neck. "Gr-r-r-r-r, this won't do at all," grumbled Buster. "In the first place I can't half see up in those trees. In the second place, there are too many trees. The thing for me to do is to watch Chatterer. He will at least give me some idea in which direction to look. I wonder I didn't think of that before. Chatterer is smart. Anyway, he thinks he is. Just the same, I think that I am just as smart. I hope he hasn't seen me looking around up in these trees. I'll just pretend that I have forgotten all about mushrooms. I'll just do as I am in the habit of doing; look for ants, or grapes, or beechnuts, or anything else that's good to eat, but I won't look up in trees."

So Buster started out and did his best to appear quite unconcerned. He pulled over every old log he came to, looking for ants. Sometimes he found them and sometimes he didn't. He tore an old rotten stump to pieces. He pretended to try to dig out Whitefoot the Wood Mouse. Had you been watching him you would have said that he wasn't interested in anything at all except the things he was doing. But all the time he was looking and listening for Chatterer the Red Squirrel. He heard him before he saw him. Chatterer usually is heard before he is seen. No one of whom I know enjoys the sound of his own voice more than does Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

Buster at once began to shuffle over towards the place where the sound of Chatterer's voice was coming from. But he didn't go straight there. He shuffled along looking for old logs to pull over in search of ants. Ants seemed to be the one and only thing on Buster's mind. When he found them, he licked them up, smacked his lips and looked as pleased as a small boy with a stick of candy. After awhile he saw Chatterer. But Chatterer had seen him first. Of course he would, because Buster is so big and Chatterer is so small. Chatterer jumped from branch to branch and from tree to tree, until at last he was in a tree right over Buster.

"Hello, you old robber!" cried Chatterer

"Hello, you old robber!" cried Chatterer. "What are you doing, looking for mushrooms?"

Buster sat up and looked up at Chatterer. "Really, Chatterer," said he, "I don't know why you should call me a robber."

"Didn't I see you just tear open an ants' nest?" demanded Chatterer.

Buster grinned. "Perhaps you did," said he. "It might be all right for the ants to call me a robber, but why should you call me a robber? I haven't robbed you."

Chatterer grinned. "No," said he, "you haven't robbed me, but that is because you haven't had a chance. What is more, I don't mean that you shall have a chance. Have you seen any mushrooms lately?"

"Mushrooms?" said he. "Mushrooms? What about mushrooms? Personally I'm interested in ants, not mushrooms. I saw some growing back there a ways, but they didn't tempt me at all."

Chatterer chuckled. "Perhaps they were not dry," said he, and grinned down at Buster Bear in the sauciest way.

Buster Bear just turned his back and shuffled off quite as if he had no intention of staying around there any longer.

SUMMIT STREET SAUSAGE MAKER SUES TO COLLECT FIRE INSURANCE

New suits which are returnable in October in the superior court have been filed at the office of Clerk George F. Parsons as follows:

Vincent Carlin, owner of a sausage manufacturing plant at 202 Summit street, has brought suit against the New Jersey Insurance Co. and the Firemen's Insurance Co., of Newark, N. J., to collect the insurance on policies issued to him by these two companies. Each company had a policy for $3,000, issued October 13 1924 for one year, on which the premiums were $30.60, and these policies were in force on January 25, 1925, when a fire destroyed the property insured. It is claimed that the insurance companies have refused to adjudicate the loss or to appoint appraisers or to pay the loss claim. It is further claimed that the plaintiff has complied with all the terms of the insurance policies except in so far as the acts or conduct of the defendants' agents or servants prevented or excused him from so doing or misled and deceived the plaintiff.

Grace Benton Cookson of this city, who married Earle E. Cookson, June 16, 1909, has brought suit for divorce from him on the ground of statutory offense committed with various persons since January 1, 1921. The defendant, who was formerly of Norwich, is now of Cherryfield, Me. Mrs. Cookson asks the custody of an eight year old daughter. There is also a son 15 years old.

August Jackowski of Stonington is the petitioner for divorce from Anna Costick Jackowski of the same place. They were married July 9, 1920 and the plaintiff charges that the defendant has committed a statutory offense between January 1, 1925 and July 1, 1925 at Philadelphia and elsewhere. He asks the custody of two minor children.

On the ground of desertion since January 21, 1922, A. Stanley Maine of North Stonington seeks divorce from Lizzie Burdick Maine, formerly of North Stonington, now of Wakefield, R. I. They were married December 29, 1921.

PAST REGENT'S NIGHT FOR MOOSEHEART LEGION

Norwich Lodge, Women of Mooseheart, held a past regents' night, Thursday evening at the Moose home, Laurel Hill avenue. There was a large attendance of members and members of the men's lodge were invited to participate in the social hour following the business meeting. The regent, Mrs. Crowe presided at the meeting and following the transaction of regular business there was a delightful programme, opening with an address by Mrs. Teresa Watters. In her address Mrs. Watters said; While one at a time our six past regents greet you in rhyme. First was Mary Hunter who served two years faithfully. Second, Mrs. Beaver, organizer of our charter was she. Next came Mrs. Boyens and I am sure she did her part, to make a success of the Women of Mooseheart. And then came Caroline Hastedt, whom you will all agree was a credit to our lodge and will always be. Then came Mrs. Carter and I am sure she did her share and last, Mrs. Crowe who now occupies the chair.

Following Mrs. Watter's address there was an ensemble song, Mooseheart, The Happiest. Other numbers were song, Pal of My Dreams, Mrs. Margaret Rogers; song, ensemble, Pal of My Cradle Days; sketch, Honest and Truly, Ethel Hoelck, Vera Sterry, Teresa Watters, Irene Burns; Sidewalks of New York, Mrs. LaVallee and Mrs. Edwards; In the Garden of My Heart, Margaret Rogers; Dear Little Boy of Mine, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. LaValle. Sketch, Eliza's Bonafide Offer, Ethel Hoelck as Eliza; Teresa Watters as Belle Branen; Irene Burns as Jessie; Vera Sterry as Tillie; Mrs. Mary Edwards as the very good looking man. Margaret Sadusky presided at the piano and Vera Watters played the violin. All joined in the singing of the closing ode.

Refreshments were served by the committee at the close of the program. Mrs. Dora Letendre who is leaving for Florida, the latter part of the month was presented a silk umbrella by Mrs. Emma Beaver as a parting gift from the Women of Mooseheart.

VISITORS FROM MYSTIC JOURNEYED TO STORRS

During their stay in Norwich, while guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb of Norwich Town, by whom they were accompanied, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Gremley of Mystic and the latter's mother Mrs. Harriet E. Brainerd, motored to Connecticut Agricultural College at Storrs. When returning a stop was made in Willimantic, where another party of tourists was met who reside in Mansfield. The gentleman in the party, Oswald G. Hanks, is owner of a silk mill situated on Hanks Hill, directly opposite where his father owned and conducted the first silk mill in the United States.

On several occasions Oswald G. Hanks has visited Norwich, but it was not known on this recent meeting, that he was father of Mrs. George P. Phillips who about twenty-two years ago resided on Town street, being a neighbor of Mrs. Lamb, prior to the latter's marriage, living nearly opposite.

Mr. and Mrs. Gremley and Mrs. Brainerd, who returned to their home in Mystic the early part of the week, expect to leave Sunday morning, for a week's motor trip to Niagara Falls. They will be accompanied on the journey by Mr. Gremley's mother, Mrs. Charles Gremley, of Greenmanville.

AGAIN HAS PASTORATE IN NEW JERSEY

Rev. Henry E. Anderson, a former resident of Norwich, after spending two years in Virginia, has been called back to a pastorate in New Jersey again and on September sixth became pastor of the First Baptist church of Woodstown, New Jersey.

During the two years that he served the Union Baptist church of Chincoteague, Va., the membership was increased by one hundred and seventy-five additions. Woodstown is one of the suburbs of Philadelphia and is so situated that the Harding Highway which runs from Washington, Baltimore and Wilmington to Atlantic City passes through the town.

Avery E. Park continues to make his home with his daughter who is the wife of Rev. Mr. Anderson and although nearly eighty years of age still enjoys good health.

STATE SENATE OF 1925 TO HAVE OUTING AT HADDAM

Today (Friday) th state senate of the session of 1925 is to have its summer dinner and outing at Haddam, and Sheriff Burt at his bungalow on the Connecticut river.

The arrangements have been in charge of Senator Wallace M. Pierson of Cromwell and Senator R. Leland Keeney of Somers. Senator Pierson as chairman has arranged a menu and program of entertainment which promises to please the senators.

In accordance with his plans each senator will bring one guest and there will be some noted persons invited by the senate as a body. This list includes Governor Trumbull, Senator Hiram Bingham and J. Henry Roraback, and it is expected that all will attend.

In sending out the invitations Senator Pierson recognized all factions in the party. It is expected that the lambs of the opposition factions will sit at the table with the lions of the state organization.

For instance Major Louis Ullman and Sen. Frederick L. Ford of the active and triumphant Ullman faction in New Haven will be there, and so will Senators Frank L. Wilder and William A. Redden, with Postmaster Arthur Connor from Bridgeport, all of the antagonistic Spar faction in that city. They are going to try and bring Attorney General Frank E. Healy to the feast so that all the differing elements will be represented by noted leaders.

The menu will consist of something like a real fish dinner; Clam Chowder, broiled blue fish, lobster, roast chicken, with succotash and sweet potatoes thrown in.

Then there will be all sorts of games. The senators will have a chance to pitch horse shoes, play volley ball and other things, to say nothing of big talks and little whispers about politics.

The two Democratic senators out of the thirty-five will be royally welcomed.

WEDDING

Fillmore-Bliven

In the soft glow of candlelight, which was the only illumination of the house, Miss Kathryn Bennett Bliven became the bride of Ralph Day Fillmore on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Mattison Bliven of 17 Lincoln avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. Montgomery Budlong of Christ Episcopal church before an altar arranged at the back of the hall in clematis, hydrangeas and cut flowers, the officiating clergyman being attended by Clifford and Robert Moody as altar boys.

The bridal party entered to the music of the Mendelssohn wedding march played by Mr. Pierce, organist of the church, the bride being attended by her sister, Miss Marian A. Bliven, as maid of honor, and Lyle Fillmore, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride was charming in white taffeta and carried a bouquet of roses, lilies of the valley and swansonia. The bridesmaid wore orchid and yellow chiffon, carrying a bouquet of gladioli and Permot roses. The ushers were Roland Henderson of Boston and Harry Ferry Bliven of Bridgeport.

The color scheme in lavender and yellow was beautifully carried out in the lavish floral decorations of lavender asters, yellow roses, clematis paniculata and hydrangeas which had been arranged by Geduldig. At the reception which followed for the wedding guests, who numbered about 85, the bride and groom were assisted in receiving by the maid of honor and the best man. A buffet lunch was served and during the evening the newly married couple left on their wedding tour. Upon their return they will reside in newly furnished apartments at 84 Oak street.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Fillmore of 9 Walnut street and is with the Charles Osgood company, wholesale druggists. Both young people are graduates of the Norwich Free Academy and are prominent members of the younger social set of the city. The bride received an unusually large number of beautiful wedding gifts.

Guests from out of town included relatives and friends from Boston, Lowell, Providence, Pomfret, New Haven and Bridgeport.

OBITUARY

William H. Prendergast

William H. Prendergast, prominent textile manufacturer, president of the Prendergast Mill at Bridgeton, R. I., died there Monday evening, after suffering a severe shock that lasted several hours.

For the greater part of his life he was associated in some manner with the textile industry in Rhode Island. Starting as a mill hand at 9 years of age, and in medium circumstances, he worked his way along until at his death he headed his own mill, was a director of the National Globe Bank at Woonsocket, manager of the Pascoag Branch of the Industrial Trust Company, and associated with several other enterprises.

Mr. Prendergast was born in Spring Grove and when about 2 years old moved to Burrillville. His boyhood was spent in that vicinity. Later he lived at Pascoag and for a short time in Providence. About 35 years ago he entered a partnership with Samuel Miller in a worsted mill at Woonsocket and after operating this for two years acquired the White Mill at Bridgeton, better known now as the Prendergast Mill.

Mr. Prendergast married twice. His first wife was Miss Annie M. Corcoran of Pascoag. She died in 1909. Later he married Mary F. Featherstone of New York, who survives him. He also leaves five children, Lawrence, William H., J., Thomas E., John J. and Eileen Prendergast, and two sisters, Mrs. John F. Seifert and Mrs. Ellen S. Burke of Pascoag.

Mr. Prendergast at one time was associated with M. H. Donahoe in the textile industry at Baltic; during which he had gained a wide circle of friends in this vicinity, who extend their sympathy to the bereaved family in their time of sorrow.

CONSIDER "WHITE COAL" FUEL FOR THE FUTURE

"White coal" will be the fuel of the future according to Connecticut electrical men, who in the face of the present coal strike, believe that the use of electricity to do the work formerly done by steam will show great increases during the coming year. Manufacturing plants in this state have been changing from steam to electricity with great rapidity in recent years with only a very few of the older and smaller plants retaining the use of steam chiefly because of the expense of installing the new equipment necessary for using electricity.

"White coal" showed great increases in output in practically every part of the country last year, while anthracite coal dropped off in production by seven million tons. Electricity was making its inroads into the domain of the ancient fuel in a year when the labor situation in the coal fields was fairly normal; electrical men in Connecticut expect that the present turbulent situation will show "White Coal" gains which will surpass all previous records.

Electrical men are pointing out that while the unsettled labor situation in the coal industry makes it impossible for the public to foresee its chances of securing coal from one year to another, the gradually approaching perfection of the "Superpower" or interconnection system is constantly insuring greater dependability and efficiency of electricity.

FIGHTING SAINTS PUT CRIMP INTO EAST ENDS CHANCES FOR PENNANT

The fighting Saints put a crimp in the pennant contending East Ends when they shut them out four to nothing Thursday evening at the Duwell field. Stanley, who pitched for the Saints, held the East Ends to three hits. Throughout the game he was never in danger, getting perfect support from his team mates and striking out six of the East Ends. Mills pitched good ball for the East Ends, holding the Saints to four hits, but they were bunched for runs.

The East Ends had a chance to score in the first inning. After Gaudette and Woodmansee had fanned, Mills singled off Robertson's knee and went to third on Bill Austin's single to right, but was stranded there as Normandin grounded out to Stanley.

The Saints cinched the game in the second inning by scoring two runs. Oney first man up singled and was sacrificed to second by Gilbert. Kosiowski was safe on Normandin's error. Both scored on Robertson's long double to center. In the third Paul singled, stole second and scored on Nap Liberty's two bagger to left. Nap crossed the plate for the run of the game on two passed balls. By losing last night's game the East Ends are now one game in back of the league leading Centrals but still have a chance of winning the pennant.

Manager Willie Peduce, of the East Ends, making his second appearance of the season as a playing manager furnished the fielding sensation of the evening when he made a running catch of a high fly in short left field. The score:

Tonight's Game

It was two weeks ago when the E. C. P.'s team was hot on the heels of the Centrals that Manager Oney's team came along and pulled them down with a 3 to 1 defeat and again it was Oney's team that last night handed the East Ends a severe setback dragging them out of the top position which they were sharing with the Centrals. The question now is can the fighting Saints repeat against the Central's next week, should they accomplish this feat and the East Ends should win the remainder of their games there again will be a deadlock for the leadership of the league. As it is now the Centrals are leading the East Ends by a full game. Although the East Ends are now in second place they still are tied for games won in the second half with the Saints each team having lost only one game. The prize for the team winning the most games in the second half is valued at fifty dollars and no doubt there will be a stiff fight between these teams for this prize.

Tonight will again find the East Ends in action against the Tantic team. These two teams have met before but after battling seven innings remained a 3 to 3 deadlock and tonight [illegible] team in the [illegible] one of the reasons [illegible] although they [illegible] was the fact [illegible] team was missing. [illegible] tonight they are [illegible] to hit their stride again.

The lineup for the East Ends tonight will include Belair behind the bat, Harry Mills pitch. Although the East Ends lost last night it was no fault of Mills as he pitched a good game and with any kind of team behind him can give any team a go. Mills has pitched the most of East Ends' games and for games played has proved one of the most effective in the league. Tim Coughlin will play first, Walsh second, Ngei third, Normandin at short and Gaudette, J. Murphy, Jouvert and Bill Austin will play the outfield.

"Cannonball" Jones will twirl for Tantic, Burns will catch, Sweet will be on first, Hoxie on second, Hewitt at third and Rathbun will play short, in the outfield Hoxie, McCall and Marchand will play.

MISS RYAN ELIMINATED BY MRS. MARION JESSUP

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10—Predictions went for naught at the Philadelphia Cricket club today when Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, of Wilmington, Del., unleased a command of tennis technique that eliminated Miss Elizabeth H. Ryan, of California, in the semi-finals of the women's middle states tournament. Miss Ryan, recently back from Europe, defeated her fellow Californias, Miss Helen Wills at Seabright, and was picked as the winner of the tourney here.

It took eighteen games for Mrs. Jessup to vanquish Miss Ryan in the second set, but the third was won handily 6-2. Miss Ryan opened by annexing the first set, 6-2. Today's victory qualifies Mrs. Jessup to meet Mrs. Molla Mallory of New York, defending champion, in the finals tomorrow.

In the other bracket, Mrs. Mallory maintained her championship clip by defeating Miss Molly Thayer of Philadelphia, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. In the closing set, Mrs. Mallory clicked off five games before pausing. After dropping a pair to the Philadelphian, she ran out, 6-3.

TRIPLE HOMERS MADE FOUR TIMES PREVIOUSLY

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 10—Three Yankee musketeers, Bob Meusel, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, today accomplished a feat phenomenal in baseball—that of hitting successive home runs in a single inning.

The record books reveal that the trick has been turned on four previous occasions in the major leagues, but not since 1902. In that year, within a span of 28 days, three successive home runs were clouted by batters in two different games.

The Yankee slammers did their hitting in the fourth inning of today's game with the pennant-battling Athletics at Shibe Park. Connie Mack's prize pitcher, Sam Gray, was on the mound.

Meusel, the first man up, caught one of Gray's fast ones on the nose and laced it into the lower deck of the centerfield bleachers. It was Meusel's 25th round trip of the season. Then along came Ruth. The Bambino lofted the ball over the right field wall into 26th street for his 17th home run of the season. Gehrig, the next batter, outdistanced his teammates when he drove a pitch over the right field wall to the tin roof of a porch on 20th street. It was Lou's 17th four-base smash of the year.

As a sidelight to the performance, Ruth got another homer—his 18th—in the second game. The Yanks won the first contest, 7-3, but lost the second 5-4, in 12 innings.

The feat of three successive home runs in a major league game was first accomplished in 1890 in the old players' league. With John Kinley Tener, former president of the National League and former governor of Pennsylvania, pitching for Pittsburgh, George Gore, William (Muck) Ewing and Roger Connor of the New York team, hit successive circuit clouts in the eighth inning. New York scored 12 runs in the inning and won the game, 23 to 8.

The feat was duplicated in 1894 in the National League by W. Frank Shugart, George B. Miller and Henry Pitz of the St. Louis Club in a game with Cincinnati. Thomas M. Parrot was pitching.

Clark Griffith, now president of the Washington Senators, yielded three successive homers in an American League game between Chicago and Washington, on June 3, 1902. Griffith was pitching for Chicago.

The Washington batters were Edward J. Delehanty, William Coughlin and George (Scoop) Carey. Wyatt Lee followed this trio to the plate and after he had doubled, Griffith voluntarily went to the showers.

The best performance of the four came four weeks later in a game between Cleveland-St. Louis, when successive home runs were hit on three pitched balls. With Charles W. (Jack) Harper in the box for St. Louis Napoucan Lajoie, Charles Hickman and William J. Bradley of the Cleveland club hit for the circuit.

ST. LOUIS MOVES INTO THIRD PLACE IN LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Herschel Bennett's batting today enabled St. Louis to win a double header from Chicago 4 to 2 and six to four in two extra inning games. The first game went thirteen innings and the night cap eleven innings.

The double defeat for the White Sox caused their fall from third place to fifth.

Bennett's hitting broke up the first game when he led off with a triple in the thirteenth frame, in the second game he again tripled in the last inning with two men on base and two out, giving the Browns their winning score. Score:

ATHLETICS SPLIT TWIN BILL WITH THE YANKS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The Athletics divided a twin bill with the Yankees today, the New Yorkers taking the opener 7 to 3 while the Mackmen annexed the second game, 5 to 4 in 12 innings. With two out in the final inning of the closing contest, Koenig's wild throw of Poole's single and Dale's single to center, scored the winning run.

Meusel, Ruth and Gehrig hit successive homers off Gray in the Fourth inning of the first game, Meusel's being his 25th of the season. By hitting for the circuit again in the second game, Ruth ran his year's total to 18. The successive home run performance today tied the known Major League record. Score:

KEARNS WITH WALKER AT SHREWSBURY CLUB

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—Arriving here today from Chicago, Jack Kearns, the manager of Mickey Walker, joined the welterweight champion at the Shrewsbury River Country club, where the latter is training for the defense of his title against Dave Shade of California on September 21 at Yankee Stadium.

Promoter Tex Rickard today closed for a semi-final fight of twelve rounds between Jack Zivic of Pittsburgh and Willie Harmon of New York. There will also be a six round bout between Joe Zilvani and Johnny Grosso, heavyweights.

UNITED STATES COMES THROUGH TO VICTORY AFTER TERRIFIC STRUGGLE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—(AP)—America emerged triumphant today from the opening two matches for the Davis cup but only after France, making her first challenge for this emblem of International Tennis Supremacy, had given the defenders a spectacular and thrilling struggle.

Jean Borotra, the whirling dervish of the courts, came close to giving his country undreamed of tennis glory when he forced William T. Tilden the American champion, to a sensational five set battle before yielding by scores of 4-6, 6-0, 2-6, 9-7, 6-4, while his countryman, Rene Lacoste, rallying on the brink of crushing defeat, carried William M. Johnson to another stirring finish before losing at 6-1, 6-3, 6-3.

Not in six years of victorious Davis cup play has the United States been carried to any more strenuous fight than she had today in turning back the gallant challenge of these young sons of France.

The fact that the American aces were overwhelming favorites to win meant nothing to these dashing youths. They played with a reckless, spectacular dash that would have broken probably any defense but that of the two "Bill," veterans of many a hard and testing campaign. This country's defense was in capable hands but it needed to be against such a flashing attack as these newcomers to the challenge round uncovered.

Borotra's heroic fight for victory over Tilden was the high spot of the day and when he finally went down to defeat in a knee-wrecking, exhausting two-hour struggle, France's real hopes went with him. What chances the challengers really had were carried in the magic racquet of this inspired star, whose astonishing play almost single-handed had accomplished the defeat of Australia in the inter-zone finals over last week-end.

The Basque's downfall followed by Lacoste's setback, left France with a virtually hopeless prospect of triumph and America with a commanding lead. Victory in only one of the remaining three matches will clinch the cup for this country, while France must sweep all three to gain the crown.

Tomorrow in the doubles, America will pin our hopes on the remaining two stars of her team Probably Williams, the captain, and Vincent Richards. They will face Borotra and Lacoste, who must win to prolong the decision until Saturday, when Tilden is slated to face Lacoste, and Johnston to oppose Borotra in the concluding singles matches.

Where Lacoste did not make his stand against Johnston today until the American had gained a commanding lead, Borotra played Tilden to a standstill from the start, except for a sudden and unexpected lapse in the second set. Barring that sweep of six games which kept the American in the fight, the argile frenchman gave the champion one of the most stirring battles of his career. Losing two of the first three sets, Tilden's back was to the wall in the fourth and fifth sets. It took all his brilliant resources, all his masterly generalship and all of his marvelous endurance to save himself from defeat.

Only his uncanny ability to rise to his greatest heights at critical moments averted the disaster which was dangerously close at times. In the end, too, the Americans superior stamina was a big factor in his favor for Borotra, gallant and courageous as he was, could not summon the strength to do his best to the last.

In the latter part of the gruelling fourth set and throughout the final set, the Frenchman seemed in agony as he dashed from side to side, his face often was contorted and it was apparent he lasted largely on his pluck and nerve. At the end of the fourth set he fell to his knees and from exhaustion and at the finish of the match he sank in a chair, almost in collapse.

Borotra was dangerous to the close but his greatest chances of victory came in the fourth set, with games at four all, he leaped into Tilden's service in the ninth game to lead at 40-15. Here the American made his first big stand, whipping over his cannonball delivery to ligne the game to deuce, then force his rival into errors for the deciding points.

Undaunted by this Borotra came back to square the set on his own service in the tenth game, then break through Tilden's delivery in the eleventh, chiefly on the latter's errors, the lead at 6-5. Now the Frenchman was only a game from triumph, having the advantage of his own service. But in the crisis, Tilden again was the steadier. He broke Borotras service on four straight errors by the Frenchman and went back into the lead again in the next game.

Borotra prolonged the issue by tying the score before but it was his last stand. Tilden was riding the crest of his greatest heights for the time and would not be denied. Despite Borotras most desperate efforts he lost the next two games, the set and his opportunity for victory.

Both players were weary now, but Borotra called on some hidden reserve to dash through the first two games of the final set before Tilden checked him and smashed his way through three straight games without the loss of a point. It looked like a rout for a moment but Borotra once more rallied. Sparkling volleys at the net kept him in the struggle for three more games, but he could not last. He dropped the ninth, then the tenth and deciding game quickly, contributing a double fault and three errors to end the match.

Throughout this tensely dramatic battle, Borotra's dazzling net attack was his greatest weapon. While the American scored the astonishing total of sixteen service aces, his cannonball delivery often was handled with ease by Borotra, who broke through it no less than six times.

Johnston's victory over LaCoste was far more convincing than Tilden's triumphs but even so the little Californian had his hands full in staving off his 29 year old rival's belated rush.

It looked like a rout for Johnston after his powerfully accurate attack had swept LaCoste back in the first two sets with the loss of only two games but the Frenchman suddenly struck his stride in the third set, he was flashing for the first time since his invasion of this country this year the game which carried him to the top at Wimbledon. Outdriving Johnston and dashing to the net with repeated effectiveness he ran into a formidable lead of 4-2 then had the reserve to pull out the set after Johnston's rally had forced it to deuce. A terrific battle for points in the 13th game turned the tide in LaCoste's favor after Johnston gained a lead of 6-5 and between within sight of triumph.

LaCoste made a gallant stand in the last set, holding Johnston to even terms for six games. He faltered under the pressure applied by the American, however and dropped the last three games in a row. Up to the last, however, he fought for the points, staving off defeat three times in the last game when it was only a point away.

SHEIK LEONARD KAYOS FERGUSON IN 5TH ROUND

(Special to the Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Sept. 10—Sheik Leonard of Wallingford, welterweight champion of Connecticut, knocked out Willie Ferguson of Newark, N. J., in the fifth round of the 10 round star bout at the Westerly Arena, Variety ville, tonight. A straight right to the stomach downed Ferguson for the count of nine and when he came back Leonard shot another right into the same spot sending Ferguson down for the count. Ferguson was assisted into his corner by Leonard after the referee had announced Leonard the winner.

The bout was Leonard all the way through and he was forced to go all the leading. Leonard is to appear in a bout in Norwich on the 26th.

In the first semi-final Pinky Burns of New London, junior welterweight champion of the state and Johnny Saxon of Bridgeport fought to a draw according to the decision of referee Dan Buckley of Waterbury. The decision was greeted with boos by the crowd as Saxon was picked as the best man in the fight and won the decision of the crowd.

In the second semi-final Young Coulon of Norwich and Joey Williams of New Bedford fought to a draw while in the preliminaries Young Reis of Westerly lost his fight with Frank Curcio of Providence and Kid Dellarlo of Westerly won the decision over "Chief" Stanton of Westerly, in the third round of their scheduled four round fight.

The fight was promoted by Joseph F. Grills of Westerly. The timekeepers were Leo Grills and D. H. Rogers and Plympton was announcer.

WESLEYAN HAS FIRST FOOTBALL PRACTICE

"Sam" Hill, Wesleyan University's new football coach from the University of Illinois, put the Cardinal and Black gridders through their first practice of the season Thursday morning on Andrus Field. Two sessions will be held daily until college opens on September 24. Assistant Coaches Dale Lash of the Springfield Training school, H. G. McCurdy of Bowdoin and Fritz Martin of Oberlin, and Captain Phillips of Philadelphia, Pa., helped Hill in the search that he has started immediately for the speediest aspirants in the squad, for the new regime at Wesleyan will endeavor above all else to develop a whirlwind team.

The eight letter men eligible for places on the team, in addition to Captain Phillips, are R. M. Boyd of Upper Montclair, N. J., G. A. Piper of Stamford, Conn., E. M. Thondike of New York, N. Y., W. W. Dunn of Gardner, Mass., J. L. Cook of Mt. Holly, Vt., F. W. Holden of Hartford, Conn., W. F. Wiellard of East Collingswood, N. J. and K. E. Steele of Hartford, Conn. Several likely candidates are also in sight from last year's Freshman team, the only loss thus far reported being that of the star Freshman tackle, "Jim" Lent, who will not return to college on account of the death of his father during the summer.

Coach Hill has already begun to appoint his charges for the first game of the schedule, that with Connecticut Agricultural College at Middletown on September 26. The schedule follows:

Sept. 26. Conn. Aggies at home.
Oct. 3. St. Stephens at home.
Oct. 10. Coumbia at New York.
Oct. 17. Bowdoin at Brunswick, Me
Oct. 24. Amherst at Amherst.
Oct. 31. Trinity at home.
Nov. 7. Williams at home.

PIRATES INCREASE LEAD BY DEFEATING ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Supporting Aldridge's brilliant pitching with timely hitting and sterling fielding, the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates defeated St. Louis 9 to 5.

For six innings, Aldridge was invincible turning back the Cardinals without a hit while his mates hammered Sothoron and Dickerman. Blades doubles in the seventh finally broke Aldridge's string of hitless innings.

Aldridge weakened in the ninth when the Cardinals filled the bases and Jim Bottomley, first baseman cleared them with a home run, his twentieth. Sheehan was rushed to his rescue and prevented further scoring. Score:

BERLENBACH-SLATTERY BOUT SCHEDULED TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Jack Berlenbach, of Astoria, N. Y., world's light-heavyweight champion, will step into the ring tomorow night at the Yankee Stadium in defense of his crown in a 15-round match against Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, N. Y.

Slattery, only 21 years of age, was selected by promoter Tex Rickard to oppose Berlenbach after Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., and Mike McTigue of New York, had withdrawn owing to illness.

Rickard then gave Slattery his big opportunity. This will be the first appearance in this state of the Buffalo Adonis over the fifteen round route, his other matches having been confined to six rounds in compliance with a rule restricting the activities of boxers under 21 years. Slattery reached his majority August 21.

This will be Berlenbach's first defense of his crown in a decision contest. He won the title by outpointing Mike McTigue in a 15 round contest at the Yankee Stadium, Decoration day.

Supporting this title clash Rickard has arranged an attractive program of preliminary fights. In the 12 round semi-final match another Buffalo attraction, Frankie Schoell, will meet Harry Galfund of Brooklyn. In an eight round preliminary Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia will mix it with young Marullo of New Orleans.

NEW HAVEN WINS FROM ALBANY IN ELEVENTH

ALBANY, Sept. 10.—(AP)—New Haven beat Albany, 7 to 6 in an eleven inning game here today. Morrell scored the winning run after Solomon caught Bowman's foul fly. Hauk and Berger were thrown out at the plate on Stow's double to center in the seventh inning. Score:

WESTERLY

Watch Hill Coast Guard station, on Watch Hill Point, Capt. Amos E. Broadmeadow, received word Thursday afternoon, from the Quonochontaug station, Capt. George Streeter, that a hydroplane had come down off Quonochontaug and was apparently headed for Weekapaug or Watch Hill Point. Although wearied by their all night patrol Wednesday and up to noon Thursday, when the "Dawn" booze running boat, broke up at Pleasant View, the Watch Hill coast guard boat with Mate "Ted" Clark stood in readiness to go to the disabled plane's assistance. The plane was observed by the beach frequenters to approach Weekapaug point at a high rate of speed and when off there the craft turned sharply and headed toward Block Island.

Charred wooden cases bearing such inscriptions as "12 33 oz. Bottles, Old Charter Whiskey, guaranteed 100 proof," "Cedar Brook Whiskey, Guaranteed 100 proof, A G & S, Bermuda" and "Jas. Hennessey" are all that remain with the straw wrappers, corks and a little glass, washed up on that stretch of beach between Weekapaug breachway and the Atlantic Beach Casino, of what was reported to be an 800-case cargo of the rum runner "The Dawn," which caught fire off shore and was towed in off the Pleasant View cottage of Arthur L. Berry, Wednesday night. Reported to the Watch Hill coast guard station, Capt. Broadmeadow, had five coast guardsmen on the beach from about midnight, as well as the cutter on patrol off shore. From the Quonochontaug station, Capt. Streeter had seven men on beach patrol. As the cases of whiskey unburned were ashore, the guardsmen from Watch Hill secured six cases on the beach and the cutter got one afloat. The Quonchontaug crew retrieved five cases and all were reported as forwarded to New London authorities. Before the federal men arrived, it is stated that a number of cases washed up found their way into "private stock." But after the coast guardmen appeared, individuals who secured booze were directed to turn over their wet goods.

Former Deputy Sheriff George S. Phillips and family, of Kingston were automobile business callers in Westerly Thursday.

Judge William A. Wilcox of Pawcatuck was a business caller in Norwich on Thursday.

Formal complaint against the proprietor of the Mooney bus lines in Westerly, who, it is claimed, has declined to transport the children of the public schools of Westerly under contract at a reduced fare, was filed with the public utilities commission in Providence by Town Solicitor John Ferguson, Jr., in behalf of the school committee of the town of Westerly.

Although it was not definitely announced when the hearing will be held it is believed that arrangements will be made to hold it in Westerly within the next few days. The school committee is very anxious for speedy action in the matter as several children coming to Westerly from the rural districts are affected by the transportation problem.

At the August session of the Westerly town council a vote was passed to make a formal complaint to the public utilities commission against the Westerly Automatic Telephone company on the grounds that the telephone subscribers in the Westerly exchange are required to pay a toll charge of 10 cents for each telephone message to the Watch Hill exchange, claiming that the fare is unfair and unreasonable; that said Westerly Automatic Telephone company is unjustly discriminatory in its base rates for telephone service, and that the said Westerly Automatic Telephone company has and is charging double season base rates in the Watch Hill exchange.

Several applications for permits to erect buildings will be considered September 21 at a meeting of the zoning board of the town of Westerly. The Pleasant View Beach Fire District has applied for a special permit to erect and maintain a fire station on the north side of Atlantic avenue, about 120 feet east of Winnapaug road, in a residential district. Kenyon Hazel desires to build a dry cleaning establishment at McGowan's corner, on the state highway leading from Westerly to Bradford. A third application has been received from Eric Hill, who seeks to erect a gasoline filling station on the east side of the new Westerly-Hopkinton state highway, about 800 feet south of the Hopkinton river bridge.

NORWICH MAN TAKES A BRIDE IN WESTERLY

WESTERLY, Sept. 10.—Miss Lucy Eleanor Guarino of Westerly and Nicholas Scarlato of Norwich, Conn., were united in marriage Thursday morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception by Rev. Henry Bruno, S. M. Fr. Bruno also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed the ceremony. The wedding marches and incidental music were played by the organist, Mrs. Frank Ahern.

Miss Minnie H. Turano was maid of honor, and Arthur A. Guarino, nephew of the bride, was best man. The flower girls were Misses Stella Fusolino of Norwich, niece of the bride, and Mary Pellegrino of Westerly.

Following the ceremony at the church a breakfast was served at the home of the bride at 28 Pierce street. This afternoon at 3 o'clock a reception was held, many relatives and friends being present, including guests from Norwich, Boston and New York. Music for dancing was furnished by Patsy Pingalore's orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Scarlato left Thursday night for a short wedding trip to New York. Upon their return they will reside at 232 Franklin street, Norwich, where the groom is employed as a carpenter.

STATE TROOPER SENT FOR NORWICH RURAL DRIVER

(Special to the Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Sept. 10.—Morris Schwartz, R. F. D., No. 3, Norwich, failed to make his appearance in the special session of Stonington town court, Thursday morning, when he was summoned to appear there by a Connecticut State Trooper from the Groton barracks. Schwartz is complained of as operating a motor vehicle on the Old Mystic road, in the town of Stonington in a reckless manner. When called on the telephone by the trooper it was reported that his telephone receiver had been left down. Papers for the man's appearance were given the officer to serve and a bond of $500 was required for his appearance before the Stonington town court next Tuesday.

Live bees can be mailed across the ocean under the regulations of the International Postal Union, if they are securely packed in boxes that show the contents.

Half the world is half asleep

Can success in life be undermined by constipation? Indeed it can. The poisons of this disease tire you out, wear you down, make you listless and make you lose interest in things in general. Ambition is most often prompted by a thoroughly healthy body. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings permanent relief from constipation.

"Shoulders that droop and feet that drag"

THERE are men and women who seem to be eternally tired. They go about things in a listless sort of way. They try, but they can't seem to make the grade. Perhaps they do not realize that it is constipation which is sapping their energy.

There is a sure relief from this disease. It is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN goes completely through the system without changing its fiber. It sweeps the intestine clean, purifies it, absorbs and carries moisture through it, urges it to act exactly as nature intended. Unlike habit-forming pills and drugs, it is never necessary to increase the amount of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN which you first find effective.

Let Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regain your health and keep you feeling fit. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or your grocer returns the purchase price. Eat your two tablespoonfuls with milk or cream, sprinkle it over other cereals, cook it with hot cereals, put it in soups and try it in the recipes given on every package.

KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN

To be effective, bran fiber must go through the various digestive processes without submitting to any of them. It must pass through the entire alimentary tract without its form being changed.

What happens when a bran food is eaten?

After the saliva has acted upon it, it passes through the stomach and into the intestines, where every part which is not fiber is absorbed.

In ALL-BRAN the quantity of fiber is so great that it furnishes bulk enough to prevent and relieve constipation.

In a part-bran food, the quantity of fiber is so small that there is only a puny amount to do a harmless task.

ALL-BRAN brings sure results. Demand it.

Be sure you get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—the original and only ALL-BRAN—for only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. All grocers sell it. Begin eating it today. Served in leading hotels and restaurants.

HOTEL IN WHICH GOVERNORS MET LINCOLN TO BE RAISED

ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 10 (AP)—Efforts are being made by local and other historical societies to mak appropriately the spot of the historic old Logan House, which will be raised to make way for a new railroad station. It was in a room in the Logan House that the Union war governors, in September, 1862, met with President Lincoln and pledged to him their faith and support.

The meeting was informal and private, no written record of any kind was kept, and newspaper reporters were not present. It was called to take measures for more active support of the government and resulted in the pledge to Lincoln and the Union. The pledge was signed by 13 governors and endorsed by a number of others not at the conference.

Among the signers were A. G. Curtin, Pennsylvania; John A. Andrew, Massachusetts; Richard Yates, Illinois; Israel Washburn, Jr., Maine; Samuel J. Kirkwood, Iowa; William Sprague, Rhode Island; F. H. Pierpont, Virginia; David Todd, Ohio; N. S. Berry, New Hampshire, and Austin Blair, Blair, Michigan.

Don't fail to keep your temper. Other people never appreciate tempers as a gift.

Another Reduction

For the second time within four months, Graham Brothers announce a substantial reduction in price.

Effective Wednesday, September 9th, the f. o. b. Detroit price of Graham Brothers 1-ton Truck chassis is—

$995

This reduction is in line with previous assurances that the truck buyer will always benefit equally with Graham Brothers by every economy effected through increased production.

Now first in the world as exclusive manufacturers of motor trucks, Graham Brothers are able to make this second reduction without the slightest sacrifice of quality.

In fact, the truck today is better than ever before—and this new price will seem remarkably low to those who know what Graham Brothers Trucks will do.

"JUST AROUND THE CORNER FROM EVERYBODY"

GERMANY WOULD BE SLAVE IN PAN-EUROPE, SAYS EDITOR

BERLIN, Sept. 10 (AP)—Propaganda for a United States of Europe, started and headed by Count Coudenhove-Calergh?, has aroused the ire of the conservative newspaper, Taegliche Rundschau, which says in such a union Germany would be accorded the position of a slave.

The ultimate obect of four great world powers; Pan-Europe, Great Britain, America and Asia, with English as the universal language, is regarded as a myth and the newspaper adds, "Any Frenchman will merely smile disdainfully at the suggestion that henceforth he is to carry on all negotiations in English."

The Rundschau asks, "Where is that authority in Europe today to fuse the nations together? We Germans, though powerless, absolutely refuse as the sons of Bismark to become part and parcel to a Gaulish hegemony."

The idea that France would agree to a condition of equality with a powerless opponent, is derided by the newspaper.

FAMOUS WESTERN CEMETERY CLOSED BY MARCH OF PROGRESS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10 (AP)—Latest of the famous landmarks of the southwest to be mowed down by the siegle of progress is the old Calvary cemetery here which played a part in the early history of the region. Not since 1896 has a funeral cortege passed through the cemetery's gates.

An ordinance passed recently requires the removal of all bodies buried there. Known among the old-timers as the Buena Vista cemetery, the burial ground occupies more than ten acres and entombs some of the most distinguished figures in the Spanish colonial history of southern California.

Negligence in the care of the graves has resulted in the gradual advance of ruin. Tombstones that once stood in somber dignity have crumbled, while weeds have grown knee deep over the plots.

DIVERGENT VIEWS HELD ON IRISH TOURIST TRAFFIC

DUBLIN, Sept. 10—At the Rotary Club in Dublin complaint was made that tourist traffic, particularly from America, had not reached expectations this year. One member who had returned from America said that he was humiliated there by questions asked regarding Ireland, by the doubts expressed as to whether the country was safe for travelers, and by the impression that Ireland is in a backward state of civilization, "with pigs in the drawing room."

P. J. O'Brien, secretray of the Irish Tourist Development Association, answering these statements said that while there had not been anything in the nature of an American invasion, the arrivals at Cobh totalled more than 1,000 a week, and the traffic between Ireland and England on one of the most important services was practically double what it was last year.

The transportation companies concerned were satisfied with both results and prospects. In Ulster the tourist traffic is reported in excess of previous years and in several districts has reached the pre-war standard.

PERSIA ANGERED AT SOVIET DECLARES TEHERAN REPORT

BERLIN, Sept. 10—An official report received by the Persian Legation from Teheran on the recent Turco-man conflicts conveys a bitter arraignment of the Soviet authorities.

The Russians are accused of wilfully violating many of the agreements of the Russo-Persian treaty. Numerous instances of non-recognition of existing boundaries in northern Persia are mentioned. Attacks on the Persian border police at Alepoup, Koouchab and Chat and the establishing of Russian border posts on Persian territory are recorded.

The worst infringement of Persian inviolability is considered to be the deflection of the only river supplying three villages on the Chorassan border with water. This has been a cause of much suffering among the inhabitants of the district, besides creating serious economic and hygienic disturbances. To all complaints from Teheran, the authorities at Moscow are said to have given evasive and dilatory replies.

DIET MEMBER AIDS, THEN WINS, AUSTRIAN PRINCESS

VIENNA, Sept. 10—Romance, started when a workingmen's council intervened in behalf of the former Austrian princess, Elizabeth Windisch-graetz, will culminate in her marriage to a social democratic member of the Austrian diet, Herr Petzneck.

The council saved the princess from being ejected from her ancestral home, the Castle of Schoenbronn. It was at that time she became acquainted with Herr Petzneck, who proved himself a friend and adviser in regard to the upbringing and education of her children. Both of the principals have been divorced.

The princess is the granddaughter of Emperor Franz Joseph and the only daughter of the illfated Crown Prince Rudolph. Her son is now serving an apprenticeship in an automobile factory and a daughter is attending a girl's high school in Vienna while the princess herself is living in a small flat in the city.

Japanese Adapted to Fasting

TOKYO, Sept. 10—Tideo Takahira of the Tokyo Nutrition Laboratory, recently achieved the degree of Doctor of Science from Kelo University for presenting a thesis on The Anagennesis of the Body of a Japanese. For many years Mr. Takahira has been studying the subject and has experimented on himself, abstaining from food for from three to four weeks. In his thesis the scientist argued that a Japanese is able to fast, without harm, for a period of 50 days.

A laboratory of glass technology has been established at the University of Pittsburgh.

REFLECTIONS OF A VACATIONIST.

(Written Specially for The Bulletin)

"This town is a dead 'un. Up at Petunia or down at Magnolia or over at Geranium they've some git-up-and-gis and are goin' ahead. But everything here is dead."

"What this town wants most is about a couple dozen first-class funerals. We'd have some chance if a lot of old fogies were out of the way."

I don't care what town of New England you live in, be it city or village or country, the chances are two out of three that the above is a sample of the talk which is going on in it.

I've lived during the few and evil days of my existence in about a dozen different towns or cities for long enough to "get onto the curves" of each.

And I can't, at this moment, recall a single one in which I didn't hear that sort of stuff.

The really interesting part of the thing is that it wasn't true in a single one of them. They differed as even the stars differ in the degrees of their glory. But there wasn't one which was dead. There wasn't one which needed first-class funerals so much as first-class births.

"It's a dirty bird that fouls its own nest." Are feathered bipeds to be held to more seemly conduct than is allowed unfeathered people? If so, it would look as if the cart had slewed around in front of the horse. I'll leave it to you if what is considered lowdown business for birds isn't really worse for men and women who are popularly supposed to have more brains and a wider reach of reason than even owls.

In the former days and during the mining craze, they used to have what they called "boom towns" out west. Sage-brush and alkali dust and an occasional Indian dodging the rattlesnakes, one day; six months later a city with regularly laid out streets, gas works, a Palace hotel, an Empire theater, a daily newspaper, street cars and a police force keeping 20,000 humans in some sort of order.

And perhaps, a dozen years later, that same city would be an abandoned waste of tumble-down buildings and grass-grown streets, inhabited only by a few ragged and unkempt scarecrows who once had been men, but had almost forgotten it.

It isn't only in fireworks that things go up like rockets and come down like sticks. It has been so with a good many western towns whose founders actually believed they were assisting at the birth of metropolises. Indeed, one doesn't need to go so far afield as the Rockies to find instances where "booms" have swelled to imposing proportions, only to peter out eventually.

Though not "town-born," I lived in your own fair city of Norwich long enough to get some idea of what its people were thinking. I certainly got many ears-full of what they were saying. And the two quoted paragraphs with which I began this talk are fair samples of the "knocking" which I used to hear. On the streets, in the back rooms of stores, at clubs; from business men, from "men-about-town," from workingmen and from professional men;—seems to me I've heard it hundreds of times.

Before hearing it in Norwich, I had previously heard it in four other New England towns or cities. Since then I've heard it in half-a-dozen more. This retired country town in which my present lot is cast is chock-full of it. Judging by their doleful faces and mournful tones, three-quarters of its residents are convinced they'd be better off somewhere else.

Oh, that "Somewhere Else!" That Utopia of the Unsatisfied, that Far Country of the Prodigal, that Dreamcity of the Discontented! It's like the rainbow's end where the pot of gold has been dropped; perhaps even more like the will-o'-the-wisp which gleams beckoningly but always tantalizingly out of reach.

"Man never is, but always to be blest," sang the poet. That means, translated into modern slang by a Hoosier versifier:

"Man's a fule;
When it's hot he wants it cool;
When it's cool he wants it hot;
Never pleased with what he's got;
Always wantin' what he's not;
I maintain, as a rule,
Man's a fule."

My six-year-old niece firmly purposes to hunt down the rainbow's end, some time when it seems close by, and the grass isn't too wet, and she will have time to get back before tea. Then she's going to do great things with the big bag of gold she brings home. Anyway, she is absolutely sure that everything is much finer and nearer the heart's desire beside the far abutment of that gleaming arch of heaven than it is on the commonplace "stoop" of the old farm-house. We older ones smile superiorly and a little sadly and content ourselves with advising her not to set out on the quest till she is a little older. Yet we ourselves have hardly attained years of discretion in that same matter. Nor shall we ever, no matter how scanty grow the greying locks or how deep the wrinkled footprints of Old Age. Practically all of us see some rainbow bridging from That-which-is to That-which-might-be and, by comparison, making us discontented with the former.

Years ago I used to buy my cigars at "Jake" Mershon's. I used to think they were pretty good, too, till one of the knockers confidentially assured me that they were not in it with the smokes he bought in New Bedford. Well, later I bought cigars in New Bedford. Barring a certain faint aroma of tarred rope which I ascribed to the too immediate vicinity of an old whaling ship, I couldn't see that they differed very much from Mershon's, nor can I lay my hand on my heart and swear that I thought the tar-flavor any real improvement.

At another time, when I was living in New Haven, I ran across a Norwich couple who told me they were over on their annual shopping tour, because they could buy so much better there than at home. And less than a week before I had been in Norwich, buying some supplies because I could get them cheaper and better than in New Haven! Was there, ever a plainer case of the pot and the kettle, each complaining because the other was so black?

Most of us think, when we're out berrying, that the berries are better and bigger on some bush ahead than on the one we're picking. When we're stealing watermelons from a neighbor's patch, we're always certain that those near the dog's kennel are sweeter and juicier than those in safe reach beyond the length of his chain. When we're climbing the ladder of life, we always feel that some other fellow's ladder has easier rounds and lifts him to redder and bigger apples.

We mustn't deny or in any way derogate from the value of that "divine discontent" which prophets and poets and philosophers have praised. It is a potent moving force in pushing the universe upward and onward.

But,—

And that "but" means a mouthful. —but the discontent which spurs men towards the attainment of something better is a constructive discontent, not a destructive one. It is a builder, not a wrecker. It is antiseptic, not toxic. It is a booster, never a mere knocker. If it razes the old, it is to build the new better and on surer foundations. If it criticizes, it does so not for the spiteful pleasure of finding fault but with the intent and hope of insuring amendment. If it plows up and scrapes out a rutted old road it is only to substitute a concreted boulevard.

I've just come back from a week's visit to Norwich. The old burg isn't growing by leaps and bounds like a toadstool of a Jonah's gourd. It is growing more like a fair and stately elm, which will be rearing its noble height and casting its gracious shade centuries after toadstool and gourd and many a "boom" town have disappeared from the face of the earth.

I didn't see anything "dead" about it but everywhere evidences of healthy and wholesome life.

And, just between you and me and the hitching-post, I don't want to hear of any "first-class funerals" there for at least another 20 years. I didn't meet or see or hear of any one whom the town would be better off without.

What I did experience was a wonderfully gracious and selfabnegating hospitality, an almost riotous wealth of good fellowship, and a cheery friendliness which will warm a cockles of my old heart for many a day, coal strikes to the contrary notwithstanding.

I'm too old to fight, but I've got one shoulder that's as cold as Ford's ice, and I hereby give notice that I shall turn it right under the face and mouth of anybody who undertakes to "knock" old Norwich in my hearing.

I'm a "booster."—What're you goin' to be?

P. S. and N. B.—In reading this over to make corrections where my old typewriter has misspelled or otherwise misbehaved, I am a wee bit ashamed of the number of "I's" in it. It strikes me as being pretty near an I-full. Well, you'll have to forgive me, this time. When an old codger gets well over on the shady side of his three-score-and-ten, a kindly public is apt to accept his garrulity and his egotism with some allowance. To tell the plain truth, I've been made so much of and treated so royally by Norwich friends, old and new, that I really am excusable if my head is swelled a little. Don't worry. It'll go down to normal in due time.

THE FARMER.

MYSTIC

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U., held at the home of Mrs. Mary S. Brown Wednesday afternoon, opened with the singing of "Some Glad Day." Mrs. Lamb, president, read the 62nd Psalm and prayer was offered by Mrs Newbury after singing The Rally Song. The regular business was transacted and the notice of New London County W. C. T. The funeral services were held at the home of his niece, Mrs. Herbert Pierce, Old Mystic, Thursday afternoon. Burial was in Elm Grove cemetery.

Mrs. George Richmond entertained the World Wide Guild at her home Thursday evening.

Captain Elias F. Wilcox was able to be at his office Wednesday afternoon after a few days' illness.

When There's Work to be Done.

You've something begun! Then don't pause by the way!
Just roll up your sleeves while it's yet light of day.
And throw off your hat and get into the ring.
You've something begun—so go after the thing.

Though failure may taunt you when courage you lack,
And that time shall come when you'd rather turn back,
Just leap right ahead and to this slogan cling:
"I've something begun and I'll finish the thing."

Supposing you fall! Should that matter a bit?
Defeat claims no one till he's willing to Quit!
Get back on your feet and a right and left swing.
You've something begun, so go after the thing.

Old man DISAPPOINTMENT shall strive for the lead
And try every possible means to impede
The task that is yours, but he'll fail if you sing:
"I've something begun and I'll finish the thing."

Stand firm at your post and keep faith in but one;
Let that be yourself when there's work to be done.
Hold fast to your aim—and you'll win if you sing:
"I've something begun and I'll finish the thing."

SOLIDS

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BEAUTIFUL GIRL MAY GO INTO MOVIES

The Famous Players-Lasky corporation, through their exploration representative, John Callahan, who was in Norwich Wednesday, at the Palace theater, has cooperated with the New London County fair officials and offers a chance for the movies to the winner of the Beautiful Girl contest, in addition to the trip to Washington, D. C.

The Famous Players-Lasky will invite the winner of the beauty contest to stop off in New York and go through the studios there. As guest of the company screen tests will be taken and if they test well the lucky girl will be sent to the Actors school maintained by the company and given a chance to enter the movies under contract with them.

This inducement for the contest has caused the fair committee to advance the final day for entries to Sept. 16th and it is expected that many girls will avail themselves of the opportunity of trying to gain entrance into the movies. The offer is genuine and a representative of the company will be at the fair to watch the contest and arrange the trip to the company studio for the winner. It is the chance of a lifetime for a girl who would like to try for the movies as a good screen test at New York means entrance to the school and work in the movies.

Secretary Ross of the fair association has signed seven gib midway shows this year, has booked two ferris wheels, a merry-go-round, a chair swing and a dozen ponies and goat carts, besides many other attractions, so there will be plenty of entertainment for every member of the family. This is the largest midway show ever seen at the local fair.

Booths on Merchants row are selling fast and but one of the twenty new booths remain to be sold, one having been taken Wednesday by N. S. Gilbert and son.

Entries for barnyard golf and the dog show should be made immediately so plans may be made to arrange the program and make room for the canines entered in the dog show. Entries should be turned in at 63 Broadway as soon as possible by those wishing to enter the barnyard golf contest and by boys who wish to enter their pets and thus receive a free pass for Saturday's fair.

The Better Baby contest on Friday is sure to be one of the largest ever seen in this city. Babies up to 2 years old are eligible to enter during the day and tests will be along modern standard. The best boy and girl baby will be awarded the Bliss and Ferguson cups.

Three more entries for the decorated automobile parade for Saturday, were received Wednesday by Secretary Ross. Ten prizes the first $100 in gold, bases on 50 cars entered, are awaiting the winners and entries should be speeded up as the committee wishes to know how many to provide for.

Breed Theater

In Hearts of Oak, which comes to the Breed theater today, William Fox has created a motion picture version of one of the greatest stage melodramas ever written. Played for years with its author James A. Herne, in the leading role, this stage play has been seen by millions all over America, in cities and towns of every size. Its potent drama and heart interest, according to critics, has been transferred to the screen in a manner that will appeal to picture goers just as the stage masterpiece did to two generations.

Hobart Bosworth, well known for his characterizations of sea-faring men, plays the leading role of Terry Dunnivan in the screen version. Theadore Von Eltz plays Ned Fairweather, his adopted son and Pauline Starke, is seen as Chrystal, the adopted daughter of the mariner. Others in the splendid supporting cast are James Gordon, Francis Powers, Jennie Lee, Frances Teague and Francis Ford. The picture was directed by John Ford, who has been credited with many Fox successes.

Hearts of Oak is a story of the New England coast and the arctic wastes. Terry Dunnivan, a seaman, has adopted two children—a boy and a girl. He has seen them grow up, Chrystal to be a beautiful young woman and Ned to be a strong man of the sea. Terry realizes that his love for Chrystal has ripened into the love of a man for a woman and he tells her. Although she loves Ned, the young couple agree to sacrifice their love for the happiness of their benefactor.

Ned, on the pretense of shipping to sea, leaves the coast town and goes to the bad. It is not until it is almost too late that Terry learns the tragedy of his adopted children's love and the method he employes to right what he believes wrong, makes a heart stirring drama such as deserves the long success of Hearts of Oak.

Palace Theatre

Vulgarity is a form of tactlessness. That is the belief Harold Lloyd's mother instilled in her son in tender years when he had no idea of becoming the screen's greatest comedian. And that teaching of tactfulness, she believes, is the reason why Harold's comedies are always free from vulgarity. The Freshman, which comes Sunday to the Palace theater, Lloyd promises is as clean as the proverbial hound's tooth. It gags are woven into a human and humorous story of a freshman who is the college boob but thinks he is the hero, which he really does become when he—only the water boy—wins an exciting football game.

Some women judge their husbands by the worst things they hear about men.

STONINGTON

At St. Mary's church Monday morning, Miss Anne Henry, daughter of former Warden and Mrs. John S. Henry, was united in marriage with Charles B. Garity, son of Burgess and Mrs. Thomas W. Garity. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James E. O'Brien who celebrated the nuptial high mass.

The bride was attired in white satin, wore a veil and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Marie Coffee, who wore purple chiffon and carried yellow roses. The best man was Charles S. Ryan. After the ceremony a breakfast was served at Manor Inn. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Garity will reside at Lord's Point until their new home, now under construction in Main street, is ready for use. Mrs. Garity was a former teacher in the Stonington schools, and Mr. Garity is assistant postmaster at the local post office.

Spirited debate over the proposition of removing the headquarters from Woonsocket, R. I., to Worcester featured the closing session of the biennial national convention of the Franco-American Foresters in Worcester. The proposal was finally defeated.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theater

Four big climaxes in one motion picture! And not one of them to which any critic can prefix that dread little word "anti-"! This is the score of The Fire Patrol, Hunt Stromberg's sensational production to be shown at the Broadway theater on Sunday.

In nine out of ten pictures, the climax is easily anticipated by blase theater-goers. But how can it be when there are four instead? "Try and do it!" encourages Mr. Stromberg. The usual routine of mechanically developed details leading to one obvious crisis has been clearly avoided in The Fire Patrol. Bang! And the picture is off to a record with a frightful explosion in the hold of a ship. Who-e-e-e! A terrific storm plays havoc with the world, while human hearts hide their darkness in the gloom! Help! A vessel bursts into flames, miles from safety, and the fire patrol is launched in a flurry of frantic energy! Wow! The hero and the villain fight for each other's life blood in the most realistic combat since that of The Spoilers. All this atmosphere, down to the last detail, has been reproduced in The Fire Patrol, Hunt Stromberg's initial picture of the season. Homely, reminiscent scenes will make a humorous appeal to experience, which, secure in the conveniences of this electric age, can afford to laugh, but tenderly, at the youth they knew.

The cast includes such notables as Anna Q. Nilsson, Madge Bellamy, Jack Richardson, Helen Jerome Eddy, Spottiswood Aiken, Charles Murray, Bull Montana.

Palace Theatre

The 50 most beautiful bathing girls in Hollywood were selected by the casting director at Paramount's west coast studio, to appear in The Trouble With Wives, today at the Palace theater.

The girls were outfitted in all varieties of bathing suits, from the one piece variety to fancy ruffled effairs designed by Travis Banton and Howard Greer. Banton also created the eleven gowns worn by Florence Vidor in this picture, while Greer created the nine costums worn by Esther Ralston.

The bathing girls represent all varieties of feminine beauty, from statuesque blondes to diminutive brunettes.

The Trouble With Wives was directed for Paramount by Malcolm St. Claire from the original story by Sada Cowan and Toward Higgin. In addition to Miss Vidor and Miss Ralston the featured players include Tom Moore and Ford Sterling.

Corncobs are used to produce furfural, a substitute for formaldehyde.

Sea Nettles

The Smithsonian Institution says that all species of sea nettles sting by night as well as by day. However, there is a marine vertebrate known as the ctenophora which is similar to the sea nettle in appearance and is characterized by the absence of nettle cells and therefore does not sting. The particular species is common in Chesapeak Bay.

People are seldom what they seem to think you think they are.

VARICOSE VEINS REDUCED OR MONEY BACK

This Simple Home Treatment Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil besides being one of the most powerful of antiseptics capable of destroying the most pernicious germs and the poisons caused by them, is also marvelous healing agent.

One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications causes the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you.

ALLING RUBBER CO. INC. NEW LONDON BUYS $135,000 REALTY ON TWO STREETS

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 10—Meyer H. Hollandersky, today sold valuable realty on State and Green streets, owned by Arnold Hubbard and others, of Waterbury, to the Alling Rubber company Incorporated. The realty consists of a three story building at 154-158 State street, occupied on the ground floor by the Alling Rubber Company, Incorporated, and J. Tanenbaum, and on the upper two floors by business places and apartments, together with the building, 17-31 Green street, occupied by Adolph Bach, restaurant, and the Alling Rubber company, incorporated. The price paid was $135,000 and of this amount the Hubbard interests accept a mortgage of $100,000.

Mr. Hollandersky acquired an option on the property several weeks ago at which time it was believed that the W. S. Grant company, of New York, operators of a chain of stores, would purchase the property. The Grant company finally decided not to purchase and it was then that the Alling Rubber company negotiated for and obtained the property.

David Dow Sentley of Peekskill, N. Y., and others have sold a building lot on Cedar Grove avenue to Helen Bartnicka.

"Jimmy" Nelson, of Waterbury, formerly a lightweight pugilist of note, and a resident of New London and Norwich at that time, is spending a fortnight in this city. Mr. Nelson is now employed as physical instructor of the Waterbury police department.

The crew of the schooner Mosslee were presented on continuance before United States Commissioner Russell H. Corcoran, yesterday afternoon at the customs house, on a charge of violation of the liquor law and after four hours of testimony and arguments had been consumed, another continuance was ordered, this time until the 30th inst. Capt. Maurice Lefitte, master of the Mosele, was held in bail of $1,500 and each of the nine members of the crew furnished a surety on his bond of $500 for appearance on the future date.

The Mosclee was seized July 13 off Block Island and had one of the richest cargoes ever secured by the United States Coast Guard fleet, for the schooner had approximately 3,000 cases of rye and Scotch whiskey in her hold, the cargo having an estimated value of $125,000. Following the seizure of the craft she was brought into port and with her cargo has since been moored under guard at the state pier.

Mrs. Paul Schardus, of Jordan Village, Waterford; Mrs. John Madigan and infant son, 47 Church street, and Miss Catherine Marnett, 25 Ocean avenue, patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, were discharged today.

When the superior court, civil side, convenes at Norwich Friday, Judge Allyn L. Brown will be asked to approve a writ of mandamus that will compel the city of New London to show cause why Messrs Kenyon and Samuel Shapiro should not be allowed to establish on Jay street the business they have been doing elsewhere in the city. The business is that of repairing automobiles and selling the equipment of the machines. They desire also to build a store that will be a place for the display of their goods and for the sale of them. The men petitioned the city for permission to build on their land and to alter existing property, but the city council would neither grant nor deny the privilege, so Messrs Kenyon and Shapiro made a start to develop their property and to establish their business. They were halted in this work by the building inspector. That brought matters to a climax and the owners of the property decided to determine in a court of law whether they were to be forced to pay taxes and still be denied the right to make use of what they owned for business purposes.

A bunch of drunks, five in all, furnished business for the police court today. The historic name of Lincoln was on the docket when the accused were arraigned. It was the name of Robert, but not the son of the late president who bears that name. This Lincoln has often been in the court though he has stayed away pretty well since the prohibition law has been in operation. There was James Wright, who was wrong in supposing he could absorb the liquor he drank yesterday and still stay on his feet. He could not accomplish that task. John Flanagan, Pat Ryan and Pete Duffy made up the balance of the quintet. They formulated stories according to the police, while they were locked up and then related their little tales to the court. Judge Prince decided that if he fined them or jailed them they would loiter about the city after they had settled, so he allowed them to get out of town. Police Sergeant Smith is authority for the statement that so many bummers and loiterers have not been in this city in years as are here now. They live along the route of the railroad and in the woods skirting the tracks where they manage to keep out of sight for a day or two at a time. Then, under the pretense of seeking work they get about the streets and obtain subsistence in any way that offers.

Mrs. Harriet Elizabeth Mafew Clark, wife of Christopher Culver Clark, died this morning at her residence, 45 Truman street. Mrs. Clark had been in ill health some time and was of advanced years. Besides her husband, she is survived by a step-daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark Rogers.

Motorcycle Officer George McCaskey was unable to perform duty today, being confined to his home, Maple avenue by indisposition.

Giam Musante, 372 Williams street, reported to the police this forenoon that an automobile, owner unknown to him, had been parked in the yard of his residence 10 days and requested that the machine be taken away. The automobile was removed to a garage where it will be stored, pending its being claimed by the owner.

Patrolman James McKenna in making his rounds at Ocean Beach early this morning discovered gas fumes about the building on Stuart avenue, occupied by the Home restaurant. The officer upon investigation found a window to the place open and entering, discovered a cock on a gas range partially open, allowing a large supply of fuel to enter the place. The officer caused the supply of gas to be shut off and secured the building for the remainder of the night.

Mrs. Helen B. Flynn, 83 Union street, complained to the police early this morning, alleging that there was a crowd of young men assembled at the corner of Church and Main streets and that their boisterous conduct was disturbing the neighborhood. Patrolmen Edward Daniels and Braxton Hill, who investigated the complaint, found a group of youths assembled where stated, but they were orderly and not disturbing the peace. Later, however, when Patrolman Daniels was passing a lunch cart on Church street, he discovered the cause of the disturbance for another gang of youths was in the eating place and carousing. The officer caused the nuisance to cease.

The condition of Patrolman John Foley, who has been confined to his home, Williams streets, three weeks, by illness, is improving rapidly and it is believed that he will be able to resume police duty within a week or 10 days.

An automobile owned and driven by Ralph M. Limsley, 96 Stearns street, Bristol, in passing through Main street, near the corner of John street, late this afternoon collided with a machine owned by Benjamin M. Baline, 33 Main street, which was motionless alongside the curb. Baline's car was damaged.

Albion Tattersall, 58, of 8 Cherry street, Pawtucket, died at Home Memorial hospital last night. He had been in poor health a long time, but had been under treatment at the hospital, but a few days. Mr. Tattersall was employed a number of years as a textile worker in the Westerly mill of the American Thread company.

Mrs. Roland Allen, 462 Pequot avenue, and Frank Kaminsky, Mystic, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were able to return to their respective homes today.

Austin Kelley, Groton, and Miss Christina Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Higgins, 141 Park street, were married at 7 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. The nuptial mass was performed by Rev. Raymond O'Callagan. Because of the death last Saturday of the bride's sister, Mrs. Mary Morgan, wife of Richard Morgan, 32 Harrison street, the wedding was most simple and without relatives or friends attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Burdick, 85 Howard street and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burdick, 175 Montauk avenue, have returned from an automobile trip through New York, Massachusetts and Vermont.

Albert Woodruff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvert C. Woodruff, Fremont street, has entered the senior class of Dean academy, Franklin, Mass.

Miss Anne Flaherty, 3 Jefferson avenue, went to Brooklyn today where she is an instructor in French at one of the junior high schools.

Chadley Holt, son of City Manager and Mrs. William A. Holt, has resumed his studies at Dean academy, Franklin, Mass., after having spent the summer vacation at his home, Whittlesey street.

Miss Alice Larkin, daughter of Mr. John Larkin, Huntington street, has returned to her home after having spent several weeks with her uncle and aunt, Attorney and Mrs. John C. Geary at the Geary summer residence, Waterford.

New London will have another military band and one that is destined to be a credit to the branch of the federal service its members are identified. The band is from the members of the United States Coast Guard at Fort Trumbull and already its membership numbers fourteen. Four additional members are needed and to obtain them it is believed that musicians attached to other branches of the service will be transferred to the coast guard. Concerts have been given twice a week and with complete band of 14 pieces having been obtained and rehearsals held during the winter, it is planned that the band give concerts at Ocean Beach and at the island forts next summer.

Two youths, neither over 15 years of age, and residing in Fall River, Mass., were taken into custody here this evening by Sergeant Samuel Hick, when he observed the lads alighting from an automobile on State street. Upon being questioned by the officer the boys stated that they had left home several weeks ago and had made their way to New York where they believed they would find lucrative employment, but to this end they were disappointed for they did not find work as easy to obtain as they anticipated. Before their funds became exhausted they decided to return to Fall River and this morning upon leaving afoot for this city from New Haven they obtained a ride from Lyme to New London. The boys were possessed of $6, and were taken charge of by Probation Officer Richard W. Manfield, who provided sleeping accommodations for them at the B. F. Learned mission and tomorrow the lads will be placed aboard a train and headed for their homes.

A trio of sailors indulged in a peculiar form of amusement this evening and derived considerable pleasure from their indulgence. The bluejackets went to a local skating rink and after having skated about the floor of the place some time decided upon outdoor skating. The trio skated over the sidewalk of Golden St. to Bank street where they crossed the street and became enmeshed in a maze of automobiles. That one or all of them were not injured by being struck by the cars was more of their good fortune than anything else. They then continued to State street, where they started to continue through that street on the sidewalk, but they were quickly ordered by a police officer to take to the street. This they did, but their out-door skating soon eased for they wisely decided to confine their skating to the floor of the rink.

STATE MONOPOLY OF SUGAR AND TEA PROPOSED BY PERSIA

BAGDAD, Sept. 10—(AP)—Decision of the Persian government to put through a bill to empower it to take over the import and sale of tea and sugar in Persia as a state monopoly has aroused considerable feeling in commercial circles here.

The seriousness of the matter from the local point of view may be gauged from the fact that, except for cotton piece goods, a very large proportion of the considerable re-export trade from this country to Persia consists of tea and sugar. The buying arrangements in Europe and India have until now remained in the hands of Bagdad middlemen. Persian merchants not as a rule buying further afield than this city. Presumably, the Persian government intends to make its own arrangements in Europe, and to cut out the Bagdad middlemen altogether.

GUAM CHILDREN TRADE OLD RELICS FOR MOVIE TICKETS

HONOLULU, Sept. 10—(A. P.)—An ancient sacred relic in exchange for a ticket to the movies is the latest tale to float up from the mysterious islands of the South Seas where a group of scientists is attempting to solve the origin of the Polynesian race.

It is told in a letter from one of the workers attached to the Bishop Museum, Honolulu, and concerns Guam and the Chamorro children on the sun-baked shores of that island who will hunt assiduously for bits of weathered stone in order to enjoy viewing the cowboys, train wrecks, shooting scrapes and bathing girls that appear on the Guam screen as representing that far away and unknown country, America.

The search is "hazardous," for the children because of the tradition that the strangely-shaped stones which are in such great demand at the Agana "Movie-house" belonged once to the "Taotao-Mona," or the "people of before time," who are feared so greatly that none of the adult residents dare touch the relics.

The stones are the implements and weapons left by the former inhabitants of the Marianas, who may have belonged to a race antedating the Polynesians, the scientists say.

Many vraieties of the objects are necessary for the study of the habits and customs of the race and the Bishop Museum expedition has contracted with the Agana motion picture theatre in one of the strangest compacts ever signed. Its terms provide for an exchange of the relics for free admission to the show, the museum to redeem the stones, most of which have come from "tabu" or forbidden spots. They will be studied carefully and perhaps in them will be found the clue that will lead to the origin of the Polynesian peoples.

U. S. DOMINATES THEATRES OF EUROPE, SAYS CRITIC

BERLIN, Sept. 10—(A. P.)—America is setting its imprint upon the French theatre quite as much as upon that of Germany or of Austria, in the opinion of Hellmuth Barlick, critic, writing in the Lokal Anzeiger.

"America is the bacillus," he observes, "which is infecting Europe. One notices this in Paris quite as much as in Berlin or Vienna. What Italian would have thought of producing 'Aida' in the open air outside of Vienna for an audience numbering tens of thousands, were it not for the fact that New York transformed a church into a theatre and made a theatre into a church? America with its super-European dimensions simply kills the theatre halls that have been kept up since the days of baroque. At Hollywood America builds up the whole inner city of Paris in order to film the photoplay 'Notre Dame.' America cracks the whip in the Casino de Paris and in the Olympia, and all Paris applauds."

Bobbed Hair War Closes Schools.

VIENNA, Sept. 10—(A. P.)—A fight over bobbed hair recently necessitated the closing of the university here for a short time. Nationalistic social democrat faction pulled the hair of the girl students of the latter group and berated them for wearing it bobbed. The girls were finally rescued by their braver students and 16 of the reactionaries were arrested.

PREHISTORIC RESERVOIRS FOUND IN NEVADA VALLEY

GOLD HILL, Utah, Sept. 10—A series of six immense reservoirs believed to have been constructed about 50,000 years ago have been discovered in Spring Valley, Nevada, by members of the Cosmographic Society.

The reservoirs are triangular and range from a few inches to 60 feet in depth. The retaining walls are about 800 yards long and are feathered back into the hillside. The walls are from 15 to 25 feet thick and are believed to be composed of granite, covered with debris.

The huge tanks overlook a once fertile valley, where coal deposits have since been found. It is thought by members of the society that the reservoirs were used for irrigation purposes.

Claims that the reservoirs resulted from glacial action have been denied by the Cosmographic Society, which points out that no trick of a glacier could construct six perfectly symmetrical masonry formations.

In a limestone cave in the mountainside above the reservoirs members of the Smithsonian Institution found several crude implements and weapons, among which were several "arrow springs," a little wooden rod with one end bent into a hook. The arrow was placed in the crook and the rod sprung after the fashion of the catapult. The "arrow springs" are considered to have preceded the bow by several hundred years.

MRS. FISKE TO CAMPAIGN AGAINST USING STEEL TRAP

CHICAGO, Sept. 10—The steel trap, to Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, the actress, "is the most villainous instrument of arrest that was ever invented by the human mind," and early this fall she will inaugurate a campaign among women for its extinction. Mrs. Fiske will visit many cities and will personally meet the women, not for the purpose of discouraging the wearing of furs but with the object of outlawing the steel trap in the fur industry.

Mrs. Fiske for more than 25 years had been actively interested in anti-cruelty work. She believes that if American women knew the inside story of trapping and its subsequent torture, public opinion would stop the manufacture of the instruments.

"The human race is in terror of physical agony and spends millions of dollars a year in research to conquer pain," Mrs. Fiske said. "The scientist who discovers some new method to relieve pain is acclaimed a world hero, yet we are unawake to the suffering of the countless dumb animals which feel almost as we feel.

"The steel trap has no place in civilization and we hope to awaken the modern woman to the shame and horror and degradation of it. When women know how furs are obtained they will band themselves and refuse to purchase or wear furs procured by the steel trap."

TOKYO'S POOR CHILDREN LACK PROPER NUTRITION

TOKYO, Sept. 10—(A. P.)—The effects of the great earthquake and fire of 1923 are still being felt by the children of Tokyo. Investigators of the Child Welfare Section of the Tokyo Municipality report that more than 60 percent of the children under seven years of age in the slum quarters have been found to be unhealthy either because of under nourishment or diseases of various kinds. There is every indication, says the report, that the situation will become worse unless immediate steps are taken to care for those housed in the temporary structures in the poorer sections of the city.

"The most immediate cause of the unhealthy condition of the children," said Eimatsu Okazaki, head of the Child Welfare Section, "is the fact that they have not been fed so well as they were following the great earthquake. This was especially the case during the period when the city was beginning to be rebuilt. Just before that, the children in the slum districts had been fairly well fed with supplies sent to them by relief organizations all over the world. Later, however, many poor families were thrown on their own resources. In addition, the present unemployment situation, which has led to an almost total lack of work for wives of laborers, has still further depleted the incomes of the poorer families.

"Another cause for the poor health of the children, is that they have been forced to play in the ruins of Honjo and Fukagawa, and much of what seems sand and solid ground is in reality nothing but the ashes of the buildings in those suburbs. All green growing things in these districts had been destroyed by fire and the wind raises the dust for the children to breathe."

Boy Has 11 Grandparents

PORT ALLEGANY, Pa. Sept. 10—(AP)—Charles William Burr, six months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Burr, has 11 grandparents living, a record which it is believed few youngsters can equal. The immediate grandparents of the boy are Mr. and Mrs. William Burr and Mr. and Mrs. Elijah McKerney. There are five great-grandparents, including Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hazen, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Babcock and Mrs. Sophia McKervey. A great-great-grandmother is Mrs. Eliza Causer and a great-great-grandfather is Charles W. Burr.

One hour and fifteen minutes of laughter.

—THE VAUDEVILLE—
REILLY AND VEE
A couple of boys who sing well and play the banjos entertainingly
TWO PRETTY GIRLS, Hilden and Mack
On the piano and character songs
FRANK FINNEY AND CO.
REALLY A BIG TIME ACT. Special scenery. Beautiful dance numbers
HENRY FRY
With just a lot of funny conversation
IRMA, BALMUS AND MILO
It's really very funny and you'll enjoy it I'm sure. The cast is splendid Good Singing — Plenty of Wholesome Comedy — Good Dancing — In Fact an All Round Good Show.
THE PALACE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
Will play for the pictures and the vaudeville.
COMING SUN. MON. TUES. AND WED.
The greatest piece of entertainment of the year
Harold Lloyd in The Freshman

The last word in screen entertainment is coming to this theatre next week, and it is with pride that we doff our advertising hat to Harold Lloyd, the artist whose achievement has made it necessary for us to search the dictionary for words of description—then find them all inadequate!

"The Freshman" is his Finest Achievement! Merriment. Speed. Laughter. Thrills—Woven into a Wonderful Song of Youth and Played on the Heart-strings with an Obbligato of Tears.

Sincerely: E. L. M'EVOY

Wheat weak; bearish government report.

Corn declined; larger country offerings.

Cattle firm, hogs higher.

MARKET WAS STRONG

NEW YORK, Sept. 10—Stock prices gave another impressive demonstration of strength today. Buying orders for the industrial shares, particularly in the motor, equipment and chemical groups poured into the market in such large volume that the average of 20 leading industrial issues was lifted to the highest level on record.

Rails strutted forward with the industrials, but fell back later on the failure of the Southern Railway directors to increase the regular dividend on the common stock, which broke over three points to 103 3-4 and then rallied to 104 1-2.

Operators for the rise found plenty of reasons for bidding up their favorites. A further reduction in call money rates, testifying to the apparent plethora of funds available for stock market purposes, was widely recognized as an important influence on the probe movement.

The monthly tonnage report of the U. S. Steel Corporation showing a reduction of only 26,684 tons in unfilled orders last month, appears to have been well discounted by U. S. Steel common, which closed fractionally lower at 121 5-8. Ludlum Steel advanced over 3 points on publication of a favorable earnings report.

Steady accumulation of the equipments reflected the delayed appearance of railroad orders. American Locomotive closed 3 5-8 higher at 122 7-8. Baldwin showed a net gain of 3 points at 123 and Pullman recorded a similar gain at 145. American Brake Shoe soared over five points to a record high at 122 but lost over half of its gain.

Spirited bidding for the motor issues took place soon after the opening but profit taking was in evidence as the session closed. Studebaker advanced another two points to a record top at 54 1-4 on an enormous turnover, closing within a point of the top. General Motors was run up over 3 points to a new peak at 97 1-4 and Dodge Brothers preferred touched a new top at 87 1-2. Moon Motors jumped four points to a new high at 91. Reports of unusually large sales following recent price cuts stimulated the buying of these issues.

Mathieson Alkali was the feature of the chemical group, soaring six points to a new peak at 85 and closed within a small fraction of the top. Allied Chemical recorded an extreme advance of over 3 points at 106 1-2 also a new maximum.

Specialties again presented several points of strength. Railway Steel Spring soared nearly seven points to a new peak at 146 3-4 on a revival of rumors that the stock will be split up. Simmons Company advanced two points to a new high at 53 on reports of record breaking sales. Other outstanding strong spots included American Can, American Chicle, Brown Shoe, Burroughs Adding Machine, Case Threshing Machine, Federal Mining & Smelting preferred, Goodrich Rubber, Kelsey Wheel, National Distillers, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and U. S. Rubber, all up from 2 1-2 to 7 points.

Call money renewed at 4 3-4 per cent., dropped to 4 1-2 and thence to 4, closing at the low figure. Funds were reported to be available in the outside market as low as 2 1-2. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Reactionary tendencies predominated in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling yielded slightly to $4.48 3-4 and Italian lire dropped 6 points to around 4.11 cents, French francs held firm at 4.70 cents. Norwegian and Danish kroner each dropped about half a cent to around 21.74 and 24.67 cents, respectively. A sharp upturn of 13 points in Spanish pesetas to around 14.40 cents reflected reports of favorable developments in the Franco-Spanish offensive in Morocco.

GREENEVILLE

The Women's Guild of St. Andrew's Episcopal church resumed their meetings Thursday afternoon, having been adjourned since June. There was a very large attendance. The meeting was opened by president, Mrs. Fitch Bothcare, and reports of the treasurer and secretary were read and accepted. The supper committee will hold a public supper this month and on Wednesday, Sept. 16, all the members of the guild are expected to attend the special parish meeting.

Gustave Hedler of Terrace avenue is enjoying a few days vacation.

Anthony Chaplinsky of Norwich avenue has accepted a position with the No. 4 weaving department of the Ponemah company.

During the month of August, while the Taftville Congregational Church has been closed, the floors have been refinished.

Robert Graham of Christobal, Canal Zone, Panama, who is spending the summer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Emerson of Lisbon, and Albert Roy of South Second avenue, are enjoying a motor trip to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Eldridge have taken a house on North Fourth avenue.

Through an error it was stated in the Taftville column of The Bulletin that Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Senecal and family were to move to Westerly, R. I. The names should have read Mr. and Mrs. Albert Senecal.

Miss Steffa Gordon of Norwich avenue entertained a number of friends at her home Tuesday evening.

Oliver Lemieux of Providence street has resigned his position with the Ponemah company.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Woodworth who have been recent guests of Mrs. Woodworth's mother, Mrs. Sarah Charpentier and family of Providence street, have returned to their home in Windsor Locks.

Junius Greenwood of the Ponemah house and Arthur Newton of North A street have been on a fishing trip to Pachaug this week.

The fences in front of the mill houses on South Second avenue are being painted.

Edward T. Fenley of Providence, R. I. was a business caller in the village Thursday.

Some of the residents in the neighborhood of the Providence street grounds have complained that several times recently at a late hour they have been awakened by the yelling of cats on the ballgrounds, and in the morning they have discovered the dead bodies of animals. It is believed that a gang of boys are responsible for the killings, as the yells are accompanied by heavy thudding as though the animals are being struck with a heavy club or being dashed against the ground. Not only those who have lost their cats, nor those who have had their slumbers disturbed, but residents who desire to put an end to the cruelty have decided to take some action if the raids are continued.

Peter O'Neil has accepted a position in town and is staying at the Ponemah house.

Miss Mary Sotnik who has been spending several days this week with Mr. and Mrs. Basil Horosco of South B street has returned to her home in Central Falls, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gagne and family who recently moved here from Canada have taken a house on South B street.

This season has seen a great deal of building in the town especially on Norwich avenue, where a new garage and apartment has been erected for James Graham; a garage has been built and is now being used by Dieudonne Donais; and new houses are being built for John Thoma and Frank Lafleur.

Mrs. William Hassler and little daughter of Norwich avenue have been recent visitors at the home of relatives in Voluntown.

Miss Medora Lacroix has returned to her home in Moosup after a few days' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Langlois and family of South B street.

Electricians employed by the Ponemah company were busy Wednesday removing the strings of colored lights that hung across Providence street and North and South Second avenue during the reunion of the Pioneer Boys of Taftville.

Miss Laura Streaker Barger of Norwich avenue is in East Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Thurlow and family, former Taftville residents, have returned to their home in Newmarket, N. H., after a holiday visit with relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newsham of Terrace avenue are to move soon to a house on South C street.

Miss Jennie McSheffery has resumed her studies at St. Francis hospital training school after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McSheffery and family of South A street.

Mrs. James Ganey of Providence, R. I., has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Bridget Flynn and her sister, Miss Margaret Flynn of North B street.

James Malone of South B street has returned from a week's stay at Block Island, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Toussaint Brodeur and family of Merchant's avenue had as holiday guests, Mr. and Mrs. Napolean Beausoliel, Napoleon Beausoliel, Jr., and his daughter, Miss Lucille Beausoliel, Mr. and Mrs. Ozias Beausoliel and Mr. and Mrs. Hormidas Beausoliel, all of Central Falls, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lambert of Bristol, Conn., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Boque of Hunters avenue.

Mrs. Amede Pion of Hunters avenue is in New Bedford, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. James Broughton and their daughter, Miss Dorothy Broughton of Blissville Road have returned from Block Island, R. I., where they have been registered at the New Haven House.

Miss Louise Pion who has been the guest of her cousin, Miss Leah Pion of Hunters avenue has returned to her home in St. Hyacinthe, P. Q., Canada.

Mrs. Linus Dodge and Mrs. Wilbur Dodge of Block Island, R. I., are the guests of Mrs. Adam Leupold and family of Lisbon.

Emile Sweet, Miss Addie Sweet, Miss Louise Stubbs and Miss Mary Stubbs of Norwich avenue have returned from Newmarket, N. H., where they have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carter and family.

William Donahue and Arthur Edwards of Norwich avenue are enjoying a motor trip through New York state.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Gaucher of Dion street have returned from Indian Orchard, Mass., where they spent the holidays with Mr. Gaucher's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Alcide Duprey an dfamily.

Patrick Donahue of Norwich avenue, Henry Leupold of South B street, Robert Pilling of Providence street and Henry Seidel of Providence street are on a motor trip to the White Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Desmarais who have been the guests of Mr. Desmarais' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Stanislas E. Benac and family of Dion street, have returned to their home in Pawtucket, R. I.

NEW BISHOP SCHOOL ON MAIN ST., EAST SIDE

NEW BISHOP SCHOOL OPENS WITH REGISTRATION OF 250 ON EAST SIDE

The handsome new Bishop school on Main street, East Side opened its first term this week with a registration of over 250 children. The Bishop school which replaces the old, time worn school building on Main street, is the city's latest and most modern educational building. It is a credit to the city and fills a long felt need for additional room and better facilities for the education of the children in that section of the city.

Miss Lillian Brewster is the principal and teacher of the seventh grade. Other members of the teaching staff are: Miss Geraldine Enos, sixth grade; Miss Sarah Hyman, fifth grade; Miss Mary Tracy, fourth grade; Miss Mary E. Shields, third grade; Miss Gertrude Gallup, second grade; Miss Ida Lillibridge, first grade; Miss Anna Taft and Miss Laura Foley, kindergarten; Miss Ethel Odgers, teacher of special class.

The new school, named after the late N. L. Bishop, long superintendent in the old central district, is located on the northerly side of Main street, near the silk mill. It faces directly on the street and is set back some distance from the sidewalk, allowing room for an attractive lawn, which will be seeded down and rolled. Just to the left of the entrance is the school office. To the right of the entrance is the kindergarten room. A corridor running the entire length of trance, joins at right angles a large corridor running the entire length of the building. There are separate entrances for the boys and girls at each end of the corridor, and also separate stairways for the boys and girls leading upstairs from each end of the corridor. In addition to the school office and kindergarten there are located on the ground floor an opportunity class room and a large assembly room. There is an attractive open fire place in the kindergarten room, with plenty of closet room. The first grade room is also located on the ground flour. The remaining six grades are situated on the second floor.

All of the class rooms are large and airy and are well lighted by large windows of the latest type, the windows swinging out instead of sliding up and down and so constructed as to allow a maximum of light and sunshine to enter the rooms. On the second floor there is another large corridor running the length of the building and on the wall is a large roomy bookcase with glass doors. All of the class rooms are furnished with modern desks and blackboards.

In the basement is located a large community room for the people of the East Side and this will be used as the voting place for the people in that district. Two play rooms, one for the boys and one for the girls, are located in the basement, these to be used during stormy and exceptionally cold weather. There are also toilets, the boiler room and a special place for the storage of the school's supply of coal in the basement. Drinking fountains have been placed in each corridor and an electric clock bell system is soon to be installed in the building.

The appropriation of $100,000 was authorized a year ago at a town meeting and the construction of the school was started shortly afterwards.

ESCAPED PRISONERS HAD MADE THEIR OWN DRILLS

Michael J. (Lefty) McDonnell and Frank Land, who escaped from the state prison a week ago, cut their way out of cells with improvised drills which they made themselves, prison officials have found.

Land, whose alias is Anderson, is one of three men who snatched a tray of jewelry from Sanford's store on Main street in this city several years ago. He was serving a sentence at Wethersfield for that crime and for an attempt to escape from the Norwich jail.

A thorough search of all parts of the prison to which the two convicts possibly could have had access has revealed scattered pieces of the two drills and these, it is believed, eliminate the possibility of outside aid having been extended in the effecting of the escape.

Parole Agent Bradley said Thursday that the drilling by which the two men cut triangular shaped holes in the ceilings of their cells was done with twist drills which were used at the prison for fixing sewing machines. The two worked in the shirt shop where sewing machines are used. The drills were turned with improvised braces made out of bits of wire. Lead bearings from sewing machines also went into the construction of the drills and there were ferrules taken from either screw drivers or pipes. One of the drill handles was a discarded bottom of a stick of shaving soap and the other was a block of hard wood apparently seized when new floors were laid recently in the prison shops.

And the two prisoners had grease to quiet the action of the drill and the contact with the steel ceiling. Prison doctors at times issue boric acid ointment to inmates and it has been found that McDonnell and Land used some of this during their drilling. They also had some light green paint, the same kind that was used when the interior of the cells was recently painted. With this they coated pieces of tissue paper which were placed over the holes when bored, thus preventing guards during inspections from discovering the activity of the prospective fugitives.

The fact that the pieces of the drills were found scattered throughout the prison indicates that the men completed their drilling at least a day before they made their get-a-way through ventilators and then down the prison wall on improvised rope.

Prison officials have sent throughout the country circulars bearing descriptions of the two men and they are still diligently pressing the search throughout the east. Sergeant Ward of the Middletown police has notified the prison that two suspects had been seen in the woods near the trolley tracks in Westfield. An investigation did not disclose the two convicts but did lead to the discovery of several hobo camps in that section.

Tests show that autos skid less on clean, wet pavements than dry ones.

LIONS, WIT HROTARIONS, WILL GREET GOVERNOR

With President William A. Anderson in the chair, the regular weekly meeting of the Norwich lions club was held Thursday noon at the Wauregan hotel with the usual large attendance. Jean Kieffer was the song leader, and the meeting opened with the singing of America, after which grace was offered by C. Edward Carpenter. Next week the club is to meet jointly with the Rotary club to greet Governor John H. Trumbull on his visit to Norwich to attend the county fair on Thursday.

President Anderson appointed a committee of two to act with his as a committee to join with similar committee from local civic organizations to consider the advisibility of organizing a community chest for Norwich. The committee comprises President Anderson, Edward Carpenter and Louis Fontaine. The following were appointed a committee to act as an entertainment committee for the remainder of the club's fiscal year; George Madden, Edward Carpenter, Rudolph Henschel, Earl Taggert and Herbert Corey.

The monthly entertainment committee then took charge of the meeting. William O'Neil, for the committee, announced that the entertainment would consist of a four round bout, two minute rounds, between Frank Busch and Joe Gans. George Madden was referee and Tyler Stanton was timekeeper for the splendid boxing exhibition. The meeting closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner followed by the salute to the flag.

FAREWELL PARTY GIVEN MR. AND MRS. BELLEDEAU.

Thursday evening, neighbors on Second street, Norwich, with a number of friends from out of town, gave a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Belledeau, of 29 Second street, they are to leave Saturday for Bishop's Crossing, where they have bought a farm.

The house was attractively decorated, there was piano music, singing and dancing. Refreshments were served. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Belledeau were presented a handsome gift of cut glass, also a purse of money, with the best wishes of the company.

The neighbors present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Krzesicki, Mrs. Maud Moran and son James, Mr. and Mrs. John Crowe, Miss Margaret Crowe, Andrew LeBlanc, Miss Mary Crowe, Jean Rochette, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McClure, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thibault.

Out of town guests came from Lowell, Springfield, New Bedford, Mass., Plainfield, Jewett City and Taftville.

Mr. Belledeau has been employed at the plant of the United States Finishing Company.

DENIES $17,000 ASKED BY STORRS COLLEGE

The state board of control tabled a request on Wednesday for an appropriation of $17,000 by Pres. Charles M. Beach of Connecticut Agricultural College at Storrs for equipment for a storage building at the college. This leaves the college with a $35,000 building provided by the legislature of 1923 but with no equipment for it. It was assumed in 1923 that the general assembly of this year would provide for the building's equipment and President Beach made the regular application for the funds. It was said Wednesday that the committee on appropriations at the recent session of the legislature had failed to make the equipment appropriation through an oversight.

COUNTY W. T. C. U. IS PLANNING FOR CONVENTION

An elaborate program has been planned for the New London county convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union to be held in New London at the Huntington Street Baptist church on September 22. One of the national organizers, Mrs. Woodford of Iowa, is to be the featured speaker. Two other speakers are to be Mrs. Hettie Newton of Durham, state president, and Mrs. Marguerite Goodale, also of Durham, state superintendent of children's work, is to speak on her branch of activity.

ACADEMY ENTERING CLASS LARGEST IN HISTORY

The entering class at the Norwich Free Academy is the largest that the school has ever had and although the complete enrollment has not been itemized yet, it is stated that it will be about 280.

Short sessions have been held for the first few days this week, according to the usual practice, until the schedule of classes can be made up.

SENATOR BINGHAM WILL BE GUEST AT LYME

Senator Hiram Bingham will be the guest of Robert Vonnoh at his studio in Pleasant Valley, Lyme, on Sept. 19, from 4 to 6. He has consented to speak both on art and other matters.

All those who care to attend will be welcome as the gathering is for the general public.

Returned to New Jersey

Mrs. Louisa Miner of New Brunswick, N. J., who has been spending the past five weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Miner of 57 Eleventh street, has returned to her home. Mrs. Miner accompanied her to New Brunswick, where she will spend two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer G. Grodorzke.

NORWICH TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Tague, of McClellan avenue, returned recently from a delightful automobile trip, accompanying friends, who took them as far as Niagara Falls. Beautiful scenery, fine weather, and good roads all along the way, added greatly to the pleasure and confort of the tourists.

Leaving their home in Norwich Town Sunday morning August 30th, Mr. and Mrs. Tague and friends went by way of Springfield, Mass., over the Mohawk Trail by way of Mount Town, into Bennington, Vermont. From there they traveled by way of Plattsburg, N. Y., following Lake Champlain as far as Keeseville, N. Y., thence on to Montreal. At the Canadian city a visit was made to the famous Notre Dame Cathedral, then on to Labonia, passing over the Victoria bridge, which is one and one-quarter miles long. After crossing the St. Lawrence by way of Carinel and Belleville, Canada, to Gurnsey, the party reached Niagara the following Friday morning. They took the trip through the rapids in the boat, Maid of the Mist. The beauty of the Falls was wonderful and the party also pronounce the trip through the rapids most exciting, as well as interesting.

When leaving the falls on the homeward journey the party proceeded to Oneida, N. Y., thence by way of Albany, Pittsfield, Mass., again passing over the Mohawk Trail by Jacob's Ladder, to Westfield, Springfield, and home to Norwich after an absence of eight days. During the trip 1,680 miles were covered, without experiencing any car trouble.

Having discontinued meetings during the summer, the September meeting Monday afternoon next of Honie Chapter of the King's Daughters, to be held at the Johnson Home, will open the seasons activities for the chapter, meetings to be held each month thereafter. The leader, Mrs. William E. Manning will preside at the meeting on Monday.

Miss Ida Beebe, has returned to her home on East Town street, after passing the summer at Learned's Hotel, Quonochontaug Beach, R. I.

POETRY

To a Maiden

I'd like to be an artist
So I could paint in oil
A pretty scene of pastures green
And life without turmoil.

For background I would paint a sky
That never knew a cloud,
A hill or two I think would do
To hold this ceiling proud.

For detail in my peiture
I'd paint ni nature's green
A hedge, perhaps a bush and tree
To grace a summer scene.

And then within the foreground,
To more reveal my plan,
I'd paint in nature's green
Just put there by a man.

To balance this addition
A house is just the thing
A place to stay at close of day
Where folks can sit and sing.

Now the painting's nearly done,
And underneath the tree,
A pretty maid sits in the shade,
A happy maid is she.

And if you wait, my little one,
You'll find when I am through
That love and art have done their part,
And made that maiden you.

The Pines

Throughout the soft and sunlit day
The bemoned pines in strict array
Stand grim and silent, gaunt and gray.

But when the blasts of winter keen
They whisper each to each and lean,
Like comrades with a bond between.

And seing them depart them so,
One almost thinks they seek to show
How morta-like mere trees may grow.

For men, in peace time, stand aloof,
One from the other, asking proof
Of lineage and race and roof.

But let the blast of battle call.—
Lo! they're unquestioning comrades all,
Who side by side will stand or fall

Three Generations of Women

Since the humble origin of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in 1841 made on a kitchen stove, three generations of women have used this old-fashioned root and herb remedy for their ailments with wonderful success. Very often we hear of families where the grandmother, mother and daughter testify to its virtue. This accounts for the astounding growth and demand for this dependable medicine from all over the United States and from many foreign countries as well.

STATEMENT BY COMMANDER OF THE SEAPLANE PN-9 NO.1

Reticent on His Own Part in the Adventure, He Praised the Fortitude of His Comrades—Says Plight of the Plane Probably Was Due to a Misunderstanding of Radio Signals—Radio Operator Stantz Was the Greatest Sufferer—Commander Rodgers Has Been Promoted to the Post of Assistant Chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics.

(By Commander John Rodgers, U. S. N., Commander Seaplane PN-9, No. 1.)

HONOLULU, Sept. 11.—(By The A. P.)—For the benefit of the interested public, I desire to make at this time a definite statement of facts in regard to the voyage of the PN-9, No. 1, from San Francisco to Nawiliwili. Other statements heretofore published by the press are unauthorized by me.

The PN-9, No. 1, and No. 2 left San Francisco approximately at the same time on August 31, No. 2 leading by about twenty minutes. The PN-9, No. 3, was not sighted by No. 1, after departure, plane PN-9, No. 1, proceeded as per instructions, sailing on a straight course to Kahului.

The wind out of San Francisco was very light from the northwest, gradually hauling to the north. The navigation was done entirely by dead reckoning, no attention being paid to radio bearings. We flew between two and four hundred feet below the clouds the night, the sky being thickly overcast and all destroyers were picked up as expected at a distance easily visible from the PN-9, while at the same time the plane was easily visible from the destroyers.

The engine worked perfectly and there were no signs of leaks or any other trouble. The wind changed to northeast as expected about six hundred miles from San Francisco but was much lighter than had been hoped for. In the morning it became evident that the gasoline supply was running short and it would be doubtful if we could reach Kahului due to the fact that expected favorable winds were not encountered. About noon we decided that our gasoline supply would carry us about midway between the Aroostook and the Tangle respectively, the next to the last and the last station ship. I therefore decided to land at the Aroostook which is a fully equipped airplane tender.

Gasoline Gave Out.

We still had plenty of gasoline to land, refuel and take off again for Honolulu. This was in accordance with the pre-arranged plans to meet the situation with which we were faced on approaching the Aroostook. We received radio bearings from her indicating that we were south of her and that on reaching a point where I thought she should be visible and not being able to see her, we changed our course to approach on these bearings. It became evident that she would not be for a on this course. I started to write a message which would give her some clue to our whereabouts but just then the gasoline gave out. Both engines were cut out simultaneously and we started to glide from about 900 feet.

Lieutenant Connell, who had the contacts, made a beautiful landing in the heavy swells, both engines being dead, having no power.

Due to total expenditure on gasoline we could not use radio and were therefore out of communication at twilight. I determined our position to be fifty miles north of the Aroostook's station, we rigged a radio antenna on the plane and received without much difficulty everything that was in the air. We sailed before the wind, endeavoring to work the plane in toward the Hawaiian Island, hoping to make Oahu. We made fifty miles a day, that is, an average of two miles an hour although the plane appeared to be making much better speed.

Water the Only Concern.

We cut the fabric from the lower wing and rigged a foresale. Weather conditions were moderate although during the afternoon the seas were high. The plane at all times behaved very well. After the first day we felt sure that unless the weather changed very much for the worse we could make Oahu or, failing that we would certainly be able to make Kauai. Our only concern was a question of water supply. We knew we could get along without food of which we had small emergency rations. We were depending on a small water still for water.

This supplied water but the plane still required gasoline as fuel. We managed to get the still going on the sixth day by burning wood from the trailing edges of the lower wings. On the seventh day we made a canteen and a half of water in about five hours. The water in the radiators of the engines was undrinkable due to being impregnated with a patent solution to prevent leaks. We managed to make our small original supply of water, about two canteens a man, stretch over seven days. On the eighth day a heavy rain squall passed over us and we caught about two gallons in the fabric which had been cut from the lower wings. This enabled us to survive and consequently we were in very good condition when we arrived off Nawiliwili.

COMMANDER PRAISED FORTITUDE OF COMRADES

LIHUE, Island of Kauai, Sept. 11.—(By The A. P.)—Commander John Rodgers, in statements to brother officers and friends, after breakfast this morning, gave an account of what happened the fateful Tuesday when his plane was forced down in the Pacific.

In all his commental Commander Rodgers praised highly the fortitude of his comrades, referring to his own activities with extreme modesty.

He said the fact that the plane was lost after it had landed probably was due to a misunderstanding of radio signals from the aircraft tender Aroostock, then stationed 300 miles north of Lahaina.

Radio Operator Stantz probably suffered most. He was near the point of exhaustion on various occasions. Though he stuck to his post heroically he suffered not only from lack of food and water, but was greatly nauseated by the sea. Every movement he made became torture.

"The other men came through in fairly good condition," said Commander Rodgers.

Lieutenant Byron J. Connell, of Pittsburgh, assistant pilot, stood the strain well, but today seemed the most nervous of the five men, probably suffering from the extreme tension of the past nine days.

Commander Rodgers and Lieutenant Connell were more concerned today about the condition of their ship than anything else. They were particularly anxious over plans for towing the seaplane to Pearl harbor. Lieut. Connell desires to accompany the plane to the navy base, but his physician has forbidden him to make such a trip.

NO OFFICIAL LOG KEPT UP SEAPLANE PN-9 NO. 1. FLIGHT

LIHUE, Island of Kauai, Sept. 11.—(AP)—No official log of the flight of the PN-9, No. 1, toward Hawaii was kept, members of the crew stated today in response to requests of newspaper for copies of the record.

Commander John Rodgers, that the newspapers might have the official story, promised the reporters a statement later covering events on the now historic cruise.

COMMANDER RODGERS HAS BEEN PROMOTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Promotion to the post of asistant chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics was given to Commander John Rodgers today with the department's congratulations on his rescue with the crew of the seaplane PN-9, No. 1.

When he has recovered from the effects of exposure aboard the little craft while it drifted for nine days off Hawaii, the commander will report to Washington to assume his new duties. He probably will make the trip aboard the flagship of the battle fleet, now at Hawaii for a fortnight's stay.

The navy's joy over the rescue of the intrepid flyers was expressed by Secretary Wilbur today in announcing selection of Commander Rodgers to succeed Captain Alfred W. Johnson as assistant to Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics. Captain Johnson has requested sea duty.

"We are overjoyed that the gallant officers and crew have been saved," the secretary said. Admiral Eberle, chief of naval operations, and Admiral Moffett, who had waved farewell to the ship when it left San Francisco, joined in the expression.

Rescue of the PN-9, No. 1, and her crew also revived the project for a flight from the Pacific coast to Hawaii by the PB-1, which was unable to make the start with the PN-9 No. 1, and the PN-9 No. 3, which was forced down soon after the start. The PB-1 probably will take the air for Honolulu soon after September 21, at the conclusion of the equnoxial storm period in the Pacific.

Captain Stanford E. Moses, at San Francisco commander of the PB-1 project, advised the secretary today that the plane was almost ready for the venture and would await good weather. On two recent tests, he reported, PN-3 No. 1 left the water with a load of 1,900 gallons of gasoline, 715 gallons more than the unlucky PN-9 No. 1 carried.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE CONFERRED WITH CABINET

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—President Coolidge thrashed over government problems for two hours today with his cabinet, most of the time being devoted to consideration of routine business. It was the first meeting of the cabinet since June.

Disregarding the intense heat, which was the more noticeable to the executive because of the cool weather he has enjoyed at Swampscott, Mass., the president spent a busy day at his desk.

Secretary Wilbur and Acting Secretary Davis of the war department remained after the cabinet session this morning, presumably to discuss among other things the charges of Colonel William Mitchell against the aviation policies of the army and navy.

No consideration was given at the cabinet meeting to the suspension of activities in the anthracite fields, on which Secretary Davis of the labor department, is preparing a report.

Silas Strawn of Chicago, who will represent this nation in the Chinese conferences to be held soon, and Lauritz S. Swenson, minister to Norway, called on the president earlier in the day and Mr. Coolidge also shook hands, as is his custom, with a number of visitors before going to lunch.

THEATRE MEN WILL NOT EMBARRASS OFFICIALS

HARTFORD, Sept. 11.—(A. P.)—The theatre men of the state will not take any steps which might embarrass the officials who are enforcing the motion picture tax and censorship law, Joseph W. Walsh, president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners' association said today. In a statement which reviews the progress of the law since its adoption, he says that so long as the law remains on the statute books the theatre owners will continue to co-operate with the state tax officials.

ALBUQUERQUE EDITOR BOUND OVER FOR MURDER

EAST LOS VEGAS, N. M., Sept. 11.—Carl C. Magee, Albuquerque editor, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned before a justice of the peace on a charge of murder in connection with the killing of John B. Lassetter here the night of August 21. He was bound over to await action of the grand jury under bond of $10,000.

Lassetter was shot and killed in the Meadows Hotel here during an altercation between Magee and Former District Judge D. J. Leahy.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Discredits Suicide Theory

PARIS, Sept. 11—The American who died here yesterday has been identified at Charles Cartland of Dover, N. H. The American consulate discredits the police theory that the man committed suicide and an investigation to determine the cause of the death has been started. The body probably will be sent to the United States. The death was first reported as that of Charles Cartelund, said to have been born in Dover, Del., in 1888.

HYDROPLANE CRASHED IN CREEK AT BRIDGEPORT

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 11—Residents of the lower East Side, Carroll avenue and vicinity, were treated to a novel "thrill" when a Curtiss hydroplane with wheel equipment for shore landing crashed into Johnson's Creek late this afternoon.

Neither of the men aboard the craft, Arthur L. Caperton, of Garden City, L. I., the pilot or Irving C. Leets, of New York, was injured although the plane was extensively damaged. Motor trouble was given as the cause of the forced landing.

Wednesday evening the same plane was forced to descend seven miles east of Watch Hill point, near New London, because of a leaky radiator. The plane was sighted by patrol boat 230. The men were unable to give a satisfactory account of themselves and were detained and taken to New London where they were held pending an investigation. It was thought that the plane had been acting as scout for several rum runners that are hovering off Block Island. However, nothing against them was proved and they were released this morning after spending the night aboard the destroyer Jouett.

To avoid hitting a small power boat moored near the end of the East End Yacht club pier, Caperton was forced to "dip" his right wing which, owing to the shallowness of the water, caught in the mud and was crumbled. The force of the impact spun the craft around and grounded the other wing.

The plane will be salvaged and forwarded to Mineola field by truck where it will be repaired, according to arrangements made tonight.

TO ERECT MEMORIAL FOR WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—A permanent organization headed by Josephus Daniels, former secretary of navy, as president, was formed here today to work for the erection of a memorial in Washington to the late William Jennings Bryan.

Other officers chosen were H. W. Thompson of Illinois; John Skelton Williams of Virginia, and Raymond Robbins of this city, vice presidents; P. B. Callahan of Louisville, Ky., secretary; and Millard F. Dunlop of Illinois, treasurer.

Additional vice presidents will be named later.

No official name was selected for the organization, nor was action taken as to the form of the memorial. Suggestions received to date include a great peace building to be built with money to be donated by voters in the 1926 election when the commonwed made his first campaign for the presidency; a reproduction of the ancient Pantheon, an imposing marble arch, or a cross of granite.

The association will meet in executive session tomorrow to consider further plans to raise funds for the memorial. It was agreed today that the money should be donated in small amounts.

MASSACHUSETTS DEPT OF AMERICAN LEGION

BOSTON, Sept. 11—Congressman Louis A. Frothingham, republican criticised the government's air program and Congressman William F. Connery, democrat, criticised the senate in addresses before the annual convention of the Massachusetts department of the American Legion today. Congressman Frothingham asserted that there was a crying need for a better air defense.

"We must build a better and faster Shenandoah," he said. "There is no question but if the ship could have developed more speed it could have got away from the storm and saved these fourteen lives."

Congressman Connery declared that "the service men of the United States do not want any more nonsense from the United States senate. There was a bill in the last congress in behalf of the disabled service men. It was passed unanimously by the house. I went to the senate and was defeated."

"You are the men who can put it across. Ferret out the propaganda circulated by various interests in the senate against the veterans and then go out and lick them."

$75,000 SUIT AGAINST THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH CO.

BOSTON, Sept. 11—A suit seeking $75,000 damages from the Postal Telegraph company was filed in Suffolk superior court today by Samuel Rogers of the Roxbury district who charged that his home was broken up when his wife and child read a telegram delivered at his home in March by the defendant company. The message which the plaintiff said was "sent unlawfully without the request of any sender," said:

"Don't phone Roxbury. Are you still here? Come see me, need some money. Rose."

The plaintiff alleged that he was humiliated and disgraced and that a libel was maliciously published by the defendant company. He charged that the company was negligent, that the telegram was sent without authority, was not signed by any third person and was not written on one of the usual blanks, and that the company had not exercised reasonable care and diligence to prevent its being made the means of perpetrating a fraud.

ATTENDANCE OF 20,000 AT THE STATE FAIR YESTERDAY

HARTFORD, Sept. 11—The state fair at Charter Oak park today, the fifth day, attracted an attendance of 20,000, the second largest of the week. The principal feature was the horse show in which carriage horses, jumpers and polo ponies were exhibited and judged for prizes. There was also auto polo on the track, a vaudeville performance, band concert and other attractive features and fireworks at night.

Tomorrow will wind up the fair. Included in the program are automobile races, auto polo, exhibitions of cattle, swine and poultry and various athletic events on the track. In the evening there will be a mardi gras and vaudeville entertainment, band concerts and a big fireworks display.

Some heads are made to carry brains, while others merely serve as hat racks.

Physician Blamed For Liberty of Noel

Resignation of Dr. Thompson of Overbrook Insane Asylum Has Been Requested.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Responsibility for the escape of Harrison W. Noel, confessed murderer and kidnapper, from the Overbrook Insane Asylum, was placed upon Dr. John W. Thompson, senior resident physician of the institution in a resolution adopted here today by the Essex county board of freeholders. The board asked for Dr. Thompson's immediate resignation.

The board's decision was made known after a three hour session of the hospital committee.

Chairman Hines offered a resolution that the committee's findings be accepted and that it be ordered to secure immediate resignation from the physician. The motion was passed unanimously.

The latest move on the part of the Essex county authorities to clean up conditions that permitted the slaying of six year old Mary Daly of Montclair and Raymond Pierce, negro chauffeur, came following an announcement by Assistant Prosecutor D'Alois that arrangement and pleading of Noel to charges contained in indictments returned by the grand jury Thursday would be rushed so there might be early trial of the case.

It also became known today that the state, in its effort to prevent a plea of insanity saving Noel from the electric chair has engaged another alienist Dr. Leroy G. Kirkman, to make an examination of the youth tomorrow at the jail. This will be the second test applied to Noel, who was examined Thursday at the court house by Dr. Walter S. Washington. No announcement as to the findings were made public.

Meanwhile, as the state has been engaged in marshalling its case against Noel, the father of the youth has gone forward with plans to defend him.

The father's act in removing the boy from the Overbrook institution is now believed will provide the opening for legislation imposing more strict regulations on the confinement of lunatics in state or county asylums.

The opening gun in the fight was fired at the meeting on the hospital committee of the Essex county board of freeholders today, when articles were incorporated in the restution for Dr. Thompson's resignatin, asking that the office at the head of the lunatic asylums be given the right to apprehend persons known to be dangerously insane. It has been that he was without power to order Noel's return to the institution following his escape.

CIVIL ENGINEER HAS ACCEPTED FOREMAN'S JOB

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The pick and shovel has been dodged by Francis R. Atkinson, civil engineer who recently resigned his state job in charge of the Wrentham-Plainville road construction work because he could make more money as a laborer at 65 cents an hour than his state salary of $1,800 a year.

Atkinson, it was learned today, has obtained a position with a Rhode Island construction company as a foreman and he said that while his responsibilities would be less his salary would be considerably more.

Gov. Fuller, upon hearing of Atkinson's resignation, has taken steps to inquire into the matter of salaries paid and that his hours was broken up when his wife and child read a telegram delivered at his home in March by the defendant company. The message which the plaintiff said was "sent unlawfully without the request of any sender," said:

"Don't phone Roxbury. Are you still here? Come see me, need some money. Rose."

The plaintiff alleged that he was humiliated and disgraced and that a libel was maliciously published by the defendant company. He charged that the company was negligent, that the telegram was sent without authority, was not signed by any third person and was not written on one of the usual blanks, and that the company had not exercised reasonable care and diligence to prevent its being made the means of perpetrating a fraud.

FIRE CAUSED CONFUSION IN CENTER OF HARTFORD

HARTFORD, Sept. 11—A fire in the basement of a five story brick tenement house at 24 Allyn street, the damage from which was estimated at $1,500, caused considerable confusion in the centre of the city early this afternoon, when Box 212 at the corner of Church and Trumbull streets was pulled which brought the apparatus a block too far to the north and necessitated a great deal of backing and turning before the scene of the fire could be reached.

The fire started in a storage basement behind Carroll's employment agency. Mr. Carroll himself having turned in the alarm when he saw the smoke.

BRICK AND CLAY WORKERS TO OPERATE BRICKYARD

NEW BRITAIN, Sept. 12.—(AP)—W. C. Pratt, international vice president of the Brick and Clay workers, said this afternoon, that the Union expected to take over a New Britain brickyard tomorrow for operation. He said that $2,000 had been pledged toward its operating expenses.

The plant which is to be taken over recently went into the hands of a receiver, he said.

Conoley and Turinton's plant was understood to be the only one in the hands of a receiver at present. They denied that the union was to operate it.

A Passing Panorama

In the quiet and comfort of your home, newspaper in hand, the shop windows of the town's best stores pass in review. Look at that charming little hat—just the style you have been looking for, and so reasonable!

And say, isn't that coat a darling?... Not only do you see illustrations of the merchandise but you are told in detail of its merits and prices. A passing panorama that may be halted and started and halted at will. A shopping trip at home!

How long do you suppose it would take you to reverse the process—to go up one street and down another, until you had visited personally every worthwhile store in town? The Bulletin advertisements make this unnecessary. Study them daily and carefully.

CLOSE OF CONVENTIEON OF THE CONN. F. OF L.

NEW BRITAIN, Sept. 11—Disposing of a large amount of unfinished business in short order late today, the 44th annual convention of the Connecticut Federation of Labor closed its four-day session here without the necessity of an evening session.

Several resolutions which evoked considerable and vigorous arguments occupied the major portion of the day. The resolution asking for the endorsement of a labor party was almost unanimously defeated. The resolution committee brought in an unfavorable report on the resolution and President Patrick J. O'Meara made a speech in which he denounced it. Three resolutions approved were the one asking for approval of the Labor News published in New Haven, that the federation start its own insurance company and that the federation lend its support to the motion picture operators in the fight against the state movie tax law.

A resolution containing a tribute to the memories of Samuel Gompers, Robert LaFollette, and Patrick Ginty, was passed.

The president and secretary of the federation will be allowed to censure all news that is printed in the labor paper, it was decided before the convention voted to indorse the Labor News.

I. M. Ornburn, of the Ornburn Press Inc., publishers of the paper, during the argument on whether to support it or not, offered to make the federation a present of the paper.

Nothing was brought out as to what course the federation would take in supporting the operators in the movie tax fight.

$30,000 FIRE AT CONNECTICUT HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE

MIDDLETOWN, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The Connecticut hospital for the insane was threatened this afternoon by a fire that destroyed four out-buildings and did $30,000 damages. The fire started in a hay and grain barn and soon spread to three other buildings used for storing hay, grain and farming implements. A strong western wind kept the flames away from the main building which the patients were ready to leave on short notice.

The firemen, hampered the first half hour by low water pressure worked for three hours before getting the flames under control. The origin of the fire has not been determined, but officials here believe that it started from spontaneous combustion in the hay mow or was started by some one on the place. Dr. Roy L. Leag, superintendent of the hospital, started an investigation immediately. He expects to check up on movements of patients employed about the building during the afternoon.

It was the second fire at the hospital in less than a week, a blaze in the laundry Sunday doing some damage.

APPOINTED TREASURER OF EPISCOPAL DIOCESE

HARTFORD, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Charles A. Pease, of 720 Prospect avenue, has been appointed treasurer of the Episcopal Diocese of Connecticut by Right Reverend Chauncey B. Brewster, bishop of the diocese, to fill the vacancy left by the death of John H. Sage, of Portland, several weeks ago. The treasurer of the diocese is regularly elected at the annual convention but the bishop has to fill vacancies until the next meeting of the convention which will be held in May 1926.

REPORT ON COL. MITCHELL SENT TO THE WAR DEP'T

Forwarded by Major General Ernest Hinds, Commander of the Eighth Corps Area—President Coolidge Will Not Personally Intervene Until the Inquiry by the War Department Has Been Completed.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 11.—(A. P.)—Major General Ernest Hinds, commander of the Eighth Corps Area, speaking through Colonel J. F. Preston, his chief of staff, said today that a report regarding Col. William Mitchell has been forwarded to the war department. Col. Preston, although pressed, refused to state the nature of the communication.

COOLIDGE TO AWAIT THE COMPLETION OF INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(A. P.)—President Coolidge expects to await developments in the war department's investigation of aircraft charges made by Col. William Mitchell at San Antonio, and not personally intervene until the inquiry now under way is completed.

The president has been informed that the facts are to be established by the war department, and it is his understanding that when the inquiry is concluded such action will be taken as is required by army regulations.

COL. NUGENT ORDERED TO REMAIN IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(A. P.)—Colonel George A. Nugent, assigned by the inspector general of the army to investigate the aviation charges of Col. William Mitchell, has been ordered to remain in Washington pending arrival of a report which is now in its way from Major General Ernest Hinds, commanding the Eighth Corps Area at San Antono.

ADMIRAL MOFFETT DEFENDS THE NAVAL AIR SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(A. P.)—The navy's air service administration was defended today in a statement by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of its bureau of aeronautics, while the war department awaited a report from Major General Ernest Hinds, Eighth Corps Area commander at San Antonio, concerning the recent criticism by Colonel William Mitchell.

Without mentioning the name of Colonel Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service, Admiral Moffett branded recent charges against the naval air service as "false and a slander on its personnel." He stands ready, he said, to "disprove these charges by testimony under oath."

With the situation brought about by Colonel Mitchell's broadside against the two air services moving through regular war department channels, President Coolidge expects to await developments without personally intervening. The president has been advised of the steps taken by the war department to establish the facts in the case, and he understands that the proper action will follow.

General Hinds has forwarded his report to Washington and its examination here is expected to develop the next phase of the situation. Information that the report was en route served to halt the proposed trip to Texas of Colonel George A. Nugent, assigned to investigate the charges made by Colonel Mitchell.

The statement had a bearing on some of the charges made by Colonel William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service, but did not mention the colonel's name. It follows:

"Now that we have buried the Shenandoah's dead and Commander Rodgers and his men have been found, I wish to go on record by saying that charges recently made against the navy and its administration of naval aviation are false and a slander on its personnel.

"I am ready to disprove these charges by testimony under oath. It is no longer a question as to aviation and the best weapon for national defense, but whether truth, honor, loyalty and respect for constituted legal authority shall prevail."

COMMITTED TO REFORMATORY FOR THEFT OF RACING YACHT

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 11—John and Raymond Stone, both 18, of Greenport, L. I., were committed to the state reformatory by Judge George E. Hinman, presiding at the criminal session of superior court here today. On July 11, they stole A. P. Schalk's racing sloop, "Little Hope" at Southport. They were caught over at Long Island and the condition of the boat, valued at $2,500 showed that the two knew little of boat management or navigation.

Isadore Friedman, 17, of this city, was also committed to the reformatory for stealing an automobile in this city last month.

Because of his mental and moral limitations, John Hendricks, 40, of this city was committed to jail for one year, after pleading guilty to a statutory offense against a 13 year old girl.

Jacques Lazarus, 29, who lives at 1690 Bryant avenue, New York city, pleaded guilty to attempting to obtain money under false pretenses, and was given three months in jail. Lazarus explained that he found a check in a street gutter in New York city, made out to one Mr. Clifford by the Bridgeport Hardware Manufacturing corporation for $250, payable at the Bridgeport Trust company. He said that he came to this city, went to the trust company to get it cashed, and was told to bring in someone who could identify him. Instead he went to a Main street store, and while the owner of the store was at the telephone to inquire at the trust company if the check was all right, he ran out but was later apprehended.

CHARGES AGAINST COUNSEL OF OLYMPIA MACRI

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 11.—(A. P.)—The "presentment of charges" promised against Joseph Koletsky, defense counsel in the Olympia Macri murder trial by Arnon A. Alling, state's attorney, for conduct in the court room immediately after the jury brought in its disagreement, has been filed with the clerk of the superior court.

A return of the charges has been ordered for September 30, after which Mr. Koletsky has 20 days to answer it.

The chief basis of the charge is an alleged scene in the jury room which Mr. Alling describes as follows:

"That immediately thereafter and in the presence of the jurymen and others present, and in a loud tone of voice, the respondent did upbraid and attempt to humiliate said Irving A. Andrews, Esquire, point his finger at him and addressing him in substance in these or like words among others as follows:

'My, how could you do such a thing; a won't shake hands with you; the blood of this girl is on your hands and on yours alone the rest of your living days and she won't live a week now, either. I am ashamed of you and you ought to be ashamed of yourself; you have killed the girl and killed my wife and their blood is on your head.'"

Mr. Andrews was the juror who stood out against the other eleven for conviction.

Mr. Koletsky said tonight that he was happy that the charge had been brought, and that he would answer it shortly.

TOBACCO SHEDS TOTALLY DESTROYED BY FIRE

THOMPSONVILLE, Sept. 11.—(A. P.)—A fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, totally destroyed the tobacco sheds, containing three and one-half acres of this season's crop, on the property of Adolph Koski, formerly known as the Thomas Caldwell farm, two miles east of Thompsonville, late tonight.

A street car motorman, who discovered the blaze, extinguished a second fire in another shed, started in a pile of laths which were found to be oil soaked. A receptacle containing oil also was found nearby.

BROOKLYN MAN KILLED AT CROSSING IN SAYBROOK

SAYBROOK, Sept. 11.—(A. P.)—Nicholas Rotunda, of 250 Highlawn avenue, Brooklyn, was killed here early tonight when a New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad train crashed into a car in which he was riding and which had become stalled on the crossing here. The two others in the car escaped without injury.

Rotunda, Walter Galligan, of New Haven, and Henry Osterhois, of 3027 First avenue, New York city, all students at Fordham university, and Ethel Lind, of Boston, were en route from Galligan's home in New Haven to Old Lyme, where the boys were to form part of an orchestra which was to play at a dance.

Galligan, is said to have driven the car through the gates which had been lowered by the gate tender. He, Osterheis and Miss Lind got out of the car, but in some manner Rotunda was caught and hit by the train which had been approaching as the car crashed through the protecting gates and stalled.

Galligan was arrested on a charge of reckless driving and released on $2,000 bonds furnished by his father. He will have a hearing Monday at Middletown.

Miss Lind, who is a student at Northfield seminary at Northfield, Mass., has been visiting her aunt, in New Haven.

Rotunda and Osterheis had been visiting at New Haven.

JEWETT CITY

Officer Henry Veglard is asking that attention be called to parking regulations, which automobile drivers are disregarding. Particularly stopping on the left of the road, leaving engines running while the automobile is not in motion, and disregarding the street parking signs. The sign in front of the post office apparently means nothing to a number of people, as during the day when no officer is on duty, automobiles may be seen parked directly in front of the sign, few pay any attention to the limit.

Charles Butta, night watchman at Aspinook Blenchery, stated that Thursday night was the hottest he has experienced this summer. At no time was the temperature below seventy.

UNCASVILLE

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Starr at Jerome Place. The members read the history of the founding of the World W. C. T. U. convention recently held in Edinburgh, Scotland. There were read also the accounts given at this convention by delegates from Esthonia Switzerland, Germany, South Africa, Sweden, Ulster Ireland, England, China, Norway, Belgium, Finland, Canada, Japan, Australia, Austria, Irish Free State and Denmark who told in brief of the activity of this international organization in their own country. Such accounts create and stimulate members' interest in the welfare of other nations as well as the United States. Several members brought aprons for the W. C. T. U. booth at the Norwich Fair. The local president will assist the country superintendent of fair work in the W. C. T. U. booth during the fair.

This week Kitemaug orchard is a very popular place. Elberta peaches and McIntosh apples are proving to be a great attraction to motorists.

"The price must be cut to $595 but I want every one of these new features included!"

John N. Willys
President, Willys-Overland, Inc.

Such was the President's order. RESULT? A new-day automobile. A light-car classic. A car-of-morrow at a price unbelievable until today. A full-size 5-passenger Sedan, with sliding-gear transmission, for less than $600—for the first time in history!

Here are the high-spots. Consider them. Check them, point for point, with any car you know that sells anywhere near this price range. Then ask yourself—"In what other light-car can I hope for anything even approximating this phenomenal $595 value?"

. . . a full-size, 5-passenger Sedan with room and to spare for 5 regular people to ride in . . . a smartly-designed car, clean-cut, rakish, low, extraordinarily good-looking!. . body finished in polished lacquer, rich deep blue with glistening jet-black trimmings, as handsome a light automobile as anybody ever looked at.

. . . a 27-horsepower engine, sturdy, fast, reliable, powerful. A noble hill-climber. A quieter engine because it has fewer working parts. 20-to-25 miles to the gallon, often more—light on oil—hundreds of Overland owners report as high as 15,000 miles without a dollar spent for engine up-keep!

Three-speed, selective sliding-gear transmission*—at the lowest price ever available in a Sedan! Borg and Beck disc-type clutch—one of the finest clutches made and used in many of the highest priced cars in this country; Auto-Lite starting, lighting and ignition—again, standard big-car equipment; a rear axle system the equal in size and weight to that used in cars carrying double the weight of this one; Axle shafts of Molybdenum steel, the toughest steel known. In the entire three years in which Overland has used this axle system there is *no case on record where an axle shaft has ever been broken!

Chassis*—a strong, rigid frame with plenty of bracing; springs of Chrome Vanadium steel, the finest and strongest spring steel known to engineering—in this new-day car every leaf in each spring is genuine Chrome Vanadium, exactly the same material you will find in the world's finest automobiles!

Compare this $595 Overland masterpiece with any other light-car on today's market. We challenge any owner in America to point out wherein it can be duplicated for quality or for up-to-the-minute equipment, or for dollar-for-dollar value.

Step in and see this car. Stand beside it, note the beauty of it. Examine it from stem to stern—observe the completeness of it. Ride in it—know the comfort of it. Drive it yourself—feel the ease of it, the power in it.

Easy Terms. Only a small amount down. 52 weeks for the balance. Trade in your present car as part payment.

Extra big doors
—extra wide, easy entrance and exit to both front and rear seats. Each door has four heavy hinges—treat them as roughly as you like, they are built to stand punishment!

Wider front seats —the widest of any light car built! Now single-piece, undivided front seat, 59 inches wide, 19 inches deep.

Wider back seat
—65 inches wide, 18 inches deep. You know what such ample seating capacity means to the comfort and pleasure of your passengers.

Big, wide windows more than 20 square feet of window space—all the air and all the broad, uninterrupted vision of a touring car with closed-car protection, closed-car snugness, closed-car warmth and comfort whenever you want it!

Latest one-piece windshield —especially valuable in night-driving. Gives clear, unobstructed vision. More easily adjusted—you don't have to fuss with it. Adds greatly to the car's appearance. Easier to clean and to keep clean. You need this light-car feature and, in this extraordinary car value, you get it!

POETRY

The Homeland

My land was the westland, my home was on the hill,
I never think of my land but it makes my heart to thrill;
I never smell the west wind that blows the golden skies,
But old desire is in my feet and dreams are in my eyes.

My home crowned the high land, it had a stately grace;
I never think of my land but I see my mother's face;
I never smell the west wind that blows the silver ships
But old delight is in my heart and mirth is on my lips.

My land was a high land; my home was near the skies,
I never think of my land but a light is in my eyes;
I never smell the west wind that blows the summer rain
But I am at my mother's knee, a little lad again.

—By Dana Burnet

To a Wind-Flower

Teach me the secret of thy loveliness,
That being made wise, I may aspire to be
As beautiful in thought, and so express
Immortal truth to earth's mortality.
Though to my soul ability be less
Than 'tis to thee, O sweet anemone.

Teach me the secret of thy innocence,
That in simplicity I may grow wise.
Asking the approval of her own just eyes;
So may I rise to some fair eminence,
Though less than thine, O cousin of the skies.

Teach me these things, through whose knowledge, I—
When Death hath poured oblivion through my veins,
And brought me home, as all are brought, to lie
In that vast house, common to serfs and thanes,
I shall not die, I shall not utterly die,
For beauty born of beauty—that remains.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

James Duffy, central figure in more than one unsavory episode, including being held as a murder suspect in Westerly, is again in the toils of the law—this time on the allegation that he is a thief.

Friday morning, at a session of the town court, Duffy was held in bonds of $300 for appearance in the superior court to answer a charge that on or about August 23, he stole from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Neil, here in Danielson, where he was a boarder, a diamond ring of the value of $105.

Duffy was taken into custody by State Officer Edward Streamens of the Danielson barracks at the county jail in New London, where he had been serving a sentence of 10 days, and brought to Danielson.

It already had been established that he pawned the stolen ring in Providence late in August, the though he denied all knowledge of the theft, yet was in possession of the ticket calling for the redemption of the glittering thing.

Duffy, his record considered, appears to be facing a state prison sentence. He appeared fully aware of this after his hearing here Friday and talked more or less cooly about how long he might be expected to spend in the "big house." "I'll study bookkeeping over there," he said. He was utterly impervious to the suggestion that a sentence there might do him good and that he would be exceptionally well treated if he deserved special favors to be earned through good behavior.

Duffy is a product of this local area. He has been here and hereabouts since his childhood days. Within the past few years he has become involved in many questionable affairs that have earned him arrest after arrest, jail sentences and the charge that he knew something about the killing of a man at Westerly, but nothing came of this.

He was unable to furnish the $500 bond demanded by Killingly court Friday for his release and was taken to Brooklyn jail until his case can be disposed of in the superior court.

A peculiar angle of the case appears to be the Mr. O'Neil will have to pay $21. in Rhode Island, the amount Duffy obtained on the stolen ring, to regain possession of his property.

A kavalcade of Killingly citizens going over into Brooklyn to hold a meeting at which nominations for places on the republican and democratic town tickets in Killingly were considered is an innovation of these late summer days of 1925. It suggests a Neighbors' Night arrangement under which citizens of Sterling will come to Killingly to say who they will have for town officers and of Putnam holding session in Woodstock to pick candidates. It's a great game—if you have the pass word.

Danielson says a hearty "Thank You." to the members of Diggitt's Popular Band for the concert it played on Davis park Thursday evening, to the great enjoyment of several hundred people. The band played well, its program was arranged to provide offerings of standard and popular music and the enjoyment of those who attend was attested by abundant applause that included the din caused by the blowing of horns on maybe a hundred motor cars. The concert was delight. The auditors are grateful.

No action will be taken by the borough against the little boy who pulled in a fire alarm, early Thursday afternoon, from Box 32, corner of Main and Reynolds street, though the act was one that might bring, under the law, a heavy penelty on one of less tender years. The boy has paid, in one way and another, a high enough price for his indiscreation. One who saw him pull in the alarm tells of how he danced in glee and clapped his chubby hands as he heard the rush and turmoil of apparatus and fireman responding to the alarm. And others tell of how he was dashed from this pinnacle of joy a few minutes later, as the grim hand of officialdom reached out and seized him and brought him face to face with the consequences of his act. Here came his abrupt plunge into despair. It is not likely that the youngster will pull in any more fire alarms. The attendant joy has proved too fleeting.

Next Monday at Hartford bids will be opened from those who would have the contract for erecting a 40-foot concrete girder bridge across the Assawaga river where the stream passes under the state highway in Danielson near the Main street plant of the Paco Manufacturing company.

A survey for this new bridge was made during in August. The bridge is to be replaced is an old timer and has been in service close to half a century, though it has been strengthened and greatly re-enforced during the past few years by the town of Killingly.

The cost of the new bridge will be entirely met by the state, as it is on a trunk line. It is understood that construction of the bridge will be undertaken in the very near future and in all probability completed before real cold weather sets in.

Jacob Sawyer, of Chicago, has been visiting with old time friends in Danielson since Thursday. This is his first visit to Danielson in 41 years. He is a veteran of the Civil war, in which he served as a member of the 18th Connecticut infantry. A few members of this regiment are still living in Danielson.

Operations were undertaken Friday for the construction of a new concrete sidewalk along the frontage of the Orpheum theater property in Center street.

John A. Geisner of Fall River is spending the week end with friends in Danielson.

Saturday of next week, officials of the town charged with the duty will be in session to admit new voters who prove qualified.

The sale of the cottage property on Winter street owned by Dr. Henry C. Dixon of Hartford, formerly of Danielson, has been made to F. Blumenthal of Reynolds street.

As a reminder, probably, that summer is not entirely over, the mercury ran up to 91 degrees in Danielson Friday at noon.

Alfred LaFavre, 15, of Dayville had the thumb and forefinger of his right hand badly mangled, Friday afternoon, while he was engaged in feeding wood to a wood-sawing machine equipped with a circular saw. He was brought to Danielson, given attention by A. A. Bonneville while awaiting the arrival of a physician. Dr. J. H. Perreault directed that the youth be taken to the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam. The thumb was so nearly severed that it was feared amputation might be necessary.

TIED BANDANNA TO STALK, WHEN LOST IN CORNFIELD

(Special to the Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, Sept. 11.—Strange tales come out of the local cornbelt these days. It's hard to believe that a farmer, missing from his home for three days, was eventually discovered in the midst of a towering cornfield through the fact that he had managed to climb up a stalk and tie his red handkerchief on high, to be finally espied by a lookout on the roof of a barn and a rescue party organized. That's the story of a farmer who ventured into his 20 acres of corn and could not find his way out.

Not a few are the stories of corn that has grown to a height of 20 feet in this and nearby towns this season. William S. Brown, owner of the Shepard Hill farm down near Waurgean, is one of the corn-growers par excellence who does not tamely submit to limitations that these stories about the corn crop are greatly overdrawn.

As illustrating this, he cut, at random, from one of his cornfields and brought here for display on Friday a few stalks of corn. "I picked out a few stunted ones," said Mr. Brown, "because they spoiled the looks of those of real growth. There they are; look them over."

Many did look them over during the day. They towered 14 feet above the sidewalk and up along the side of the boulevard building, where they were displayed. Actually, one would have to stand on a stepladder of the equipment thereof to pick the ears of corn that were nearest to the ground. Boosting of western corn states seemed to dwindle to almost nothing at all in the face of this display.

Corn really has had marvelous growth in eastern Windham county this year. It is reaching up toward the heavens after the manner of a vigorous pine forest. Near the state highway close to the school at Wauregan the Wauregan company has acres of corn that amazes those who look upon it. There are scores of other such fields. Cutting it looks to be a job for a sawmill crew. It's gigantic and gives the lie to all the talk about wornout Connecticut farms.

ALL SERENE AT CAUCUS HELD BY THE REPUBLICANS

(Special to the Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, Sept. 11.—Complete placidity marked the republican caucus, Friday evening, to nominate candidates for town officers. There was not a whisper to indicate what became of the Citizens' Movement, which was being frequently quoted earlier in the week. All the nominations, with one exception, were renominations.

Frank L. Bennett, nominated to succeed himself as a member of the town school committee, nominated William Kinder, of Attawaugan, for the place and Judge Sabin S. Russell, who had presented Mr. Bennett's name to the caucus, withdrew it. This was the only change in the old list. C. W. Young, of Goodyear, was chairman of the meeting and Frank T. Preston, clerk. The nominees follow:

Assessor, L. S. Barstow; board of relief, James N. Tucker; selectmen, John A. Gilbert, Napoleon P. Gingras; town clerk, treasurer and a agent of town deposit fund, Frank T. Preston; auditor, Elmer C. Wood; collector of taxes, James R. Walsh; constables, John McFarlane, George Labelle, Jessie B. Child, L. F. Barstow; registrars, E. Fred Kenworthy, Frank L. Bennett, James E. Smith; school committee, William Kinder, William S. Hunter.

PUTNAM

It is expected that excavation for basement and foundations for the rectory of St. Philip's Episcopal church will be begun next week. It will be built on Pleasant street on a lot recently purchased by the parish. There is a frontage of about 140 feet of vacant land between St. Philip's church and the property of George A Rawley. Mr. Seward sold the southern half next to Mr. Rawley to the church society and gave them an option to buy the remainder in case he should decide to sell. If this deal is ever consumated the church would own a frontage of 250 feet on Pleasant street, more than two-thirds of the block between Grove and Pleasant street.

C. A. Boyce, treasurer of the Cargill Trust Company, and Mrs. Boyce have returned from a visit to the Cape.

Fred Prince has returned from a visit of several weeks in Florida.

A. Newton Vaughn was in Hartford this week on business.

E. T. Perrin of Bradford, Conn., is spending his vacation with his family on Bradley street.

Mrs. Pauline G. Wood and daughter, of Westerly are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Zenon Robilliard.

William F. Gleason of Hartford has been spending the summer with his sister, Miss E. E. Gleason of Pomfret.

Friday was one of the most uncomfortable days of the season, due to the heat, clamminess and humidity. It grew hot during the night and the heat increased throughout the day. Putnam residents, who have just returned from their beach cottages were longing for the shore again and a dip in the ocean.

John O. Fox, head of the John O. Fox Lumber Corporation and one of the leading citizens of Putnam is seriously ill at his home in the Sawyer district.

E. L. Robinson, principal of the Putnam High School has moved from Grove street to a house on Church street just opposite the residence of Silas M. Wheelock.

Howard James will attend the Radio World Fair, to be held in New York City next week at the Grand Central Palace and the Armory.

Alex Gilman was in Boston Friday on a business trip.

Donald C. Johnson, son of Reic H. Johnson, city prosecuting attorney has returned from France where he spent the summer in charge of a group of boys of an American preparatory school.

Preparation for the annual evening school work at the State Trade School is being planned with a view to providing supplementary training for men employed in the various industries. Thus a cotton weaver may wish to take up loom-fixing or a cotton spinner may be desirous of taking up yarn speculations. Operators of machines in the industries have an opportunity in the machine shop to take up specialized training on questions definitely related to their work. The complete outline of subjects offered in the various classes follows:

General Cotton Manufacturing: Plain weaving, dobby and box loom weaving, loom fixing, cloth analysis and design, yarn calculations, carding and spinning, doubling and drafting, cost finding.

Drafting: Mechanical and architectural, shop math, building estimating, blue print reading.

Machine shop practice: Definite instruction in the operating of machine units, such as milling machine, grinder, lathes, planer, shaper, tool making and bench work.

Carpentry Shop: Training will be given in the use of steel square and its application to problems in carpentry. Cabinet making, mill work.

Electrical Work: Elementary and advanced, principles of D. C., principles of A. C., battery work, motor and generator operation, armature winding.

Home Economics Department: Dressmaking, millinery, cooking, household management as in previous years.

Men in Putnam and near vicinity have in past years embraced the opportunities which these classes afford and to many the instruction received has proved of definite benefit in the way of advancement in the industry in which they are workign.

Those interested in these courses are to enroll as early as possible so that classes may be definitely organized and school work begun with as little delay and confusion as possible. Classes in this work will open October 5 at 7:30 P. M.

Sunday will be Educational Sunday at the Second Congregational church in honor of the teachers and students of the church who are in the Putnam schools and of the young people who are leaving to complete their educations in other schools and colleges.

The Methodist church has resumed services. Sunday will be a home-coming Sunday. Vacations are over and the church is getting ready to take up the work for the fall. At a meeting of the official board at the parsonage plans for the fall and winter work were decided upon.

Herbert Marsh and his mother have extended an invitation to the young people of the Methodist church to use their lot on Grove street for sports and games, on any or every Saturday afternoon during the month of September.

Miss Nellie Flanagan of New London is visiting this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Flanagan.

Miss Clara Madaga has returned, after a three weeks' vacation spent at Woonsocket.

The W. C. T. U. of Putnam held the annual meeting Friday afternoon in the chapel of the Second Congregational church. Mrs. Esther Brown, county president was present.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry Sharpe have returned from a visit with friends at Pittsfield, Mass.

Miss Marion D. Bowen and Miss Myrtle J. Green, of Hartford, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Trobridge, of Pomfret.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Holden are at Prospect Harbor, Maine, for two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. John Addison Porter has had five new benches placed in Cargill Park. The new ones will be greatly appreciated as some of the old ones are almost past using, at least with any comfort.

At the Baptist church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock there is to be a missionary pagent, "The Planting of the Tree" put on by people from Danielson. Mrs. Maud Moss Barrett of Hartford, who is well known in this vicinity is the author of the pagcant. Special music will be provided.

TWO SELECTMEN NOMINATED AT DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

(Special to the Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Sept. 11.—The democratic town caucus held last evening was one of the largest in the records of the party. For the first time in years a cuecking list was used in balloting for a candidate for registrar of voters. George Potvin won the nomination over Edmund Dubois, the present incumbent, 82 to 60. There were four scattering votes and a number who attempted to cast a ballot found that they had neglected to have their name placed on the party caucus list.

It was expected that there would be a contest for the nomination of selectman between Edward P. Girard now a member of the board, and A. Bonneville, but both were placed in nomination and will be voted for on election day. There are three selectmen to be elected and it has always been the custom, if it is not the law, to have a minority party representation. At the election last year the democrats named two candidates and they are doing the same this year. Mr. Girard was placed in nomination by J. J. McGarry, and Mr. Bonneville by Herbert J. Smith.

Other candidates named were:

Assessor, Eugene Dumas; member of board of relief, Miss Dorothy J. Bartlett, member of school committee, John H. Bulger. The three year term of George L. Pagett, had expired and he declined a renomination. No candidates were named for collector of taxes or for town clerk and treasurer, but the committee was empowered to fill the vacancies if it saw fit.

After the nominations were completed Mrs. Bartlett spoke briefly, expressing gratification over the large attendance, urging that a deeper interest be taken in bringing out a large vote on election day and calling attention to the fact that the Democratic Club would begin to function at once.

Thomas P. Ryan was chairman of the caucus and George L. Padgett was clerk.

HAMILTON HOLT PRESIDENT OF A FLORIDA COLLEGE

(Special to the Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Sept. 11.—Dr. Hamilton Holt, of Woodstock, who was the democratic candidate for United States senator against Hiram Bingham to succeed the late Senator F. B. Brandegee, has been elected president of Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida. He left for there this morning to take up his duties.

REPUBLICANS IN CAUCUS STICK TO PARTY NOMINEES

(Special t othe Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Sept. 11.—Reciprocity by the republican party in nominating a democrat as a candidate for the office of first selectman in the coming town election, following the action of the Democrats, Wednesday night, in picking First Selectman James M. Smith, republican, as their candidate, failed to materialize, at the republican caucus held Friday night.

Russell A. Andrews, present democratic incumbent, withdrew from the race for the candidacy in favor of former Selectman Ernest P. Chesbro, who secured the nomination over Mr. Smith, when the second ballot was taken. The first ballot results were: Votes cast, 557; necessary for choice, 279; Smith 206, Chesbro, 192 and Andrews, 159.

Chairman A. L. Weatherhead then called for a second ballot. At this point Selectman Andrews arose and announced his withdrawal in favor of Mr. Chesbro. The second ballot results were: Votes cast, 517; necessary for choice, 259; Smith, 198; Chesbro, 302 and Andrews, 17.

On behalf of Mr. Smith, William A King, who had made the nomination, then moved that Mr. Chesbro's nomination be made unanimous.

Other candidates are: Assessor, John R. Pickett; board of relief, F. Louis Hall; second selectman, Charles Larrabee; town clerk and town treasurer, Frank P. Fenton; agent town deposit fund, George H. Spencer; auditor, Charles L. Boss, collector, Lester H. Blish; constables, Wilbur G. Stevens; Alfred T. Albe, Arthur C. Sweet and Louis H. Otis; registrar of voters, J. L. Weatherhead; town school committee for three years, H. C. Lathrop, C. C. Case.

The nomination of Mr. Chesbro, was made by H. C. Lathrop, John B. Edgarton was clerk of the caucus, which adjourned at 9:50.

Is Hermine Queen?

Concerning the title of the second wife of former Emperor William Hohenzollern there is considerable discussion in Germany. Princess Hermine is said to sign herself "Hermine Empress Wilhelm"—a curious anomaly. But her "official" letters all end with the signature "Hermine I. R." (Imperatrix regina.) Republican Germans are wondering just when a queen empress.

THE RESCUE FLIERS.

Even as Amundsen came out of the polar regions when hope had been all but abandoned for him the crew of the PN-9 No. 1 safe and the seaplane intact were found near the Hawaiian islands. Their recovery will be the cause for nation wide rejoicing both because of the fact that they have not been lost and because they will be able to contribute from their experience valuable facts that can be employed in connection with future flights.

So far as know from the early reports there is nothing to contradict the belief that their plight was due to a lack of sufficient fuel to carry them to their destination. Provisions had been made for the possibility that they might be forced to land. They had been provisioned for about half the time they were actually missing but it doesn't appear that they were sufficien supplied with the means of letting their location be known. More of course will be known about this later but the manner in which the plane withstood the buffeting of the seas at and after the forced landing, and so far as is known the performance of the machine in the air as long as the gasoline held out was admirable.

Commander Rodgers and those with him will have interesting tales to relate. Their experiences were other than had been anticipated and yet as the flight has ended without harm they are in a position to give valuable advice as to how such an undertaking should be met in the future. Their flight will serve as a guide the like of which is obtainable only through just such a test.

Just why the particular locality where they were found had not been scoured in the search remains to be disclosed. Certainly it was not intentional neglect with the many engaged in the frantic search, but the manydays a ship without being rescued plainly demonstrates the need hence forth of seeing that seaplanes making such trips should be adequately supplied with powerful enough lights or rockets to indicate their location. Likewise, and even more important, there should be an adequate fuel supply or a landing near a patrol vessel when it becomes evident that the supply will not carry the plane to its destination.

TURNING CORNERS.

A complaint is registered by the street railway company in Springfield to the effect that auto drivers are not allowing sufficient room to permit the electric cars to make corners without striking machines. The desire is to avoid a condition that ought not to exist and to get those who are responsible for a wrong situation to recognize and it and avoid it.

In the taking of corners there is unfortunately too strong a disposition to take all the room there is regardless of the other fellow. Corners are also taken in too many instances without slackening speed and with no anticipation whatever of what may be ahead. They trust to luck that they can negotiate it and that nothing will be found in the way to bother them. Some get by and others do not.

The accident at Southbury Thursday night when one was killed and four others injured is a case in point. Here the driver was said to be driving at a speed which was too great to take the curve safely. He failed to negotiate it and collided with a safety signal across the highway with serious results. Had there been another machine going in the opposite direction at that time it would probably have been involved in the mixup, for it was impossible for the driver to stop his car on his side of the road. There is much uncertainty involved in taking corners. Unless one is acquainted with the locality, what lies ahead is an unknown quantity. It may call for an abrupt stop and it may be a sharp curve that requires a quicker turn than a driver is prepared to make unless he has his car under control. When he cannot make this encroaches upon a part of the highway that others have a right to. Possibly he may go around on two wheels, but in all such instances he is not only endangering himself and those with him but he is disposed to take more of the street or highway than belongs to him.

The rights of others should be borne in mind at all times and if they are there will be fewer accidents, serious and otherwise, from the operation of motor cars.

PROSECUTING VANDALS

When the federal district attorney at Cincinnati makes the announcement that steps will be taken to punish all who stole parts of the Shenandoah when it fell near Ava, Ohio, there will be a general recognition of the wisdom of such action.

Perhaps some of those who carried off parts of the airship as souvenirs did not know that they were violating a federal law. Some in the lifting of what they might have considered junk may not have considered they were stealing, but all must have known that they were taking something which did not belong to them and that it was actually the property of the government. Even if it was junk it did not give them the right to dispose of it.

Souvenir hunters may be allowed a wide latitude, and insofar as they failed to remove any vital part of the airship that would indicate what had caused the break, valuable instruments or property of the men who were killed there would probably have been no thought of prosecuting them. But in this instances the acts were nothing less than vandalism. Like ghouls they stripped the dead of valuables and carried off important parts of the ship.

It is unfortunate that there are so many who consider that they are entitled to appropriate for their own use anything they can get their hands on. Too often is souvenir hunting no more than plain and deliberate theft and this has been made particularly conspicuous in the case of the Shenandoah.

Those who may not have known it, but who are supposed to distinguish between right and wrong, may have a chance to learn that there is a fine of $5,000 and imprisonment for five years possible for the theft of government property. The return of the stolen property is desired but beyond that it is important that a lesson should be taught those who raided the airship for the effect it may have upon others in the future.

WRONG CONDITIONS

It makes little difference where he lives but when a person asks "Why are boys allowed to shoot rifles and guns at dogs, cats, clothes hanging on lines and also at windows?" it will be realized that he is being forced to contend with conditions which ought not to be so.

Firearms in the hands of boys should never be tolerated Even if it is of the air rifle that complaint is being made it is to be realized that there is nothing which justified its use when damage is being done to animals or the property of others.

And yet is not such a situation much less serious than that which makes it possible for demented persons to obtain firearms and ammunition for such use as their condition prompts?

In connection with the recent murders by mental defectives in New Jersey and New York it cannot fail to be noted that they resulted from the use of revolvers which had been obtained by individuals who had but a short time before left insane hospitals. They experienced no trouble in acquiring them. One was even obtained through the mail. Where the other was secured no one knows, but there was a desire for them that they might be used and dangerous defectives were able to obtain them.

Thus the lives of humanity are at the mercy both of defectives who should never have been released from institutions but who are able to obtain and use death dealing weapons quite the same as animals and property are subject to the acts of firearms in the hands of children. The situation isn't what can be called exactly pleasing and yet it has existed for a long time.

PEACE IN EUROPE

Europe is much concerned in the outcome of the security agreement which is in process of being perfected. Thus far attention has been centered upon the maintenance of peace between Germany and France and Belgium. This peace along the Rhine is to be based upon arbitration by the league of nations of such disputes as may arise with understanding that the latter two nations will be supported by the British in case of war.

But it can be appreciated that the pleasing prospect of peace under such an arrangement should appeal to Czechoslovakia and Poland. In fact they are desrous of being included therein and have so indicated. They are moving in anticipation of trouble and by their attitude indicate that peace is preferred to war. They have their problems, problems that concern Germany, and they desire for amicable adjustment.

While the British are favorable to the Rhine agreement they have not showed an eagerness to have it extended to keeping Germany within its bounds toward the east. Germany is inclined to have the agreement restricted to the Rhine, whether there is any ulterior motive in such a restriction or not.

Thus particular interest is centered in the developments underway at Geneva. If peace is desirable in one part of Europe it is reasonable to suppose that it should exist elsewhere. Whether a peace treaty that will deal with eastern as well as western Europe is possible remains to be seen. There may be obstacles but it seems like a worthy goal if peace is really desired.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

Well, my friend, how have you come back from your vacation? Are you just as tired as when you went away? If so there is something the matter with you, or the manner in which you spent your vacation. A good housewife as she was closing her cottage for the season made this remark, "I'm going home now to get a little rest." That was a tacit confession that her sojourn at the seashore had been a failure as a vacation. Now it is impossible to standardize vacations. What is helpful to one may be injurious to another. The main thing, however, is to get rest, and usually this is best found in change. Go to new places, hear new voices, see new faces, do new things. There are two things that ought to be done to fulfil the object of vacation, and the first is to rest the mind. Do the things you are not wont to do at home, such as boating, fishing, crabbing, or any other vigorous outdoor work. Secondly, secure bodil yinvigoration just as outdoor life appeals to you. Then you will want to plunge into work again.

Seven years ago today—September 12, 1918—The American offensive in the Argonne region began. The battle of St. Mihiel, and many subsequent skirmishes, was not so historic as that of Waterloo, fought a little over a hundred years earlier and not far from the same spot, but it sounded the death knell of the German invasion. The tide was really turned at the battle of the Marne, but the final decision was secured in the struggle in the Argonne forest. If that victory had been reversed what effect would it probably have had on the trend of human history? Who will venture the prediction? At any rate the victory gained by the allies supported the cause which enlisted the sympathy of the American government, and very largely that of the American people.

It passes all human comprehension what science has done and is still doing along all lines. The other day the writer received an advertisement of a new shock absorber for automobile use. If someone would invent a device to absorb shock when we buy gasoline, he would soon be independently rich. But there are other phases of life in which "shock absorbers" would come in handy. Those who visit Coney island or our own Ocean beach for the first time would stand in less danger of apoplexy if they brought along with them "shock absorbers" of the largest type. The preacher who sees during the week some suggestions of his latest sermon being put into practice would have better chances of a long life if her had with him some "shock absorber." Think of a student returning from colle e saying: "Dad, I've got ten dollars left out of my last allowance!" In such a case a "shock absorber" would be equivalent to a life saver.

Last week the writer had something to say in this column on "Bluff or Business—Which?" It is amazing how widely applicable this is to the field of experience generally. The student, who has been doing many things except studying, unfortunately is called upon to recite. He knows it will have to be bluff and not business. He might get away with it on a pinch with some show of success were it not for one unfortunate thing i. e. unfortunate for him. Now the average professor knows perfectly well whether it is a game of bluff, or whether it is real business, and it sometimes happens that at the end of the recitation that the bluffer has all the appearance and probably the feelings of a skinned eel. Reader, when you see a strange minister in the pulpit, don't pre-judge him by his holy look. Wait till he gives out hist text, and then note how he steps on the gas, manipulates the clutch and shifts from low to second and high. You will soon find out whether he is running a fine Pierce-Arrow or a ramshackle Ford. He will not have driven far before you will be able to decide whether it is bluff or business.

One of the earliest demands of creation was: "Let there be light, and there was light." That demand has been repeated ever since, and will be as long as any darkness remains. If the world is assailed with the darkness of ignorance we want the world flooded with light of knowledge. Nothing but the light can drive away the darkness. If the world is cursed with sin it can be driven away only by the light of holiness. But is it not also true that there may be an excess of light? We have blinds on the outside of our windows and shades on the inside to regulate an overplus of light. Nowhere is this more conspicuous than in the headlights of a majority of automobiles. When faced some of them are so bright that one is blinded. Cannot this matter somehow be regulated by law?

If it is a criminal offense to manufacture and sell bootleg whiskey, is it not equally law-breaking to drink the same? Logically it is difficult to see the difference between the two offenses. Intoxicating liquors are now contraband products, and to use the same must be in direct violation of the law. But are men fined, or otherwise punished, for using the same? They are arrested for intoxication, or if they commit any offense just as they were after buying and drinking liquor when sanctioned by law. But one does not hear of an added penalty for drinking what the state says shall not be sold. Is this a weakness on the part of the prohibition scheme? Is it a defect on the part of our laws in meeting an exigency, or is it laxity on the part of court officials?

The coal situation is always an important one to the householder. The scarcity of this commodity is not the only problem involved in the successful heating of our houses. It is of course a very important factor. There is always the question of how the coal we have can be used to the best advantage. But questions like these cannot be ignored: What is the condition of the chimney? Are the flues all right? Are the pipes so old and rusted that you are wasting fuel in forcing steam through them? Is the heater itself thoroughly cleaned out? Have you the right quality of coal as well as a sufficient amount? And, fully as important as anything, do you through laziness or carelessness allow the draft to be clogged up with cinders and ashes? Let it be freely admitted that it is serious for New England when the miners of the Pennsylvania coal fields go on a strike as the fall months come, but please bear in mind that it is quite as important to use a little oversight when you have enough anthracite.

As these lines are written we are in the nearest approach to a drought that the season has produced thus far. Just how far man is responsible for this situation by an unwise destruction of the forests does not concern us in this item. That it is, however, a very serious factor in the case cannot be scientifically denied. Like coal, shortages in this direction also are usually due to human blunders. But thus far, notwithstanding widespread fears and misgivings, we have never been frostbitten yet from lack of fuel, or driven to bootleg whiskey and grape juice because of low aqueducts. It is doubtless true that there ought to be a far more intelligent regulation of the use of water than at present, on the part of our city governments, and the exercise of a little more gray matter on the part of the householder in the use of water

LESSON FROM SHENANDOAH'S LOSS

The Shenandoah catastrophe weighs heavily on the hearts of the nation. Airships can be rebuilt, and each disaster should teach some new lessons to be worked into the new structure, but the loss of Commander Lansdowne and his shipmates is irreparable. Mourning them as brave and gallant men devoted to the service in which they lived and in which they died, we recognize also in their deaths a staggering blow to America, and indeed to the whole world's knowledge of the art and practice of airship construction and operation writes Edward P. Warner, professor of aeronautical engineering in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the Boston Transcript. As the collapse of the ZR-2 in England four years ago nearly wiped out the accumulated British experience of rigid airship practise, so far as it was not reducible to written form, because most of the officers and engineers who had made important contributions went down with the ship, and as a large proportion of the Army's ablest and most experienced airship officers were lost in the Roma catastrophe of the following year, so now the navy suffers similarly, and airship work will have to be carried on without the help of some of those who had most to contribute.

This is no time for vain speculation on the causes of the collapse, still less for excited charges and countercharges unbacked by evidence. The proceedings of the board of investigation which has been in session at the scene of the accident should reveal the facts, so far as they can be determined with certainty and every one competent may then share in the extraction from those facts of a maximum of deduction concerning first causes, but hasty reasoning from false of incomplete premises will be definitely harmful in that it misleads public opinion and tends to establish a subconscious bias in favor of a false trail. There has been too much guessing already. The first and most important work of the board is not to find a scapegoat or to place blame, for it is very probable that there is no blame to lay at any door, but to discover as fully as possible what really happened in order that a recurrence of the disaster may be avoided. If a real increase in knowledge and consequent increase in safety result from the study of the wreck the deaths of those on board will not have been wholly in vain. It should be clearly understood by the layman, as it is already understood by the engineer, that the building of airships, although it has been marvelously developed, is a less exact science than the building of houses. When accidents happen it is not honesty or good intentions, but knowledge, that is lacking.

Designers lack knowledge of the forces acting. A building is designed to carry certain definite weights, together with wind and snow loads which can be estimated with fair accuracy in the light of long series of weather records. Even a ship, tossed among waves, is subject to forces which can be calculated with approximate accuracy if the worst probable contour of the water surface is assumed in terms of length and height of wave. The airship, on the other hand, must maneuver in an invisible and continuous fluid capable of a turbulence far greater than the ocean ever displays when once away from rocks and shoals, and the magnitude of the buffeting that it receives can only be guessed at or measured for certain particular cases. There can be no general analysis. That in itself is not necessarily a very serious matter, for measurement is fully as useful as calculation and if measurements of forces are made in enough cases arbitrary rules, corresponding to wind load specifications for building construction, can be set up to define the probable maxim, but such measurements do not as yet exist. Airship research is in its infancy, and in order that tests may furnish a real guide for all future practise ,they will have to be made on ships of various forms, lightly and heavily loaded, flying a straight course and maneuvering, in proper trim and out of balance, under all kinds of weather conditions. The barest beginning has been made.

American scientists on the staff of the national advisory committee for aeronautics have made a study of the distribution of pressures over the surface of a nonrigid airship while maneuvring in still air, and similar work had been considered for the Shenandoah. The British had proposed to make the same study on the ZR-2, and indeed were taking the first records in the course of the flight in which the ship was wrecked. They then planned, after taking up airship work once more, to carry out the same sort of research on the old R-33, recommissioned for the purpose, and before a start could be made, the ship blew away from the mast in a storm and was damazed to such an extent that repairs are not yet completed. The fates are against the research laboratories in their efforts.

The Germans have always elected to depend on empirical formulas for load, based on mathematical derivation and on a study of meteorology and the structure of the atmosphere rather than on measurement on actual airships in flight, and the Germans have been very free, in fact absolutely free during the years of most intense Zeppelin activity in the war and since, from structural collapse in flight. There have been many accidents, but none of that type. The only real research work on rigid airship loads and stresses in flight was done on the Shenandoah in her first year of service, when gauges devised by naval engineers in cooperation with the staff of the Bureau of Standards were inserted in wires and girders to measure the forces that had to be handled by individual members—a method similar to one that has been used with great success in research work on the stresses in bridges, but much more difficult on application and exacting of a more delicate technique in the air than on the ground.

Even if loads were known with rigorous accuracy troublesome and indetermine problems would still remain. The structure of an airship is less complex than that of an airship, for the outer covering adds little to the strength of the former and the plating must be taken into account with the frames and keel and other members as of vital importance in the latter, but accurate analysis is an even more critical matter in the ship that floats in the air than in that which floats on the sea. The dead weight of the structure of a ship is but a small proportion of the total weight of cargo that can be handled, and an increase in the size of the members used for added safety would be of comparatively little importance except in that an increased cost of material would result. To save shipbuilders under the stress of competition from cutting their sizes unduly fine the great insurance classification societies, Lloyds' in England, the American bureau of shipping here, and the bureau veritas in France, have adopted rules governing all the important details of construction, and it is on those rules, rather than on any individual analysis of stresses, that the structural proportions of new ships are based. There is liberal allowance for depreciation, and the effort is to keep on the safe side at every point, so that such a thing as the breaking up of a classified and insured vessel by the action of the waves in the open sea is almost unknown.

In airships, nothing of just that kind is practicable, at least as yet. The margin of useful load is too small. A 10 per cent increase of the weight of the structure in a ship like the Los Angeles, for example, would reduce by some 20 per cent (the figures are of course of the most approximate order) the cargo that could be handled on a trans-Atlantic voyage, and a saving in weight would have corresponding opposite effect on the useful load. Nothing can be wasted. Safety must be insured, but to make certain that just enough material is used to accomplish that purpose, with no unevenness of strength among the principal girders and frames, the distribution of loads must actually be traced through the structure of the ship. It is there that trouble arises, for there are so many members along which the loads might pass that the problem becomes far more complicated than anything with which civil and mechanical engineers have ordinarily to deal. New and specialized methods of mathematical attack have to be devised. Great progress has been made along that line in Germany, in England and most of all during the last three years in the United States and model experiments have been made as well. Models have been built and tested for their strength and point of failure under various conditions of loading, and the actual distribution of force in a model has also been determined by optional means. It is known that the action of a beam of polarized light in passing through a transparent solid depends on the stress in that solid, so by making an airship model with girders and frames of celluloid and applying a simple load the actual stress in every member can be determined without the necessity of loading the model to destruction or damaging it in any way. Such work has been done at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, under the direction of Professor Heymans, on a model of the Shenandoah.

Notwithstanding al this research, accidents still happen occasionally, and the reasons are often difficult to discover. There is, however, no reason for despair. The state of knowledge is vastly farther advanced than it was at the end of the war, or even at the time when the Shenandoah made her first flight. It is as true now as it was a week ago or a month ago that the airship has adefinite place in commerce, especially over the sea, and progress toward the claiming of that place will continue to be made. It will not do to go too rapidly, but we can only go in one direction.

NEW BOOKS

The Ancient Highway. By James Oliver Curwood, with illustrations by Walter Louderback. Cloth 373 pages. Published by Cosmopolitan Book Corporation, New York. Price $2.

A Curwood book is always a happy anticipation. Once in a while you come across a novel that awakens memories of the thrill that so many novels held for you when in your teens. The Ancient Highway is such a one.

It is a romance of old Quebec today and of the picturesque habitant region of Canada—and, as all good novels should, it makes you want to be there. Past. Books have shown now inviting Curwood can make a forest highway. Added to that, his plots demand swift action and breath taking adventure. Most important of all is his skill in giving a sense of actual participation in the events and you feel that you'd have acted as the characters do. Or you hope you would.

The vagabond in the novel who was once an army captain keeps you guessing until you discover the quality does and youngsters love him. Then you feel rancor for the adorable Antoinette with her French-Canadian accent. if she doesn't avoid the mistake toward which she's heading.

If glorious battles make you tingle—if you've a drop of adventure in your blood—and if you haven't got over admiring the type of ideal girl dad used to reverence—you're the one to whom this new book will be a rare treat.

The Autumn Trail. By Samuel Minturn Peck. Paper. 54 pages. Published by The Torch Press, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

This is another volume of delightful verse from the fluent pen of Samuel Minturn Peck of Tuscaloosa, Ala., who is proud to consider himself a son of Norwich. Mr Peck is the author of several volumes and the poems which appear in the latest have for the most part been published in the Boston Transcript, and a number of them republished in The Bulletin from time to time. There's a charm and cleverness about his work that appeals. He writes because he likes to but his verse is a treat to others.

The Autumn Trail is dedicated to the memory of his mother, Lucy Lamb Randall Peck who was born in Norwich November 3, 1808. It is prefaced with these lines.

Winding down the autumn trail,
Still there's much that's fair to see,
Fragrant odors scent the gale,
Singing yet are birds and bees;
Still the purple hills afar
Lure me onward as I roam—
But, alas, the evening star
Soon will call the wanderer home.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Dr. Francis E. Clark, the "father of Christian Endeavor," who today enters upon his seventy-fifth year, will receive the good wishes of tens of thousands of members of the great organization of which he was the founder and of which he remained the active head until his retirement at the convention held in Portland, Ore., this summer. Born in Quebec in 1851, Dr. Clark was left an orphan at the age of 7 and went to live with an uncle in Massachusetts. He received his academic training at Dartmouth, graduating in 1873, and then went to Andover to study theology. His first charge was in Portland, Maine, the famous Williston church, where Christian Endeavor was born forty-four years ago. Under the directing hand of Dr. Clark the society developed into the largest religious society of young people in the world, with branches in nearly every civilized land.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A Sad Condition

Mr. Editor: In front of the laundry on Broadway, in one of the busiest sections of Norwich, there is a place fenced off, and made bin like to hold some old shingles, taken from a roof on the adjoining, building.

This bin built right on the sidewalk, is a fair sample of small city mismanagement.

This mess by all right of decency and good city government, should be removed without an hour's delay. The street in this particular neighborhood is unusually narrow and it is hazardous to have to walk in the street to get by the refuse pile, taking into consideration modern traffic conditions.

If Dorothy Perkins roses were set out to grow over it, it might possibly help to live up to a past tradition—alas a past tradition—of old Norwich—that we are truly living in the Rose of New England.

NORWICHITE

Norwich, Sept. 11, 1925.

Believing

Mr. Editor: Let me say that believing you are a goose does not make you one. We don't have to believe that there are telephones nor, electricity. When you have to believe that fact alone proves that it may not be so, or you would not have to believe. You would know, most faith is answered by the little boys definition when asked what faith was said, "Faith is believing something which you know is not true."

Most of us have been taught things or ideas which as we have reached an age of understanding, if having a little common sense and used it, we have had to throw the ideas overboard. We have had to admit to ourselves that our common sense some how never did let us believe them. Some of us never get over making ourselves believe what we subconsciously know cannot be true. A thing is not necessarily true because many people accept or believe it. Millions of people look upon El Koran as Christians look to the Bible. Millions more have other idols or fetishes.

If there is a conscious intelligent power which has created the universe and man, then Jesus like the rest of us was a son of God, a more worthy son perhaps than most of us.

Personally I cannot subscribe to the idea of vicarious atonement in anyway.

ALBERT BOARDMAN

Norwich, Sept. 11, 1925.

The Life of Chopin

Mr. Editor: Among your readers you have some musicians and many music lovers. The Otis library has just received a book which ought to be of special interest to them. Its somewhat misleading title is "The Nightingale." It is really a life of Chopin, the world-renowned composer, whose works loom larger on the programmes of our greatest concert pianists than those of any other composer. Like Mozart and Schubert died young—only 39—one of the world's prodigies.

A LESSON IN TREES.

The trees are beautiful in their robes of green, shading here and there to pin kand golden tints, all unspoiled, as yet, with dust and cold. A short time ago, these same trees were standing leafless and, to outward appearance, dead. And they whisper, in their beauty, of the triumph of life over death; they tell us that what man calls death is but a sleep from which there shall be a glorious awaking.

Here is a young tree about which a vine has been twining, and it has clung so closely and twined so tightly that it has become imbedded in the wood of the growing tree. There was a time when this vine could have been easily removed; but now it could only be removed with difficulty, and even if removed it would leave an unsightly scar behind. And this tree whispers a warning, not to allow the things of this world—right though they may be in themselves—its cares and its pleasures, to entwine themselves so closely about our lives that they hinder our spiritual growth and mar our higher life.

Here is a tree, an oak, majestic and beautiful. As we look at it, we seem to hear it tell of the many long years of storm and sunshine through which it passed before it attained its present size and strength. And it suggests, too, the long years of the storms of adversity, as well as the sunshine of prosperity, by which character is developed. But what matter if in the end the character is like the oak, strong and beautiful.

This oak sprang from a tiny acorn, which fell here from the parent tree or was flung here by some careless hand, perhaps a hundred years ago. The tree or person has long since passed away, and it reminds us that mighty consequences may often follow some apparently trivial action, and that the results of an action may continue, as a blessing or a blight, long after the actor has ceased from his labors.

Though the trees are green now they know that in a short time they will be arrayed in the fleeting brilliancy of autumn. We can seem to hear them whisper, "We all do fade as a leaf." But even as we hear the melancholy message, their swiftly fading beauty suggests, by contrast the thought of a glory and an inheritance, "which fadeth not away." And so let the last message of the trees, like be one of hope.

Stories That Recall Others

An Irish Ham

He was coming to this country to visit his sister and he decided that there would be nothing more pleasing to her than to bring along an Irish ham. He therefore bought a small one in Ireland and carefully brought it all the way here. His sister was elated. Not since she had left the old country had she tasted an "honest to goodness Irish ham, she said as she carefully unwrapped the package. It was not until the last oiled paper was stripped from the meat that a small tag was revealed showing the name of an American packer.

Absent Minded

She was a retired school teacher. A young friend had called to take her to the country for dinner, Miss X was partly blind and somewhat absent minded. They went by auto and the eighth mile journey was half over when Miss X said: "Oh, honey, I forgot my lower teeth."

"We'll go back after them," said the young friend.

"Oh, no, never mind. I couldn't find them, anyhow." So they proceeded. At the table when the meal was about over Miss X suddenly began to laugh.

"I had a good joke on myself," she said, "about my teeth."

"Why you look all right. I wouldn't care," said the folks.

"But this is a better joke. I just found that I have had them in my mouth all the time."

Cafe Atop Church

On the roof of the cathedral of Milan is a little buffet where one may take luncheon or tea—a unique case perhaps, of a restaurant on the roof of a church. It is a recent innovation. In the past there was only a small kiosk, where fruit and light drinks were obtainable. Lately a more ambitious undertaking was developed. There are now all varieties of foodstuffs. It is the custom of the Milanese who cannot afford to leave the city for their summer vacations to climb the Duomo for lunch and eat in the forest of marble pinnacles and flying buttresses. From the height of about 300 feet one can enjoy a view of the city, the Lombard plain and the Alps from Mount Viso to the Ortler.

Don't think that it is disgraceful to tumble to your faults.

Sammy Jay Tells Buster Where to Look.

A tattletale most folks despise
Regardless if he runs or flies.
—Old Mother Nature.

Now, though Buster Bear pretended that he wasn't at all interested in mushrooms, he didn't fool Chatterer the Red Squirrel at all. Chatterer knew that Buster was watching him. He knew that Buster was spying. Knowing this, Chatterer had no end of fun. He would climb a tree and pretend to be very busy up there. Then he would hide and watch. After a bit he would see Buster Bear come stealing along, and presently he would stop and look that tree all over—all the time pretending that he was doing something else. Then Chatterer would snicker to himself under his breath. So little by little he led Buster quite a distance from the tree in which he had stored his mushrooms.

When finally Chatterer considered that he had led Buster far enough away from those mushrooms, he scampered away through the treetops as only Chatterer can. One instant Buster saw him, and the next instant he had disappeared. Buster didn't even know which way he had gone. He began to realize how thoroughly Chatterer had fooled him. It was just then that along came that other scamp of the Green Forest, Sammy Jay. He saw at once that Buster was upset. It rather tickled Sammy for I know of no one who takes greater delight in seeing people upset than does Sammy Jay. "You look out of sorts, Buster Bear," said he. "It must be you have had no breakfast this morning, or else your breakfast does not set well."

Just then, before Buster could reply, both heard Chatterer the Red Squirrel far away snickering. Buster Bear's black face grew blacker still as he listened. Sammy Jay guessed at once that for some reason or other Buster Bear was provoked by Chatterer. Now Chatterer and Sammy are not the best of friends. Each steals from the other whenever he gets a chance. Each likes to make trouble for the other. You see, both are naturally mischievous. Yes, sir, they are naturally mischievous. They are never happier than when they are engaged in some kind of mischief.

"Listen to that red rubber," cried Sammy. "He seems to think something is a great joke." Sammy looked sharply at Buster as he said this. "There's no one," he continued, "whom I had rather play a trick than Chatterer the Red Squirrel."

Buster Bear cocked a shrewd little eye up at Sammy Jay. "If that's the case," said he, "you might let me know if sometime you run across some mushrooms hung up to dry in a tree."

Sammy stared down at Buster very hard. Buster Bear winked. Sammy winked. "You follow me," said he. "You mentioning mushrooms remind me that early this morning I discovered a lot in a certain tree. It may be the tree you are looking for."

So away flew Sammy Jay and after him shuffled great big Buster Bear. And so at last they came to a certain tree.

"There," said Sammy, "are your mushrooms."

Buster looked up. Sure enough there were the mushrooms. Buster grinned. There was no doubt in his mind that this was the tree to which Chatterer had removed those mushrooms.

"Well," said Sammy, "how about it?"

"It is the very tree," replied Buster. "I am much obliged to you, Sammy Jay. When I can do you a good turn let me know. I certainly am obliged to you." Buster turned and walked away.

"Aren't you going to do anything about them?" demanded Sammy.

"Not now, Sammy, not now," replied Buster, and that was all he would say.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S COUNCIL PLANS WORK AT FAIR

A well attended meeting of the Connecticut Council of Catholic Women was held Friday evening in the rooms, 120 Main street, and final arrangements were completed for its activities at the New London county fair. Reports of progress were heard from the various committees and all present were enthusiastic to accomplish all which had been planned so carefully by the several chairmen. This council will have a lunch room on the Merchants Promenade, where the members will offer to the public all-kinds, sandwiches, home-made cake and pie, doughnuts and coffee milk and other food, which will be carefully by the several chairmen served. The work accomplished by this council is well known and at all the hospitals and especially at the state institutions the regular visits of the members are anxiously looked forward to by the patients. Among the needy and afflicted, the young and helpless, old and infirm, in child welfare and family welfare work, the results accomplished by the efforts of these women have been deserving of great praise. To finance this great undertaking and to replenish the treasury, always at the disposal of some worthy cause, regardless of race, color or creed distinction, the council is inviting the patronage of the generous hearted public to its work at the county fair.

BREACH OF PEACE CASE IN CITY COURT

In the city court Friday morning Edward Gagnon, 20, and James Barry, Jr., of North Main street, were presented on charges of breach of the peace in attacking Earl Jacobs in Taftsville Thursday night.

The two men were arrested by Officer Peter DeLandi at Washington square where they were reported to be renewing their attack upon Jacobs after trying to drag him off a trolley car.

Barry pleaded guilty to the charge in court and was fined $15 and costs, totalling $24.22. The case against Gagnon was continued for a year. He is one of the three men who attacked Officers Patrick Shahan and Richard McAvoy at police headquarters a few nights ago, in consequence of which the court gave him a suspended sentence of 10 days in jail.

When the men were arrested they told the story that they had started out in Taftsville to have a good time together, Jacobs claiming that he had loaned Gagnon $2 to get a bottle of liquor, but the liquor could not be secured. There were charges and counter charges about two in the party being stool pigeons and Jacobs was on the receiving end of punches that were exchanged until he jumped on a trolley car to escape. Police arrested Gagnon caught the trolley near Washington square and tried to drag Jacobs off.

BAKER'S FOOT MANGLED UNDER TROLLEY WHEEL

Charles Brown, 43, a baker employed at Uncas-on-Thames, had his left foot badly mangled when he was run over about 9.45 o'clock by a trolley car near Tuft's station. The trolley car was on the last trip from Jewett City and was in charge of Conductor C. C. Norman and Motorman Robert Lillie.

The accident happened on the trolley company's private right of way between Taft's station and the railroad tracks to Jewett City. It was reported that when Brown was first observed by the motorman he was sitting on a bank by the side of the track and that he fell or rolled down the bank into the path of the car.

Dr. W. T. Driscoll responded to a call to attend the man and took him in his automobile to the Backus hospital. There it was reported that the foot was badly mangled but the doctors were trying to save as much of it as possible.

Brown lives in a small house near Tunnell hill, which is a short distance north of where he was hurt and on the river road to Jewett City. He formerly kept the Taft's station lunch room and lived on Norwich avenue.

WEDDING
Yetke-Wytasiak

At St. Joseph's church, Webster, Mass., at 7:30, on the morning of September 7th, the marriage of Miss Sophia Wytasiak and Herman Yetke of Norwich took place. The nuptials were celebrated by Rev. Rysz in the presence of a large assemblage of guests, many from out of town.

The bride was attired in a gown of white duchess satin, trimmed with princess lace, full length veil, caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lillies of the valley. The bride's attendants were Miss Eleanor Poreda and Miss Josephine Poreda, both of Norwich. They wore gowns of blue and yellow georgette crepe with picture hats to match and carried yellow and pink roses. Two nieces of the bride were flower girls, Emily Lukowski and Rose Stelmach of Webster. The groom's attendants were, Frank Ziemski of Webster and Joseph Leahy of Norwich.

Following the church service the wedding festivities were at the home of Mrs. Lukowski, 5 Aldrich street, where the bride has made her home during her residence in Webster. A dinner was served during which an orchestra furnished music.

Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Yetke left for a wedding trip which will include New York and New Jersey. The going away suit which the bride wore was an ensemble of pansy shade with hat to match.

When they return they will make their home in Norwich, where they will occupy a newly furnished home.

The popularity of both the bride and groom was evidenced in the abundance of valuable wedding gifts which the bride has received.

DEMOCRATS QUICKLY NAME TICKET FOR THE COMING TOWN ELECTION

It took the half hundred democrats assembled in the town hall Friday evening at their caucus, just about ten minutes to name their candidates for the party ticket in the annual town election to be held next month. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by Patrick F. Sweeney, chairman of the democratic town committee, and Mayor Milo R. Waters was elected moderator on motion of Thomas J. Kelly. Mayor Waters upon taking the chair, called for the selection of a caucus clerk and N. J. Spellman was chosen for this position on motion of Gilbert S. Raymond.

The clerk read the call after which the caucus proceeded directly to the naming of candidates and they were named as follows:

For first selectman, Albert W. Lillibridge, nominated by Henry Gebrath.

For second selectman, Patrick T. Connell, nominated by Hermon J. Gibbs.

For assessor, Michael J. Curran, nominated by John Ryan.

For board of relief, Robert J. Swanton, nominated by C. J. Downes; Conrad Pepin, nominated by Fred Dugas.

For town clerk and town treasurer, Charles S. Holbrook, nominated by Gilbert S. Raymond.

For town collector of taxes, Harold T. Robinson, nominated by Thomas M. Shields.

For constables, Charles Levarge, nominated by John Ryan; Meyer Blumenthal, nominated by M. J. Curran; Anthony Grimkowski, nominated by T. J. Kelly; Amidas Cure, nominated by Fred Dugas.

For registrar of voters, Cornelius J. Downes, nominated by Martin Keough.

For town auditor, Henry Gebrath, nominated by Patrick F. Sweeney.

For town school board for term of 1925, Edward J. McKay, nominated by Patrick F. Sweeney; for term of 1926, Thomas J. Kelly, nominated by Martin Keough.

For agents of town deposit fund, George E. Seidelman, John R. Fowler and William H. Shields.

Henry Gebrath moved that the town committee be empowered to fill any vacancies that may occur on the ticket before the election, after which the caucus adjourned, having been in session about ten minutes.

The nomination of Edward J. McKay as a member of the town school board is to take the place of Dr. E. J. Brophy whose term expires in 1925.

CONNECTICUT DOES MUCH IN ROAD SURFACING

The work carried on in Connecticut last year in surfacing the roads of the state, under state supervision, puts the Nutmeg state well towards the head of the New England states, although these states as a group rank low among the states of the country in the total mileage surfaced last year. The figures are from the department of agriculture at Washington, compiled from reports from the various state departments.

Last year Connecticut reported the total miles of roads surfaced as 131.7, the total mileage in this state surface at the end of 1923 being 1,614.1, while the total mileage in the state system is 1,780.5. The figures, the department points out, represent work done under state supervision, including federal-aid work, but do not include country or local work off the main state systems.

Vermont forged ahead of the other New England states in the miles of road surfaced, 194.9, the total mileage in the Vermont state system being 4,453.0. Connecticut was second, then came Maine with 94.5 miles of road surfaced last year, and a total mileage in the system of 1,455.5

New Hampshire surfaced 90.4 miles of road last year, and reported 1,367.4 miles of road in the state system. In Massachusetts 79.2 miles of road were surfaced, the total state system including 1,477 miles of road. Rhode Island reported 32.2 miles of road surfaced, the total mileage in the state system, 761.6.

The total mileage of roads surfaced in New England last year was 622.9, while throughout the country more than 17,000 miles were surfaced. It is estimated that at the end of 1923 there were surfaced roads in the state systems totaling 111,400 miles.

TREASURY RULING COMPELS LAWYERS TO QUALIFY

Lawyers who expect to appear in any official capacity at prohibition hearings in the future must, according to an order from the treasury department effective Sept. 1, qualify to practice before the treasury department. The specifications included in section 230 of the circular issued by the department Aug. 15, 1923, have not been understood to govern prohibition hearings in this state, officials said, but the new order issued by Commissioner of Internal Revenue D. H. Blair demands fulfillment of the rulings in the prior circular.

The new order, in part, follows:

"All attorneys and agents appearing in behalf of any person in any matter whatsoever now pending, or that may hereafter arise, in the prohibition union, or before any branch office thereof, or before any agent or officer of the prohibition service, are required to be enrolled and admitted to practice in accordance with the regulations contained in department circular 230, of Aug. 15, 1923, and amendments thereto, and they shall be subject to all regulations governing attorneys, agents and other persons representing claimants and others before the treasury department and officials."

A two-page questionnaire contains personal and technical queries that must be answered to the satisfaction of the officials of the prohibition unit conducting the hearing before the applicant will be permitted to appear. The ruling has particular reference to revocation of permit hearings before the prohibition administration, officials said.

TICKET IN BOZRAH NAMED BY DEMOCRATS

At the town hall in Bozrah Friday evening the democrats held their caucus for the selection of candidates for the town ticket in the coming election. The caucus was called to order at 8 o'clock with John J. Sweeney as chairman and John F. Fields, as clerk. The following candidates were selected:

Assessor, Jabez G. Lathrop; board of relief, Jeremiah J. Sullivan; selectmen, Frank L. Lathrop, Ira G. Wheeler; town clerk and treasurer, W. W. Bentley; tax collector, John K. Proctor; registrar of voters, Patrick J. Sullivan; town school committee, John F. Fields, Mrs. Mary E. Sweeney; constables, Isaac J. Perkins, Martin Hetherington, William Kane; grand jurors, Jeremiah P. Allen, Frank D. Austin, Walter A. Wilson; auditor, Michael F. Sweeney.

WILL SELL BRANDEGEE'S INTEREST IN SYNDICATE

Justice Hochling of the District of Columbia supreme court has granted permission to the National Bank of Commerce and W. Don Lundy, administrators of the estate of the late United States Senator Frank B. Brandegee of New London, to sell the estate's interest in the syndicate holding title to the Ebbitt hotel in Washington for $7,000.

The administrators were directed to transfer the estate's interest in the hotel to the Stormfeltz-Lovely Co., of Washington. The property has been offered to the National Press club for the erection of an 11-story building at a cost of $9,000,000. It is now said that with this transfer and the disposition of the former senator's holdings in New London and Maryland, it is probable that his estate may prove sufficient to meet his indebtedness.

Automobile Licenses Suspended

Notices from the state motor vehicle department have been received by the police department that the drivers' licenses of the following have been suspended:

Using the scales of herring as material, manufacturers are now turning out artificial pearls that sell for as high as $200 each. Only experts can tell them from the genuine.

SMALL BOY DROWNED IN RIVER AT BALTIC

Slipping off a ledge into the Shetucket river Friday morning about 10 o'clock, John Parkinson, three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Parkinson of Baltic, was drowned. The body was recovered about two hours later by Allan House of Hanover who had been conducting a search with Charles H. Donnelly and Officer McGuire after it had been learned that the boy was missing.

A seven year old girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Gaucher, came back from the river, it is understood, and told her mother that while she and the little Parkinson boy were on the ledges he said "let's go further and take a swim". She refused to go but he went on and she became frightened and ran home to tell her mother that John was swimming in the river.

After the men had been searching for some time with boats up and down the stream, some women on the easterly shore told them they had seen the children on the high ledges and had seen one of them drop into the water. Albert Cote also helped to locate the body by telling the searchers that something like a body had been seen under the ledges. Shortly after this House drew the body from the water.

After the medical examiner Dr. George Thompson had given permission for the removal of the body, it was taken in charge by Undertaker G. G. Grant.

Besides his parents the child is survived by four brothers and sisters.

JUDGE RESERVES DECISION ON MOTION LIST MATTERS

The first short calendar for the September session of the superior court with Judge Allyn L. Brown presiding was held Friday morning in New London.

Judge Brown took the papers after hearing the arguments in the suit of Adelene Palmer Lee against Dr. Harry M. Lee and others on the plaintiff's appeal from ruling of clerk on bill of costs of the Norwich Savings Society.

He also took the papers on the approval of the account of Receiver Frank W. Browning of the Uncas Paperboard Co. The accounts were from June 26 to July 18, 1925 and from July 18 to August 22, 1925. The hearing was postponed on a motion for order approving and confirming accounting made by receiver by H. G. Crain Co., Ltd.

The receiver's report shows a profit of $13,788.48 for the whole period of which $12,167.30 accrued from March to July and $1,621.18 from July 18 to Aug. 22.

In Schumacher vs. Empire Laundry Co., two weeks were given for a more particular statement.

Defense was disclosed in Kelly, trustee, vs. Norwich Savings Society and motion for default went off in Wikander vs. Meek.

In Bradley vs. Hyder and others, for disclosure of defense and judgment of foreclosure, the matters were postponed.

In Gavitt vs. Ducy, Gavitt vs. Murphy and others, Toomey vs. Ducy, Twomey vs. Murphy and others, all motions for disclosure of defense or judgment, there was postponement.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS BEGIN WITH 4,314 PUPILS

The Norwich public schools are opening with a registration of 4,314. According to the census that has just been taken by the school authorities, which is 87 more than the census at the corresponding time last year, but only 2 more than the school census about the end of last September.

JEWETT CITY MAN HELPS IN ELOPEMENT

With the bride's father speeding to Boston by the fastest express train in an attempt to prevent the wedding, Angie Pearl Smoak and Charles W. Culler, Jr., both of Orangeburg, S. C., were safely married at Wellesley, Mass., Wednesday night at the home of Harold J. Smith, Boston lawyer, and brother-in-law of the groom. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Stanley Ross Fisher, pastor of the Wellesley Congregational church.

It was estimated that the pursuing father could not reach Boston before Thursday morning, so the wedding service was followed by a reception, and when the newly-married couple left for a wedding trip to the Canadian Northwest.

The bride, who is the daughter of J. W. Smoak, a hardware merchant and the chairman of the South Carolina Highway commission, is 20 years old. Her father, it is understood, believes she is too young to marry Mr. Coued. She is a graduate of Martha Washington college.

The bridegroom was graduated from Clemson college, S. C., in 1921. He is the son of a wealthy cotton planter, Charles W. Culler, whose home is at 267 Russell street, Orangeburg. He is 22 years old.

To keep Miss Smoak from becoming Mrs. Culler, the father sent her to Europe. She dutifully spent the Summer in sight-seeing, but upon her return to New York on the steamship Orca, she sent a radiogram to her sweetheart.

Mr. Culler got his most powerful touring car and loaded into it his chum, A. Matthewson of Jewett City, Conn., who was his best man at the wedding, and two other friends. Walter M. Gansler and Wesley Farnum.

The quartet made the dash to New York, where they picked up Miss Smoak. They then came to Boston and applied at once to Judge Logan for a five-day waiver of their marriage license, which was granted.

Then, still working against time, because the father of the bride had discovered the plans for the wedding, they made all arrangements for their marriage. Miss Alice Blair of Wellesley was the bridesmaid.

SPITBERGEN PEOPLE LIVE IN COMFORTABLE HOMES

BARENTSBURG, Green Harbor, Spitzbergen, Sept. 11—(AP)—Travelers who imagine Spitbergen to be inhabited by a few rough trappers and sealhunters, living on raw blubber in wretched hovels, are agreeably surprised at the comforts and even luxuries enjoyed at the different administration buildings at Barentsburg, Longyear City and Ny Aalesund.

These local headquarters of the different coal companies are veritable havens of refuge to the few visitors who lack the comforts of the tourist steamers which run up to these ports during Spitzbergen's brief summer season, between July 15 and August 15.

There is no field here for the "drummer." All supplies are provided by the coal companies, and may be obtained at reasonable prices fixed for the common benefit by the company administrators.

Here is Barentsburg, all the houses, which are of wood, as they are elsewhere in Spitzbergen, look trim and freshly painted. The local director's house, high up the mountain side, is easily the finest in the archipelago. Steam-heated, with double doors and windows, music and billard rooms, a well-stocked library, priceless fur rugs on polished floors and old Dutch masters on the walls, Director Dresselhuys' far northern home appears as if it might have been bodily transplanted from the finest residential quarters of The Hague or Amsterdam.

CHANGEABLE WEATHER CAUSES LOSS OF NUMEROUS ARTICLES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11—Rain and sunshine play tricks on the average person's bump of forgetfulness and and make busy days for the lost-and-found department of the Los Angeles street railway. Alfred T. Clothier, manager of the department, said that 1,500 umbrellas left on the street cars in one day testified to this.

A rainy morning will find many street car patrons carrying umbrellas. Sunshine in the afternoon means a busy time for employes of the department, for hundreds of the workers and shoppers get off the street cars leaving their umbrellas still beside the seats they occupied.

An aggregate of 12,371 miscellaneous articles were turned in to the department during the first six months of 1925. Money found loose and in pocketbooks totaled $3,883.57, of which $1,282.18 was returned to the owners.

CARNATIONS USED AS BAIT FOR RATS IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11—The fragrant garden variety of carnations, used as bait, has proved far more irresistible than chees to the rat population of the Hall of Records and Court House buildings here.

Discovery was made recently by L. C. Robinson, chief janitor of the two buildings, after several weeks of investigation, that rats have a liking for carnations. Through the use of the flowers as bait in traps large numbers of the rodents, which gradually were reducing hundreds of law and record books to a sad state of dilapidation, were exterminated.

COOPERATIVE SOCIETIES GROW APACE IN RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11—(AP) Cooperative Societies in the Soviet Union have grown in the last few years to a membership of 22,000,000 reports gathered by the Russian Information Bureau here show. The Cooperatives' membership in all other countries is given as 8,000,000. The government, it is said, takes no part in the business processes of the Cooperatives except to facilitate credits and assist in extending their capital.

Foreign trade carried on last year by the Cooperatives for their members is shown to have amounted to about $30,000,000.

The Consumers' Cooperatives, foremost in importance, now includes 24,516 societies, with 42,000 shops and stores and 8,000,000 shareholding members. The business turnover last year was reported to have been $701,000,000.

Next in importance to the Consumers' Cooperatives are the agricultural Cooperatives with 45,000 societies and 4,000,000 peasant members. Their business turnover last year was reported to have been $700,000,000.

Next in importance to the Consumer's Cooperatives are the agricultural Cooperatives with 45,000 societies and 4,000,000 peasant members. Their business turnover in 1924 was $318,750,000.

In addition to these two, other Cooperative societies include home craftsmen embracing pottery makers, carvers, weavers, metal workers, painters and other artisans; housing, building and renting; local credit; timber industry and hunters and trappers.

COAL PLAYS LEADING PART IN INDUSTRIAL POLITICS

BERLIN, Sept. 11—(AP)—Coal still rises in Europe as an important political factor, being involved in many of the political and economic negotiations between the nations. Around it revolve many problems of industry, unemployment and diplomacy, with Germany, France, Poland, England and the Saar district all affected to a greater or less extent.

Recently coal proved the most important factor of a German-Polish controversy. Poland insists upon Germany taking a monthly allotment of 350,000 tons of Polish coal, whereas the German government has emphatically fixed the maximum of Polish coal imports at 100,000 tons.

The semi-official Deutsche Diplomatiche Correspondenz pointed out recently the significance of coal as a political factor and cited how, in the economic negotiations between France and Germany that commodity had become the central object for consideration; how the problem of the Saar coal mines, the deliveries of war reparations coal, the growing importance of German coal in solving the acute iron ore problem of the Lorraine mines, and many other similar developments all tended to place coal in the center of political discussions.

Unemployment in England has been attributed here, to a considerable extent, to the reaction that set in after their period of coal prosperity, enjoyed while competing fields in Germany's Ruhr district were involved in settlement of war reparations.

TABLET TO COMMEMORATE COMPOSER OF FAMOUS SONG

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa, Sept. 11—A tablet to perpetuate the memory of Rev. William S. Pitts, composer of the internationally known song, The Church in the Wildwood, soon will be erected on the church near Nashua, which was the inspiration for the song.

Rev. Mr. Pitts came from Wisconsin in 1857 to become pastor of the church, known as the Little Brown Church in the Vale. It was then in the midst of a thriving settlement, which has since been abandoned. Services, however, are held in the little church each Sunday afternoon, conducted by the pastor who serves at Nashua.

A tablet also will be erected in memory of the church's first pastor, Rev. John K. Nutting.

STRIKE CLOSED THE NEW HAVEN SHUBERT THEATRE

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The New Haven Shubert theatre closed here tonight when the New York orchestra that has been accompanying "the Vagabond King" which has been playing here this week, struck in sympathy for the local orchestra which has been asking an increase in wages and a guarantee of 25 successive weeks of work. The stage hands also went out in a strike in sympathy. Nearly $2,000 was returned to theatre ticket purchasers tonight.

POQUETANUCK GUILD ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the Woman's Guild of St. James' church, Poquetanuck, was held in the Poquetanuck parish house, Thursday afternoon, Rev. Thomas H. M. Ockford, pastor of the church, presided at the meeting. The following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Charles Weeks; vice president, Mrs. Arthur Smith; secretary, Mrs. Charles Harkness; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Hart; auditor, Miss Alice Ockford; first director, Mrs. Alanson Fuller; second director, Mrs. Fred Nickolai; third director, Mrs. William Mitchell.

Lang Succumbs to Movies

OBERAMMERGAU, Sept. 11—(AP) Anton Lang, the famous Christ impersonator of the Passion Play, has at last succumbed to the offers of a film company. Standing in his workshop he was filmed as one of the principal characters in a local film.

A Romantic History

Necessity forced the Hudson Bay Co., a trading corporation engaged in collecting furs, to become a government that ruled from the Great Lakes to the Arctic Circle. How absolute this power might be, and in some cases was, is illustrated by the strange story of Donald Smith, afterward Lord Strathcona, whose name is honored in every part of the Dominion of Canada. The history which contains all the elements of a romance or a melodrama, is a matter of record in the company.

Almost 70 years ago a young Scotchman came from his native land to take a place in the Hudson Bay Co. He served it with scrupulous fidelity, and he began to feel at home in the place where he was stationed.

One day an Indian runner came to him with an order to leave his post in one hour and betake himself to Labrador. The order did not permit him to wait to pack his clothing which he was informed, would be sent after him.

Although the order exiled him to an American Siberia, and was unaccompanied by any word of explanation, he obeyed it without a word of remonstrance. Within the hour he was on his way to the distant and inhospitable post. He was kept there 2 years. On the death of the governor of the company, who had sent him into exile, he was recalled.

As during this long, trying time he had been a wise, faithful servant of the company, he was now promoted from position to position, until finally he became its governor. The exile was a harsh measure and the reason of it a mystery, but an old settler put it in another light. The company governed by military discipline, and ordered those subordinates to perilous service whom it could rely on to endure privation and cope with danger in the spirit of a gallant soldier.

BERLENBACH SCORES TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT OVER SLATTERY IN 11TH

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The worlds light heavyweight championship, which has perched atop five heads in the last five years, withstood the challenge of youthful Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, New York, under the sturdy defense of Paul Berlenbach, rugged title-holder of Astoria, N. Y., before a throng of 35,000 at the New York American League Baseball park tonight.

Unable to conquer that greatest of ring foes, the mental hazard of the comeback, the stout-hearted Irish boy from Buffalo went down in the eleventh round of a fifteen round battle under the terrific punches of the champion after gamely fighting back under a gruelling, relentless attack which floored him six times before refered Patsy Haley stepped between the fighters and awarded Berlenbach a technical knockout.

Slattery suffered a knockout only a little more than two months ago at the hands of Dave Shade, a California welterweight.

Slattery, fighting the first fifteen round bout of his career was no longer able to muster sufficient strength to protect himself. He sagged to the floor under a terrific left at the start of the eleventh.

He was no sooner on his feet than Berlenbach floored him again with a left. The Buffalo youth, taking a count of nine, was barely able to rise. He reeled into the ropes near Berlenbach's corner and the champion smothered him with gloves as he sagged on the ropes. There the fight ended—one minute and twenty eight seconds after the start of the round.

Berlenbach left the ring with liberal applause, but it was nothing to the long ovation for Slattery, who, weighing only 161 1-2 to the champion's 173 had measured up to the expectations of a fistic throng that could still see victory in the battle of the beaten man against ring odds which few great fighters have been able to surmount.

Frankie Schoell, of Buffalo, N. Y., won a judges' verdict over Harry Galfund of Brooklyn in the 12 round semi-final match. Schoell wore down his opponent with a tantalizing right and floored him for the count of eight in the eleventh. Schoell weighed 149 and his opponent 152.

Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia light heavyweight, won a judges' verdict over Young Marullo, of New Orleans, in a fast eight-rounder. Loughran was far more clever than his aggressive opponent and landed more cleaner blows. Marullo tipped 170 and his rival one pound less.

Meyer Cohen, of Holyoke, Mass., outpointed Barney Shaw, of New York, in a six round preliminary to the Paul Berlenbach-Jimmy Slattery light heavyweight championship fight at the American league baseball park tonight. The winner weighed 149 while Shaw was two pounds lighter. Joe Morrison, of Binghamton, N. Y., was the referee.

The Fight by Rounds

Round one:

Slattery started to dance around the champion with lightning speed. They exchanged light blows. Slattery pulled up an uppercut to the champion's jaw. They clinched. Both landed to the head. The champion staggered Slattery with right to body. Another uppercut rocked Berlenbach. A straight right and left to jaw backed the champion to the ropes. Slattery was boxing prettily. They were dancing at the bell.

Round two:

Slattery led with right to head but took Berlenbach's heavy right in return. Berlenbach chased his challenger half way around the ring. Berlenbach scored to the body at close quarters. The champion rushed Slattery to the corner and had him groggy with a furious charge. A heavy right sent Slattery back on his heels. They were in a clinch at the bell.

Round three:

Slattery crashed to Berlenbach's body. Slattery's left jab was bothering the champion. Berlenbach slowed Slattery with right to body. There was much wrestling. The champion was landing frequently to Slattery's head and body. A smashing left square to the face had Slattery groggy and he reeled about the ring in an uncertain fashion hanging on to the champion whenever possible. The champion was weakening his opponent with heavy blows. The bell found the challenger in a groggy condition.

Round four:

Slattery continued to dance around with Berlenbach right after him. Slattery looped a weak right to the champion's head. Berlenbach was frantically endeavoring to get over his finishing right. A left to the chin sent Slattery reeling again. The challenger got over a pretty right to the face and followed it with an uppercut and another right. Both missed weak jabs just as the gong sounded.

Round five:

Slattery staggered Berlenbach with a bouncing right to the chin. A right ripped off the challenger's jaw without harm. Slattery started to punch with Berlenbach and held his own in an interesting skirmish. A straight right and left backed Slattery to the ropes. Slattery's jabs were bothering Berlenbach. The Buffalo lad was coming back. The crowd was in an uproar and straw hats came from all directions as the bell found Berlenbach on the defensive.

Round six:

Slattery rocked Berlenbach with a stiff uppercut. The champion sent his challenger's head back with his lunging left. Slattery was boxing cleverly.

Slattery put across a pretty straight right which sent Berlenbach back on his heels. They traded body blows. Every other charge was a clinch. Just as the bell rang Slattery sank his right to Berlenbach's ribs.

Round seven:

Berlenbach landed a pretty right but took three left jabs to the head. The challenger doubled Berlenbach with a well timed right to the stomach. Another right caught Berlenbach's unprotected chin. Slattery landed right to the chin and clinched to save himself. There was much wrestling, pulling and hanging on by both principals. Slattery measured Berlenbach with a right to the head just as the bell stopped the round.

Round eight:

Berlenbach turned Slattery half way round with right to head. Three times Slattery's gloves found Berlenbach's face without a return. The referee was continually prying them from a clinch. Berlenbach almost floored Slattery with a right to the head. The Buffalo boy staggered half way across the ring. Slattery took three for one in a mix-up in the center of the ring. The bell found them clinched.

Round nine:

A hard right to the chin greeted Berlenbach as the round opened. Slattery took a right to the body, but as was going away. Slattery landed to the head and body and then tied Berlenbach in a clinch. A right to the heart slowed the champion. A crashing left square to the face almost floored the challenger, but he weathered the storm. The bell found them sparring for an opening.

Round ten:

A left sent Slattery to the ropes. Slattery's style was bothering Berlenbach. Berlenbach walked into a hard right. Every other charge ended in a clinch. Three times Berlenbach landed to the head and Slattery's knees sagged. A left staggered Slattery to the ropes. Another left turned him around. They wrestled and Slattery went down from the force of the charge. He was up at eight. Another push from Berlenbach sent him down for nine. The champion bored in landing almost at will at this defenseless challenger. He went down but the bell saved him at the count of four.

Round eleven:

A stiff right to the jaw floored Slattery again for a count of nine. The challenger was absorbing terrific punishment. Another lunge sent Slattery down for a count of nine again. They wrestled and Slattery went down again and was up at nine.

Berlenbach rushed him to the ropes with powerful rights and lefts poured a furious charge at the utterly defenseless challenger. The referee stalled to step in to stop the fight but stopped when Slattery appeared to be weathering the storm. Three times Berlenbach smashed to Slattery's unprotected face and the Buffalo boy started to sink to the canvass. Referee Patsy Haley then stopped the fight and waved Berlenbach to his corner.

GITLITZ KNOCKED OUT NOLAN IN FIRST ROUND

STAMFORD, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Murray Gitlitz, of New Haven knocked out Billy Nolan, of Stamford, in the first round of a scheduled ten round fight here tonight. Gitlitz weighed in at 124 pounds, his opponent one pound less.

Willie Mack, of Stamford, knocked out Bob Slater, of Omaha in the fifth round of their ten round bout. They are lightweights.

Charles Stecher, of Stamford, was put out by Sammy Cooper, of New Haven, in the fourth of a six-round fight. Each weighed 144 pounds.

FINALS IN DOUBLES SCHEDULED TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, former National champion, and Miss Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Calif., will meet Miss Elizabeth Ryan, California, and Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, Wilmington, Del., tomorrow in the final round of the Middle State Women's Lawn Tennis championship tournament, at the Philadelphia chicket club.

In the semi-finals today Mrs. Mallory and Miss Jacobs defeated Miss Edith Sigourney, Boston, and Miss Anne Townsend, Philadelphia, 6-3 6-2. An hour before the match started Miss Jacobs had successfully defended her title as girls' National Champion by defeating Miss Alice Francis, of Orange, N. J., in the final round.

Miss Ryan and Mrs. Jessup eliminated Miss Eleanor Sears, Boston, and Miss Molly Thayer, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-0.

Mrs. Mallory and Mrs. Jessup are the finalists in the Middle States singles, and will meet in the championship round tomorrow. Both won their semi-final matches yesterday.

BAD FIRST INNING COSTS INDIANS GAME

AMERICA'S SUPREMACY IN REALM OF INTERNATIONAL TENNIS IS SECURE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—(By the A. P.)—America's supremacy in the realm of international tennis is secure for another year.

The United States clinched its hold on the Davis cup, emblem of this supremacy, today when R. Norris Williams, captain of the defending forces, teamed with the young New Yorker, Vincent Richards, to give France's gallant challengers, Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste, their third straight and decisive defeat in the challenge round series.

Before a gallery of 8,000 fans at the Germantown Cricket club, the American pair, a new doubles combination in cup play, turned back the Frenchmen in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3, in a match that was one sided in spite of the apparent closeness of the scores.

Coupled with the singles triumphs yesterday of William T. Tilden over Borotra and William M. Johnston over Lacoste, it gave America the three victories necessary to decide possession of the cup, the remaining two singles matches tomorrow, with Tilden facing Lacoste and Johnston opposing Borotra, will be played as scheduled but their outcome will have no effect on the championship.

Today's triumph assured the United States her sixth successive season of Davis cup supremacy. It was the ninth victory this country has scored in the twenty international tournaments, for the famous trophy since 1900.

France's plucky pair faced fresh opposition today in Williams and Richards and together they found it more difficult to solve than that which they encountered separately yesterday in the singles. The effect of those bitterly fought opening battles left its mark on the two invaders, for neither was at his best except for occasional flashes. They were beaten back in little more than an hour's play.

Borotra, partly from the intense heat that has prevailed here during the series and partly from the nervous strain of his great battle against Tilden, slept hardly a wink last night. He was drawn and tired looking today as he took the courts. Even so he was the dominant factor on his side of the net until he wilted toward the end, though it was chiefly his superb grit that carried him to such heights as he reached.

Against the superior team-work and steadiness of the American pair, Lacoste and Borotra fought a losing battle from start to finish. Richards and Williams broke through Borotra's service in the first game of the opening set and were never headed after that. They had to check several spectacular rallies by their foes. Notably in the second set, when Borotra, and Lacoste pulled up to four-five after trailing at 1-5, but the end was in sight. It came finally in the ninth game of the third set when Borotra's delivery again was broken through for the deciding points.

Williams, veteran American leader, was the more spectacular of the two players on the defending side but he was also the more erratic. Where he gave his team many points with dazzling volleys at the net, he also was guilty of many errors in critical moments. It was Richards who was the steadying influence, volleying and driving with rare skill and confidence.

The Frenchmen fought pluckily for every point, however, with all the resources at their command. Even when they were facing the inevitable in the final set. The first five games of this set, all bitterly contested, went to deuce before the French attack was finally broken up.

A break through Borotra's service in the fifth game was the turning point. The French managed to win one more game behind Lacoste's delivery but it checked only momentarily the deciding American rush. Even so, match point was called twice in the final game and struggle prolonged to deuce before the challengers yielded.

In an exhibition match afterward, John B. Hawkes, of the Australian Davis cup team and Howard Kinsey of San Francisco, defeated Jacques Brugnon, French substitute player, and Manuel Alonso of Spain, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5.

The point score and stroke analysis, first set:

Richards and Williams 461, 424, 840, 4—34—6.

LEADERS STILL HOLD FULL SEVEN GAME LEAD

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Lawrence's challenge, "don't give up the ship," finds a modern counterpart in the vigorous fight the veteran Connie Mack is making to have returned to Philadelphia the American League pennant which has not flown there since 1914.

The Yankee home run sharpshooters were able to register no direct hits on the Athletic scow today and it moved serenely along the course Mack has laid out for it to head off the Washington Senators in their cruise toward the champion. "Lefty Groves proved an apt Helmsman for the first time in several weeks and emerged from the Cannonading with a 5 to victory nailed to the Athletics' mastehead.

Realizing that the Mank club's comeback is no hollow threat, Washington took a five to four decision over Boston, to retain a seven game lead. The standing:

Washington	86	48	.462
Philadelphia	78	54	.591

John McGraw's giants maintained their stern chase after the Pirates, knocking off the Dodgers, 4 to 2, while the St. Louis Cardinals humbled Pittsburgh, 5 to 3. The Margin between the clubs was reduced to seven games. The standing:

Pittsburgh	84	51	.623

MOOSUP CLASHES WITH SOUTHBRIDGE SUNDAY

On Sunday afternoon the fast Southbridge, Mass., team will meet the Eastern Connecticut champs on the carpet grounds at Moosup. Mgr. Loughran has signed up a very high class bunch of ball tossers to represent his town, Moosup.

As Southbridge always gives Moosup, or any semi-pro team a lot of trouble, Mr. Loughran is getting all trimmed to start the fall season right with a win; he is out to beat 'em all, no matter who they may be. As Loughran's champs took the count from Southbridge here the past two years 4 to 0 in 1923 and 7 to 4 last season, the club from up north is coming down to put one over on Moosup if possible. Loughran says it can't be done with the carpet grounds all cleaned and rolled by ground keeper Israel Frechette and the following lineup:

When Umpire Jamieson of Providence yells out "Play" Sunday at 2 p. m. sharp, D. S. T., Moosup will take the field prepared for a good stiff battle with "Chick" Davis and "King" Bader, Boston Red Sox pitcher; "Paddy" Maroney of the University of Vermont c; Frechette of Moosup 1st; "Ray" Doyle of Providence college 2d; clean up hitter Harold Janvrin of Boston Red Sox and Brooklyn National infielder as; "Shorty" Faulkner or "Eddie" Burns 3rd.

Here is another great treat for true lovers of the national past time. Mgr. Loughran has secured "Joe" Morrissey, the Holy Cross flashy south fielder, known in college circles as slugging Joe Morrissey. He has one more year at Holy Cross and then goes to the Pittsburgh Pirates. His stella work will be keenly watched Sunday.

"Rip" Conway of Boston college ex, will also be in uniform. "Jack" Clabby, the home run king of last season's Moosup champs will be seen in one of the outer gardens. "Kid" Allard of P. H. S. will be used as utility catcher and outfielder. "Joey" Kendrick for infield and outfield duty.

Southbridge will lineup as follows: Berry, p; "Lefty" Gauthier, p; Liberty, c; "Lefty" Varin, 1b; Pleau, 2b; Duffy, ss; Collette, 3b; McIntire, lf; A. Berry, cf; Glaude, rf.

Umpires are Jamieson of Providence amateur league at plate and Govern on bases.

SECOND RIVERVIEW J. B. MARTIN GAME TODAY

The second game of the Riverview-J. B. Martin series will be played on the Hospital grounds this afternoon. The game will start at 2:45 p. m. daylight time. The fans no doubt realize the rivalry that exists between these two clubs. A win this afternoon will keep Riverview in the running, but a defeat will end the series with the velvetmen, and leave the fighting to be done between them and the boys from the borough of Jewett City. No doubt, before the campaign is over, Harry Loughran's Moosup aggregation will claim the coveted title, but it can only be won on the ball field and not through the columns of this valuable sporting page. The Riverview club will present the same formidable lineup that took the measure of the Cheney Bros. So. Manchester aggregation last Saturday, they will go to the plate in the following order: Moore lf. Pincault 2b., Mills 3b., Clabby rf., Normandin ss., Stubbs cf., Harrell 1b., West p. and Belair c.

Amidst the roar of their supporters, the velvetmen will go to the plate in the following order: Murphy 2b., Descelles ss., W. Gley lf., Joubert c., F. Gley 3b., J. Murphy c., Dona rf., E. Murphy cf., and Fisher-Pepin and Lemieux p.

Morin and Curran will officiate.

TAFTVILLE PLAYS WAUREGAN TODAY

Saturday afternoon at the Providence street grounds, Wauregan will battle with Taftville A. A. in a 3 game series. The Wauregan boys have strengthened up to defeat Taftville A. A. The lineup is not known but the pitching will be done by Providence College hurler, Smith or Horan the rest of their lineup will be a surprise to the fans. Taftville will use Slody Jaris or Lefty Dugas in the box, Eccleston, catch. The rest of the lineup: A. Dugas 1b, Cardie 2b, Gauthier, ss, Yerrington 3b, Leo Jaris lf, Lefty Dugas or Slody Javis, cf, Chick Stanley rf. The game will start at 3:15 sharp. Sunday Taftville plays Wauregan at Wauregan.

WAUREGAN GRAYS PLAY TAFTVILLE A. A. SUNDAY

At Wauregan Sunday the grays will play the second game of the series with Taftville A. A. A very fast game is expected, for the boys are out to beat Taftville. Arel, who held South Windham to eight scattered hits last Sunday, will be on the Mound Sunday. Paul will do his Stuff in the Saturday's game.

The fans have gone wild over this series, and they will turn out Strong to cheer the grays to victory. Following is the line up for the Saturday and Sunday games: Bouchier, c, Reddy c, Nolan ss, W. Plankey or Gasorelk lf, Dessert 3b, a Plankey rf, De Moranville 2b, Lambert 1b, Paul p, Arel p.

FUHR'S PITCHING HANDS SENATORS GAME 5 TO 4

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Boston twice tied the count with the Senators today with two-run rallies, the second time in the ninth inning, only to lose 5 to 4 Whenfuhr, who took the mound after the eighth, permitted the bases to become loaded and then passed Bluege, forcing Goslin home with the winning run.

This victory merely enabled Washington to maintain its seven-game hold on the American League's top round, as Philadelphia s/o won.

Carlyle started the Sox scoring in the sixth by pounding out a homer while Goslin in the seventh gave Washington a temporary 4 to 2 lead by lifting the ball over the right field fence, scoring S. Harris ahead of him.

Assawaga Team Accepts Challange.

Manager Charles Tetreault of the Assawaga Baseball team accepts the challenge of the Danielson town team issued by Manager Lagace and will play them Sept. 20th (Sunday) for gate receipts, winner take all or for a purse to be decided on. Come up and try and beat us.

GAME CALLED OFF BUT YANTIC WILL PROTEST

Last night's game according to Hoyle should be forfeited to Yantic as Manager Gaskell had everyone of his men on the field ready to play when umpire Morin called the game, while the East Ends failed to have their full team on hand. True enough the weather was such that no game could be played but Yantic was ready to play while the East Ends weren't. When asked to make some statement in regards to the game, Manager Bill Pedace stated that he will not protest should Manager Gaskell claim the game by forfeit as he realizes that the Yantic team was ready to play while his wasn't, but for the benefit of those that may think that he was trying to avoid playing he would like to say that he sent down for his men who come from the State Hospital at 6 p. m. and as it was sprinkling they did not come up thinking that there would be no game.

While Manager George Gaskell has every right to claim the game by forfeit it is doubtful that he will do this as the Yantic team has proven during the life of the league to be one of the cleanest and most sportsmanlike on the field and under the circumstance would rather have the game played later than take it this way.

Will Protest Game

Manager George B. Gaskell in a statement to the Bulletin Friday night, said he would protest the decision of Umpire Morin. The game was called off by Umpire Morin because of darkness, but Manager Gaskell claims a forfeited game under rule 17 of the league, that teams must have players in uniform and on the field ready to play at 5:15 p. m.

His team was ready and but two of the East End team were on the field at 6:35 p. m., when Umpire Morin announced to the crowd that the game was called because of darkness.

The ruling will be protested at a regular association meeting and Yantic will claim the game by forfeit.

Game Sunday

On Sunday afternoon at the Duvell field the Hallville and Palace teams will play off a postponed game. There are many postponed games to be played off and at the last meeting it was voted to play off a double header on Sunday, one game between Hallville and the Palace and the other between the Palace and the E. C. P. but as th E. C. P. couldn't make it there will be only one game unless another can be arranged in the meanwhile. These two teams have been going along pretty well during the past few weeks and should Hallville win Sunday they will go into a tie for third place. Rivalry between these teams is very strong and no doubt the fans that attend the game will be well satisfied.

"Mike" Morin who has only pitched a few games this year owing to a bum leg is now in good shape and will lend his team against the boys from the mill town. The remainder of the lineup includes: Dillworth catch, Mullholland at first, Leo Morin at second, Nap Simcox at short, Chip Dugas at third and Jackson Keenan and Courbouis in the outfield.

Manager Taylor has not announced his lineup but it is rumored that he will have some of the men that played on his team against the Centrals on hand for Sunday's game. The game will be called at 2:30 D. S. T. Should there be only one game it will go the full nine innings, but should a double header be played they will play seven innings in each game.

BOSTON AGAIN SPLITS EVEN WITH PHILLIES

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Boston and Philadelphia again divided honors in a double header today. Although Genewich was hit hard in the opening game he had sensational support and Boston won 6 to 4. Knight pitched well in the second game and his double off Graham in the second inning scored two runs. Philadelphia won by that margin 4 to 2. Between games the Elks took up a collection for the rest of the Historic Frigate Constitution and placed a wreath on the tablet at Braves field dedicated to the memory of Norman D. Boeckel, formerly third baseman of the team.

NEW AGREEMENT FOR DEMPSEY-WILLS FIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(AP)—A new agreement for a heavyweight championship fight next year between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills was ordered by the New York boxing commission today after the negro challenger and his manager, Paddy Mullins, had rejected the original document signed by Jack Kearns and promoter Tex Rickard. Wills and his pilot contended that the challenger was not protected.

Mullins objected to the omission from the agreement of Wills name as Dempsey's opponent and to failure of the contract to mention when and where it is proposed to stage the battle. He also demanded some assurance that the $25,000 which he is asked to post for Wills will be returned to him in

Clerk M. Walter Flynn, Jr., read the following, in the regular session of Third District court: there being no new cases entered: Civil Docket: Michael H. Scanlon vs. Peter DeFerry. Continued one week. Ray S. Lockwood, p. in., vs. Louis Deutsch. Continued. Ray S. Lockwood vs. Louis Deutsch. Continued.

Criminal Docket: State, Frank H. Brown, chief of police of Hopkinton, vs. Clifton B. Hall. Continued. State, Thomas E. Brown, chief of police of Westerly, complainant vs. Joseph Lombardo of Elizabeth, N. J. Continued.

State, Thomas E. Brown, complainant, vs. Thomas Fiore. Continued one week.

Judge Michael J. Turano in the Friday morning session called the case of Frank H. Brown, chief of police of Hopkinton vs. Frank DeMayo, 22, of Providence, who was complained of as operating an automobile on Broad street, Hopkinton, August 16th, at an unreasonable and improper rate of speed. He pleaded guilty. Solicitor Ferguson told the court that the defendant operated his automobile through some traffic at the rate of 40 miles per hour. He was fined $10 and costs.

James Haxton, 27, was complained of as operating an automobile August 30th, at an improper rate of speed. He pleaded guilty and asked the court if he could make a statement. Attorney Ferguson stated that the offense occurred in Hope Valley, while the defendant was en route to Providence and that he operated at a speed between thirty and thirty-five miles per hour, passing two cars, which drove into the ditch. The defendant told the court that he had his mother, a sick patient, in a closed car, and did not hear the officer's whistle to stop. He said that the officer told him that they had a telephone call from Ashaway to look out for him, but he said he came to Hopkinton. Officer William Kay of Hope Valley, on the stand, told of the two automobiles which were forced to take the ditch on each side of the road. Defendant was fined $25 and costs.

The case of John Doyle, of Providence was continued one week.

In the case of James Calese et al vs. Gaetano Grispino, an old civil case instituted in 1924, Attorney Ferguson asked for judgment by default. On the warrant, he claimed, there appeared no date of entry, although there was an entrance of judgment as of the 6th of June 1924 for $290 and $4.35 and that it was impossible for the judge to have entered a decision, claiming that no service was made on the defendant and that it did not appear when the declaration was filed.

Judge Turano said that the case was out of his jurisdiction as it was over six months and that he would not disturb a judgment of the court, saying the proper procedure would be to get a restraining order from going through a levy as a sale in the case was set down for next Monday. Motion denied.

Acolina Zellar, 19, complained of as operating an automobile on September 7th in Hope Valley at an unreasonable and improper rate of speed, pleaded guilty. It appeared that she drove her automobile down a steep hill in Hope Valley when school was out at a rate of forty miles per hour, and although the officer held up his hand to stop her, she proceeded with cars parked on both sides of the road. She paid a fine of $20 and costs.

In the case of John Doyle, if the respondent does not appear in court next Friday he will be notified to appear.

In the cases of Lockwood vs. Deutsch due to a misunderstanding Attorney Ferguson was not ready, although Attorney William A. Gunning of Providence was in court and ready.

This (Saturday) morning a new bus schedule for autumn becomes effective on the bus lines of Mrs. Flora C. Mooney, proprietor of the Mooney bus lines. This schedule shows a curtailment in service on all the Rhode Island lines, due to a great falling off in patronage as the summer draws to a close.

On the Westerly-Watch Hill line, where hourly service has been maintained on week days, buses will run every two hours hereafter, with two exceptions daily. In the Westerly-Ashaway and Westerly-Hope Valley lines the elimination of several buses has altered the schedule slightly.

Bus service between Atlantic Beach and Weekapaug will be discontinued. Only four trips a day will be made hereafter between Westerly and Atlantic Beach.

The town of Westerly, acting through the town council, has filed formal complaint with the public utilities commission against the Westerly Automatic Telephone company, charging unjust discrimination against the subscribers in the Westerly Exchange, with respect to Watch Hill service. A public hearing will be held on the complaint.

In the new complaint charges that:

First, "Telephone subscribers in the Westerly exchange are required to pay a toll charge of 10 cents for each telephone message to the Watch Hill exchange; said toll is unfair and unreasonable.

Second, "Said Westerly Automatic Telephone Company has and is charging double service base rates in the Watch Hill Exchange."

The complaint arises from the fact that subscribers in the Watch Hill exchange can call Westerly subscribers without payment of a toll charge, whereas a person in the Westerly exchange calling Watch Hill must pay a toll charge.

Leon M. Cox, express driver and messenger for the Westerly branch of the American Railway Express Company, while about his duties Friday morning, was seized from behind by a German police dog of John O. Mills, and the dog's teeth were sunk in the young man's anatomy. Mr. Cox went to the office of Dr. J. DeVere Butler on Granite street where the wound was cauterized. He then continued with his express duties.

Many Watch Hill cottagers have left Westerly during the past two days for their winter homes, among them being Senator Truthan M. Newberry from "Red Top," to Detroit; I. T. Starr, from the Perrin cottage, to return to Haverock, Pa.; W. C. Robinson from Ninigret cottage to Sewickley, Pa.; George T. Eustis to Cincinnati; Ridley Watts from the Enos cottage (now sold) to Morristown, Pa.; and Carl H. Langenberg from Sunset View cottage to St. Louis, Mo., stopping over in Washington, D. C. J. F. Byers family will leave Sunset cottage on the 19th to return to Sewickley.

Harry Davis of New London, who has recently returned from a vacation visit to Atlantic City, N. J., and Washington, D. C., was a business caller in Westerly Friday.

Herbert Senior and Russell Francis have entered the employ of the Westerly branch of the American Railway Express Company.

Ralph H. Koelb, a clerk in the Washington Trust Company, has completed his duties there, to enter the employ of a Providence Bond House.

Mrs. Ella M. Burdick has returned to her home in Westerly, after a month's vacation visit at Stamford, N. Y. She is now the guest of Mrs. Warland Lewis in Ashaway.

Statement of Mr. and Mrs. Mooney

The following communication has been sent to The Bulletin:

The statement in a recent issue of your paper that Nicholas Mooney ceases to carry out the contract to transport school children from Watch Hill to Westerly because of controversy over price is incorrect.

Mr. Mooney and I feel we are being placed in a false position by such statements, and by opinions publicly expressed by members of the town council, so we ask you to permit us to explain the situation as it really is.

Mr. Tuckerman was the first one to secure bus franchises between Westerly and nearby points, but because of the expense he gave up those concessions and we being next applicants, the public utilities commission granted them to us.

Shortly after we started our lines, Mr. Tuckerman, without permission from the public utilities commission, began running a line over our franchise. So we secured a temporary injunction from the superior court last July, restraining him from operating until the court decided to dismiss the temporary injunction or make it permanent. That decision will be made when the court sits this month.

In the meantime, ignoring the court order, the Tuckerman trucks are running over our franchise and transporting school children over the routes covered thereby. This action being contempt of court could be stopped were it not that Westerly authorities absolutely refuse to take action against Tuckerman, overlooking the fact that we are legally protected by the temporary injunction and operating by consent of the public utilities commission.

Acting entirely within our rights we feel the public should have a correct view of the situation.

It would be absurd for us to operate on lines where Tuckerman is going ahead of us and taking up school children in defiance of the temporary injunction secured by us. That he is operating his lines illegally increases his responsibility for the safety of his passengers.

We are perfectly willing to abide by the decision of the court and public utilities commission whether they are for or against us, and desire only to serve the public in the best manner possible.

Besides giving careful drivers and comfortable, sanitary, well ventilated busses, we are under heavy expense of bonding and insurance in order to fully protect every man, woman and child who travels on our lines.

The Tuckerman trucks afford no redress whatever, in case of accident, except by civil process in court.

While we deeply regret the animosity shown us, for unknown reasons, we thoroughly appreciate the good will of our patrons and the admission of Westerly's leading merchants that our bus lines have naturally increased their business.

TWO LIQUOR RAIDS FRIDAY RESULT IN HOOCH HAUL

(Special to the Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Sept. 11.—Chief of Police Thomas N. Brown armed with a search warrant visited the house of Michael Algieri, corner of Pleasant and Pierce streets at 10 o'clock Friday morning, accompanied by Sergeant of Police Michael Curtin and Police Patrolmen George Madison, George H. Champlin, Robert Kesel and Fred Ferraro. In the cellar they found ten cases of 263 pint bottles of alleged beer, a two quart bottle, with one pint of alleged gin and one quart bottle of alleged whiskey, marked Fleishman Rye Whiskey, about half a pint. These were taken in two automobiles to the Westerly police station and locked up in a cell to await the action of the Third district court. At the place they also secured a tapper and saw six glass pitchers together with numerous glasses.

The place of Thomas DePaola, 78 Pierce street, was visited by Chief of Police Brown and Officers Champlin, Ferraro and Madison. Six bottles as samples were taken from a quantity marked near beer. Samples of the wet goods were sent to the state assayer in Providence for analysis.

MINISTER LISTS COUNTRY'S ILLS AS HE VIEWS THEM

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11—(AP)—The Rev. H. C. Nitz, missionary to the Apache Indians, told the Walther League in convention here recently that "after diagnosing the symptoms of our country's ailments," there is but one remedy—"Jesus Christ, the Savior of the World."

"The political situation in our country is far from the ideals embodied in our constitution; there is too much corruption, graft and injustice," he asserted. "Financially our country is reckless. Socially we are all but bankrupt. Our family life is in a sorry state. And religiously we are degenerate.

"Worldly ideas and ideals have crept into the church to such an extent that it is often difficult to tell the worldly-conformed Christian from the child of the world. Family worship is fast disappearing. Individual Bible study is at a low ebb.

"Styles of dress are becoming ever more bizarre, indecent, unchaste. And this is a mark of degeneracy, 'for the apparel oft proclaims the man.'

"The only help for America is Jesus Christ and His gospel of gracious salvation. The only workable method toward a desired change is the preaching of the Savior, with which simple story the Apostles entered the centers of idolatrous and adulterous heathendom and 'turned the world upside down.' And the reformation with all its blessings is entirely the result of the tellings of 'the old, old story of Jesus and His love.' That story can win America for Christ."

PUBLIC SEES ONLY SMALL PART OF DEVELOPED FILM

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11—The footage the film flashed upon the screen in the motion picture theater is but a fraction of the tremendous amounts used in its production. Thousands of feet of the narrow celluloid pass daily through dark rooms and laboratories of motion picture studios that dot the vicinity of Los Angeles.

At one large production plant near here approximately 170,000 feet of film weekly or 40,000,000 feet yearly go through processes that result in the pictures which pass in review before millions of theater-goers throughout the world.

Although the audience sees, in a six-reel production, only about 6,000 feet of film, often as much as 150,000 to 400,000 feet are taken. Two cameras are trained on the scene being photographed while sometimes as many as five others are used in order that the scene may be taken from every possible angle and at different speeds.

Out of the mass of film developed, on each production, the cutting department and editorial workers select the "master" negative from which the release prints are made. These are printed by machine and placed on mammoth drums which revolve slowly through developing solutions. Hundreds of prints of the "master" negative are made and sent to all corners of the globe.

POPULATION OF TURKEY SHOWN TO HAVE DECLINED

Turkey has had no real census since 1884 and that one hardly extended beyond Constantinople, then the capital. A demand for a new census is being made, but the difficulty is to find enough capable workers to enumerate the entire population in two or three days, as the figures of 1884 were revised without a canvass. All other tables have been based on police returns—admittedly inaccurate. In 1884 the population of Constantinople was recorded as 761,565. In 1906 the estimate based on these figures fixed the number at 977,762, including foreigners. A similar estimate in 1919 gave the city 1,129,665. The last estimate for 1922 was as follows: Moslem, 373,124; Greeks, 158,219; Armenians, 87,919; Jews, 40,018; others, 51,006; total, 710,286. Deducting the number who have emigrated since then would reduce the figure to 600,000, which Turkey considers much too small for its leading city. However, there is no doubt that the population has diminished in the last six years.

Lowly Ant Sensitive

That the lowly ant is as sensitive to heat and to cold as human beings, and that the ant prefers his temperature not too hot and not too cold, is shown by a report from D. F. Miller and M. Gans of Ohio State University, to appear in the next issue of the Journal of Comparative Psychology.

A group of ants in going to and from their nest were found to traverse a certain path on the face of a stone. On one side of this path a covered electric light bulb was placed to serve as a source of controlled heat. On the other side was placed a brine coil inclosed in an iron can, from which a draught of cold air could be made to cross the path.

The closer the source of heat was placed to the path, the more the ants deviated in passing this spot. With the heat turned off and the cold draught operating, the ants again deviated in passing the spot which was cold.

The hot rays from the sun were found to be as effective as the artificial heat. At noon, when the sun's rays beat directly down upon the path of the ants, they sought to avoid the heat by deviating, but, finding it impossible to dodge the heat in this manner, they speeded up their travel and simply ran away from the heat.

Germans Read Ford

Henry Ford's book, translated into German, has been widely read in Germany and has had a deep effect. Many German industrialists are convinced that only through the introduction of the Ford system of specialization and credit can German business return to its former flourishing condition.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

The first week in September, 1875, a half century ago, was a busy one in Norwich. Plans for the annual county fair were being discussed and Prof. Allen, the balloon man visited Norwich to make arrangements for the balloon ascension. According to The Bulletin of that week, Prof. Allen used an entirely different form of gas to fill the balloon. Whereas, today the balloon man uses hot air generated by a wood fire in a pit, Prof Allen used a tank, 2,500 pounds of sulphuric acid, 3,500 pounds of iron borings, 3,000 gallons of water and 1,000 pounds of ice. Interesting events taken from the files of The Bulletin of that week, follow:

Monday, Sept. 6, 1875—There was a boat race on the river Saturday afternoon between Spellman and Goff in one boat and Henderson and Meff in the other; all employes of the Richmond stove works. Henderson and Meff beat by two boat lengths; distance, one half mile; time, thirty minutes. The race was rowed in ordinary working boats.

Capt. Breed Brown of Preston, who was buried yesterday, was probably the oldest person in the town, being 92 years of age. He served in the militia in the defense of Stonington in the war of 1813-1814.

John Colby of Mystic has invented a patent umbrella which can be turned inside out without being damaged. The patent does not insure its being returned.

The services at the Central Baptist church yesterday were of unusual interest. The occasion was the 35th anniversary of the school.

Those who intend to visit the Indian festival at Mohegan this week will be interested to know that carry-alls will be in waiting at the station for all trains.

Tuesday, Sept. 7, 1875—George Miele, a man about 40 years of age, employed by the contractor of the Laurel Hill tunnel, fell dead yesterday morning while removing a chain from the derrick. A jury of inquest returned a verdict of death from heart disease.

Albert Culver of Norwich, but temporarily residing in Hartford, had a narrow escape from death Saturday. He fell from a two story building in Suffield and struck on his head and shoulders on a pile of timber. It was found that his injuries were much lighter than was first supposed, as the only injury was putting his shoulder out of joint.—Hartford Post.

A Noank woman, 53 years old, went out of the state for the first time last week.

The Ella will make her last regular trip to Block Island tomorrow. Passengers will find everything they can wish prepared for their comfort on board.

Several vessels with cargoes for the city were anchored in the river last night waiting for a wind.

Wednesday, Sept. 8, 1875—The County Fair—The New London Agricultural society commence their twenty-first annual exhibition on their grounds near the city next Tuesday and as usual continue for three days. The races will be good as the extra purses of $200 and $150 are sufficient to induce good horses to enter. Everything seems to be auspicious for a large and successful exhibition.

The new targets for the rifle club have been placed in position at the new range near Trading Cove. They are made of iron after the Creedmore patterns. A shed has also been built over the shooting stand.

A man in the eastern part of Rhode Island fired a pistol at a rat last week and hit a farmer in Connecticut, in the leg, and the feeling seems to be gaining ground in Massachusetts and Connecticut that nothing more deadly than bean shooters should be allowed in Rhode Island.

A number of gentlemen in the city have agreed to furnish a pennant to be sailed for by boats owned here, which measure less than 20 feet on the water line, with half the overhanging added, the time allowance to be two minutes to the foot. The first race will take place next Monday afternoon over a ten mile course, the boats starting from a stake off the steamboat wharf. The race is free to all.

The occupants of a house on First street, Laurel Hill, were aroused about 1 o'clock yesterday morning by someone attempting to enter the building through a lower window. They raised an alarm but the burglar escaped.

Thursday, Sept. 9, 1875—There are 90 criminal cases on the docket of the superior court which comes in at New London next Tuesday, 22 of which are from the Norwich city court. There are two murder cases, trial of which will be begun the second week of the session.

The attendance at the Mohegan festival was very good. It will be continued today and the Thamesville omnibus will take citizens to the Wigwam, leaving at one o'clock from the Waurecan corner.

Residents on Franklin street are talking of a petition to the common council to have the street fenced up and closed on the ground that it is unsafe for travel.

The directors of the Springfield and New London railroad have voted to assess the stockholders 20 per cent of their subscriptions, the assessment to be payable September 20th. This will make 50 per cent that has been called in.

Friday, Sept. 10, 1875—There are 101 civil cases on the docket of the superior court for the next term, which with the criminal makes 183 to be decided.

Prof. Allen was in town yesterday making his arrangements for the balloon ascension from the fair grounds next week and the large tanks used in making the gas were taken out and set up. He will use in the composition of the gas, 3,500 pounds of sulphuric acid, 1,000 pounds of ice, 3,500 pounds of iron borings and 3,000 gallons of water.

Four loads of blue fish were at the wharf last evening. They were taken off Nantucket and sell at six cents a pound.

Hackmen and others who expect to carry passengers to and from the fair grounds must procure their licenses today from the city clerk.

Saturday, Sept. 11 1875—The temperature last night was like fall.

What is needed in Norwich is more dead dogs.

The horse railroad will be sold by auction at 12 o'clock noon today on Franklin square.

Mr. Porteous of the first of Hislop, Porteous and Mitchell, telegraphed his safe arrival at Liverpool yesterday.

Nearly all the Watch Hill hotels are closed and the guests there are few.

J. N. Patterson, the celebrated pianist is announced to lecture on music at Breed hall some time during the winter.

ELEPHANT REPEATS ACT AFTER 14 YEAR INTERVAL

VIENNA, Sept. 11.—A decree issued by the late Emperor Francis Joseph 14 years ago, recently was vacated and the act which caused the issuance of the decree immediately was repeated by the one punished by it. The victim of the aged emperor's wrath was "Maidy," the female elephant, born at Schoenbrunn Zoological Gardens in Vienna, June 17, 1906.

When about five years old "Maidy" was being admired one day by a party which included a lady-in-waiting at the royal court. Filling her trunk from the great concrete tank which had been provided for her, "Maidy" blew the water straight into the face of the lady-in-waiting. When the emperor heard of the misbehavior he ordered the elephant's tank covered and condemned "Maidy" to go without a bath for the remainder of her life.

It happened that the nineteenth anniversary of the elephant's birth last month was a warm day and those now in charge of affairs in Austria, figuring that no danger could come from vacating the late emperor's decree, restored "Maidy's" bathing tank. The big beast plainly showed her delight with her first plunge in 14 years.

That plunge apparently recalled her last previous one and "Maidy," perhaps thinking it part of the program as before, immediately filled her trunk with water and then emptied it into the faces of the park inspector and half a dozen of his friends who had assembled to watch her get reacquainted with the tank. This time, however, the offense was overlooked.

GERMAN UNIVERSITY HONORS RETIRED ENGLISH PROFESSOR

BERLIN, Sept. 11—The faculty of Bonn University recently gave a reception to Prof. Aloys Brandl, who retired April 1 as head of the department of English. The occasion was his seventieth birthday anniversary.

Professor Brandl for many years was president of the German Shakespeare Society and is one of the best known authorities in Germany on English philology and literature.

The faculty of the university presented Prof. Brandl with a portrait of himself by Heilemann. He also received an honor scroll from his former pupils on which was recorded tribute of his services to the university in the department of English.

Imitation may be the sincerest form of flattery, but most men acquire wealth by doing what they see others himself unworthy of his sweetheart's love and after marriage spend two-thirds of his time proving it.

TEN CRIMINAL CASES IN TOLLAND COUNTY COURT

At the September term of the Tolland County superior court which opened at Rockville Tuesday with Judge Isaac Wolfe of New Haven on the bench, ten criminal cases were presented by State Attorney Thomas F. Noone. Courtland Stimpson of Columbia, on a charge of non-support of minor children, was defended by Public Defender Robert H. Fisk and entered a plea of guilty. August 3 the justice court in Columbia placed him under bonds to pay $12 a week for the support of two children. In default of the bond he was lodged in jail. State Attorney Noone recommended that he pay $8 a week toward the support of the children. Judge Wolfe sentenced him to six months in jail, with execution of sentence suspended on condition that he contribute toward the support of the children. Joseph M. Clark of Columbia was appointed special probation officer.

Anthony Norkas of Somers, charged with violation of the liquor laws in Somers July 16, was defended by Herold J. Bromage of Thompsonville. He pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by the court.

Alice Lukas of Somers, charged with violation of the liquor laws, was also defended by Mr. Bromage. She could not speak English and needed Anton Karpuszka as interpreter. The court ordered a plea of not guilty entered and she elected trial by the court.

Arthur L. Beaumont of Coventry, charged with carnal abuse of a 14-year-old child was defended by Public Defender Robert H. Fisk and entered a plea of not guilty. The alleged offense was committed on March 1 last. He selected a trial by the court.

Joseph Langhammer of Willington, charged with violation of the motor vehicle laws, was defended by William A. King of Willimantic and entered a plea of not guilty. The plea was later changed to nolo contendre and he was fined $30 and costs. The offense was committed on the Willington Hill road, June 12 when he operated a car without proper lights.

Ord J. Franz, charged with violation of the motor vehicle laws, was defended by Judge W. S. Hyde, of South Manchester and pleaded not guilty, waiving the reading of the complaint. He selected a trial by the court, which was assigned for today (Thursday).

Herbert F. Hunniford of Rockville charged with violation of the motor vehicle law and with breach of the peace, pleaded not guilty and was defended by Mr. King. He later changed his plea and his case was continued until next Tuesday for disposition. He was arrested following trouble in Everett and Walton Skinner of the Rockville were before the court on a charge of breach of the peace. They were defended by Mr. King and pleaded not guilty. This was an appeal from the justice court of Ellington resulting from trouble at Crystal Lake last month. Judge Everett Aborn of Chicago, their uncle, was in court and will assist in their defense. They selected a jury trial which was assigned for next Tuesday.

Nathan Bollock of Mansfield charged with breach of the peace letting cattle trespass and roam at large, was in court without a lawyer and said he did not believe he needed one. He pleaded not guilty and selected to be tried by the court. This alleged offense was committed at Mansfield on June 15.

ITALIAN SCIENTIFIC WORK IN AFRICA TO BE EXTENDED

ROME, Sept. 11—Encouraged by the remarkable archeological discoveries made by Italians at Leptis Magna and Sabratha in Northern Africa, a party of Italian scientists led by Dr. Ettore Ghisinzoni of the Roman National Museum, intend to begin large scale excavations at Cyrenus in the Italian colony of Cyrenaica.

Cyrenus, which has already given to the world the marvelous Venus Andyomene now in the National Museum in Rome, was the oldest and largest Greek colony in Africa. It was built in the seventh century before Christ on the highest part of western Lydia fronting the coast of Marsa Susa where the ancient port of Appolonia was situated.

Excavations which were carried on in Syrenus ten years ago showed that the ancient city contained in excellent state of preservation relics of all of the epochs of antiquity, especially the Hellenistic and the Roman. During the Roman era, the city was the capital of Crete and Cyrenus.

HONOR OF CHINESE FAMILY SAVED BY FAKE FUNERAL

PEKING, Sept. 11—(AP)—How the grandmother of a sixteen year old Chinese girl, Miss Lu, untangled a matrimonial snarl by means of a pretended funeral wherein the granddaughter was cast for the chief role is current tea-house gossip. Miss Lu was affianced to Mou Yung-ching, 24, who was in the service of Chief Executive Tsao Run. Mou had social position and had saved some money, and the marriage was to have occurred in July. While preparations were under way, however, it became known to the parents of Miss Lu that Mou had lost his situation in the executive household and that he had squandered his savings.

An engagement between Chinese young people is a serious affair, involving the honor of both families. It is a contract not easily annulled, so that the question of saving their daughter from union with a penniless husband gave the parents of Miss Lu great concern. When they had about decided that there was no way out, the grandmother stepped into the breach. She caused a coffin to be purchased and brought to the family home. The family went into mourning and word was spread abroad that Miss Lu was dead. The funeral was carried out in most solemn style, one of the conspicuous mourners being Mou Yung-ching.

After it was all over Mou discovered the ruse and learned that his promised bride had been spirited away and married to another who was well to do and who had assumed all the expense of the funeral and mourning. Mou is reported to be suing the parents for breach of contract and damages.

PHONETIC SIMILARITY CAUSES CONFUSION IN TWO TOWNS

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 11.— Confusion of the town names, Bayreuth, in Germany, with Beirut in Asia Minor, which led recently to erroneous reports that the Dutch government had decided to establish a consulate in Bayreuth instead of Beirut, recalled to the Allgemeene Handelsblad that the two names had been confused once before in 1876.

On the latter occasion, the Oriental city was somewhat surprised to receive at the time a specially constructed machine which had been the Siegfried performance of The Ring, in the first Wagner festival at Bayreuth. The machine had been made by an English firm and as Bayreuth was a small and little-known town a shipping clerk thought an error had been made in the spelling and that such a complicated bit of machinery could only be intended for Beirut.

Very few men who find themselves between his satanic majesty and the deep blue sea are ever drowned.

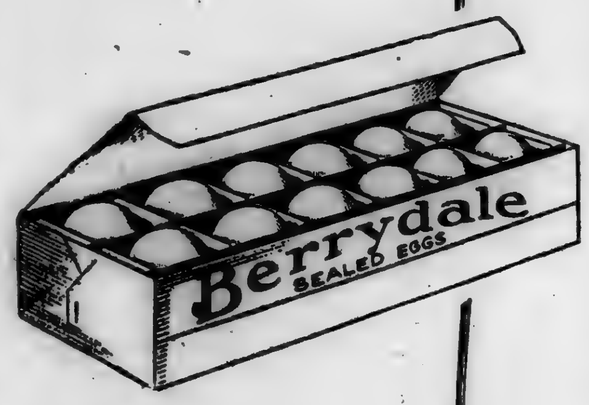
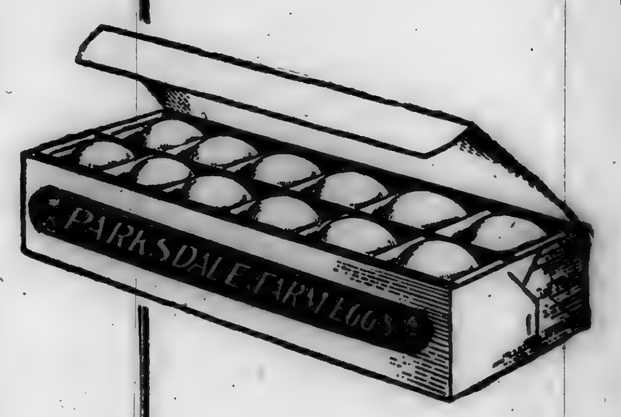
Start today to use Wedgwood Creamery Butter, Parksdale Farm Eggs and Berrydale Sealed Eggs



Berrydale Sealed Eggs

Every Berrydale egg is specially selected. Only the freshest and finest are chosen. Then each egg is dipped in a pure paraffin solution which seals the shell tight. Nothing can get into a Berrydale Sealed Egg, and none of the goodness can get out through this pure air tight seal. All the fine quality of the eggs is protected for an unlimited time. Berrydale Sealed Eggs are protected as you protect jellies and jams—with an air tight paraffin seal. Once they try them, few housewives ever go back to ordinary eggs. Ask your grocer for Berrydale Sealed Eggs. Dish Coupon and Silver Coupon in every carton.



Parksdale Farm Eggs

Nearly every housewife in this community has used Parksdale Farm Eggs and knows their high quality. They are large, full and perfect in flavor. They are laid and gathered in sections noted for high class egg production. All Parksdale Farm Eggs are carefully graded for size and cleanliness and held in a Cold Storage Warehouse that has a national reputation for scientific efficiency. Considering their high quality, these eggs are sold at a very economical price. Dish Coupon and Silver Coupon packed with every dozen.

Wedgwood Creamery Butter

For twenty-two years this wonderful butter has been used in the best homes in this community. Thousands of housewives believe it to be the best butter that money can buy.

The cream from which it is made comes from selected dairy herds. Every drop of cream in Wedgwood is scientifically pasteurized. And every pound of the butter is sealed in an airtight, odorproof carton. It comes to you fresh, sweet, wholesome and delicious. Each pound is quartered. There is no finer butter than Wedgwood.

A Dish Coupon is packed with every pound. There is also a valuable Silver Coupon in each carton.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY

This, Too, Shall Pass Away

A mighty monarch in the days of old
Made offer of high honor, wealth and gold,
To one who should produce in form concise
A motto for his guidance, terse, yet wise;
A precept soothing in his hours forlorn,
Yet one that in his prosperous days should warn.
Many the maxims sent the king, men say,
The one he chose, "This, too, shall pass away."

Oh, jewel sentence from the mind of truth,
What riches it contains for age and youth!
No stately epic, measured and sublime,
So comforts and consoles for all time.
As these few words; go write them in your heart.
And make them of your daily life a part.

Has some misfortune fallen to your lot?
This, too, will pass away; absorb the thought
And wait—your waiting will not be in vain.
Time glides with gold the iron links of pain.
The dark today leads into light tomorrow;
There is no endless joy, no endless sorrow.

Are you upon earth's heights, no cloud in view?
Go read your motto once again, "This, too,
Shall pass away." Fame, glory, and power,
They are but little bubbles of the hour.
Flung by the ruthless years down in the dust.
Take warning and be worthy of God's trust.

Use well your prowess while it lasts: leave bloom;
Not blight to mark your footprints to the tomb;
The truest greatness lies in being kind,
The truest wisdom is a happy mind,
He who despods, his Maker's judgment lacks.
The gloomy Christian is a paradox.

Only the sunny soul respects its God
Since life is short, we need to make it broad:
Since life is brief, we need to make it bright;
Then keep the old king's motto well in sight,
And let its meaning permeate each day
Whatever comes—"This, too, shall pass away."

The Road to Vagabondia

'E was sittin' on the doorstep, as I went strollin' by,
A lonely little beggar, with a wistful, homesick eye—
An' 'er weren't the kind you'd borrow, an' 'e weren't the kind you'd steal,
But I guessed his 'eart was breakin', so I whistled 'im to 'eel.
They had stoned 'im through the city streets, and naught the city cared,
But I was 'eadin' out'ard, and the roads are sweeter shared,
So I took 'im for a comrade, and I whistled 'im away—
On the road to Vagabondia, that lies across the day!

Yellow dog 'e was: but, bless you 'e was just the chap for me!
For I'd rather 'ave an inch of dog than miles of pedigree.
So we stole away together, on the road that 'as no end,
With a new-coined day to fling away and all the stars to spend!
Oh, to walk the road at mornin', when the wind is blowin' clean,
An' the yellow daisies fling their gold across a world of green—
For the wind it 'eals the 'eartaches, an' the sun it dries the scars,
On the road to Vagabondia, that lies beneath the stars,

'T was the wonder o' the going cast a spell about our feet,
An' we walked because the world was young, because the way was sweet;
An' we slept in wild-rose meadows, by the little wayside farms,
Till the dawn came up the 'ighroad, with the dead moon in 'er arms.
And the dawn was at our 'earthstring, an' the light was in our eyes;
An' we made no boast o' glory an' made no boast o' birth,
On the road to Vagabondia, that lies across the earth!

A Modern Maud

Maud Muller, on a summer's day,
Raked the meadow sweet with hay.

She loaded the tractor, nice and neat,
And in a sport suit looked too sweet.

So you would take her for a hick,
If seen afield or near the rick.

Then just as Maud shut off the gas,
Who but the Judge should come to pass!

He came to pass, but on that day
He lingered and contrived to stay;

Then speaking of the day so rare,
He invited to the maiden fair.

And saying "Girl, it must be fate
That drew me to your meadow gate."

Maud might have blushed and hung her head
But she is what she did, instead:

"If you mean wedded bliss," said she,
"Hard ever. Judge, make room for me.

"Somebody else can rake the hay
And try to make the old farm pay."

The sweetest words of tongue or pen
Fell on the Judge's ears right then.

So they were married, and thus we know
That the modern Maud is not so slow.

SOCIAL CORNER EVENTS

Sept. 16—Picnic at home of Too Late, Pleasant Valley, near Willimantic.

If you think you'll lose, you're lost,
For out of the world we find.
Success begins with a fellow's will—
It's all in the state of mind.
If you think you're outclassed, you are;
You've got to think high to rise.
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man,
But soon or late the man who wins
Is the one who thinks he can.

PREPARATION

Dear Editor and Sisters: Speaking to the point is first of all a matter of clear and pointed thinking beforehand. Some one has satisfied men of vagueness and generally of thought by saying that they tow their ideas out to sea and then escape in the fog. There is no fog in the minds of men who are able to speak to the point. Everything in their minds stands out in sunny outline, bravd and clear. Clear thinking usually requires prolonged thinking. If our views upon the problem question are hazy, it is because we have not turned the question over and over in our minds.

Think this over. Somebody said that it couldn't be done, but he, with a chuckle replied, "That maybe it couldn't be done but he would be one who wouldn't say so till he had tried." So he buckled right in with a trace of a grin on his face. If he worried he hid it. He started to sing as he tackled, the thing that couldn't be done and he did it.

Why is it so many can't stand it to see another person in the same business without speaking unkindly of them. It certainly shows poor judgment—as it belittles the knocker and helps the one who is knocked. I have seen it in practice so many times. Even if I thought it I wouldn't say it. It is in a great many ways true. We think we can't do things.

So many who declare that they cannot write an interesting letter. It brings to my mind the story about the boy who said he couldn't write a composition. At last the day arrived when he was obliged to write a composition and he was there with the different scholars and teachers when the composition was to be read on visitors' day, and a prize was awarded the one the visitors and pupils voted to be the most interesting. Everytime the prize was awarded he listened to the the names of those who had won but his was never mentioned. At last he said, he never would write another compositions "I s'pose you think I'm a coward, but I never will." His mother said, "What was your subject?"

"New York," he replied.

"But did you ever go there?"

He stared at her. "I never did," he answered sharply.

"Then why don't you write about things you know about. Some of the walks in the woods." The idea seemed so ridiculous he laughed outright.

The next Saturday he took a walk in the woods. He took a note book along with him. The gentian was opening and he caught a glimpse of the golden blossom of witch hazel.

Then he saw a swaying thistle blossom that had turned white. Then he saw a gold finch and saw how much good he was doing destroying that old thistle. Out came his note book again and he sat down and wrote the first composition he had ever enjoyed writing. A week passed and he sent in his composition, A Walk in the Woods, and received the prize. The teachers all thought it wonderful. They even published it in the paper.

It is the little things that are interesting to people. In all probability there was a great number of people that didn't know that witch hazel bloomed in October instead of the summer, and how queer the seed pods were on one bush. He saw the seed pods, the blossoms and on another the next year's leaf. So he was so happy taking notes and telling what he had learned.

PLEASED WITH CHANGE OF HALL

Dear Social Sisters: As our summer vacation is over and we are to resume our meetings again, I hope Scottie will be our hostess as was planned before. By some misunderstanding we were cheated out of our meeting last time. May we start in with new vigor and do our part which is expected of us. Hope all who promised will carry out their part in helping Scottie.

I am glad Calla Lily was able to get the Odd Fellows hall to meet in. It may be a little hard at first but we will soon be able to get things going all right.

I am very glad to know Calla Lily has decided to take her old position again, as I think her a very worthy person. It is not every one who would care to take it. As it is hard to please every one.

Chocolate: What a nice day we had Sept. 2nd. Think we enjoyed ourselves. I wish Club No. 2 every success in the new hall and am sure there will be more room to move around.

Tiger Lily: I quite agree with your letter of last week.

I was surprised to see so many of the Social Corner sisters at the Wigwam. I almost thought it a Social Corner gathering. What lovely things they had for sale. That surely showed how hard the people worked for their fair. Do we have much of anything without work? It does not seem so.

Then let us all work hard and see if we cannot have the old social times we used to have and boost the Corner instead of dragging it down.

Yours for the Corner.

VACATIONING IN MAINE

Dear Editor and Sisters of the Corner: Many thanks for pin and yellow slip. Was more than surprised to get them, especially the slip. Didn't really think I had earned it but was pleased with it just the same. I hope if any of the sisters can corn they will have good luck, and if they do it by the rule I think they will.

I am writing this on my vacation up at Portland, Me., with my daughter. It is lovely here. Sunday and Monday we took a trip down Casco bay and spent the day at Long Island. Had a fine time.

PLAINFIELD ACADEMY ALUMNI MEETING

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I have not written in a long time. When the pages is full nothing I could say would improve it, but when not full I will add my bit. My vacation this year has been nothing but short trips. September 2 I went to the meeting of the Plainfield Academy alumni. This was the twelvth reunion as we meet once in two years. I left Willimantic at 7:30 a. m. by trolley and arrived at Plainfield at 9:30 and went up to the Academy afoot and alone. I commenced to think it would be the last reunion but I found many dear friends there and we did have such a nice time visiting. There were about 50 and it seemed so good to see my old schoolmates again, as I had been to school with most of them.

I started to go to the Academy in 1871. It was closed in 1890 and a graded school is now there. There are smaller seats than when I went but I found I could sit in them. Some of them could not and did not remain there long.

We had our business meeting at 10:30 presided over by our first lady president. After the business and more visiting we registered and then the little president took me by the arm to her car and four of us went to the church where we had our dinner. There we met more friends and one of our teachers who looked as she did the last time I went to school to her which was in the 70's. I think she is the only one of my teachers living.

We had a nice dinner after which we went up to the church for our programme which was very good. I was surprised to find that my old schoolmates could do so well. I used to say what will we do without our good speakers but the girls came to the rescue all right.

There were about 70 present at the dinner and we are planning to meet again in 1927. We lost 20 members in the past two years. There are more than 70 of us but many do not attend. That's where they differ from me. I would not miss a reunion for anything. There is nothing like there gatherings.

Rev. Charles Spaulding used to say he belonged to a number of alumni associations but none appealed to him as the Plainfield Academy association. We have lost many nice members but we still have some left.

I had to leave at 4 p. m. to get a train for Willimantic but was lucky enough to have a ride with a dear friend and a good time every minute of the day. One of the school friends who didn't attend the reunion met me at the station and we had a nice visit before leaving my old home town for Willimantic.

When I went up to the Academy I stopped in Gallup street to see a friend so went across the old hotel lawn and saw what a condition that was in. What would the good people who have passed on say, if they could see that street as I saw it that morning.

I have not been to a picnic this summer. When I could go they did not have any. Was sorry to learn about Red Clover's death. Her husband has my sympathy in his sorrow.

Hope all Social Corner sisters are well and happy. As ever.

DIGHTON ROCK

Dear Editor and Cornerites: Am wondering how many of you have seen the Dighton rock near Taunton, Mass., and not many miles from Edgarton.

It is thought by many people, to have fallen from the sky. It is not glacial boulders in Massachusetts. If glacial boulders in Massachusettsi. It is bluish gray in color and of a species of rock caller gray wacke. It is five feet from the ground, with a smooth face eleven feet in length and inclined about 60 degrees to the horizon. It is covered with inscriptions which no antiquarian can decipher. The lines are about one inch wide and cut one third inch deep into the rock, with some sort of etching tool. The whole face is covered with this code message. The Indians thought the stone fell from heaven or another planet, so they called it a "witch stone." It is said there are other smaller stones inscribed with characters in eastern New England. The prehistoric remains of New England have not been studied to any great extent, owing to the extreme lack of interest in such things here.

Prof. Fatu, an expert in deciphering Norse inscriptions was not able to read the Dighton rock.

The fact remains that a rock bearing inscriptions in character, which no man has yet translated, lies north of Buzzards' bay, in Dighton, which is no a glacial boulder but got there like Paddy's flea) just the same.

I wish to thank the editor for the yellow slip. It will buy more postage stamps with which to send more letters to the Corner and to the members.

Black-Eyed Susie: Will keep your request in mind concerning the poetry.

Balsam Fir: Thanks for postal and good jokes.

Sassy: You can't keep a good Gardner down. Have I your number this time?

Welcome to our new members. Write often all of you.

Frisky Air: So you are going to blow away to Florida! Hope you'll write often.

Rural Aunty: Dry those tears, I expect to hear you will be going to visit Free Air this winter.

Aunt Jerusha: Had bad luck with slips I started for you. Will send you a cutting and perhaps you can root it.

Eve: Please write some more interesting letters or your impressions of Yankee town.

CARING FOR THE FEET

Dear Sisters of the Corner: So many complain of tired, aching feet and I have come across these helps in the August Farm Journal. It was an article headed, Protect Your Feet, by the beauty doctor. It says that our feet are most faithful and most friends. Along with many other troubles and trials of warm weather come ailments of the feet, and we become cross and irritable without knowing just what causes this condition. "My feet are as sore as a boil," is a common complaint often heard. This is truly so. My daughter's feet have bothered her so much and it was such a help to soak them in hot water. I really think much of the happiness depends upon the comfort of the feet yet the feet get but scant attention. It is better to take five minutes a day to care for them than to let them go until you begin to wish you had no feet. A few moments of care every day will put your feet in such a condition you will forget all about them. "Wear the right shoe," this beauty doctor says. In the first place choose your own house shoe carefully. Do not wear old run-over shoes, because they are comfortable. More than anything else the housewife needs shoes that fasten firmly about the ankle for her constant tripe around the house during the day. See that the heels are comfortable height and that the shoes are neatly laced or buttoned. A well-cared for shoe gives you a feeling of being well dressed that is worth consideration. If your feet are aching badly, soak them for ten minutes in a basin of warm water. Have your druggist prepare a solution of equal parts of carbolic acid, glycerin and witch hazel. Put a teaspoon of this solution in the water. After ten minutes in this bath wipe the feet carefully, rubbing off the loose cuticle. See that the nails are attended to as carefully as your finger nails and rub all hardened places on toes or soles with a bit of emery board. For painful joints or calloused spots, buy at any good drug store a 1 cent strip of mole skin. (Mole skin looks like canton flannel on one side and has a covered plaster on the other.) cut this in one-and-one-half inch squares, remove the covering from one of the squares and apply the plaster to either bunyon, joint or callous after the feet have soaked. Relief will soon follow. Renew the plaster once a week.

If you must trim a corn, use a needle, rather than a sharp knife. A corn that is cut will soon return. After the foot bath with the needle point you can lift the layers of thickened cuticle easily and the corn can literally be picked out. Powder your feet lightly with good talcum powder, put on clan stockings and your well-fitting shoes and you will feel like a new being.

Before going to bed, massage the feet well with a mixture of witch hazel and salt. Rub them well for a few minutes and file the hardened cuticle with the emery board. In the morning dust them with talcum powder, with which a little boracic acid is mixed. If the skin splits between the toes—dust with powdered chalk. For very tender feet, dissolve two tablespoons of powdered alum in a bowl of water hot as hot as can be borne and keep hte feet in this solution until it gets cold. Then dry the feet without rinsing off the alum. Keep this treatment up for ten days you will have no more tender feet.

GOOD READING

Dear Social Corner Friends: It is pretty soon for me to be writing again but I do want to endorse what Mabs said in her last week's letter relative to good reading matter for children as well as grown-ups. I often recall my youth on a farm on the outskirts of a small New England village. There wasn't much in the way of social entertainment, although what we had was good. We didn't have many so-called luxuries and there was almost too much work, especially for mother, but there was a good public library and reading room, far ahead of what was to be found in most places so small. We couldn't make much use of the reading room as it was a half mile from us but those library books entered our home in piles, often as many as six at a time. Father went in for fiction and we children of course, for juveniles but these were worth while juveniles and mother kept informed as to what was in them. Then as I grew older I read a lot of good fiction. Mother reveled in biographies, with bits of travel and history on the side. After the labors of the day and morning and washing and the like for the early evening mother would get us young folks started for bed and then for an hour or so she forgot the humdrum duties of life and went a journeying. I remember her reading Lives of the Queens of England in six volumes, by Agnes Strickland I think, Madam Roland, which dealt much with the French Revolution, The Voyage of the Jeannette, an Arctic tale, Margaret Fuller's Memoirs, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Mark Twain, Nathaniel Hawthorne, all alike interesting and instructive, and dozens of such books. So, mentally, we were pretty luxurious, especially mother. Now for years my mental bread and meat has been very similar to what was hers was then. Often now when I am reading some especially fine thing as for example the three volumes of the Life and Work of Susan B. Anthony (a story of the evolution of the status of woman) by Ida H. Harper, which I am reading now for the second time, I think again and again how mother would have enjoyed this. And what a joy good poetry may be and how desirable to commit some gems of it to memory—to repeat perhaps when one is sitting alone and feeling a bit blue. Often at such time I fold my hands and close my eyes and repeat, perhaps for an hour, poems from the old school readers learned in youthful days.

Many of you will call to mind those stirrings lines, "Stand the ground your own, my braves!" "At midnight in his guarded tent," "Thrice on that day we stood the shock of thrice a thousand foes," "Ay, fear her tattered ens'gn down!" Yes, indeed, the poems of Scott, Tennyson, Byron, Allen and Phoebe Cary, Whittier, Longfellow, Ella Wheeler Wilcox make life richer.

Our Corner poems are a really good feature of the Corner page. Will some sister or reader please send in the words of Crossing the Bar? I have been wanting them for a long time. With sympathy for those in illness or sorrow and with warm greetings to you all and welcome to the new comers.

WRITING ONCE A MONTH

Dear Social Corner: We are supposed to send in a letter every month but most of us fail to do so for we have so much to do in our homes and outside that it is really a task. When we have plenty of time we can do most anything well.

I have been doing like the rest, visiting and entertaining. Had a few auto rides which I enjoyed very much, been to three meetings of the Social Corner and had a pleasant sociable time. Met many new members and they are coming in every week.

Would like to visit No. 1 and will in October. You will know me for I'll have a flag in my hat with U. S. in large letters

Eve: I have solved your identity and hope to meet you at our next meeting. You wait until winter when the snow banks are over your head and you can't go get out, then you will wish youself back home. But maybe you and Aries will put on your seven league boots and then you can defy the elements and make your appearance at the Social Corner meeting where we can get better aquainted.

Mr. Pisces had a delightful time at the picnic and he is still talking about Rural Aunty and Last Rose of Summer. I shall have to put blinders on him or else have a table to ourselves the next time.

My best wishes to all the members and sympathy to the sick and shut ins Also thanks to the editor for my pin, which has been lost twice but thanks be I have it now where it is safe.

DAFFODIL BULBS ARE POISON

Dear Cornerites: A writer once remarked in disgust, that if you want to publish something where it will never be read, print it in an official document! In glancing through an official drug journal recently, these ironic words recurred to me with singular force, when I came across the article which told of the deadly poison contained in the bulbs of the common daffodil.

The article contained a warning note which I want to pass on. It said that in a number of cases, where people had eaten daffodil bulbs, mistaking them for onions, they had been poisoned. Not only was the action of the poison of the bulb speedy but it was necessary to consume but a very small portion of the bulb in order to become poisoned.

There is a very striking resemblance between an onion and a daffodil bulb. So if you store bulbs near the onions be careful.

GREEN TOMATO MINCE MEAT RECIPE WANTED

Dear Cornerites: It is with pleasure I take my pencil in hand to write.

I want to thank Forsaken and also Joan for their elderberry wine recipes. I'm trying both and hope I shall have good luck

Lalia: Pleasant greetings and thanks ever so much for your little treat.

Just Pete: How are you? Well, I hope. I looked to wave, night before last, but didn't see you.

Irva Lynn: It is rather late but I wanted to tell you how much your letter on The Hoboes Party interested me. I think it about the most interesting sort of good time once could have.

Alwilda: I'm glad you are enjoying your self with your folks. That lady with you is one of the best ever.

Fred's Wife: I'm going to try your one dish supper tonight.

Would someone please send me a green tomato mincemeat recipe? I'd be ever so much obliged. Best wishes to all the Cornerites.

CAPE ELIZABETH

Dear Social Corner Friends: I see the Social Corner page was not quite so full so will try to do my best to shut out the advertisements.

The history of Cape Elizabeth began in the year 1628 and is antedated by only three other white settlements in New England.

It began with a trading post on Richmond's Island. The settlers suffered severely from indian depredations during its early history and hardy pioneers were forced to leave. However, efforts of the persistent white settlers were finally successful and permanent settlements were established. The original town formed a part of ancient Falmouth and was settled about 1630, and incorporated Nov. 1, 1765.

The southern part of the town of Cape Elizabeth was divided and the town of South Portland set off March 15, 1895. What is supposed to be the oldest house standing in the town of Cape Elizabeth is the Mannaford homestead which stands near the schoolhouse in the Pond Cove district. The House is said to have been built about 1639 by George Hannaford and is still is a fair condition of preservation despite its advanced age. The contrast between the Cape Elizabeth of more than a hundred years ago and the town of today is seen plainly in the fine new structures recently erected at great expense and the modern homes that line the highways in all directions.

In fact it is doubtful if there is a similar section of near city property in the state that can boast of so many fine residences.

The Southwink Congregational church was erected in 1802. The parish was organized in 1734 and is rich in history.

Way back in 1604 the French explorer Champlain sailed along the coast of Maine, and later published charts of its harbors. He was followed by English voyagers, one of whom was Captain John Smith of Pocohontas fame, who in 1614 named the long cape at the eastern extremity of the town for Elizabeth who was princess royal of England and but 18 years of age.

The larger part of the town of Cape Elizabeth which does not front the sea is devoted to farming pursuits. It is diversified with hills and wooded areas on which were cut the heavy spars and timbers used in the shipbuilding business that flourished so many years ago. Other parts of the town are a popular summer resort. Its streets are level and overlook ocean scenery. The population is about 1600.

The bungalow that was for sale on the shore of Dry pond has been sold to a Mr. Willard from South Portland. The former owners, the Stonehams from Portland had a German police dog which was inclined to make the cottagers very uneasy for he was real cruss having bitten no less than three people. So we are all repoicing that he has gone for good. Sorry to learn Dom Pedro has been so ill. Trust she may be better soon.

I notice we do not hear from our dear sisters Ninnette Lowater, R. D. 1, Clinton, North Dakota. Why not give her a card shower? I am sending mine today. Labor day looks and feels like rain. We need it very much.

Best wishes to all from

BABY SUGGE TIONS

Dear Social Corner: Are baby suggestions welcome here?

My baby is 4 months old and has a bank account of $18 in his own name. I deposit a dollar a month (which is never missed) and he has received two gifts of $5 each "to buy him something." He is too small to appreciate a $5 gift, so the money is going to help "buy" his education. He also has a baby bank that we drop our spare pennies into, and it is nearly full.

Until a child is several years old they are contented with odd things about the house. My boy is now sitting on the floor with a string of spools, an empty salt box and a 10-cent rattle and a celluloid fish (the only things I have ever bought for him) and he is perfectly happy.

A canvas jumper has saved me countless hours of worry. Many people have them, but don't seem to understand that they must be low enough for baby's feet to just rest nicely on the floor. Start putting baby in when he is about five and one-half months old for a few minutes at a time, by the time he six and a half months he will be jumping by the hour and enjoying it. It makes their legs very strong and can be left on the porch without watching.

On hot days fill baby's tub with about two inches of warm water, put the baby in with a floating toy or two and he will splash and play for a long time. Watch to see that he does not get chilled.

A few ideas of this kind give one many hours of rest, they would otherwise not have, and teach baby an important thing—to play by himself, and not expect to be entertained every minute of the day.

Best wishes to the Corner from

SWEET POTATO RECIPES

Dear Corner Sisters: Recipes which help are eagerly sought by me and judging others by myself I am offering some for your benefit:

Supreme Sweet Potatoes: 6 large sweet potatoes, 1 1-4 cup grape juice. Parboil the potatoes with their skins on and when nearly done (about 25 minutes) cut little balls out of these with vegetable scoop, six balls from one large potato. Drop them in iced juice. When all prepared drain them, and put in frying basket. Cook ten minutes. Drain, dredge with salt. Serve hot with supreme sauce.

Serve with Supreme Sauce: Add to one pint of sauce, 3 finely chopped mushrooms, the juice of half a lemon and one tablespoon of butter. Simmer all together ten minutes. Rub through strainer and use.

Cooked Pickled Sweet Potatoes: Cut sweet potatoes in slices then put them in glass jars. For every potato put in one slice of onion, one tablespoon of grated horseradish, 6 cloves and vinegar enough to cover. The potatoes will be ready to eat in ten to twelve hours. They will not keep more than a week.

Sweet Potatoes Fried in Molasses: Have one cup of molasses in a large frying pan. When boiling put in slices of sweet potatos that have been seasoned with salt, and cooked. Fry crisp and serve hot.

Stuffed Sweet Potatoes: 3 medium sized potatoes, 1 cup minced ham, 1-2 small onion chopped, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, minced ham fat, 1-4 teaspoon salt, tabasco, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, bread crumbs.

Wash potatoes thoroughly, cut a slice off on one side and scoop out about half the raw potato. In the potato place a layer of minced ham fat, then fill the potato with ham seasoned in the following way, to the minced ham, add the small onion chopped fine, minced parsley, salt, several dashes of tabasco and the lemon juice. Cover with a few fine breadcrumbs and bake in a moderate oven until tender.

Sweet potato Sausage Meat: Pare the potatoes, cut them in halves, lengthwise and scoop out the centers. Refill with sausage meat and place together, fastening with toothpick. Place in a covered baking dish with a little hot water and bake for two hours in a moderate oven.

Sweet Potato Scrapple: 1 cup cornmeal, 1 medium sized onion, 1 carrot, 2 sweet potatoes, 1-2 green pepper, 1 cup chopped peanuts, 2 teaspoons salt.

Combine the corn meal, chopped onion, carrot, sweet potato, green pepper and salt. Cook in 4 cups of boiling water until thick. Just before removing from the fire add the peanuts, pour into a greased pan and let stand until thoroughly chilled. Remove from the mold, slice, dip in flour and saute. Serve with tomato.

Sweet Potato Luncheon Cakes: 2 cups tomatoes, about 2 cups sweet potatoes, 2 cups bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon fat, 2 teaspoon salt, paprika and pepper to taste.

Strain tomato put pulpy part into stew pan, place over fire, and when heated through stir in such potato and broad crumbs as the tomato will absorb, add the butter, salt, pepper, and other seasoning. Remove from fire, allow to cool form into balls and saute until brown on both sides. Serve with tomato sauce made as follows: 1 cup tomato juice, 1 tablespoon fat, 1 tablespoon flour, salt. Melt the fat, and add the tomato juice, a little at a time, stirring constantly until it thickens. Season to taste.

Sweet Potato with Tomato: 2 1-2 pounds of sweet potato, 1 quart stewed tomatoes (strained), 1 tablespoon fat, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1 medium sized onion, 1 tablespoon maragin, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 teaspoons salt.

Parboil the sweet potato and cut into pieces about 2 inches square. Chop onion, fry until brown in the fat using stew pan, add the potato, salt and pepper, and cook for five minutes. Then cover the sweet potato with the tomato and stew gently until the potato is quite tender. Arrange the sweet potato on a hot dish and thicken the tomato with the maragin and flour mixed together, add more seasoning if needed and pour the sauce thus made over the sweet potato. Garnish with thin strips of toast. This is enough to serve ten.

OCTOBER MEETING IN ODD FELLOWS' HALL

Dear Social Corner Editor and Friends: I like many others was disappointed at not meeting Sept. 2nd in Odd Fellows hall but owing to a slight misunderstanding about it we postponed our meeting there, and now I will say that all is arranged for Club No. 2 to meet at Odd Fellows hall Oct. 7th. Please bring cup, plate, fork and spoon, also something good to eat. And all who are willing to assist please come early, and don't forget the time and place. For those out of town, look for the yellow bow on Odd Fellows door, just west of the postoffice, number 822 Main street. With kind sympathy for all in sickness or trouble and best wishes for the Corner,

MORE CULTURE IN THE HOMES

Dear Editor and Sisters of the Social Corner: There seems to be a lack of cultural dignity about the home of today, which is indeed a shame. Perhaps the reason is that "home" how is just a place to hang your hat and coat, eat and sleep. If, on the other hand, culture was stressed a little more in every home in America, it would do no harm.

What do most people of today know about good pictures or good music, or good literature? In a mad whirl of money and jazz, they have lost sight of these great life factors, and have left them far in the rear. If we could only educate the mothers of the race of the great necessity of a more cultural background for the home life, we would be instilling into the environment of the children of America that fundamental love for beauty which would lead us back to a more cultural life.

And what can mothers do to make their home a more cultural place? They can acquaint their families with the masterpieces of art by hanging on the four walls of their rooms the world's greatest pictures (of course not the original canvases, but copies of the original.) They can acquaint their children with the best music through the phonograph and radio, as well as the many musical instruments which might be in the home. They can acquaint their youngsters with the best literature by placing on their tables copies of the world's best books. If parents do not feel that they can afford to purchase these volumes, they can easily be secured at any public library.

There is no reason, it seems to me, that so many children should go through life, ignorant of the world's many cultural beauties, when they are practically free for the asking. It is the duty of all parents to put in their childrens hands the best that the world has to give. Are you, Mothers, doing your duty to your family, by acquainting them with the world's best cultural beauties?

MARTHA.

JOLLY GOOD TIME

Dear Editor and Social Cornerites: Members of Club No. 2 met at Buckingham Memorial Sept. 2nd with a good-ly number present. Owing to a misunderstanding in regard to the meeting place not as many were present as we have had but they were a jolly good crowd.

Whirlwind and Foxglove from Southington labored under difficulties having two blowouts and were five hours on the road but arrived at the eleventh hour. Jennie from Hartford and Theoda from Willimantic came with them.

Windham Blue Bell was our hostess and saw that every one was well served—a fine dinner with salads galore. Zoda had a delicious apple pie. Nelly Bly brought cucumbers that relished with our dinner.

Our hostess gave a reading, followed by Dahlia and others. Whirlwind, Foxglove, Olga and Lonesome Pine "tripped the fantastic toe" to Joan's accompaniment on the piano.

Snowflake is to be hostess at our next meeting. As she was a little timid about accepting the responsible position hope all of our members will be present and give her a "good send off" and as many visitors as can make it convenient. "Better late than never" so please accept my thanks for Social Corner pin.

Best wishes for the Social Corner.

WANTED TO HEAR FROM THE SISTERS

Dear Brothers and Sisters: I was glad to see a letter from Rural Delivery. I have been to two picnics this summer and missed him. I wonder why Zany doesn't write and then there was Uncle Henry that only wrote once. Get your pens brothers, dip them in the ink and help the sisters fill the Social Corner page.

Here's a Johnny cake recipe:

Johnny Cake: 2 heaping tablespoons corn meal, 1-2 teaspoon soda, salt. Mix with boiling water and fry on a hot griddle.

Rural Aunty and Primrose can have the ice-cream. I'll take the Johnny cakes every time.

HAPPY GO LUCKY.

AN OLD WRITING BOOK

Dear Social Corner Folks: In looking over a box of old books a few weeks ago, I came across a writing book that I had almost forgotten I had. According to the first page, it belonged to my grandfather and was written at the academy in Woodstock, Connecticut, Anno Domini 1802. The penmanship would put to shame many a college graduate today, every letter is so plain and true, except the old fashioned s's and those are a bit puzzling at first. The preceptor was an older brother of my grandfather and in those days of large families, it was not an uncommon thing for the younger children to have as their teacher an older brother or sister. In the book are such copies as these. Amendment concerns all mankind. Want lies in Wishing and No earthly blessing comes up to Health. On the sides of one page is this couplet,

'Tis education forms the tender mind
First as the twig is bent the trees inclined.

Between these lines through the middle of the page are the following stanzas.

Advice to Children

I

If any one wishes for pleasure and ease,
They must constantly goodness maintain
Their parents at all time endeavor to please,
Or their wishes will be but in vain.

II

With good humor each child should directly obey
Whatever its friends may require.
Not argue and pout and saunter away
Without doing what they desire.

III

For those who are naughty and will not attend
To the advice which their parents bestow,
Against all true goodness and virtue offend.
And shall never sweet happiness know.

On still another page upon various subjects are as follows.

Pride

Of all the cares, which conspire to blind
Man's erring judgment, and misguide the mind
What the weak head with strongest bias rules,
Is pride the never failing vice of fools.

Youth

Children like tender osier take the bow,
And as they first are fashioned always grow
For what we learn in youth, to that alone
In age, weary by second nature prone.

Friendship

A generous friendship no cold medium knows,
Burns with one love, with one resentment glows,
One should our interest, and our passions be,
My friend must slight the man that injures me.

As I write this letter I am thinking that the young man of 20 while writing in his book at the academy little dreamed that nearly a century and a quarter hence a granddaughter would copy a part of it to be printed for thousands of people to read.

With thanks to the sisters who so kindly remembered me on my birthday and best wishes to all.

PRIMROSE.

FAMILY FINANCES

Dear Social Corner Members: It seems to me that the finacial part of keeping a home is one of the most important things and is a problem that it takes nearly every couple some time to adjust. At least that was true in our case and likely we would still be wrestling with it had we not decided to start a checking account. Before that time, the money received pay day seemed to dwindle so fast and when it was spent, neither one of us could imagine where it was gone. We tried several times to keep strict accounts but these were usually neglected after a few weeks and then we were in the same rut again.

One day we decided that we would open a checking account. To tell the truth we didn't have enough money to open one but we put as much as we could into a savings account and as there was enough, had it changed to a checking account. We have used this plan for several years now and for us at least it has been very satisfactory. At first it was a joint account for my husband and self but now we each have our own as husband gives me a certain part of his pay for my account on each pay day and puts the rest in his own. Every cent of money we take in now goes through the bank before we spend it. We keep the stubs in check book carefully and have only to refer to them when the question comes up as to where the money has gone. We save more than we did before as when the money is once in the bank we like to keep it there and take a real pride in watching the account grow.

Our two boys, aged 18 and 12, each have their allowances and the older one opened a checking account of his own as soon as his savings amounted to enough. We feel that he is getting some business training by writing his own checks and paying his own bills, etc. The 12-year-old will do the same thing when he has enough saved up.

Perhaps this is too long but I merely would like to add a little household hint that may come in handy during this canning season. Instead of pasting labels on each jar, I get small tags such as the stores use with a loop of twine attached. Then on each tag I write the name of the contents of jar and slip loop on wire of jar or around cover and it is ready. I never need to wonder what is in the different cans and there are no old labels to wash off when the fruit is used.

I enjoy the Social Corner so much. Wish some of the other readers would write in their ideas about family finances and how they manage as it helps so much to keep that part of home-keeping running smoothly, don't you think so?

NORMA.

ODD FELLOWS' HALL SECURED

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I was very disappointed and sorry that we did not have our regular meeting last Wednesday as it had been planned but perhaps the disappointment of not having any meeting in September may make a double force come out for our October meeting, and for the benefit of those who may not know I will say that Club No. 2 has secured the Odd Fellow's hall for the first Wednesday in October and before that time Calla Lily will put a letter in to remind you of the things you must bring.

Now I want to thank all those who so beautifully remembered me on my birthday with presents and cards. True Blue, Neria, White Dawn, Scottie, Robin, Maple Leaf, Hope, Black Eyed Susie, I. J. R., Windham Blue Bell, and one that had no name on it. Also received lots from friend outside of the Social Corner. Some time I am going to write a letter telling of the summer trips we took but it will be too long for this letter. Now don't forget to be prepared for our meeting the first Wednesday in October. Yours for the success of the Corner,

CHOCOLATE.

EASY WAY TO ROLL PIE CRUST

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I want to thank the sisters who sent me birthday greetings.

Hortense: My sister and I enjoyed your cards so much. I miss you very much.

Keziah Doolittle: Every time I pass your house I keep looking at the windows to see if I can get a peep of you. But I always see Raymond and ask for you.

I have enjoyed the summer very much. Early in the vacation time we went to Niantic, visiting at Bride Brook. Then through the kindness of a former neighbor we enjoyed her cottage at the beach. Someone has wisely said, "The only things that live after you are dead, are the things you have given away." What you know and the creed you believed are often forgotten; but the kindness you show to others is not forgotten, but lives on, and as your friends think of you, they instinctively follow your example, thus making this old world a better place in which to live.

Yankee in Crackerland: If you had only seen us devour your letter on Saturday, you wouldn't have felt you were lonesome for Connecticut Yankees. We are especially interested in Florida for some very dear friends of ours, are selling out and going to Miami and other close friends are contemplating going to Miami. All of our family read it and enjoyed it. Will let you know later if they go.

I have enjoyed my flowers so much this summer. Have had vases full all over the house. I am expecting my tuberoses to open any time now, and have sent away for daffodil bulbs as this year 1925, is the last year we will be able to get bulbs from Holland as it is supposed there is a disease of the bulbs that they don't want spread.

I fell upon an easy way to roll pie crust and though I must send it along to the Corner. Take the waxed paper that comes around your bread and place it on your baking board and flour it. Every time you wish to turn crust around just turn the paper, thus avoiding handling the pie crust; and the least you handle it, the better pie crust you have.

Another good stunt I am pleased with is the way you can color straw or everlasting flowers by dipping them in dye. I had a bunch I dried but they were all light or straw colored. I dipped them in pink dye and they came out a lovely bronze shade.

Hope to see a great many of you sisters next meeting.

CHELSEA. (Aug. 31.)

DRYING THE HAIR

Dear Social Corner Sisters: The woman of the 13th century had an ingenious method of drying the hair after a shampoo that might well be adopted today in the absence of an electric dry

SUPPOSED RUM-RUNNING PLANE DISABLED, TOWED TO NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 11.—A hydroplane that was believed to be a rum-runner, was picked up in a disabled condition in Fishers Island sound, early this morning by one of the patrol boats of the fleet of rum chasers stationed at the state pier. However, when an investigation had been concluded by coast guard officials, it was determined that the two men aboard the hydroplane had not been in communication with any of the crews of the rum-supply fleet at anchor off Block Island and Montauk Point. Aboard the plane were Pilot Arthur Carpenter, of Garden City, L. I., and Observer Irving Leets, of New York, who declared that the plane became disabled and compelled a landing to be made.

The hydroplane was sighted by the crew of the rum-chaser lying in the sound and but a short distance from Watch Hill. Members of the crew of the chaser went alongside the plane and after ascertaining the facts related the craft was towed into port and taken to the state pier. There Carpenter and Leets were questioned at length to determine whether flying craft were being utilized in an effort to transport liquor over the sound. The investigation satisfied the questioners that the story related by Carpenter and Leets was true.

John F. Perry, 73, died last night at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. I. K. Oliver, 82 Crystal avenue. Mr. Perry had not been in good health for a long time, but it was not until recently that he was compelled to give up active employment and take to his bed. Mr. Perry is survived by his wife, two sons, John W. Perry, a former member of the New London police department and Joseph W. Perry, this city, and with their daughter, Miss Ruth Perry, besides Mrs. Oliver. He was for many years employed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and of late years was connected at Midway.

John B. Hendry, 176 Bank street, died this morning at Lawrence hospital, where he recently underwent an operation for stomach trouble. He is survived by his wife and five daughters. Miss Janie Hendry, a teacher at the Nathal Hale grammar school; Mrs. Minnie Caughey and Mrs. Mildred Anderson, of Colman street; Miss Ruth Hendry, 176 Bank street, and Miss Barbara Hendry, a nurse at Lawrence hospital. Mr. Hendry was employed for many years as bookkeeper by the Central Coal company. He was a member of Clan Cameron, Order of Scottish Clans. He was taken ill about 10 days ago and was removed to the hospital where his condition ultimately became such that an operation was performed in the hopes of saving his life. The operation was believed to have been successful until a day or two ago.

At 3.45 o'clock this morning the police received a telephone message from a resident of Willett avenue stating that two suspicious acting men had passed northerly on the avenue and that they were carrying a weighted roll of iron cots. Patrolmen George Lavoie and William Manice made a search of the avenue and adjoining streets, but could not find any trace of the men.

The building known as the Rialto theatre has not been repaired since it was badly damaged by fire, some months ago. It is now used mainly as a billboard. It is not possible that it is to be allowed to remain in its present condition long, for it is a valuable site for a business establishment. The front and side walls of the building are standing, though they are somewhat damaged and a portion of them may have to come down. It is not likely that another theatre will be established there for this city has as many playhouses as it can support, to say the least, and there is understood to be in contemplation the erection of an elaborate playhouse on Meridian and Church streets, beside the big Mohican hotel building. The deal for the purchase of the property and the formation of a company to build the theatre has not been consummated, but it is likely that something definite will soon be known.

Russell Coe, 283 Huntington street, in driving his automobile through Main street late last night, came upon Robert Lincoln, Pawtucket, R. I., sitting in front of the premises, 242, and suffering from an injury to his right leg, sustained by falling. Lincoln was intoxicated and was taken to the police station by Mr. Coe, an examination by City Physician George F. Cheney disclosed the condition of the leg to be such that hospital treatment was necessary. Lincoln was removed to Lawrence hospital, where he will be under treatment indefinitely.

Mrs. Michael Betyaski, off Niantic; Stanley Ibiski, 26 Richards street, and Luke Martin, 22 Montauk avenue, patients at Lawrence hospital, were dismissed today.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today caused the operators' licenses of John Ficarra, 42 Truman street, and William G. Wheary, chief petty officer, stationed at the state pier, to be returned to the owners. The licenses were suspended a fortnight ago following the automobiles Ficarra and Wheary were operating, being in collision with other cars.

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Bailey, 65, widow of George T. Bailey, a former resident of New London, died this afternoon at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. David Keegan, Waterford. Mrs. Bailey had been ill for several weeks.

The funeral of Owen C. Williams was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his home in Waterford, and was attended by a large number of mourners, including a delegation of members of Palestine Commandery, of which order Mr. Williams was a member. The services were conducted by Rev. George H. Strouse, pastor of Waterford Baptist church. Members of the Palestine Commandery acted as bearers in Jordan cemetery.

James Ryan, a youth who has been a sailor at the submarine base only three weeks, was in the police court this morning charged with having become intoxicated. He pleaded guilty, admitting that he acted contrary to law in getting into the condition in which he was found. Ryan asked for leniency and to deserve it he said he had never but no one previous occasion been intoxicated. "Don't you think you are making a bad start?" queried Judge Prince. Ryan admitted that he was this unwise. "Then you put out the drink," replied the judge, "and I'll give you a chance to make good. If you return here for such an offense, you will go to jail." Judgment was suspended and Ryan was allowed to go the base unpunished.

James H. Brown was ordered to court for disregard of the rules of the road in operating an automobile, but for him to appear today would have caused him inconvenience so the hearing was adjourned for a week.

The city of New London and Benjamin L. Armstrong are at odds over the opening of Grenada street, in the section known as the Pequot and extending from Montauk to Pequot avenue. Mr. Armstrong is the owner of considerable land there and to have a street laid out and accepted by the city he donated $750. The council considered the matter, but the members could not come to an agreement with Mrs. Armstrong as to what is to be done in the premises. He and the committee of the council have had several meetings, but they are as far apart as to an agreement as ever. The council members take the view that Mr. Armstrong will see the justice of the conditions imposed by that body. Friends of Mr. Armstrong declare that the conditions are unjust and they say he will never agree to them. Lots have been conditionally sold on the street and the purchaser is anxious to go on with the erection of residences there.

The police tonight were requested by the authorities of Bristol, Conn., to be on the lookout for two girls, who had run away from home earlier in the day. Mildred Marges, 15 and Florence Goslin, 19. The Marges girl is described as having bobbed brown hair, dark eyes, is stout and large for her age. She wore a blue striped dress, blue hat and blue coat. The Goslin girl has bobbed, dark hair, blue eyes, fair complexion and is wearing a red and white striped dress, blue coat, with yellow trimmings, black pumps and white stockings. The girls disappeared about 2 o'clock this afternoon and it was believed they might come to New London.

James H. Brown, of Morgan court, Groton, was ordered this afternoon by Motorcycle Officer Clarence Martin to appear in the police court tomorrow morning charged with violation of the state automobile law in failing to reduce the speed of his machine while passing an intersecting street.

An automobile owned and operated by Harold S. Ashley, of Noank, was operated through Main street this afternoon at a high rate of speed. At the corner of Main street and while turning, To the Officer Michael Forkey gave Ashley a signal to stop, but Ashley refused to heed the signal and turning through Main street sped away. The officer sounded his whistle, but Ashley continued to ignore the signal and a passenger riding with the driver turned and jeered at the officer. The state police were notified to order Ashley into court as the registration of the machine, N-125 was taken by the officer. An officer from the state police barracks located Ashley and ordered him to appear in the police court tomorrow morning.

With frequent instructions being received by the police from City Manager William A. Holt because of auto owners parking their cars in front of the residences of places of business longer than 12 hours, as prescribed by law, it came to the attention of the police today that two wagons used by the American Legion in the parade here two weeks ago had been parked in front of the state armory ever since the parade. Tonight Capt. Cruise of one of the coast artillery companies, informed the police that the two wagons would be taken from their places of parking some time tomorrow.

Motorcycle Officer Clarence Martin, in passing through Main street last night discovered a wire connected with the switch at the corner of Main street and Crystal avenue to be short-circuited and creating a danger possibility. The trolley company was notified and the automatic device was repaired during the night.

Felix Carlson, of 37 Spring street, a patient at Home hospital, was discharged today.

Charles H., two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Bump, 386 Williams street, died at Lawrence hospital where he had been under treatment several days.

At a meeting of the board of school visitors, held yesterday afternoon in the rooms of the Mariners Savings bank, the resignation of Miss Anna Quinn was accepted. Miss Quinn, who has been a teacher at the Jennings school tendered her resignation as she is to teach in the public schools of Waterbury. The board voted to have the sessions of the evening schools start the 28th inst.

Announcement is made of the marriage the 5th inst. of Foster Sanburn and Miss Norma S. Niles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Niles, 23 Howard street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Beveridge Lee, pastor of the Second Congregational church, at the church house, Broad street.

The condition of Michael Solomon, ill at his home, Montauk avenue, several weeks has become critical and it is believed that he can survive but a day or two.

Miss Eleanor Toohey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Toohey, Colman street, is visiting with relatives in Haverhill, Mass.

Alfred Hallet, manager of the local store of the Mohican company, is having his vacation of a fortnight and will visit in New York state and Canada.

It is understood that there is no doubt of the intention of certain members of the city council to widen Bank street by the taking of about two feet from the sidewalk on either side of the thoroughfare, but the plans will remain in abeyance till the new council is chosen in the elections, beginning Monday. The work is to cost a large sum and property on either side of the street will be assessed benefits. According to a survey that has been made the damages to property will be assessed at the same sum as are the benefits. How these figures have been arrived at has not been explained, but those who favor the plan declare that the method is capable of analysis that will be satisfactory to the property owners interested directly and to citizens generally.

Rumor has it that a map of Green street has been prepared with a view to extending that highway to Tilley street that travel on State street and Bank may be relieved, but nothing more than to prepare the map has been done to accomplish that great improvement.

Stephen Flood, employed as a plumber's helper when he is inclined to work, and who has essayed the roll of stool-pigeon for the local police of late, acting in that capacity a fortnight ago when Stephen Sheinman, corner of Washington and Brewer street, was raided by Patrolman Thomas Lyden. The raid resulted in Sheinman and his wife paying about $700 into the city court on Flood's testimony, and the seizure of a quantity of liquor in the Sheinman place. Flood started to purchase liquor tonight but not with the purpose of furnishing evidence for the police. Flood went to one of the alcohol joints in the vicinity of Bank and Shaw streets and there he succeeded in obtaining a quantity of hooch, and his partaking of the liquor resulted in his arrest.

After leaving the last place that Flood was supplied with the home-made brand of booze, he started to navigate to Bank street, but he was unsuccessful for he stumbled head-long and fell on the sidewalk, inflicting a deep laceration of the scalp. A resident of Shaw street notified the police that Flood was lying on the sidewalk near Garibaldi park bleeding from a cut in the head. Patrolman Edward Daniels was dispatched to where Flood lay partially unconscious and caused him to be transferred to the police station. The cut was of such a nature that City Physician George F. Cheney was summoned to the police station and after the wound had been dressed Flood was locked up for the night. Flood entered into a drunken slumber immediately after being brought to the station, also after he had been treated by Dr. Cheney.

BOOTLEGGER CALLED THIEF, YET GETS HIS RELEASE

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Sept. 11—A woman residing on Mountain avenue appeared at the police station about 8 o'clock this evening, and lodged complaint against a young man, who is reputed to be one of the city's foremost bootleggers, claiming that the bootlegger had stolen a ring from her, also owed her for several weeks' lodgings as the fellow was a lodger at her place. Patrolman Edward Daniels and John Sullivan went to lower Bank street and finding the alleged thief, caused him to be brought to the police station. He admitted possession of the ring, but refused to give it up, claiming that the woman had made him a present of the trinket. The police would have nothing to do with the alleged defrauding of the woman of her lodging bill, and it was then that the woman made revelations tending to incriminate the man of being a violator of the prohibition law. The woman claimed that the fellow was the operator of a still and that the product was sold about the city on the representation that the liquor was bonafide whiskey. She also declared that the man she accused of the theft of the ring was the dispenser of lottery tickets, which, she said, he sold at various prices. The accused was defiant and stated that if he was guilty of any violation of the prohibition or gaming law that he was in their presence to hold, otherwise he demanded his release. There was no evidence to support the statement of the woman, so the fellow was released.

Home Grown Menthol

An all-American cold cure, based on home-grown menthol, is a possibility held out by the Bureau of Plant Industry of the department of agriculture. Inasmuch as menthol is now imported, at a cost of more than a million dollars annually Governmental botanists point out that menthol-bearing mint plants can be made a profitable crop if properly cultivated in regions where the climate is suitable. Experimental plantings in various parts of the United States during the past year have shown that the mint does not produce a high enough percentage of menthol in southern states, but in the cooler and moister northern states its culture can be made to pay.

Ancients Employed Lead

Ancient plumbers made lead pipe for water supply to buildings, provided sheet lead for roof covering and set window panes in lead. They were also skilled in the molding of lead pipes for sewerage.

Beasts of prey depend mainly on the sense of smell in hunting, but birds hunt by sight.

"GUN TOTING" GROWING FAST IN BUENOS AIRES

"Gun-toting" has grown to such an extent in Buenos Aires and other large cities in Argentina that the newspapers are demanding the passage of ordinances to curb the evil in the interest of safety of lawabiding citizens. Gun-toting is not confined to the criminal classes, but is indulged in by senators, deputies, lawyers and professional men. Many waiters in hotels and restaurants carry guns, just as do lawyers and prominent political leaders. They give one excuse—"for self-defense"—explaining that one never knows when he will have to "draw" to save his life.

A few days ago in the city of Corrientes the home of a provincial senator when searched by the police was found to be a small arsenal. The police took from it 4,000 cartridge belts, 657 swords and nearly 800 gun canes, besides other war material. Just what a senator was doing with so much dangerous property is being investigated by the federal government. Since the war there have been dumped into Buenos Aires thousands of automatic pistols and revolvers from the surplus war stocks of Italy and Germany, and all priced so low that the poorest citizen could purchase them.

Water Scarce in Berlin

Berlin, a modern city of science and technique, is so poorly equipped with water that each summer's hot spell brings almost a water famine. Recently the Charlottenburg quarter has suffered particularly, and visitors there were treated to the spectacle of long lines of servants with pails and earthenware vessels standing in line before the public fountains.

Twenty-six thousand lives, nearly five times the number killed on both sides in the battle of Gettysburg, were lost in traffic accidents during the last year. In addition, more than 700,000 persons were injured permanently from the same cause.

More than a third of the auto victims were children. Smashed automobiles and other property destroyed in traffic accidents amounted to the appalling sum of $1,000,000,000.

ONLY 30,000 ANTELOPE SURVIVE IN NORTH AMERICA

Difficult as such an undertaking may seem, a careful census has been taken of the prolonged antelopes in North America, and the areas now occupied by these big-game animals approximately determined. The pronghorn is the only species of antelope native to America. Through the occupation of its territory by man it has been extirpated from many of its former haunts but has survived in scattered small herds over a very large proportion of its original range in 16 of the western states of this country and in Canada and Mexico. In 1922 it became evident that the time had arrived for taking active measures leading to the conservation of the dwindling numbers of the antelope if its extermination were to be averted, and accordingly a census was conducted during the following two years by field men of the biological survey of the United States department of agriculture, with the cooperation of conservation societies, state agencies, and individuals not only in this country but also in Canada and Mexico.

The results of this census constitute the larger part of a report just published by the department on the Status of the Prolonged Antelope, 1922-1924, by Dr. Edward W. Nelson, chief of the bureau of biological survey.

According to the results reported by Doctor Nelson there are now approximately 30,000 pronghorn existing in North America in a total of 256 scattered bands. These numbers seem sadly meager in comparison with the millions once inhabiting this continent. It has been established that the buffalo herds of this country at one time numbered from 30 to 60 million animals, and in view of the greater territory occupied by the pronghorn, it may be considered a conservative estimate to place its probable original numbers at not less than 30 to 40 millions, and probably more.

Felt Cuts the Cost

Cost cutting in construction of dwellings seemed to have reached its furthest extreme when recognized engineers and authorities on building practice witnessed a load test applied to a concrete partition wall made of felt, wire reinforcement and cement mortar, shot into place instead of laid up or poured that was twice as great as the load that ordinary 2x4 stud housing partition is required to carry in modern construction, writes Allen E. Beals in the Dow Service Daily Building Reports.

Aside from the fireproofing qualities of a house built with such simple methods, the partitions, by reason of air space provided between the layers of felt, are sound-proof. The walls require much less space in the structure, and at the demonstration it was shown that with ease the wall carried a load of more than 80 pounds to the square foot.

Estimates as to the savings effected in small house construction by the process varied, but in each case they were considerable. The appearance of the apartment house, which made it possible to save the cost of one entire coating of plaster prior to painting or papering. The hollow character of the walls insures perfect freedom from dampness and insulates against cold and heat alike. Conservative spectators conceded that the test was sufficient to establish the practicability of a new method of dwelling house construction that could put homes built by that process entirely out of competition with those built in the late national housing emergency by established processes of construction.

Peers in Distress

There are in Korea 69 peers, most of whom are miserably impoverished. The governor general of Korea has memorialized the Tokio government for relief measures. It is proposed to sell for $2,000,000 the land owned by the former royal family Yi, and distribute the proceeds to dispose of a portion of the state land to help the peers, and to institute a Korean branch of Peers' Club in Tokio.

Andrew Ellicott did the actual surveying of the town site for the city of Washington.

Luring the Moth

One of the newest uses for electricity on the farm comes from New Jersey, where a peach grower recently discovered that a battery of electric lights, hung low over pans filled with kerosene, was an effective way to rid his orchards of the oriental moth pest. The lights he says, lure the moths from the foliage. The moths fly for the lights and soon fall into the deadly kerosene pans.

Recent investigations show that nearly 80 varieties of mushrooms are poisonous.

Legal Notice

NOTICE SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

The legal voters in town meeting of the Town of Sprague are hereby warned to meet in special town meeting in the town hall building in the Village of Baltic in said Town of Sprague on Monday, September 14th, 1925 at seven-thirty o'clock (standard time) in the evening for the following purposes.

To determine whether the town is responsible for the present obstruction and stoppage of the sewer system of the Sherucket sewer district in said town.

Also to determine whether the town shall pay a bill of Archibald Torrance amounting to $390.00 for removing obstructions to said sewer system and a claim of Nellie V. Miner for $100.00 for damages caused her by said stoppage.

Also to determine whether the town shall do such work as may be required to remedy any condition of stoppage or obstruction in said sewer system that has been caused by any act of the town.

Also to determine whether the town will authorize the selectmen to borrow a sum not to exceed One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) to pay the bill and claim above set out and do the work above set out, or so much thereof as the meeting shall authorize.

Dated at Sprague, Connecticut, this 5th day of September, 1925.

TERENCE J. COUGHLIN,
DANIEL T. DAY,
Selectmen of the Town of Sprague.

Adjournment of Public Auction

By order of the Superior Court for New London County, Hon. Allyn L. Brown, Judge, made on the 20th day of July 1925, in the case of The Bankers Trust Company, against Edna Schaller and others, being No. 5796, pending in said court, the Auction Sale of the hereinafter described real estate has been postponed to Monday, Sept. 14th, 1925 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, (Eastern Standard Time) at which time and on the premises hereinafter described I will sell at Public Auction the following described premises.

A lot of land with the buildings thereon, located in said Norwich and known as No. 171 Broadway, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the northeast corner of land owned now or formerly by Vera Annie Trumbull, running thence 16 degrees, East 402 feet to the northwest corner of land now or formerly of John Quinlan; thence deflecting 87 degrees 30 minutes to the left and running 60 feet; thence deflecting 3 degrees to the right and running 75.4 feet the last two lines bounded northwesterly by land of Roselle Flint; thence deflecting 94 degrees 30 minutes to the left and running 503 feet to the southeasterly line of Broadway bounded northwesterly by land now or formerly of Mary T. Harriman, thence deflecting 100 degrees and 31 minutes to the left and running 82 1-3 feet to the place of beginning bounded southwesterly by Broadway being the same premises conveyed to the said Edna Schaller by Mary T. Harriman by deed dated April 28, 1922, and recorded in said Norwich land records, Vol. 169, Page 38.

The aforesaid property will be sold free and clear of all incumbrances except taxes and water rates.

The terms of sale are ten per cent. of purchase price in cash or certified check on day of sale, balance payable on or before the 26th day of September, 1925, at 12 o'clock noon or as soon thereafter as the deed is approved by the court.

Dated at Norwich, Conn., this 9th day of September, 1925.

Corn higher; predictions frost southwest.

Cattle firm; scarcity supplies.

Hogs steady to strong.

MARKET WAS ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Sept. 11—(AP)—Stock prices swept forward again today on speculative buying attracted by a continuation of easy money rates and fresh evidence of improvement in several lines of fall trade. The usual week-end profit-taking sales appeared in large volume but were generally well absorbed, closing quotations disclosing a long list of net gains ranging from one to nearly 12 points. The industrial average broke through to another record high level, approximately thirty individual issues exceeding their previous 1925 high prices.

The weekly mercantile reviews were optimistic in tone. Dun's reports that "the favorable aspects of the business situation are becoming increasingly prominent and overshadowing the unsatisfactory praises," Bradstreet's states that "wholesale trade and industry moved forward this week, despite intense heat, drought and low streams in wide areas of the central west and south."

Motors developed another outburst of strength, which was featured by the remarkable come back of Chandler, which scored an extreme gain of five points at 38. General Motors and Studebaker attained new peak prices at 98 3-8 and 58 1-4, respectively, and were followed into new high ground by Hudson, Moon, Hupmobile, Fisher Body, Eaton Axle, Gabriel Snubber and Goodrich Rubber. Reawakening of speculative interest in copper shares was another interesting feature. American Smelting was run up 3 points to 113 3-8, the highest price since the war and Howe crossed 24 to a new high for the year in buying influenced by important development work and substantially higher earnings.

Rails were rather sluggish in further reflection of speculative disappointment over the failure of the Southern Railway directors to increase the common dividend. Some of the southwestern carriers developed a temporary outburst of strength, but the buying was not sustained. New peak prices were established by Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Nashville, Chattanooga, and St. Louis and International Railways of Central American common.

Spirited bidding for American Can, which ran up to 246, and then eased to 245 for a net gain of 1 1-8 points on the day, revived rumors that the long delayed split up would be authorized next month. Foundation Company which recently announced the closing of several important contracts, attained a record high price at 141 3-4. Additional new highs were recorded by Allis Chalmers, American Tobacco common and the "B" stock, Artloom, American Steel Foundries, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, Brown Shoe, Case Threshing Machine, Crucible Steel preferred, R. H. Macy, and Railway Steel Spring.

Call money renewed at 4 1-4 per cent and then dropped to 4. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were irregular with rather widespread fluctuations taking place in some of the European currencies. Demand sterling and French francs held relatively steady at $4.84 3-8 and 4.69 cents, respectively. Norwegian krone fell about seventy points to around 21.03 cents and then recovered half their loss. Danish krone ruled about twenty points lower around 24.45 cents. Spanish pesetas crossed 14.50 cents to a new high on the current movement and Polish zloty broke 25 points to 17.90 cents.

TAFTVILLE

William R. Booth, secretary-treasurer of the Pioneer Boys of Taftville, has written to George N. Beardow, a member of the reception committee, the following letter: "The visiting members of the Pioneer Boys of Taftville wish to convey their thanks and appreciation to Mr. Rickelson, members of the committee of arrangements, and all others who assisted in any way in making our visit to Taftville so pleasant and enjoyable.

The arrangements for our comfort, the decorations and illumination of the streets, denoted much thought and many hours of labor.

The program of sports on Saturday afternoon, the dance in the evening, the dinner in the grove on Sunday, accompanied by the music of the band, weremost thoroughly enjoyed by us all, and we take this means of thanking all those who in any way helped to make this one of the most enjoyable outings we ever had."

The ladies of Taftville, under the able direction of Mrs. Napoleon T. Parent of South second avenue, are earnestly co-operating with the Norwich Branch, Connecticut Council of Catholic Women, in their activities at the New London County Fair. The Norwich Branch plans to have a lunch room on the merchants' promenade, where they will serve appetising home cooked luncheons to patrons. As all proceeds are devoted to further their great undertakings in the social service field, and as many demands are entirely without race, color or creed distinction, they well deserve the support and patronage of the general public.

Raymond Lenihan of Providence, R. I., called on friends in the village Friday.

Miss Mary Newman of North Third avenue is enjoying a few days vacation.

Joseph Parkinson who has been spending the past two weeks at the Ponemah house has left town.

Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Cavanaugh, their son Eugene and daughter Amette of Providence, R. I., have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon T. Parent of South Second avenue. Eugene Cavanaugh, and Mr. and Mrs. Parent's son, Bertrand, are schoolmates at Assumption College at Worcester, Mass.

Rev. John Malley, junior curate at Sacred Heart Church is spending a few days in Thompsonville.

Rumors about town this week that the erection of a chapel for the Polish residents in Lisbon was under consideration, could not be confirmed.

Camp A-co-wa-ki-ya Camp Fire Girls held a meeting Friday evening in the parlors of the Taftville Congregational Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene N. Monty and their daughter, Miss Bertha Monty of Riverside Grove, leave today (Saturday) for a motor trip to Canada.

Superintendent Victor H. Davis has called attention to the session of the church school of the Taftville Congregational Church next Sunday. Throughout the summer the school has been meeting at 9:15, and until further notice will meet at 10 o'clock noon.

NORWICH TOWN

The work on the state road which terminates at the junction of Harland road and Washington street is under the supervision of State Engineer J. H. Smith. The road is being laid out as far as possible with requirements so as not to infringe upon rights of nearby property owners. It is hoped that upon the short stretch of road between Washington street and Sachem Plain road, where are five houses, a sidewalk, even if a narrow one, can be left in front of these houses, so as to ensure safety of school-children and others passing that way.

F. S. and D. W. Avery, of West Town street, were in Plainfield last week to attend their class reunion at Plainfield Academy.

While their new house is being built on East Town street, Mr. and Mrs. James Moran and family will occupy an apartment on Scotland road.

Workmen's Compensation

Two workmen's compensation agreements as follows have been approved by Commissioner J. J. Donohue:

Golden Pink Quarry Co., Niantic, employer, and Robert Filosi, Niantic, employe, cut left hand, August 14, at rate of $13.26.

New England Collapsible Tube Co., New London employer, and Anthony Ramus, New London, employe, crushed right hand, August 11, at rate of $6.57

GIVES TEMPORARY CUSTODY OF DOCTOR'S SON TO NORWICH WOMAN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 11—By a superior court decree, Mrs. Maude Hyde of Norwich, was today awarded temporary custody of 16 year old Charles Henry Osgood, son of Dr. Charles Osgood, of Windham, Me., and Mrs. Lorette M. Osgood, of New York city. Custody of the son was sought by both father and mother in cross action suits recently heard in the superior court here and aimed at altering a divorce decree granted Mrs. Osgood eight years ago. Since the divorce the mother has had exclusive custody of the boy. Dr. Osgood being allowed his son's company only during three months every summer.

Dr. Osgood must continue to pay his former wife alimony of $400 monthly and also pay to Mrs. Hyde $100 monthly to support the child.

The award of custody is temporary, Judge Arthur Chapman stated in handing down his decision, as the cross action suits between Dr. and Mrs. Osgood are incomplete awaiting arrival of depositions from Paris, France.

These depositions are expected to throw light on Mrs. Osgood's life and character while she resided abroad and will have much weight in the court's decision as to final disposition of the son and the amount of alimony Dr. Osgood shall in future pay his former wife.

The divorced wife of the doctor brought suit for an increase of alimony, alleging that her husband's financial ability had been increased by the death of his father, the late C. Henry Osgood of this city who was reputed to have left a fortune of about a million to his son. She also asked for a fund to maintain and educate the boy and she petitioned to have the decree altered that allowed the father to have the boy for three months each year, as she claimed that he was alienating the boy from his mother.

In Dr. Osgood's cross-action he asked to have the custody decree altered so that the boy would be given either into his custody or into the custody of Mrs. Hyde, alleging that the boy's mother is not a proper person to have him in charge.

For some time, it is understood, the boy has been with Mrs. Hyde, who resides on Canterbury turnpike, Norwich Town, and is the sister of Dr. Osgood's step-mother.

STORRS CHURCH SUNDAY IS TO BE OBSERVED

The Congregational Churches of the state are making preparations for the observance of Storrs Church Sunday on September 20. The day will be marked by the presentation of the Storrs church and community house project to the congregations in the towns and cities by the ministers.

Storrs Church Sunday will inaugurate a week of canvassing of funds for the $300,000 fund which is being sought for the project. Committees will be formed in the different parishes, and with the assistance in many cases of students from Connecticut Agricultural College, they will seek to raise the quotas assigned to their respective churches.

This undertaking will constitute the chief contribution of the Congregational churches of Connecticut to the Storrs campaign. The program has been arranged by the committee on missions of the Congregational conference of Connecticut. Its objective will be $100,000 and the sponsors of the special Congregational campaign are confident that this sum will be raised.

Many of the Congregational ministers studied the project at first hand several weeks ago when ground was broken for the new community house at Storrs. The pastors will deliver addresses on the aims and purposes of the Storrs project, which is designed to increase the religious and social facilities of the young people attending the Connecticut Agricultural College.

One Congregational church in Ridgefield, has already launched its canvass, with much success. The young people greatly assisted in the task of raising the church's quota and indications are that it will exceed it by far.

Rev. William E. English, treasurer and assistant superintendent of the missionary society, will act as treasurer of the special Congregational campaign. Mr. English has visited many congregations and lent his assistance in the work of preparing for the observance of Storrs Church Sunday and the canvass that is to follow.

Ministers of Baptist, Methodist and Episcopal churches have presented the project to their congregations with recommendations of assistance. The general committee in charge of Storrs campaign is made up of men representing seven different church bodies. It is believed that the special Congregational effort will be followed by similar action on the part of the other denominational bodies in the state.

The members of the college faculty will play their part in the Congregational campaign. They will constitute a speakers' corps and will go wherever called to assist in the work. Students at the college have prepared much literature on the subject for circulation among the churches.

FINES IN LIQUOR CASES TRIED IN COLCHESTER

(Special to the Bulletin.)

COLCHESTER, Sept. 11.—Federal prohibition agents, Congdon, Briggs and Avery and Constable John M. Riley searched the premises of Tony Filbosky, on the Hartford-New London turnpike yesterday morning, found Filbosky operating a still, which they confiscated also about 6 gallons of booch and over 100 gallons of mash. The officers brought him in and he was tried at 2:30 o'clock p. m. before Justice Baker. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs on each of two counts, which he paid.

Federal Agents Congdon, Briggs and Avery and Constable John M. Riley went to the farm of Martin Fazio on Scott Hill and found five gallons of whiskey, which they confiscated. Fazio was brought before Justice Baker and paid $102.60. Mr. Fazio recently bought the farm on Scott Hill and moved from New York. The liquor he brought with him. There had been no sales or reputation of selling and he was charged with possession.

The case of the State vs. Fred Fedus for a violation of the Volstead act was tried before Justice F. E. Baker Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Attorney George C. Morgan of New London appeared for Fedus and Charles F. Brown for the state. Defendant was charged with having a small amount of alcohol in his possession. He pleaded guilty and paid $120.65.

TO GIVE FAREWELL TO COLLEGE YOUNG PEOPLE

Young people's night is to be featured at the Central Baptist Church on Sunday evening. At the B. Y. P. U. meeting the speaker is to be the pastor, Rev. Dr. D. A. Pitt. The evening service will include the giving by the young people who attended the Baptist School of Methods at Ocean Park of reports of that great gathering. Following this a farewell service will be held in the prayer meeting room, at which Mrs. David A. Pitt will speak on behalf of the church to those leaving soon for school or college. This includes Edwin Abel, Chapman Tech; Howard Arnold, Eastman school of music; Marion Blackledge, Smith College; Dorothy Gildersleeve, Ashley Hall; Floyd Hill, Hobart College; Polly Mitchell, Harriette Mills Training School; Mildred Peckham, Posse Nisson School; Clara Palmer, Wellesley; Sybil Palmer, Yale School of Nursing; Courtnay Pitt, Princeton University; Constance Raymond, Mt. Holyoke; Charles Sage, Temple University; Arnold Smith, Williams; Elizabeth Smith, Smith; Russell Storms, Amherst; William Storms, Brown University. The young people entering the Academy are also special guests on this occasion.

REVERSES M'LAUGHLIN DIVORCE

REVERSES MCLAUGHLIN DIVORCE

Holding that the district court erred in sustaining objections to questions on cross-examination of the plaintiff for the purpose of showing an alleged lack of good faith in establishing a residence in Nevada, the state supreme court has reversed the verdict for the plaintiff in the divorce action of James McLaughlin, wealthy Rhode Island lumberman, against Belle Stanton McLaughlin formerly of Norwich, Conn.

The Reno Gazette of August 7, says:

The court also reverses the case on the ground that habitual use of narcotic drugs, standing alone, does not constitute cruelty in an action for divorce in Nevada.

"After reviewing the cases in this court and many cases in other jurisdictions we conclude that, with respect to the evidence necessary to establish domiciliary intention, it is impossible to lay down any positive rule," says the court in its ruling.

Intent and Acts Must Conform

"Concerning that the best evidence of intention is to be ascertained from the party's declarations and that their credibility is a matter for the trial judge to pass upon, yet the rule is well established that evidence of expressed intent has no controlling weight if such intent is inconsistent with the acts and general conduct of the person.

"While a resident, domiciled here, is entitled to the full benefit of the six months' residence clause of our divorce statute, no sufficient reason exists why in a contested case the plaintiff should not be cross-examined fully with respect of domiciliary intention.

"The evidence sought to be elicited by the questions objected to might not be conclusive of plaintiff's bad faith, but, when taken in connection with his acts and conduct and the circumstances surrounding and attending his stay in Nevada, it might well be considered as a circumstance tending to show that the plaintiff's residence was not in good faith.

"The fact that plaintiff owned property in the state of his original domicile, that he was a business man there and kept a checking account in his home bank to pay the expenses incident to his six months' residence in Nevada for a divorce might well be considered in connection with other circumstances to show that his residence in Nevada was merely colorable."

In discussing the charges that Mrs. McLaughlin was a drug addict the supreme court holds that the habitual excessive and intemperate use of morphine, standing alone, does not constitute cruelty under the Nevada statute.

The opinion further states that when the spouse using the drug is guilty of cruelties and indignities which render the condition of the injured spouse intolerable, ultimately destroying the legitimate ends and objects of matrimony, such acts and conduct persisted in constitute extreme cruelty.

It was decided in the trial court here that McLaughlin had established his causes for action, but the court withheld entering a decree of divorce until he deposited with the clerk of the court $20,000, an amount adjudged to be one-half his wealth, this to be given to the defendant in lieu of permanent alimony.

Such deposit was made and Mrs. McLaughlin has been drawing on this pending determination of her appeal, it being stipulated that if she lost in the supreme court the cost of her residence here in the interim should not be further charged against McLaughlin.

ANTHRACITE STRIKE NOT TO HIT GAS COMPANIES

Because of the fact that manufactured gas is made from bituminous or soft coal and not from anthracite, the gas companies in Connecticut will not be greatly affected by the strike which has developed as a result of the disagreement of the mine owners and laborers. The strike is entirely confined to the anthracite fields and while there is a small shortage of bituminous coal, gas companies throughout the state have been able to secure their usual supply.

This condition was also true in the strike situation in 1922, when the entire country suffered from a lack of hard fuel. At that time, the output of manufactured gas in Connecticut increased greatly, for it was used considerably in house heating and manufacturers were beginning to adopt it as an industrial heating fuel. With no sign of peace in view in the present strike, the Connecticut Committee on Public Service Information has predicted that the use of gas for heating will develop to an even greater extent this winter than it did during the winter of 1922.

Gas manufacturers feel that not only is gas itself due for a large increase in use, but they also believe that there will be a large development in the use of coke, the bi-products of manufactured gas. They claim that coke is the equal of anthracite coal in every respect and has the added advantage of being cleaner, easier to kindle, and by far cheaper. Gas manufacturers believe that even with an early settlement of the strike, gas and coke are due for the greatest booms in their history.

Unclaimed Letters

Unclaimed letters in the Norwich, Conn., Post Office for the week ending Sept. 12, 1925:

William Chadwick, Mrs. C. E. Chapman, Mrs. Mame Cott, Mrs. Albert Fountain, Mrs. Patrick McCann R. F. D., Mrs. Jule A. Rozario.

BUSINESS MEN GIVE SUGGESTIONS ON SCHOOLS

Representative Allen B. Lincoln of Ashford, who spoke this week before the Teachers Association of New Haven upon "What The Business Man Has a Right to Expect from the Schools," sent out a letter asking for suggestions upon the subject. The following are summaries of some of the replies he received:

S. H. Bullard, vice-president, Bullard Machine Co., Bridgeport; former President, State Chamber of Commerce:

Teach children of seventh and eighth grades rights of private property, freedom of contract, competition. Reasons for thrift; postpone gratification until after achievement. This is the sign of self-control and civilization. Teach adaptation to changing conditions; watch for and realize these. Teach simple principles of logic and reasoning and power to draw conclusions from right premises. Develop ability to comprehend and absorb.

Walter Lewis, of L. Lewis & Co., New London:

We must have teachers who have the faculty of imparting to others. This quality may have to be found out by experience, but when lacking, when teachers are judged by this quality and found wanting, it is better for pupils and the community to drop the—.

Arthur L. Peale, treasurer and assistant secretary, New London County Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Norwich, Conn.:

Most of our employees come from Norwich Free Academy which has an excellent business department and they are well trained. A large share of the children from grammar grades are graduated too young to be assimilated by any business house. Personally, I believe that a ninth grade can be made very helpful to those who cannot take high school or business school training.

C. E. Carpenter, Carpenter Cordage Company, Norwich, Conn.:

I have found that pupils from the public schools, especially the girls, are not sufficiently trained in the fundamentals, meaning spelling, punctuation, the use of good English, accuracy in figures, and necessary operations in arithmetic. We expect to train them in our own office practice, but we think they should be well grounded in thoroughness and accuracy by the schools.

James L. Case, insurance agency, Norwich, Conn.:

The public schools should send out pupils well trained in "three R's". A boy or girl leaving school at twelve or fourteen cannot be given very much of a business training. Let them be well grounded in reading, writing and arithmetic, and taught to do their work with accuracy, neatness and despatch.

A. E. Greene, of the Goyer Company, Willimantic, Conn.:

The first thing a business man observes as to the boy or girl entering employment is whether or not the beginning employe is industrious. Industry and a sincere desire to do work well counts more than brilliancy. Too many subjects taught in the grades tend to inefficiency and restlessness. Concentration on fundamentals not only teaches them but how to use them which is most important. Let the teacher seek to develop native ability and "initiative", or resourcefulness. Young employes often lack the disposition to find a way to do a problem, and are too dependent on being told, or say, "it can't be done." Teach the pupil how to give clear expression to simple thoughts on paper and orally, and to write and spell correctly. Thorough grounding in the "three R's," U. S. History, geography and the principles of civil government will make a fair preparation for business life and for citizenship.

Alice P. Merritt, state senator, Hartford, Conn.:

As a rule the only thing the business man puts into the schools is the amount of his taxes; and sometimes he takes the full value of his taxes in destructive criticism, without knowledge. Business men and parents should co-operate, with practical suggestions, and realize that the school is only an extension of home training, and its aim is to develop in boys and girls sterling character, common sense, practical knowledge of their studies and absolute dependability. Let the business man recognize and encourage these qualities in the young persons who come to them for employment. He owes more than his taxes; he owes a personal interest in the schools and co-operation with teachers. When he does his share, he will "have the right" to expect more efficient results.

William A. Holt, city manager of New London.

More thorough training in fundamentals, habits of accuracy, and clear thinking based on a thorough knowledge of elementary subjects. Judging locally, I would say that the public schools are doing this through better teachers, special classes and summer schools. With increased school appropriations, the taxpayer has a right to expect more efficiency.

Annie C. S. Fenner, treasurer, Babcock Printing Press Co., New London:

A large percentage of pupils entering business from the schools have no adequate knowledge of the fundamentals of English and arithmetic. Each business has its own technical terms and methods, but every pupil should leave school with a vocabulary sufficient to understand and write the English language intelligently. It matters little that the boy or girl was first in the feats of the athletic club if knowledge of fundamental processes in arithmetic is lacking! Every teacher should work upon the assumption that each boy and girl must do something after leaving school and should be equipped to do something well. The method of teaching by entertainment, as for example by moving pictures, is more apt to prove degenerating than efficient. There is no success without thorough work to gain the art of mastery. Thorough knowledge and drill in "the three R's," plus an honest conviction that a full day's work is due for a full day's pay; and a head not so full of "what I am going to get" that it forgets "what I am going to give."

L. E. Whiton, of D. E. Whiton Machine Company, New London.

Sound first principles do not change much from generation to generation. Children of today inherit so much "progress," and seem more impressionable, that they may acquire the "fundamentals" more rapidly. But I quite seriously believe that too much "special instruction?" is allowed to interrupt and sidetrack the old-fashioned over and over drill in arithmetic and "mental arithmetic" (as it used to be called); spelling, with competition for "the head;" grammar, punctuation, oral and sight reading, Commercial and other special training or experience later are handicapped unless there be thorough grounding in the "fundamentals." There is today lack of home training, and this is very hard for the teachers to overcome.

H. H. McKnight, manager, Ellington-Vernon Farmers Exchange.

We expect a good knowledge of the fundamentals of reading, writing, spelling and arithmetic, and a fair understanding of the English language. The idea of service should be instilled. Obedience is a valuable asset. Powers of concentration and adaptation should be cultivated; a willingness to give value for compensation received; try to give 101 cents worth of service instead of 50 cents worth for the dollar received; which means willingness to do something for nothing! Because of the present-day lack of home and church influence in many instances, the schools have an added responsibility for training and character.

John J. O'Rourke, secretary, Chamber of Commerce, Norwich, Conn.

A child should be taught civic loyalty, loyalty to the home town, and respect for law and order. Every race and creed has contributed to the success of, and in times of peril has defended, these United States. The child should be taught to honor and respect every good and law-abiding citizen, regardless of race and creed. Teach good manners and respect for elders: send out children well-grounded in the fundamentals: reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar, history, geography; proper attention to health, with sufficient recreation; the need for earnest work and its ennobling influence; the use and duty of the voter's franchise. Every city should be required to provide free evening schools; every encouragement should be given to our working boys and girls to improve their minds.

H. H. Gallup, Norwich Belt Manufacturing Co. and former state treasurer.

The aim of all education is to fit the child for efficient living.

Herbert B. Cary, of Eaton, Chase Hardware Co., Norwich.

Teach that honesty and industry are the stepping stones to success.

Walter B. Knight, Quidnic-Windham Cotton Co., Willimantic.

Until science finds out, the less taught about creation the better! Teach thoroughly reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, geography, grammar. Teach patriotism; obeying the laws; the "Golden Rule;" right of property, and individual rights! Industry, honesty, perseverence and common sense are necessary to success. Earn your way; don't grasp from others.

J. B. Fullerton, dry goods, Willimantic.

Let the schools encourage: adaptability; cheerfulness under all conditions; willingness; initiative: study a situation and take hold without being told, at least not more than once!; application: "Playing the game" in business with the same energy and enthusiasm shown in school sports; personal responsibility: To the employer and to the community: community spirit: As contrasted with individualism and personal rights.

William P. Jordan, Jordan Hardware Co., Willimantic.

My experience with high-school pupils indicates their lack of self-reliance. They depend upon some one else for information rather than to look it up. They are inefficient in mathematical training in our business problems. Their methods of arriving at results are too long, and they do not seem to grasp the short-cuts necessary in business practice. Their penmanship is often poor, showing lack of training.

Lucy Byles Wilson, Hartford; of Wilson Drug Company, Willimantic, and Secretary Connecticut Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Let me quote from Professor Patten, political economist: "Concentrated attention, quick forceful action, willingness to submit to discipline; love of local usages; enthusiasm for national ends—these once came as a part of the regular reaction of a life of danger and pain. The seeker for economic goods only shows none of these things. He is not as eager to work as to fight; will not submit to the industrial discipline which he would accept without question as a soldier. We need strong, vivid ends for our activities as much as ever, and there is nothing in material wants that arouses them." This may seem a bit far-fetched for school work, but I do think that beyond "the three R's" and their present ramifications, we need a mental and moral steadiness that can be taught to young children, and indeed must be taught, if our country is to retain its proper place among the nations.

Ella S. Bennett, active civic worker, Hanover, Connecicut.

Teach honesty, loyalty, self-reliance, self-direction. Moral training is as necessary as physical and mental. Teach children to think.

George C. Waldo, Jr., editor, Bridgeport "Post".

The most conspicuous shortcoming in public school material is lack of proper knowledge of the English language. Supplementary courses in private business college as a rule do not remedy this defect. Pupils too often are crammed with a conglomerate mess of subjects. Attention should be more confined to fundamentals. The pupil too often can do many things poorly and nothing well. Doing a thing badly provokes mental pain; to do a thing well produces a feeling of intellectual pleasure. The proficient pupil achieves; the deficient pupil instinctively dodges. This is why so many pupils forget most of what they learned in school.

"The three R's" are fundamental but are means to training efficient habits of mind, to wit, (1) Observation—learn to take note of things sharply, not vaguely; (2) Accuracy—learn to be exact; (3) Memory—not a "gift", but a habit that grows with use; (4) Investigation—look things up for yourself and learn to go about it in the right way; (5) Curiosity—that wishes to know the "Why" and "wherefore"; (6) Discipline—the real root of morals and character.

These essential habits depend not so much on the subjects as upon the way they are taught. The need is for a rigid, systematic and thorough teaching of a few fundamentals: Loose, hurried, inadequate teaching spoils results. It is not possible to train them so that they can quickly adapt themselves and become valuable to any business they pursue.

Henry T. Burr, with Landers, Frary & Clark, New Britain, formerly principal of the state normal training school, Willimantic.

If all the teachers were equal to the best, the results would be very satisfactory. The average business man finding human frailties among the young persons he employs, may very comfortably blame shortcomings on the schools. I really do not know what the schools can do beyond what they are attempting now. Their ideals seem adequate and on the whole intelligently carried out. The demands which a large industrial organization like this makes upon the schools are not very heavy. Given young persons with reasonably good personality and brains, and we can adapt them to our purpose. The work in a modern office is so specialized that the amount of preparatory knowledge required of the average young person is not great. Long before he gets to the points where he has general responsibility he acquires all the knowledge he needs, if he is reasonably intelligent and industrious.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

ELKS

Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas, Texas, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks in discussing recently the plans of the order for the coming year, said that an effort would be made to counteract the existing wave of lawlessness.

"I have asked the organization to join me in working under the slogan 'He Went About Doing Good,'" he said. "As the order is both patriotic and benevolent as well as non-sectarian, this slogan applies to our country in general. We want to try to set afire the old patriotism and see if we can't counter the so-called wave of lawlessness. Beginning back in 1914, we've had hatreds as the result of the war and following it religious and class hatreds.

"There isn't any place for class hatred in the United States because here all religion and all politics are the property of the individual. No one questions that property and here every man has the same chance. This great patriotic order, which can only exist in the United States, is to work for twelve months to do away with those hatreds in our own family and seek to have the people come as they were—patriotic in peace time—and peace time patriotism is loving and keeping the law, while war-time patriotism is fighting for and carrying the flag.

"There has been much talk about an organization of some sort to inquire into and if possible prevent crime. This will require work along the lines and education and gentleness. If I know that I have done wrong, I can be made strong by being taught that the law I broke was not something foreign but something that belonged to me as a citizen. If that lesson can be brought home to me, I'm willing to pay as nearly as I can for the wrong. But you can't whip an American into doing anything, though you can reason and love him into the right and that's what I hope the Elks will succeed in accomplishing in some degree, anyway, this year."

JUNIOR AMERICAN MECHANICS

Buckingham Council, No. 14 held its regular session Wednesday, Sept. 9. Vice Councilor George Faulkner, presiding with 60 members present.

The council is making plans for a big turnout Sept. 21, the day before the state convention in New London. A committee has been appointed to secure the East Side Drum corps for this event in New London. All indications now show that this will bring about the biggest turn out the order has had in this end of the state. All arrangements have been made for Buckingham Council to move to their larger quarters on Market St. The new quarters are the old Roseland Dance Hall.

FORESTERS

Chief Ranger Joseph C. Callahan presided Tuesday evening at the meeting of Court City of Norwich, No. 53, in Steiner hall, when the chief ranger was empowered to appoint a committee of five that will work in conjunction with the financial secretary in order to get the fall and winter activities going.

The headquarters committee reported progress and expect to be able to inform the members at the next meeting the location of the permanent quarters. The support that this committee has received has been very encouraging and has paved the way for the termination of their work which is expected not only to increase the membership of the court, but bring the members into closer touch with each other thereby enabling them to understand and practice the principles of the order in a better and larger way.

A resolution was presented calling for a committee to revise the by-laws and it will be acted on at the next meeting, when the signers of the same will explain to the members their reasons for presenting the resolution. A communication was read announcing the election of Dennis J. Murphy, of Lowell, Mass., as supreme chief ranger; Maurice F. Roche of New York city as supreme sub-chief ranger and Thomas A. Donnelly of Jersey City, N. J., as supreme secretary, at the supreme convention lately held in Detroit. The convention chose New York city as the place of the next meeting in 1927.

EAGLES

Norwich Aerie, No. 367, held its regular meeting Tuesday evening, Worthy President George Nadolny presiding, with a large number of members present. Much business was transacted at this meeting. The committee on the class initiation for Sunday, September 20th reported that everything would be ready for a good time. The entertainment committee on for that day promises something good. According to the number of applications received, this class will be one of the largest ever taken in. Norwich Aerie will be honored with a visit from the Grand Secretary, J. S. Parry, on Monday, September 21st. It will be the first time Norwich Aerie has had a visit from a grand secretary so all the members should make a special effort to attend the meeting.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS

Sedgwick Woman's Relief Corps, No. 16, met at the Buckingham Memorial Friday afternoon with the president, Mrs. D. Louise Atterbury, in the chair. After the preliminary exercises Mrs. Atterbury announced that the department inspector will be at the next meeting and it is desired that every member make an effort to attend. There will be a large class for initiation that day. The corps is invited to a basket picnic at Orrin M. Price's Wednesday, September 16. Each one one that goes is asked to bring a soup plate, cup and spoon. The meeting closed with the pledge to the flag and singing America.

U. C. T. AUXILIARY

The September meeting of the Auxiliary of Norwich Council, No. 309, will be held in Odd Fellows hall, Bank street, New London, at 7:30 p. m. D. S. T., Saturday, Sept. 12th.

As this is the beginning of the fall and winter season, it is necessary that a program of activities be mapped out and plans for such social events as it is felt will prove of assistance and benefit to the Council, be decided upon. Come with ideas that you feel will best serve the purposes as expressed above. A large attendance is desired.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS

Norwich Council, No. 309, U. C. T. is to hold its twentieth anniversary meeting in Odd Fellows hall, New London, on Saturday evening, Sept. 12. It is hoped to have all charter members present. The degree team will be ready to initiate our candidates, who are called the Oscar Silverman quartette. At the last meeting, the council had the pleasure of adding to its membership, Thos. H. Savard, Austin B. Goodyear and A. R. Hyman, all of Norwich, also Thos. Griffin of New London.

GILPATRIC BLOCK IN HARTFORD IS SOLD

William Rubnick of Hartford, has purchased the Trumbull Market building at Nos. 270-274 Trumbull street, Hartford. The purchase price was $190,000, of which $136,720 is a cash consideration.

The Trumbull Market building, which is four stories high, of brick construction and has a lot frontage of 423 feet and a depth of 110 feet, was an asset of the bankrupt estate of G. Harold Gilpatric, former state treasurer and treasurer of the First National Bank of Putnam. Just how much dividend will accrue to Gilpatric creditors from this sale cannot be determined at once as the exact amount of allowable claims against the Gilpatric estate has not been fixed.

Civil Engineers to Gather

Members of the Connecticut Society of Civil Engineers will make an inspection on September 15 of the hydro-electric plant, concrete dam and earth dyke now under construction for the Farmington River Power company, at a cost of $1,250,000. An inspection will also be made of a new type of concreting machinery in use on the state road near Glastonbury and other road work between Hartford and Middletown.

A dinner will be served at 6 o'clock followed by an address by W. J. Hulsart on "Lumnite Cement." There will also be a talk by W. F. Lockhart on "Principles of Good Concrete."

LEGION POST ARRANGES TO STAGE THEATRICALS

The theatrical committee in charge of the theatrical to be staged in November by Fletcher Post, No. 4, American Legion, at a meeting in the Legion rooms Friday evening, signed up for the production of Princess Bonnie an unusually attractive musical comedy. William A. Anderson, committee chairman, presided at the meeting which was attended by all but one of the committee.

Those appointed by Mr. Anderson to serve with him on the committee are: Jonathan L. Johnson, Herman A. Bruckner, Meredith Lee; John A. Cunningham, Samuel Jennes, Warren Wilcox, Max Levine, Joseph Bellefleur Harry W. House, Rev. E. C. Dunbar, J. C. Broadhurst, Leslie Fletcher, Fred Geer, L. P. Raymond, D. E. Lamattre and C. C. Oat. Another meeting of the committee will be held at the Legion rooms Monday night at 8 o'clock. Chairman Anderson announced that the Davis theatre has been secured for the production.

PRESTON REPUBLICANS NAME THEIR TICKET

The Preston republicans held their caucus Friday evening in the town hall at Preston City with Guy Ayer as chairman and William G. Tarbox as clerk.

BAPTIST WOMAN'S LEAGUE MET IN MOHEGAN PARK

Automobile transportation from the Central Baptist church conveyed members of the Woman's League to Mohegan park for an outdoor meeting at Mohegan park, which was a rally meeting to open the fall and winter season for the league.

Mrs. Adelbert Maynard, the vice president, presided at the business meeting, which was held at the pavilion by the lake, opening with devotional exercises, which were followed by an intensely interesting talk by Miss Isabel Crawford, who told of her missionary work among the Indians.

A social hour was followed by a basket supper, and the young people of the church joined the women at this part of the programme.

The members of the Sunday school of the New London First Church of Christ and the church congregation will have their annual picnic at the Y. M. C. A. camp at Long Pond, Ledroad near Glastonbury and other road yard, today (Saturday).

ADMIRAL MOFFET FLAYS CRITIC OF NAVAL AVIATION

Referring to Charges Made by Col. Mitchell, the Admiral Declares the Author Should Be Regarded as of Unsound Mind and as Suffering From Delusions of Grandeur—President Coolidge Has Appointed a Special Board of Nine Men to Conduct An Inquiry Into American Air Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—(A. P.)—A categorical reply to charges made by Colonel William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service, concerning administration of naval aviation, was issued tonight by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics.

"The most charitable way to regard these charges is that their author is of unsound mind and is suffering from delusions of grandeur."

Although the admiral did not mention Colonel Mitchell or any other critic by name, his statement was clearly aimed chiefly at the charges made by the former assistant army air chief, and was emphatically phrased using such words as "unqualifiedly false," "absolutely false," "unscrupulous self-seekers," and "vultures."

Charges made "in the guise of bringing about a reform in our system of national defense," he declared, "have done more to retard aviation and hamper national defense than could have been accomplished by any other means."

Admiral Moffett said that the army and navy have not "stooped to low sentimentalism or falsehood", but that proponents of unified air service were using the "revolutionary methods of the communists."

He described as the "most disturbing factor" the action of military officers in "making a political appeal over the heads of congress to the people," which, he asserted, "might be the opening wedge for military dictatorship in the United States."

Referring to the contention of Colonel Mitchell that Lieutenant Pearson and Captain Skael were killed because their racing planes were "dilapidated" Admiral Moffett declared it was the duty of "a high ranking army aviator who was present" at the racing meet to prevent use of the planes if they were unfit.

"This was not done," he asserted. "Responsibility lies with this man and he cannot evade it by trying to shift the responsibility to the system."

"The time of national bereavement when the heart of an entire nation is heavy with grief over the loss of fourteen members of the crew of the Shenandoah, and when hope of the rescue of the crew of the PN-9 had about gone, was seized upon by the proponents of a separate air force as a propitious time for the advancement of their claims by an attack upon the agencies of the government charged with the development of aviation.

"Before the Shenandoah dead had been buried, charges were broadcast in the public press which, in their falseness and vindictiveness are almost without precedent in the history of this country. These charges, couched often in the form of questions to protect the originators, are so palpably false as to make one wonder how they could have been seriously considered.

"Launched in a moment of great stress and intense emotion they have done incalculable harm to the nation. It is only now that their absurdity is beginning to be understood.

"These false charges are made in the guise of bringing about a reform in our system of national defense and of advancing aviation. As a matter of fact, they have done more to retard aviation and hamper national defense than could have been accomplished by any other means.

"Destructive criticism has shaken confidence of the country in its government. Examples of disloyal conduct have sown the seeds of discord in aviation establishments. False charges have branded loyal servants of the people with the stigma that denial can hardly efface. The revolutionary methods of the communists have been invoked to overcome the opposition of loyal men who have sought to thwart the ambitin of unscrupulous self-seekers.

"The ambitions of these selfish men are as unbounded as their methods are unscrupulous. Their tactics are those of the demagogue. They like to pose as eagles soaring aloft with keen eye for the country's defense. They have really played the part of vultures swooping on their prey once it is down.

"The most disturbing factor in the situation is the example of military officers by the employ of the government making a political appeal over the heads of congress to people. This might be the opening wedge for military dictatorship in the United States.

"Equally astonishing is the fact that charges have been preferred by persons who have responsibility for the shortcomings which they allege to exist. It having been charged that Lieutenant Pearson and Captain Skael were killed in dilapidated racing planes at the last racing meet. If these planes were dilapidated, it was the duty of a high ranking army aviator who was present at the meet to exercise his authority and prohibit their use. This was not done. Responsibility lies with this man and he cannot evade it by trying to shift the responsibility to the system.

"It has been charged that an arrangement existed between the army and the navy that the navy should take the races one year and the army should take them the next year, thereby creating propaganda and not service. This statement is utterly and unqualifiedly false. It is ridiculous on its face but is, at the same time, characteristic of the other charges."

COOLIDGE APPOINTS NINE MEN AS BOARD OF INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—President Coolidge last night took his first official recognition of the controversy stirred up in last congress over the adequacy of American air power by appointing a special board of nine men to conduct a sweeping inquiry into the subject.

Announcement of the President's action was made in a statement issued at the White House which said, that members of the board had been asked to meet with him next Thursday morning to organize and proceed immediately with its study with a view to submitting a report by the latter part of November.

The decision to name a special board of inquiry was reached after Mr. Coolidge had received a joint letter from acting Secretary Davis of the war department and Secretary Wilbur of the Navy, who suggested that a study be made "of the best means of developing and applying aircraft in national defense and to supplement the study already made by the war and navy departments on that subject."

Those named on the board were Major General James G. Harbord, retired, of New York; Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, retired, of Washington, D. C.; Dwight W. Morrow of Englewood, N. J., Howard E. Coffin of Detroit; Senator Bingham of Connecticut; Representative Vinson, of Georgia ranking democrat on the house naval committee; chairman Parker of the house commerce committee; Judge Arthur C. Denison of Grand Rapids, Mich., and William F. Durand of Los Angeles.

In the exchange of correspondence between the president and the war and navy heads, no reference was made to the Shenandoah disaster or to the charges made in a series of statements at San Antonia by Colonel William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service.

It was apparent, however, that both of these developments were influential factors in reaching the decision to investigate the entire aircraft problem in this present stage of development with relation to the national defense.

BINGHAM IS SILENT ABOUT APPOINTMENT

SALEM, Conn., Sept. 13—(A. P.)—United States Senator Hiram Bingham today said that he had no comment to make on his appointment by President Coolidge to a board of inquiry into the use of aircraft in national defense.

He said that he would immediately cancel a considerable number of his speaking and other engagements in order to place his services at the disposal of the president and to give the board all the time he possibly could. It was a great regret, he said that he would cancel engagements he had made for this morning, while this Joshua who comes from Canaan has the time stand still. Coupled with the name Henry, it is completed by Rorabach."

J. Henry Rorabach is the man who has made time stand still in this state, Mr. Seitz declared.

MITCHELL HOPES HE WILL BE CALLED TO TESTIFY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 13—Hope that he would be called to testify to an inquiry by the aircraft board appointed by President Coolidge was expressed today by Colonel William Mitchell, eighth corps area air officer. He said he felt in a measure vindicated by his charges by the fact that President Coolidge has taken cognizance of the air service controversy.

CHINESE MERCHANT HELD IN BOSTON FOR MURDER

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Ah Fong, a merchant of Hudson street in the Chinese section, was arrested late today in connection with yesterday's outbreak of tong warfare in which one Chinese was killed and another seriously wounded.

Henry Chin, head of the local Hip Sng Tong, and a cousin of Chin Gow one who was shot and killed yesterday when he crossed the Kneeland street deadline into on Leong territory, led police today to Ah Fong's shop, near the spot where the shooting took place. Confronting the merchant Chin denounced him as the murderer of his cousin.

Ah Fong was arrested and taken to a police station, and there Horation Robinson, a window cleaner who witnessed yesterday's shooting, picked him out of a line of Chinese as the man he saw standing over the body of Chin Gow one with pistol in hand.

A Hip Sing member told reporters tonight that his fellow tong members were determined to even the death score with their On Leong enemies. Additional police went on duty in the Chinese district and both police and Hop Sings were expecting further trouble momentarily. Business was paralyzed, and the tong deadline established along Kneeland street, was strictly observed by both factions. Police protection was being supplied to Hip Sings in answer to frequent requests.

The present state of warfare, it was said by Hip Sing men, is due to the exaction by the On Leong organization (the Chinese Merchants' Association) of a tribute of $10 from every Hip Sing doing business in this city. The On Leongs outnumber the Hip Sings by about 30 to 1, and the On Leong headquarters here are considered the base of operations for the tong in this section of the United States.

The police continued without success their search for the assailant of Hip Ying Chong, a Hip who was found riddled with buckshot in his own territory early today and is now in a serious condition in the City Hospital.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR THE SHENANDOAH VICTIMS

LAKEHURST, N. J., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Memorial services for the naval flyers who met death in the wreck of the dirigible Shenandoah were held at the naval air station today. Chaplain A. B. Krenz of the station was assisted by clergymen from Toms River and Point Pleasant.

Survivors of the disaster were drawn up between two lines of service men in the big hangar that formerly housed the dirigible at her air port. Solos and music by the naval air station band closed the memorial.

Capt. George W. Steelen commander of the station announced today that Commander J. H. Klein, Jr., conducting the investigation into the Shenandoah disaster was expected at Lakehurst tomorrow.

Advice to Belgian Businessmen.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 13.(A. P.)—Albert Janssen, minister of finance, has asked Belgian businessmen to make their purchases from Germany against the reparations account. He called attention to the fact that the Belgian imports from Germany amounted about 1,000,000,000 francs a year, and if one-fourth of the amount could be bought through the reparations authorities it would utilize fully Belgium's share in Germany's payments in kind.

International Telegraph Rates.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—(A. P.)—Proposals to increase international telegraph rates, especially for code messages, probably will be threshed out at tomorrow's meeting of the tariff committee of the international telegraph congress, now in session here.

Sea Turtle Weighed 725 Pounds.

CONCARNEAU, Brittany, France, Sept. 13. — (A. P.) — A big sea turtle, the largest seen in these waters for many years, strayed in too close to shore today, and his outsides are now on view for a curious public on the beach here and his insides are being dissected by scientists. He measured 7 feet long by 3 feet wide and weighed 725 pounds.

WOULD REGULATE COAL BY FEDERAL ACTION

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 13.—(A. P.)—There is no reason why coal which must enter interstate commerce cannot be regulated through federal action, Governor George S. Silzer, of New Jersey, declared in an address at a rally and outing of the Fifth District Democratic club here today. There is no reason why federal action cannot be efficacious in curbing these monopolies in the anthracite industry, and the exorbitant prices which they exact, he said. "The federal government has regulated railroad and other rates; why can it not protect the consumer of coal?" he inquired.

"A like regulation can take place within the states after the coal comes into the states, and is no longer interstate commerce," Governor Silzer continued.

"The extreme patience of the American people is marvelous. One can hardly believe that they would remain quiescent year after year and permit themselves to be robbed by monopoly and not stir themselves."

Attacking the political machines of Connecticut, Don C. Seitz, of the New York World, said that the local machine was a one-man affair, and that the city had been whip-sawed by the local political leader and that the state dictator, J. Henry Roraback, until it was worn thin.

Explaining the situation in Connecticut, Mr. Seitz declared that the state was not constitutionally managed, and that it was politically dictated to by one man whose first name he had been able only to surmise. Mr. Seitz said "he signs his first name with the initial 'J.' and that must mean Joshua, for in biblical history Joshua came from the land of Canaan and is said to have stopped the sun from moving, while this Joshua who comes from Canaan has the time stand still. Coupled with the name Henry, it is completed by Rorabach."

J. Henry Roraback is the man who has made time stand still in this state, Mr. Seitz declared.

HUNTING WIFE SLAYER IN GOLDEN GATE PARK

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Golden Gate park, with its miles of roads and lakes and thick woods within the city, was the scene of a man-hunt today after John Govaer, a middle aged mechanic, shot and killed his divorced wife, Hazel Young, and seriously wounded her companion Harry Jacobs.

Scores of Sunday picnickers and strollers witnessed the shooting. As the man and the woman alighted from a street car at an entrance to the park near the ocean about noon, Govaer followed. When the couple entered the park, he opened fire. They both fell, and Govaer disappeared into a wooded stretch of the park.

Police gathered this account from numerous witnesses and from Jacobs. The woman was dead when passersby reached her. Jacobs was taken to a hospital. He may recover. He told the police that Govaer had threatened his former wife several times and seemed crazed with jealousy. She was 33 years old and after the divorce had resumed her maiden name of Hazel Young.

JAPANESE BOY MADE REMARKABLE SACRIFICE

WASHINGTON, Sep. 13.—(A. P.)—A Japanese boy, Genichiro Yamada of Tokyo, was told in a letter today by Chairman John Barton Payne of the Red Cross, that he was responsible for "one of the most remarkable instances of self-denial and generosity I ever encountered or heard of."

Yamada upon receiving his "annual allowance" of $1.50 from his parents, forwarded the entire sum to the American Red Cross to help relief work in the Santa Barbara earthquake disaster, saying he received "the great sympathy and kind assistance" from the United States after the similar Tokyo catastrophe.

FRENCH AVIATOR KILLED WHEN HIS PLANE FELL

PARIS, Sept. 13.—(A. P.)—Robert Thierry was killed today and Dieudonne Coste was injured when the plane in which they started from Etampes this morning fell in the Black Forest in Germany and was totally destroyed.

Coste this evening telegraphed his employers here announcing the accident and saying that he had been taken to a hospital in Frieburg-in-Breisgau, Baden.

It is presumed that the fliers who were endeavoring to reach Badgad and perhaps India, lost their way in a fog, since their itinerary did not provide for passing over Frieburg but by Belfot and Switzerland.

MILK THIEF IS OPERATING EXTENSIVELY IN HARTFORD

HARTFORD, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Unapprehended after a series of back porch milk thefts from the home of H. T. Smith, of 316 Fairfield avenue, although the policeman on the beat watched the latest of the depredations Saturday morning, one of the most daring milk thieves in the history of the city is still at large. The thief has kept residents of the section in a furore for several days. Numerous complaints have been made by Mr. Smith and others of the milk stealing. Finally Lieutenant William Weltner, ordered Policeman James Dooley to keep the house under continued surveillance until the marauder was caught and to arrest all suspicious characters.

Brother of Olympia Macri Under Suspicion

Questioned Concerning Body of an Unidentified Man Found Sept. 8, in West Haven.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—(A. P.)—Several hours of persistent grilling by police failed today to elicit any admission of guilt from two youths, one of whom was arrested today and the other Saturday, as fugitives from justice from Connecticut, where both were suspected of being implicated in the murder last September 8 of an unidentified man in a New Haven suburb.

One of the prisoners said he was Joseph Macri, 18, of 625 Congress avenue, New Haven, a brother of Olympia Macri, the New Haven girl whose trial for the murder of her alleged betrayer last May attracted wide attention. The jury in the case disagreed and the girl is now in prison awaiting a new trial.

The other prisoner, who said he was Nick De Milio, 21, of Congress avenue and Hallock street, New Haven, joined with Macri in denying implication in the murder. They explained their leaving New Haven the day following the murder by saying that they came here to obtain employment. Police said the youths have been sleeping in parks and living from hand to mouth following their failure to find work.

New Haven police who came here to search for Macri and De Milio said the youths were in a crowd which surrounded a drunken man, who was later found murdered, when a passerby gave them two dollars and told them to take the drunken man home in a taxicab. The New Haven police further said that the two hired a taxicab driven by Edward Collins, who is now under arrest, and after driving about for some time were at a loss to know what to do with their unconscious burden who had nothing in his pockets to indicate where he lived.

Macri and De Milio declared that, unable to find the drunken man's home, they left him in the woods at West Haven to sleep off the liquor. They denied that they beat him before leaving him in the woods.

The man's body was found next morning. His skull was fractured and he bore other marks of violence.

SIX ARRESTS MADE IN CONNECTION WITH MURDER

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 13—(A. P.)—With six arrests in connection with the murder of the unidentified man found near Oak and Forest streets early Wednesday morning, and with accounts of three separate drunken brawls in Oak street on the night before the murder, police authorities and Coroner Mix are doubling their efforts to solve the mystery that surrounds the case. That the man is not as yet identified was the positive assertion of Coroner Mix tonight.

Two men were arrested Saturday night, one in New Haven and the other in New York while a third was arrested this afternoon in New York. Joseph Macri, 18, and Nick De Milio, 21, are held in New York. Edward Collins, a taxi driver, and Charles Pavis have been arrested. Joseph McGrail, a fifth man under arrest, is expected to be released soon, the coroner said tonight.

Edward J. Buckley, 35, according to detectives an old police offender and alleged keeper of houses of ill fame, was arrested shortly after the murder was committed on a charge of breach of the peace. He is being held under bonds of $2,000. Detectives would not say positively whether he was being held in connection with the murder but it was learned that the loaded end of a cue stick with blood on it was found in Buckley's machine. Coroner Mix refused to comment on the case of Buckley.

MRS. COOK MENTIONED NAME JUST BEFORE SHE DIED

VINTON, Iowa, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Just before Mrs. Myrtle Cook, slain W. C. T. U. president and head of the women's organization of the Ku Klux Klan, died after being shot last Monday night, she whispered the name of a Vinton youth, it was reported today. Mrs. S. W. Cook, her mother-in-law, admitted she heard the name spoken but refused to divulge it until officers were present.

State agents are out of town checking up on clues and efforts to locate them were unsuccessful.

Mr. Cook said today that his mother had just told him of this new development last night. He also refused to divulge the name.

Cook believes his wife uttered the name in the belief it was this man that killed her. He insisted that the man she named had a motive for killing his wife.

Mrs. Martha Underwood, aged mother of Mrs. Cook, who is understood to have been at the side of her daughter almost constantly during her dying moments could not be reached today as Cook refused to allow newspapermen to see her.

While Cook is free, he is being watched by plain clothesmen and state agents are out of town checking up on the story he told Friday to the coroner's jury. The inquest will be continued Monday.

"When I suggested" he said, "that Mrs. Cook give up her aggressive anti-bootlegging activities, I did it because I knew she was gaining unpopularity because of it. We never quarreled."

Cook said he was sure about the matter. I simply suggested she be more careful."

Cook said he was home from Sioux City two days after July 6, when half a dozen men threw rotten eggs at the Cook residence. He declared he had thought of applying to the Ku Klux Klan for an investigation of the affair. At the time of the coroner's inquest Cook admitted he did not complain to police officers of the incident.

DESCRIPTION OF MAN TALLIES WITH ANDERSON

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A description of a man giving his name as George Daly, which tallies closely with that of "Dutch" Anderson, associate of Gerald Chapman, notorious bank robber, has been forwarded to postal inspectors at Washington, the federal prison at Atlanta and also to Indianapolis.

It was announced tonight that no information has been received by police regarding the actual identity of the man.

Anderson is sought in connection with the killing of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mance near Muncie, Ind., on August 14.

Business Gains Are Up to Expectations

Buying of Automobiles Has Been Sustained at a High Rate Throughout the Summer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—New business gains were recorded last week, fulfilling expectations in financial quarters that the turn of labor day would find the traditional autumn trade revival reaching its stride. Almost all aspects of the situation were favorable, so much so that they quite over-shadowed the lagging tendencies manifested in certain lines of industry.

Since the first of September it has become plainly apparent that the month of August marked a decisive turn for the better in the steel industry. Unfilled tonnage of the U. S. Steel Corporation at the end of the month was only 26,600 tons below that of July 31, the smallest decline since forward orders first began to fall off last March. After several months of decreasing production, the output of steel ingots increased substantially over the preceding month. The total of 3,424,034 tons was almost one million tons larger than for August, 1924.

Steadily expanding orders from the railroads for both rails and rolling stock are expected to enliven the market within the next two months, the week ateel trade reviews reported. Orders for more than 80,000 tons of railroad material were placed last week and inquiries are pending for about 30,000 tons more.

The week brought little change in the actual stage of mill operations or in the price situation.

Although the country has come to accept with equanimity the favorable weekly comparisons of freight traffic with preceding weeks or corresponding periods in previous years, it was surprised by the announcement that car loadings for the last week in August, totaling 1,124,436 cars, were the greatest for any single week on record. Last year the peak was not achieved until the week ended October 24 when the then record number of 1,112,345 cars were loaded with revenue freight. The growing realization that the traffic movement now represents current consumptive requirements instead of forward business gave added significance to the car loading figures.

One of the surprisingly favorable elements of the business situation has been the manner in which buying of automobiles has been sustained at such a high rate throughout the late summer, normally a period of slackened demand and production. General price reductions and a widespread adoption of new models have stimulated purchasing beyond the expectations of the manufacturers so that some of the largest companies has been forced to order increases in their schedules for fall operations. Agricultural communities, fortified by returning prosperity and the harvesting of satisfactory crops, have furnished much of the buying power.

Supplies of money remained plentiful for industrial needs. A temporary flurry in the New York call loan market was occasioned early in the week by the correction of local clearing house deficits and the withdrawal of funds to the interior. The situation proved self-corrective, however, for money was quickly drawn back by the lure of higher rates and at the end of the week was readily available at normal charges.

The week's government crop forecasts were not sufficiently upsetting to affect general business conditions. Estimates of the 1925 cotton crop were reduced some 200,000 bales for the last half of August and the indicated corn yield on September 1 was forecast between 2,900,000 bushels from the August prediction. An increase of 21,000,000 bushels in the probable spring wheat crop was reported. In nearly all cases, however, the caprices of the weather had to some extent foretold the change.

GEN. PERSHING SPENT 65TH BIRTHDAY QUIETLY

ARICA, Chile, Sept. 13.—(AP)—General John J. Pershing, president of the Tacna-Arica plebiscitary commission, spent today, his 65th birthday, in comparative quiet.

It was General Pershing's first day of leisure since his arrival here. The situation at Tacna was discussed by General Pershing this morning with Lieutenant-Colonel Jay J. Morrow of the American commission, who came to Arica to spend the week end. Aside from this General Pershing passed the time walking and riding and attending to his private affairs.

A birthday dinner which was given this evening at the residence of General Pershing was attended by all the American delegates.

PN-9 NO 1 AVIATORS HIDE FROM NEWSPAPERMEN

HONOLULU, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Although they still are theoretically "patients" at the naval hospital at Pearl Harbor, where they spent last night, the five aviators of the PN-9, number 1 escaped today into the seclusion of the homes of friends, hiding from newspapermen and others.

Physicians reported their condition "almost normal" and a compromise as to their status at the hospital was effected this morning. The physicians insisted that Commander Rodgers and his four companions should spend their entire time in the hospital, and the aviators maintained that they would keep within the status of "patients" if they spent each night at the hospital.

The rescued airmen won, for no one can advance arguments against the contentions of men who have spent 25 consecutive hours in the air and more than 218 "sailing" to port on their fuelless aircraft.

TWO SISTERS INJURED WHEN AUTO OVERTURNED

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Lucy Verdi, 5, of 70 Barclay street, this city, was seriously injured and her sister, Mary, 7, and their father, Clamente Verdi, injured, when an automobile containing the three turned over on Kimberly avenue, late this afternoon. They are in the New Haven hospital. Lucy, who has a fractured skull, numerous lacerations and a fractured arm, is not expected to live.

The father, who sustained a possible fracture of the skull was driving the car. He is believed to have swerved suddenly to avoid hitting another car coming in an opposite direction or to have sideswiped it as his car passed at a fast speed. His car was wrecked.

FINAL TEST OF PROHIBITION WITH THE OUTCOME IN DOUBT

Conclusion Reached by Research and Educational Dept of the Federal Council of Churches—Report Compiled After Months of Investigation—Finds That Publicity Given by the Prohibition Units, Also by the Antis, Has Been Biased and Contained Unwarranted Inferences—That, While Conditions in the Homes of the Poor Have Improved in Various Ways, There Has Been an Increase of Drinking Among Young People Since Pre-Prohibition Days.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—A belief that prohibition in the United States is facing a supreme test, with the final outcome in doubt was expressed tonight in a report compiled after some months of investigation by the research and education department of the Federal Council of Churches.

"No one can say with positiveness what the ultimate outcome of this test will be," said the report. "No cocksure optimism is warranted, nor is pessimism or defeatism justified by the facts. Much seems to depend upon the development of public opinion in the near future."

An "unfavorable and disquieting" quences of prohibition was seen by the investigators in statistics gathered from many sources, but the report declared no available statistical data could be accepted as conclusive and pointed out that the wholesome effects of prohibition are registered in inconspicuous ways which cannot be reduced to statistical tabulation.

Many of the claims made by those on both sides of the controversy were discarded as virtually worthless. Publicity material circulated with a view to influencing public opinion was declared to have been based largely on questionable data.

"Prohibition publicity has suffered much," said the report "from careless and unwarranted inferences. Much of the publicity given out by the prohibition unit in the treasury department has been of this unfortunate kind. On the other hand, much unjust and misleading propaganda has been put out for the purpose of discrediting prohibition."

On the question of public sentiment, the report declared there could be little doubt as to the mood of the country when prohibition was adopted, but that since that time various elements had somewhat complicated the situation. On one subject, however,—the saloon—the evidence appeared more decisive. It was said that "there seems to be not the least doubt that the country has accepted with satisfaction the passing of the saloon."

Most of the data compiled in the investigation was reserved for future disclosure, but the sections of the report made public tonight contained two sets of figures.

One summarized the responses to a questionnaire sent out to members of the National Conference of Social Work, a majority of whom reported that conditions in the homes of the poor had improved in various ways under prohibition, that children's delinquency was decreasing and that liquor was less accessible than formerly to minors, but that drinking among young people had increased as compared to pre-prohibition times and general respect for law had decreased.

The other tabulation to intemperence as a factor in dependency and was summarized in the report as showing that although there was "a sharp drop" in such cases about 1920, there has been "very decided and a fairly consistent increase since that date," although "there is an encouraging number of cities that report decreases in 1924."

The report, other sections of which are to be made public daily over the coming week, was prepared under the direction of the Rev. Ernest Johnson, head of the Federal council's research and education department. In a foreword, he declared the study had been undertaken in order to give a "fair appraisal," unbiased by personal opinion, and uninfluenced by the great mass of current literature which had emanated from biased sources.

CHINESE IN HARTFORD DECLARING NEUTRALITY

HARTFORD, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Signs written in Chinese and displayed conspicuously on the doors of many Chinese laundries of this city declare that those working in the buildings are neutrals in the tong wars that are now sweeping the country. Such signs adorn two laundries on Albany avenue saying that the residents belong to neither the On Leong or the Hip Sing tong and take no side in the quarrel. One sign says merely "Ju Chung neutral" and another very complicated one, (translated means "Don Takes No sides."

It would seem that the Chinese residents of this city are preparing for a renewal of the war due to the flight of many tong members from New York following the raids Chinese aliens recently conducted in that city. According to the police here, there has been no sign of violence as yet, nor have they detected any influx of Chinamen from New York.

EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS GOOD IN CONNECTICUT

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Continued building activity throughout New England, a generally satisfactory farm labor situation, and an improvement in the shoe industry in Massachusetts are noted in the monthly report of the federal employment service. The textile industry continues largely on part time. The Connecticut report follows:

Employment conditions are good throughout the state. A shortage of skilled men in the metal trades exists in some parts while other sections report a surplus. In most cases, however, those temporarily released in their individual lines are able to find employment in other industries. Extensive building operations throughout the state furnish work for hundreds of men, with the resident supply in the majority or the cities adequate for the demand. Farm labor situation as a whole satisfactory.

TO BRING OUT REPUBLICAN VOTE IN NEW YORK PRIMARIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—(A. P.)—The National Republican club today announced an intensive campaign to bring out the enrolled Republican vote at the mayoralty primaries Tuesday.

The split in democratic ranks which has brought about the fierce battle between Mayor John F. Hylan, backed by three borough leaders and William Randolph Hearst, and Senator James J. Walker, backed by Tammany and Governor Alfred E. Smith, was said by the republican leaders to make the election of a Republican mayor "more than a possibility."
